

THREE FINE STORES NOW REMOVED BUILDING

Jewelry Store, Ladies' Apparel and Confectionery Now Ready for Business in Building to be Known as Remco Block.

Logan business interests generally are proud of the very splendid business block that has been developed out of the old hotel building on North Main street. There isn't a business block in the city with three as fine store fronts as are to be had in this newly created block, to be known as the Remco Building.

S. E. Needham, Jeweler; Milady's Shop, Mrs. Leah Carlson, proprietor and W. F. Jensen Candy Company, have the store buildings.

Needham's jewelry store is being fitted out with beautiful show cases for the display of new lines of jewelry and other merchandise which this popular store is noted for always carrying. The store has been placed on the floor and a complete new lighting system has been installed. The store is a thing of beauty.

Milady's shop which closely about the same ago as the jewelry store felt the times did not justly continue at that time, including dresses, hats and underwear. The store is attractive to the discriminating buyer. The policy of Mrs. Leah Carlson, proprietor, is to buy just the things that are best suited to her line of lady friends who are interested in her new venture.

W. F. Jensen has remodeled his place of business, adding new show cases for his splendid line of candies and confections. Along with his fountain service of soda water, Mr. Jensen has added the popular line that are in demand with the local trade.

FOUR HYRUM LADS LEAVE FOR MISSION

Hyrum citizens are preparing to give four promising young men a send-off Sunday for the mission field. They are: Charles W. Smith, son of Mrs. Wm. H. Smith; John H. Smith, son of Mrs. Wm. H. ### Employee Takes Bump for State Fund Shortage Bait Lake—Embroiderment charges against Charles E. Smith, postmaster at Spanish Fork, for employee in the office of Secretary of State Milton E. Wellins, were preferred Thursday in a complaint issued by the county attorney.

Smith is specifically charged with converting $12.50 of the state bond used as his own use between Jan. 8 and Jan. 24, 1933.

Smith is scheduled to appear at the office of Sheriff S. Grant Young at 2 p. m. to be placed under arrest.

This is the first complaint to be issued in connection with the shortage of some $100,000 in the office of the secretary of state during a six months period from January 1, 1932, to June 30, 1933. The shortage was disclosed during an audit by the state auditor, J. H. Anderson, under the direction of the state bank commissioner.

40,000 Men Give Ovation to President

New York—The United States flag, a gaunt gray armada of 40,000 men, marched proudly before President Roosevelt Memorial Day in one of the most impressive spectacles of American naval history.

Sailing in from southern waters, the fleet comprised the presidential suite, the command-in-chief at sea, two miles off Commander Lightship, near the harbor entrance.

It was a three-fold spectacle—the ships in review, the presidential suite and the command-in-chief and the final procession of the vessels to berth about the city.

The early morning fog was dispelled by a warm mid-day sun and the column of ships, 17 miles long, moved on over the horizon majestically on the sparkling sea.

Wellsville Memorial Day Celebration

Kettner is Cartoonist Who Has Something More Than Artistic Ability

A great cartoonist must be a good artist but a good artist may be a failure as a cartoonist. For there are other things more important than ability as an artist that enter into the making of a good cartoonist.

The really great cartoonist must be a close student of history and of current events, and he must have something under his hat that will enable him to judge men and events correctly. He must have a

Investment Gained in Value

Here is a true experience. A man had $65,000 of investments, about half of which were equities in life insurance policies.

Finally he spent a few hours on that doleful duty and found his investments to be worth $2,000 more than at the time of the preceding inventory, although securities and property values and almost everything else had tended downward.

This man's experience isn't at all remarkable. During depression a multitude of people have seen all their investments wiped out—with the sole exception of insurance, which continued to increase in worth.

Enoch Bennett Buried Thursday At Franklin

Franklin, Idaho — Enoch Bennett, 77, for many years a resident of Franklin, died Monday at the family home of almondy incident to age.

Surviving are his widow, two sons and a daughter, Calvin and Leo Bennett, Thatcher, and Nell B. Toome, Orson, a sister, Anna M. Fowler, Inkom, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday at 1 p.m. in the Franklin L.D.S. chapel, with interment in Franklin City cemetery, under direction of Hendrick's mortuary of Treton.

The Federal Treasury says that it has made $100,000,000 in investment in government securities, and it made a whole lot more than that out of its gold holdings by reducing the value of the dollar, but other people, of course, don't have the Treasury's speciality privileges.—Indianapolis News.

John Hunter Yates sat at the keyhole of the huge, smooth piano, his heavy hands vainly trying to recreate a passage from Beethoven's Sonata. His fingers moved clumsily over the keys. The music was awkward, halting, the spacious pentatonic scale of the dissonant chords.

Yates looked up in surprise. "Beethoven," said Zukowski, "has been dead a long time. Why do you want to play him all over again?"

"Mr. Yates—stop!" Zukowski's voice was a cannon's roar in the room.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

The Administration is moving to prevent two diametrically different kinds of crime.

First completed move was the signing by the President of a group of bills requested by the Department of Justice, which provide Federal penalties for offenses that have heretofore been covered by state laws only. One bill provides that if a kidnapped person is kept seven days it shall be considered a federal crime and will carry a maximum of five years of imprisonment.

The passage of the bills gives Federal authorities a great deal more leeway than they ever had before in running down and punishing interstate crime. They are the direct result of the Dillinger "complaint" which has made everybody concerned. Federal and local authorities both, look pretty good.

In the second move the President is striking at war-interference in the form of espionage. He sent a resolution to Congress calling for ratification of international agreements that would call for interlocking arms shipments.

This is the manufacturers name plate—Vickers, largest English arms maker.

Business, of late, has shown little change recently. There was a drop from the spring highs, but this has been regained in a number of major lines.

Main worry of the industrialists now cannot be shown in the indices—it is, simply, labor trouble.

That is proving very embarrassing to the Administration, inasmuch as the trouble stems largely from the NRA. When the NRA was set up it provided that labor should have the right to organize, that no worker be penalized for belonging to a union that collectively bargains.

At that time there had been no major strikes for many years, and no one thought any were coming. As a result, no special provision was made for settling the matter.

The automobile industry was first to be hit, with the tool and die makers strike which paralyzed production, at a time when demand for cars was highest in years. This strike was finally settled, after a fashion, by Federal mediators—but there are plenty of rumblings beneath the surface still and it may break out again.

Then shipping on the Pacific Coast was tied up solid by a longshoremen's strike, in which labor organizations, including truck drivers and riverboatmen, joined through sympathy. Main demands of the longshoremen are a closed shop and shorter working week.

Then truckmen struck in the twin cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis—placed 6,300 striking drivers in picket lines—and caused a public square. On one side of the square are the British troops who died in capturing it from the German. On the other is the manufacturers name plate—Vickers, largest English arms maker.

Great fear is that the strikes will spread, will eventually result in a general industrial strike which could only be "arbitrated" through bloodshed and martial law. Most unbiased observers believe that both workers and employers have good points to present, but are frankly dubious as to whether arbitration efforts will get far. Local authorities are powerless as looking to the Federal government to solve the problem.

Fish and Game Association Hold Outing

Wellville — The Wellville Fish and Game Association entertained at an outing in Blacksmith Park canyon on Friday afternoon. In honor of the ladies who assisted in the cooking and serving of their banquet held recently.

The outing was held at the CCC camp and Forest Ranger (captain of Camp Ft. A. G. Pluckiger was present. Also Ochoa County Game Warden, A. J. Peterson and Mrs. Peterson.

Out door games were enjoyed and a trout supper was served at 5:30 p.m. to 70 people. Guests included Meadams John B. Woodward, Howard Jones, Sam F. Biggs, Russell Stuart, Merrill Green and Parley Smith and partners.

This was under the direction of the officers of the association and was one of the most successful outings of its kind ever held.

All surface runs cannot be prevented, therefore, neighbors should cooperate in utilizing each other's run off.

The situation with respect to ranges is critical, Professor Clyde reports. Wet lands and springs have dried up and although in most cases where feed is available, the absence of water makes it impossible to utilize such feeds.

Stockmen are urged to examine their ranges with the view of developing water supplies for stock purposes in order that the stock may utilize the feed.

"By all known tests, experience and thousands of records, the acknowledged best-of-all regularly is, advertising in the local newspaper. A newspaper goes regular into the home of your possible customers, not only in your city but the surrounding territory as well.

"And don't think these folks will miss your regularity of advertising, either. They have the regularity habit themselves. They look for their newspaper regularly, read it regularly, study its advertising copy, if it's there regularly.

"And what's more, you'll find they are buying fairly regularly, too. If you just check up, especially on the advertising copy, you do use space regularly.

"You're for more regularity in advertising."

Max, Primo Pressed To Gain Stage

New York—One of the shadown thrown by the glare of the RossmacLinnin battle and the controversial aftermath took Max Primo Carnera 15-round heavyweight title defenses against Max Baer in the Garden bowl on Long Island just two weeks from tonight.

It staggered out into the spotlight chiefly through denial of rumors that Madison Square Garden was contemplating a postponement to give the faithful time to recover from their excitement of crowning Barney Ross a double champion, to be followed by the second great match on the open air stadium.

"They'll fight on the fourteenth, absolutely, unless something beyond the Garden's control, such as injury or illness to either Baer or Carnera, interferes," said Colonel John R. Kilpatrick, as for example as a retired officer on General Pershing staff, a two-time world champion, at Yale, can speak.

Even with a heavyweight championship duel, as colorful as any since the Dempsey-Tunney battles, only 14 days away, the arguments over Ross' acquisition of the welterweight title are something, no lightweight champion ever before accomplished, still fills the air.

Chief among these is the question whether Ross will also defend his welterweight championship every time he fights in defense of the lightweight title. The experts are about evenly divided. The new York athletic commission will decide formally tomorrow.

Supreme Court Justice Booked At City Jail

Salt Lake—Ephraim Hanson, 62, of 1005 Fifteenth East street, Utah was arrested by the police on Thursday at 9:30 p.m. and booked at the city jail on charges of drunkenness, using abusive language and resisting an officer. He was released on his recognizance.

PRODUCTION CREDIT GROUPS APPROVE LIVESTOCK LOANS

 Production credit association serve the State of Arizona. These associations are capitalized for $1,500,000 with a lending capacity of approximately $7,500,000. The Production Credit Corporation of Berkeley has subscribed for $1,125,000 of the capital.

stock. Funds obtained by the association by the purchase of capital stock are invested in government bonds or similar high-grade securities and placed with the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Berkeley—also a unit of the Production Credit Administration for this district—additional security for the notes of farmers and livestock men who are members of either association or whose notes are discounted by the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Berkeley.

According to the resident-managers, although the Production Credit Corporation provides the initial capital for the association, it does not advance the entire capital for each borrower is required to subscribe to the actively voting stock in the association in an amount equal to 5 per cent of the loan. The stock is non-assessable and does not carry double liability. It entitles the owner to a single vote irrespective of the amount of his loan or the number of shares owned.

Livestock loans, say the managers, though written for one year, may run for a longer period of renewals if the security remains adequate. The rate of interest has been reduced recently from 6 percent to 5 percent, said rate being determined by the rediscunt rate of the Federal Reserve Bank.

The Cache American understands that by communicating with Mr. Winder, where the application is less than $1,000.00 or Mr. Collins where the application is in excess of $5,000.00, prospective borrowers may run for a longer period of renewals if the security remains adequate. Mrs. James Norflett, Mrs. W. E. Skidmore and Mrs. W. B. Jones, Sr., entertained Thursday at the canyon home of Mrs. Skidmore for Mrs. Ross Faden and the teachers of the Logan Academy. Luncheon was served to sixteen guests. Omeas followed luncheon. It was a very pleasant and delightful outing.

Bike Rider Hurt—

David Corrin, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virel Corrin, received a fractured left leg below the knee when he was crushed by a truck Thursday noon by a Colorado Army By-products truck driven by Angus Schiappi, police reports show. The injured boy was taken to Budge Memorial hospital.

Two Couples Wed—

Two marriage licenses were issued Memorial day, according to County Clerk Carl V. Mohr. Both couples were married Thursday morning in the Logan L.D.S. temple. They were Robert James Anderson, 29, Tremonton, and Hilma Naomi Corbridge, 24, Smithfield; Irel Hens Meyer, 19, Colton, Cal., and Ruth Nelson, 18, Smithfield.

Colorado Fair Judge—

Professor Harry H. Smith, assistant animal husbandman of the Utah agricultural experiment station staff, has been invited to officiate as a judge at the Colorado state fair by C. A. Smith, extension dairyman for the Colorado extension service. The Colorado state fair will be held August 28 and 29 at Fort Collins, Colorado.

Stolen Tools Found—

Tools stolen two months ago from the Alier Blacksmith shop in Lewiston were found Monday by a boy at the Blacksmiths' dump, according to Sheriff Jeff Stowell. The boys who found the tools were Norman and Chauncey Byington. Max and Val Glover. Sheriff Stowell said evidently the thieves had been afraid of being caught and had hid the tools at the best dump.

Sheep Damage Fields—

While attempting to drive his sheep to the Blacksmiths' Park summer range Thursday night, Gar Ross bore the misfortune to have them drift into a field and beat fields on the lane near the Colorado By-Products Company and do considerable damage, according to reports coming to this office. They were in the fields of H. Jones, George Kendrick, Joseph and Vaughan Bear. The herders there tried and were unable to handle the hungry wolves.

Poultryman Gives Advice on Care of Pullets

After pullets have become fully feathered and they are old enough to go without artificial heat they are too often neglected by poultrymen, says Carl Fruehcraft, assistant extension poultryman of the Utah State Agricultural college.

The most desirable place to raise pullets from the time they are about eight weeks old until they are about six months is outdoors on a range that is clean, well drained and provides some shade as well as plenty of succulent green feed. In order for the range to be clean or free from diseases and parasites it should be land that has not been occupied by chickens or other kinds of poultry or treated with poultry manure for at least a year.

Pullets cannot be placed on range until they are fully feathered to protect them from storms, rodents, and pests during the summer months. Summer shelters that give satisfaction and are inexpensive are not hard to construct. These shelters are small, light, A-shaped structures about 3 feet high in the center, covered on all sides with wire netting and a roof of insulating material. They are about 10 by 12 feet in size and have no inside equipment except perches. These perches are usually placed across from side to side above the eaves or roof projection. One and one-half inch mesh for wire, properly supported, should be inches to one foot above the ground, saves litter and makes it impossible for the pullets to come in contact with their own accumulated droppings. These shelters will usually accommodate 100 to 150 pullets and they are built on skids that make it easy to move them from place to place during the summer months while the birds are on range.

Blue prints for making these range shelters can be secured without cost by writing to the Extension Service, Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, Utah.

What can those who claim science and religion will never mix any more. The Churchman, liberal, theological of the Protestant Episcopal Church, advocated in a recent issue that the church abolish the common communion cup because science has found it to be unhealthy and dangerous to community health.

It seems to us that the Missouri Senator who ragged Huey Long for having gone to war was taking an unfair advantage of a conscientious objector's well-known antipathy for fighting Philadelphia Inquirer.

Uncle Sam has found that girls are not strong enough to act as mail carriers. That's right; the fair sex were meant to receive letters, not to deliver them.

Biography of Andrew Nelson Who Helped Build Logan Temple

Since the Temple this year celebrated its fiftieth anniversary it is a fitting time to look back and learn something of the lives of those who took part either in its construction or in the early ordinances work of the temple here. Biographies of these will appear in this column from time to time.

ANDREW NELSON was one of those coming to Utah as a youth in the early '60's he husled water for the men who were quarrying rock for the Salt Lake Temple. Coming to Logan he hauled rocks for the foundation of the Temple here. He played in the band at the laying of the corner stone, and also as the dedication. His father persuaded him to do temple work three days in the week, and run his farm the other three. This he has done, all through the years, having been endowed for $200 truly a host to welcome him when his life's mission is ended. In addition he never failed in making for Ohio to see his family.

He was born in Preston Haddington, Scotland, April 17, 1848, coming to New York in 1859. Coming west in 1867 they got out of their way 500 miles, and came to Salt Lake City for the rest of their weary lives.

He and his father walked on the railroad tracks and fell in with some hospitable Irish section hands who helped them a little, then they met a Scotch conductor who gave them $2, all the money he had and took them to Chicago. Here they got help to Dubuque where they had friends who advanced money for the rest of the family. Orson Pratt found them there, and advised them to go on to Winter Quarters, which they did. The Civil war had just broken out, and they happened to get aboard a rebel steamer, which was captured by the Union forces and sent back fifty miles where they were detained for two weeks. After being liberated they were again taken by Union forces under General Thibault Lyon, who learning who they were treated them very kindly and sent them on General Lyon was killed in battle two weeks later and Mr. Nelson had the privilege in course of time, of doing fly about and lay eggs. When the traps begin to capture moths in numbers, the growers know that eggs are being laid in the orchard. As it takes codling moth eggs 10 or more days to hatch in May and early June, unless the weather is unusually warm, cover spraying completed within 10 or 12 days of the time the trap catches show an increase will kill the worms hatching from the eggs before they can do much damage.

Successful trapping of this pest, say entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture, depends on the right kind of bait, the right time. One mixture recommended consists of 1 part of molasses and 10 or 15 parts of water, with perhaps a little yeast to start fermentation, placed in a small enameled kettle, a large-mouthed quart preserve jar, or one of the patented bait containers, which is hung from a pole or sap upper tree branch by means of a cord and pulley or screw eye, so that it may be lowered easily. The traps, 4 or 5 to an orchard, are run up near the tree tops.

Trapping for the codling moth should begin about the time the trees come into bloom. Daily examinations of trap contents, preferably in the morning while the moths are still fresh and easily identified, give an accurate record of the rise and fall of the codling moth population in any orchard. These records kept over a period of years, the department entomologists point out, provide growers with a good guide for setting their spray schedules.

Although the traps capture large numbers of moths and are a valuable aid in timing spray applications, their value as a direct control measure has not yet been established.

Foresters Help Broaden Use For Pine

A stand of slash pine trees, planted at Soperton, Ga. in 1923, has in 10 years grown large enough to furnish pulpwood. Foresters are pointing out this plantation as a practical demonstration of the possibilities of planting and protecting southern pine.

Since this planting was made the United States Forest Service, county agents, and the department of forestry at the State College at Athens have been actively working on the problem of reclamation of worn-out or idle lands in the State by reforestation. The Southern Forest Experiment Station and the Forest Products Laboratory conducted experiments in the growing and utilization of pine for naval stores and paper. The laboratory improved the quality of paper by reforestation to increase the yields of turpentine and to lengthen the lives of pine trees chipped for turpentine.

The Georgia State Laboratory at Savannah also assisted in the efforts to remove resin from pine pulpwood. Improvement of methods

Moth Traps in Orchards Set Spraying Dates

A few well-baited traps scattered through the orchard tell fruit growers when it is time to spray for the codling moth, a serious insect pest of apples and other deciduous fruits. The moths begin to appear shortly after the apple trees come into bloom, and when the weather is warm they

Good Resolutions

I WILL NOT permit rubbish to accumulate in basements, workshops, or anywhere about the premises, remembering that clean property seldom burns.

I WILL NOT burn trash, brush, or rubbish near buildings, fences, or other property.

I WILL NOT keep ashes in wooden containers or deposit them against wooden buildings or partitions, but will keep them in metal cans.

I WILL NOT hang electric light cords on nails.

I WILL take precautions with electric flatirons.

I WILL have all fires cleaned, examined, and repaired at least once a year.

I WILL provide screens for open fireplaces.

I WILL NOT connect gas stoves, heaters, or hot plates with rubber hose.

I WILL NOT use gasoline or benzine to clean clothing near an open flame, light, or fire.

I WILL NOT go into closets with lighted matches or candles.

Good Resolutions

I WILL remember that there is always danger in the discarded electric and gas wire.

I WILL have full insurance protection for all my assets.

You have insurance on your home and its contents, of course. But have you enough? If your home is worth $10,000 and it is insured for only $2,000 you haven't enough. If you have added to your furniture, your clothing, and other household items recently, the chances are that your present insurance does not cover it. If you have insured against fire, but not against windstorm, explosion, loss of rent, etc., you are not completely protected.

luncheon was served. Those present were Messrs and Mesdames George Hughes of Carleton, William Bust, Joseph N. Sorensen, William Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. David Winn and family of Centerville are here via Mrs. Annie Hughes, Mrs. Martha Bust, Miss Jennie Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sorensen and children of Idaho, Falls are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Sorensen.

A party was given Friday evening in the ward amusement hall for those dancing the Gold and Green M.L.A. contest dance and their partners. Games and dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments were served to 25.

A delightfully arranged luncheon was given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. J. N. Sorensen in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sorensen of Idaho Falls. Other guests were Mrs. Annie Hughes, Mrs. Martha Bust, Miss Jennie Richards.

One thing is certain. If Uncle Sam puts cent/wheel dollars in general circulation again he won't have to motivate them. They'll go fast enough!

Dr. William Mayo remarks

"There might be situations in which madmen would be strictly disadvantageous." Ah, yes! And if a submerged madist stepped on a horse's nose in a bear patch, that might be one of them.—Boston Herald.

The Administration certainly is giving debtors a break. A dollar is scarcely worth what it costs to collect it now.—Thompson (Ga.) Times.

CROOKSTON HAS PLAN FOR RAISING MONEY

By ROBERT CROOKSTON
Editor, Cache American:
The day of July is only a month away, but of course Logan will not observe any demonstration...

The beautiful part of it is that they would a good many hundred dollars in debt, but they payed all their entertainers, they paid it all out of their own pockets...

I expected to forget this rotten injustice of being denied what was rightfully mine, I didn't a street brawl, but have a plan for getting satisfaction another way...

I am sure that the men who are responsible for announcing this part of the program from Hollywood was not coming (and this crushed the affair) it seems to me that if they have some of justice and ability to see their mistake, I should think they would try to re-imburse the Legion...

For personal spite my name was scratched off the list, and this week has been going on now eleven weeks, and from appearances will continue about another year...

I give you a faint idea of how bad I need money, the taxes on my home are delinquent and when I see the undertaker coming in on a list with others that I am in his debt...

Radio Talk to D. A. Veterans and Listeners
This radio talk given by a high official of the D.A.V. on Memorial Day is printed by request of the members of the local chapters...

What is propaganda? It is that method of publicity which, by over-emphasis, under-emphasis, and half-truths, is so designed as to create the impression of truth, and consequently false remedies.

Propaganda has been used since time immemorial, always to influence others by such clever deception, that the full truth is often never revealed.

This evening I propose to devote a few minutes to debunk some of the most vicious propaganda which has been used in this nation to create the false impression that the federal government has been too generous in its treatment of its disabled ex-servicemen.

Let me first remind you that during the World War you were told much of the manliness, the endurance, the glory of war, but very little of its hardships, its exposures, its dirt and stench...

Many thousands of disabled men there still are who because of sleeping on their rifles, or because of the lack or loss of utilities records or of the records of miscellaneous examinations by doctors, because of the death or disappearance of former soldiers assisting because of lack of information and experience, because of their families...

vice origin of disabilities actually caused by their military service. Fundamentally, these are among the justifiable factors, and not alone because of political pressure, but because of the fact that in 1924 to grant certain presumptions of service origin of a restricted number of serious congenital diseases found to exist in disabling degree before January 1, 1925.

But my time is passing on. I must step on to the high lights of the National Economy Bill on March 20, 1933. Remember the charts which were presented by the National Economy League which showed tremendous increase in the total aggregate expenditures of all countries, municipalities, states and the federal government, with the pointed inference that this was all caused by the increasing cost of veteran benefits, in spite of the fact that expenditures for service connected disabled veterans are not made by counties, municipalities, and states, in which there is a huge increase of expenditures, whereas the expenditures of the federal government, which has been responsible for veteran benefits, actually showed a substantial increase over the same period of time.

The average citizen, who does not pay federal income taxes, and who represents about 96 per cent of the population, was falsified to believe that it was veterans' expenses which were responsible for increasing local property taxes. That was our first step in our deceitful propaganda concerning which, unfortunately, most of our fellow citizens have not yet been undeceived, not realizing that the whole thing was a scheme to transfer the burden from the income tax payers to the small overburdened local property taxpayers.

Let's pass on to another chapter of statistics used for a deceptive purpose. The fact that the United States Chamber of Commerce, and repeated periodically ever since then by the National League for the American Veterans, and several syndicate writers as prating parrots of the predatory patrioters. I refer to the charts which proudly revealed the fact that this Nation was spending infinitely more for all veteran benefits, divided by the total number of its World War killed and wounded, than the case as to any other nation in the world. Then analyze it. These cards actually did prove that the United States was annually spending seven times as much for every disabled Country to veteran benefits based on the per capita of the number of disabled veterans who were listed as casualties. What does that mean? What significance does it have? Absolutely none! Naturally this Country, being in the war only about one fourth as long as other countries, has a smaller percentage proportionately much less than any other Country. What should the per capita cost of veteran benefits be based on the number of disabled veterans who were killed or wounded? That has nothing to do with proving the American public that it has been over-generous to its disabled "Wounded Wrecks!"

A much fairer comparison would be to show that relative expenditures for veteran benefits of several countries as based on per capita wealth and per capita income. Such charts have been prepared and can be found in the Congressional Record of January 19, 1924, and the Congressional Record of January 19, 1924, and the Congressional Record of January 19, 1924.

Moreover, a full picture of the situation would show that in other Countries, Veterans as citizens, and not as veterans, have for many years received governmental unemployment benefits. We have no complete comparison with other countries directly assume the responsibility of furnishing suitable jobs for employment for the disabled ex-servicemen, and also compel industry on a quota basis to employ disabled veterans in them. Eventually, we believe that the United States government will be able to make a reasonable interpretation of the welfare of its disabled veterans.

Now for another example of so-called tommy-rot. Listen! The two-faced Economy Bill, passed on March 20, 1933, which, in spite of previous promises that it would be administered with justice and mercy, resulted in very drastic reductions and terminations of compensation for veterans whose disabilities were undoubtedly of service origin, was officially entitled "An Act to Maintain the Credit of the United States Government." Propaganda, right in the official title. The financial credit of the United States Government had been excellent; all of its bond issues had been over-subscribed; from two to nineteen times as much money was offered by eager capitalists as was asked for. There was no lack of governmental financial credit, as has since been proved by additional bond issues, which have increased the government debt by about ten billion dollars. Congressmen were frightened by false propaganda, by that infamous, damnable Economy Bill, utterly unopposed to the very humanitarian purposes of our beloved President; Roosevelt to increase the purchasing power of the average citizen and of local communities. The president was deceived, and he turned to the deceived Congress, the disabled veterans, and the general public. How long will the American public stand for such methods?

Nearly every governmental estimate of the purchasing power of the average citizen and of local communities which has been used to try to defeat certain proposals for relief has been an over-estimate. Why? Simply, to scare the public, to be able to sell more bonds.

On the other hand, when the Administration has granted some concession it has been presented as being more generous and favorable than it actually was. During the last part of December, 1933, for example, the newspapers announced by big head-lines a Christmas gift of $17,000,000.00 to disabled veterans. Was any such additional amount of money being paid out at that time? No, indeed. Then what, you may wonder, was the basis for creating such an impression. Simply this: the Ceteris Administration could have made an unwarranted drastic interpretation of an amendment passed by congress on June 16, 1933, which would have taken away an additional $17,000,000.00 from the service-connected disabled, and because it was decided to make the money available for the disabled, the big newspapers called it a $17,000,000 Christmas gift to the disabled. Laugh that off! It did its damage among head-line readers, even though the details below old the truth. Propaganda methods again! Then in January, 1934, when President Roosevelt decided by executive order to increase the basic pay from $50.00 to $100.00 per month, for those permanently and totally disabled, and proportionately on the basis of lower ratings, the public was led by the newspaper articles to believe that every disabled veteran would automatically receive an increase of $50.00 per cent in his monthly compensation, whereas the truth was that this favorably affected only a little more than a third of them.

