NAVAL OFFICERS ADD TO SUMMER GAIETY

"Infant Prodigy" Dances Her Way to Fame.

(Special to The Courant.)

Eastern Point, Sunday, July 21.
The summer season at Eastern Point is now in full swing and with the week-end arrivals which began to come as early as Thursday, The Griswold was as busy as at any time in years gone by.

Young naval officers have added to the gaiety of the place and while they are more interested in the evening dances in the ball room they find plenty of other amusements to while away their time. Bathing is popular again since the warm weather set in and the beaches are crowded. The young officers find no trouble in seeking companionship as there are more young women here this season than ever before. Bridge whist is only slightly behind dancing and many parties have been planned.

The match today between Miss Alexia Stirling, the woman champion golfer, with Perry Adair as a partner, against Bobby Jones and Miss Elaine Rosenthal has attracted considerable attention. After spending two days at the Griswold the party will move on to Springfield, Mass where they are booked to appear on July 24.

Amateur photographers are having their troubles this season at Eastern Point. When one points his camera at the water front it seems as if an officer of the law springs up from almost no place and warns you against the penalty of taking pictures within the five mile limit of the naval base.

Little Miss Elizabeth Hyde gave an exhibition this week of interpretive dancing. Elizabeth cranes her dances, which are of the Isadora Duncan type, spontaneously. She has studied all kinds of dancing for six years under various well known teachers, among them Miss Hallett, and Miss Thomas, of New York. She is now taking lessons from Mrs. Florence Doughty at The Griswold.

Miss Patricia Collings, the pretty actress from "Polyanna," is visiting Mrs. Harry Alexander Smith. Mrs. Smith lives in the Cooper cottage on Tyler avenue.

Mrs. W. K. Stansard of St. Louis, who has been well-known at Eastern Point for three years, will sing at Gaillee Chapel on Sunday, July 28.

Miss Agnes Shipman, of Hartford, is visiting Mrs. C. G. Chaney, of Essex, who is staying on Tyler avenue.

The Women's Association of Eastern Point will give a bridge whist party for the benefit of the national Y. M. C. A. on Monday at 2:30, in the hall room of The Griswold. The charge for each person will be $1.25, or $3 a table. There will be a prize for each table.

Another of the many sports at The Griswold is fishing. Quite a few anglers can be seen on the rocks near the hotel each day trying their hand at the game. Black fish, flounders, and conners may be caught.

Mrs. August P. Holly of New York arrived at the Griswold on Tuesday to spend a few days as the guest of Mrs. Jas. L. Morgan.

Miss Adelaide Rodriguez of New York who has been at the Griswold for two weeks left Thursday. She has been accepted for Red Cross work in France and will sail soon. Miss Rodriguez's unusual golf shot early in the week where she knocked the pine out of the mouth of one of the workmen on the course has caused considerable amusement among her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin M. Foss of New York arrived the first of the week and will spend a month at The Griswold.

Society at Eastern Point is looking forward to the bridge whist tournament to be given by the Woman's Association for the benefit of the Red Cross. This affair will be held at the Griswold hotel July 29.

Bent Falkensjerne, consul of Denmark, has been at The Griswold for a few days' rest. He is devoted to golf and tennis.

Misses Mabel and Ethel Pew of Bryn Mawr, Pa., stopped at The Griswold for a few days and played over the Shenecossett golf links while here. Both have been active Red Cross workers in the Philadelphia district for the past year.

Mrs. Fred B. Cook and her sister, Miss Margaret Marshall, who recently arrived from Japan, where they spent three months, are at The Griswold for the summer. Mr. Cook whose business is in New York, spends week-ends here.

Mrs. E. A. Garrison and Miss Garrison of St. Louis after spending a few weeks at Eastern Point left Friday for the White Mountains.
