What is Household Hazardous Waste?

When leftover paint, used oil, pool chemicals and other products containing hazardous materials are no longer wanted, they become “Household Hazardous Waste,” or “HHW.” It is illegal to dispose of HHW in the garbage, down drains, or onto the ground, as it may threaten human health or the environment. Illegally disposed hazardous waste can release chemicals into the environment and contaminate our air, water, and even the food we eat.

Common examples of HHW include the following household products:
