

A Handbook for Jurors

Issued by the Clarion County Court of Common Pleas 18th Judicial District Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Dear Juror:

The Judicial System in Clarion County welcomes you to this term of court. We believe your experience as a juror will be interesting and educational.

While we will make every effort to meet your convenience during this service, we must impress upon you that our caseload is large and the work must be done. This may occasionally cause us to ask you to stay a little longer or start a little earlier. If we do, we hope you view such requests as part of your contribution to good government.

Jury service is one of the few opportunities that a citizen has to directly participate in the running of this government. Usually that function is delegated to an elected official, but when you serve as a juror, you are personally involved in operating the judicial branch of your government.

Again we welcome you and thank you for being a good citizen.

So You've Been Selected As a Juror

Your selection as a juror has probably surprised you and left you somewhat apprehensive and possibly a bit bewildered. Where do I go? What do I do? How long does it last? These and many other questions are running through your mind.

First, we suggest that you read your Jurors' Handbook from cover to cover because it will answer many of your questions. In it you will find information concerning parking, eating, working hours, fees and many other things which make your service as a juror an important contribution to your community and a satisfying and lasting experience.

Next, you should not try to avoid jury service. The fact that you are a busy, successful person does not exempt you from jury service but makes you all the more qualified. Jurors should be people who are active in the community and abreast of the times.

Don't concern yourself that you may lack knowledge of the law. A good juror is one who uses common sense and endeavors to be fair and impartial. Education or skill in any field does not necessarily make you a superior juror. Don't worry if this is a new experience. You will be directed where to go and what to do as far as being in the right place at the right time. There will be court officials who will help you.

How Where You Selected

A list of Clarion County citizens is compiled every year by the state, from the Department of Revenue, Department of Public Welfare, Department of Transportation, and Department of State. These multiple sources are combined by the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts creating a fair and impartial master list of potential jurors from all areas of the county and all types of people.

This master list is downloaded into the county's jury management system and integrated with the current data. For each term of court or selection day, names are randomly pulled by the system and sent a summons to report for jury duty. These jurors constitute the panel of jurors on which you are now serving.

The Court Administrator Is Your Guide

The attendance of jurors is under the supervision of the Court Administrator, whose office is located on the second floor of the Courthouse.

If a juror has a problem involving an excuse or an early dismissal, the juror should consult the Court Administrator.

Please do not contact the Judges concerning jury service, since you will be referred to the Court Administrator.

The Court Administrator's office is reached by dialing (814) 226-9351.

4. What to Wear

There is no prescribed dress for jurors except that the dress of any juror shall not detract from the dignity of the court. Business casual dress is suggested. The courtroom is air conditioned so plan accordingly. Remember, the parties in any case look to the jurors for justice. Their faith in the jury system is more likely to persist if the jurors make a favorable appearance.

13. Electronic Devices/Cell Phones

Jurors may possess electronic devices in the courthouse. However, the use of cell phones and all electronic devises is prohibited in the courtroom. All electronic devices and cell phones must be turned off while court is in session.

During jury deliberations ALL devices will be held by court staff.

Further, each person summoned as a prospective juror for the Court of Common Pleas of Clarion County must carefully follow the PA Rules of Court with regard to their use of electronic devices during their service. In order for the jury system to work as intended, absolute impartiality on the part of the jurors is necessary. Such impartiality is achieved by restricting the information upon which the jurors will base their decision to that information which is presented in court.

Information specifically on the use of electronic devices is included in the package sent to you when you are summoned for jury service. Please read that information carefully and follow the directives set forth. After you arrive for jury service and throughout your service, you will be reminded numerous times of the rules that you must follow. Anyone violating the Court's instructions regarding the use of electronic devices risks being found in contempt of court and sanctioned by the court.

Your Conduct As A Juror

If you are a juror it is imperative that you not only serve with the utmost integrity but also that you conduct yourself in such a manner that no suspicion is cast on your behavior.

If any person attempts to influence you outside the Courtroom, YOU SHOULD REPORT THIS IMMEDIATELY to a tipstaff or to the Court Administrator

If any threats are made or if you are harassed in any way, YOU SHOULD ALSO REPORT THIS IMMEDIATELY.

When you are actively sitting on a jury, care should be taken to avoid conversations with persons in the hallways, restrooms, and elsewhere. Even though such acts may be entirely innocent, the impression is created that you are involved in misconduct.

When you are accepted as a juror on a case you take an oath to try the case upon the law and the evidence. This means that your verdict should not be influenced by what people tell you outside the courtroom nor should you make any personal investigations.

If you fail to report improper approaches or harassment, it may require a reversal of the jury's verdict and the retrial of the case. If an unlawful attempt is made to influence you, criminal charges may be filed against the person or persons doing so.

Jury service honorably performed is as important in the defense of our country, its Constitution and Laws, and the ideals and standards for which they stand, as the service that is rendered by the soldier on the field of battle in a time of war.
