LIGHTING OF THE TORCH

The opening ceremony of the Olympic Games features a runner who enters the stadium and lights the Olympic Torch. This takes place right after the athletes, dressed in their Olympic uniforms, enter the stadium.

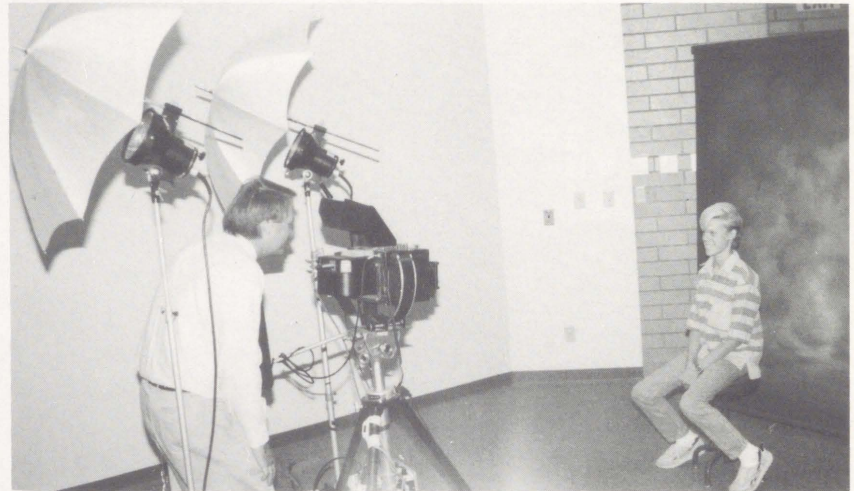

The Olympic motto "Citius, Altius, Fortius" means swifter, higher, faster. As Mountaineers we are always striving to be the best that we can be.

Leave it on the soaps!

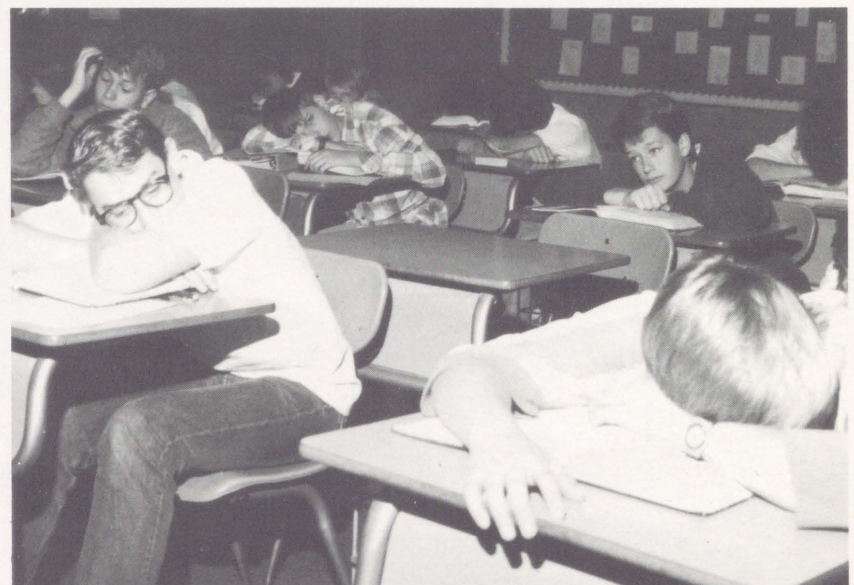

Are you busy tonight?

Smile for the birdie!

Snowbunny!

Boy, this class is boring!

OPENING CEREMONIES

We the Olympic athletes of Mount Logan Middle School have tried our best to gain knowledge, promote responsibility, and uphold the standard of excellence at our school.

MLMS had a change of leadership this year. Mr. Jeppeson became the new principal of our school. Mr. Smith became the assistant principal.

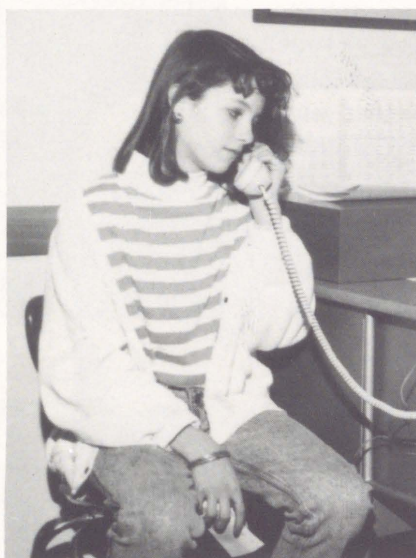

This year MLMS signed on twelve new coaches, Mr. Anderson, Mrs. Dennison, Mrs. Janes, Miss Miske, Mrs. Nalder, Mrs. Player, Mr. Rowan, Mrs. Schulthies, Mrs. Stephens, Miss Simper, Mrs. Stoddard, Miss Waddoups, and the rest of the faculty have all prepared our students for the Games.

We have admired all the extra-curricular events that our commissioners and coaches have supplied us with such as Intramurals, Math Club, the Language clubs and the Science Club.

Thanks to the Commissioners, the Coaches and the Athletes, this year turned out to be great for everyone.

So what if I can only type 11 words a minute!?!

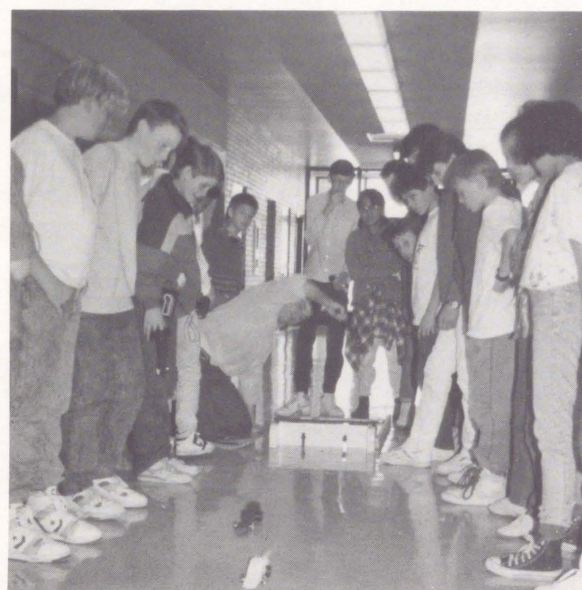

Mom, send money quick!

Lights, camera, action!

North Pole moved South.

... And they're off!

A DAY IN TRAINING

RAP

As usual, your bus is late getting to school, and as you run to RAP, you turn a corner and smack into someone. Unfortunately, you soon realize that you have hit Mr. Jeppeson square in the chest with your face. You can already feel that it's going to be "one of those days." Mr. Jeppeson lets you go because you just bounced off him anyway, and you suffer the always embarrassing five minute late arrival into Mrs. Taylor's RAP class.

Sunrise at The Olympics

Moments after being awakened by your cat walking on your face, you find yourself trying to break the world's record for doing a two page history report. Then you cram down some Wheaties, and stand in front of the mirror trying to convince yourself that you've grown a few inches. After realizing that you're late, you pack up the 600 books you took home and bolt out the door to the bus.

SECOND HOUR

In Mrs. Ellis's algebra class, you struggle through a pop quiz that can only be described as nightmarish. You can't help wondering when, if ever, you will use a problem like  $xy - 77x + 33 - 75x = 0$  in your real life.

FOURTH HOUR

As you begin to play your violin in orchestra, you know there is something wrong. You look at your instrument and see that there are only three strings on it.

THIRD HOUR

After leaving algebra, you head down the hall to your favorite class of the day, office aid. When you get there, the secretary tells you that you have the ultimate assignment. You are to go and get an entire P.E. class from the swimming pool. The good part is that the girls are swimming!

FIFTH HOUR

In Mrs. Eyre's English class, you are caught in the cross-fire of the daily spitwad fight. You come out looking like you cut yourself shaving several times and forgot to take the little pieces of toilet paper off your face. You can't help wondering if Shakespeare had to deal with assertive discipline.

LUNCH

After picking the toenails out of your hamburger, you scarf it down and try not to think about your cholesterol level.

SEVENTH HOUR

You are excited to walk to P.E. because today you are playing your favorite sport, basketball. After being slammed, jammed, and stuffed for 40 minutes straight, you are extremely glad to go take a shower. However, when you go to throw your towel in the basket, someone blocks it.

SIXTH HOUR

As you walk into Mr. Budge's class, you see him smiling. This must mean something. Right when the tardy bell rings, he announces that there is a pop quiz today. Your hands automatically start to sweat and you feel your stomach tighten. After the quiz, you walk out wondering what percent 6 out of 25 is.

EIGHTH HOUR

As you walk into Mr. Rose's history class, you see that the VCR is on. Finally you get a break. But, too bad, you have to take a news quiz. One of the categories is ancient history. Mr. Rose asks you, "Where was Joan of Arc burned?" You blurt out the obvious answer, "All over her body!"

OLYMPIC ASSOCIATIONS

MATH CLUB

This year's math club members learned to play a fast-paced and mind challenging game called Krypto. They also did many worksheets in preparation for the State Math Exam which was at BYU in April. A special Math Counts team was chosen to compete at the regionals. This team consisted of Rajarshi Saha, Jenny Scheid, T.J. Huie and Tim LaRue. With Mrs. Ellis's coaching, the team took second place in Layton and qualified to go to state by placing eighth overall.

SCIENCE CLUB

Students of Mr. Budge's and Mrs. McQuain's eighth grade science classes had a chance to go on a trip to Southern Utah in April. They were required to attend six meetings, do a science project, and complete two pencil sketches of unique landforms. They also had to earn a C+ average or above in all classes.

LANGUAGE CLUBS

Spanish and French clubs tried something new this year by initiating fundraisers in their activities. The money they raised helped pay for language department materials. A great thanks goes to Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Kinzer for all their help.

OLYMPIC MEDIA

Would you believe we've been here all night?

During this past year the Olympic Media staff has covered the most spectacular events.

The staff was chosen on the basis of G.P.A., writing skills, and a recommendation from their seventh grade cluster teacher.

Duties performed by each member included covering school events, writing stories, proofreading, and completing layouts. The staff was also provided with a Macintosh computer this year, which made work a little simpler; after they figured out how to use it.

Some of the staff's favorite assignments were advice columns, song dedications, and editorials.

From the 19 publications members, 11 people were chosen to work on the PINNACLE. After choosing the Olympic theme, the members wrote a letter to the Olympic Committee requesting permission to use the Olympic rings and the term "Olympic" in all its forms. Since receiving permission, they have worked long and hard producing this year's PINNACLE. They have learned a great deal about the Olympics and the students at MLMS. The PINNACLE staff is proud of the '89 yearbook and hopes you enjoy it for many years.

MUSIC PARTICIPANTS

CHORUS

Under the direction of Mr. Dunn, the chorus classes performed often during the school year. The eighth grade mixed chorus and Girls' Glee performed at various elementary schools. They also held one or more major concerts here at MLMS for parents. This gave them the opportunity to showcase their talents.

Chorus also helped build the students' other talents by requiring that all participants in the choir perform some other talent in front of the class. This was called "Friday performance." Many students danced, played the piano or did lip syncs.

Mr. Dunn's favorite class!

ORCHESTRA

The orchestra this year gave many great performances. Under the direction of Mr. Ashton, participants in the orchestra worked to achieve a high level of proficiency. They were required to pass off certain objectives that help them grow as individuals and also as a "team."

The highlight for the eighth grade concert orchestra was an exciting trip to St. George. They were invited to play in front of music teachers from all over Utah and Idaho. The purpose of the clinic was to see the teaching methods used at MLMS. The orchestra members said they had a lot of fun and would love to do it again next year.

Drum roll, please!

BAND

Mr. Monday, the brass and percussion teacher, and Mr. Stowell, the woodwind teacher, taught all participants the fundamentals of their instruments. They performed many concerts during the year for the public. They also performed for our student-body. The hard work and dedication of each member was visible during every performance.

In December some of the outstanding players in the eighth grade band were chosen to play in an honor band. This honor band included students from different middle schools from the Cache Valley area. These students rehearsed and held a concert in March to showcase their accomplishments.

What smiles!

That note could shatter glass!

Uncle Sam wants you!

Blowing a lot of hot air!

Do they play Rock N'Roll?

GOLD WINNING ASSEMBLIES

Not a happy camper.

This year we had some really cool assemblies. Jack Lythgoe, a hypnotist came, and a local band, Boycott, played Every Rose Has Its Thorn, Nothin But A Good Time, That Old Time Rock And Roll, a song they wrote, Just Say No, and a few others. There was a talent assembly with dances, vocal solos, gymnastics, piano, and an imitation of the skaters. The eighth grade boys who won the one-on-one played the men's faculty and almost won 42 to 50! The eighth grade girls had volleyball tryouts and the ones who made it played the women's faculty and won 2 games to 1!

Other assemblies were: the Dunderdales, a family of acrobats, a magazine drive, Pepsi, You Are a Star, the orchestra and chorus, the eighth grade farewell, Jack Chase came to show us how to play basketball in a wheelchair, there was a music duo of Scottish bagpipes, and a mime.

That style went out a long time ago!!

C'mon miss it!

Isn't this FUN!

Watch your hair!

ATHLETIC APPAREL

This year, while training for the Olympics, the athletic wear was flashier than ever. The sportsmen and women were crazy about their Nike and Converse shoes. Girls got long stares when they wore their little, lovable miniskirts. Competitors were never late for their events because they wore their Guess watches. Athletes kept warm this year with their Hard Rock Cafe shirts. MLMS competitors sported the rewards of Logan High's championship season by wearing their "State 88" shirts. Also, the boys sported colorful bandannas that were the latest trend in protective headgear.

OLYMPIC SYMBOLS

The Olympic flag has a white background that displays the Olympic symbol which is made up of five rings linked together to represent the friendship of all people. The rings also symbolize the five continents: the American, Australia, Europe, Asia, and Africa. Each ring is a different color: blue, yellow, black, green, and red. These colors are taken from the flags of the countries who participated in the Olympics.

OLYMPIC TRAINERS

The Olympians of MLMS were led and guided by Mr. Jeppeson, Principal, and Mr. Smith, Assistant Principal. They organized and directed the faculty and staff so that our Olympic Village ran smoothly.

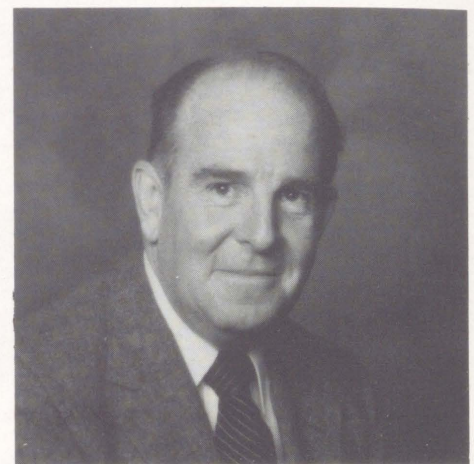

The cooks, dietitians, and nutrition specialists planned and served healthy, high energy food to keep all Olympians fit for training and in top shape for the games.

The custodial staff maintained our Olympic Village so that it was a pleasant place to train and a great place to take part in the games. Visitors from as far away as New Zealand were impressed with our Olympic Village and the food served there.

All the Olympians of MLMS wish to thank the administration, faculty, and staff for an outstanding year.

IT'S NOT WHETHER YOU WIN OR LOSE ...

"The most important thing in the Olympic Games is not to win, but to take part, just as the most important thing in life is not the triumph but the struggle. The essential thing is not to have conquered but to have fought well." This is the Olympic Creed. It represents values that an Olympic athlete should respect. As we look back upon this year's Olympics at MLMS we should keep the Olympic Creed in mind. We should remember that winning is less important than trying to win. As long as we know that we've gone for the gold, we can hold our heads high and be proud. That is what the Olympics are all about.

CLOSING CEREMONIES

At the closing ceremonies, just before the torch is extinguished, the athletes come into the stadium without regard to nationality to show the spirit of Olympic brotherhood and friendship.

As our Olympics come to an end, we look forward to next year when we can go for the gold again. As we look back on this year's Olympics, we see all of the outstanding medalists, and all that has been accomplished. And, as the Olympic Oath reads. "In the name of all competitors I promise that we will take part in these Olympic Games, respecting and abiding by the rules which govern them, in the true spirit of sportsmanship, for the glory of sport and the honor of our teams." Olympians at MLMS have shown the true spirit of sportsmanship and have made many new friends.