WE CELEBRATE WITH BARGAINS

Biggest Sale in Years to Begin on Saturday June 2nd — Big Bargains in Many Lines. Sale Ends June 9th.

For many weeks we have been preparing for this great day. Wholesale dealers have given us special prices on large quantities. From every available source we have sought for merchandise which would make this sale a big success and now we are willing to sacrifice all profit in order that it may be a success. You simply cannot afford to miss the wonderful bargains which we are offering at this time. We cannot mention them all in this paper, space will not permit. The goods which we offer in this sale do not represent old stock which we are anxious to move, but these are new goods, latest patterns, best quality and goods that are in demand. We realize that it is useless to offer special prices on goods which people do not wish to purchase. We have selected the items which are saleable and which are in demand and which will help people in these times of distress. They are the goods that are needed and they represent a great saving in money to our customers. So we say again, be sure and visit Everton's store during this great anniversary sale.

THIRTY NINE YEARS OF FAITHFUL PUBLIC SERVICE

We are rather proud of our long record of service to the public. Thirty nine years ago we opened our store in the location where we now do business. At that time it was an old frame building. We have continued to do business in the same place day after day and year after year. Our store has never been closed for lunch hour during all of those years. On a very few occasions it has been closed on account of a funeral, otherwise it has never opened every business day for thirty nine years. During that time the old frame building has been replaced with a brick building, but we did not discontinue business just because the front of the store has torn or one side of the store has torn out. We are proud of the friends that we have made during those years. We honestly believe that our friends are the best people we have. We have made an honest effort to treat every one fairly and squarely. There are many who have made more money than we have made. We doubt that they have enjoyed life more or have enjoyed the business friendships more than we have. We wish to tell our older friends, those who have been with us for years, there is nothing you can give us that we will appreciate more than your friendship. And to our new friends, those who have come to us recently, we want to tell you we appreciate your friendship. We believe that a business that is built to endure must be reared upon the foundation of friendship.

Things Have Changed

The good merchandise which we sold thirty nine years ago would be counted very poor merchandise now. The cast iron stoves which we sold at that time have not yet been thought of. The automatic pistol, automatic and repeating guns had not been invented, so that fire arms were entirely different than now. Paint was made of red lead, usually there were other uses but little because they were very hard to apply. The old fashioned steel knives and forks with wooden handles were all silver. Silver knives and forks were not used as much as they are now. Silver seemed almost unknown as far as common use was concerned. Our store has kept up to date. When there has come new merchandise, we have introduced it. If a new kitchen was introduced, Everton & Sons helped to introduce it. If a new kitchen was become popular, Everton & Sons helped to make it popular and today we have the best kitchen in the world. The stock in our store though we are the oldest hardware store in Northern Utah.

"GOOD GOODS" OUR MOTTO

During all of our existence as a store, we have endeavored to supply the public with dependable merchandise. Stores have come and gone during that long period, usually there were stores where goods could be bought for less money than they could be bought at Everton's, but those goods were of inferior quality and the store did not last. Everton has continued to fight poor quality. We have endeavored. (Continued on Page 3)

EVERYBODY PAINTS THIS YEAR

Fishermen Buy Their Tackle Here

Many of the best fishermen buy their tackle at Everton's because they have better luck with Everton's tackle. This better luck simply means that Everton's tackle is good tackle. It attracts fish and that's what tackle is for, to attract and catch fish. You will find that our prices are not quite so high as some other dealers, but if you will investigate you will also find that we do carry high grade fishing tackle and you can depend upon it giving good service. The next time you go fishing try not call in to Everton's store and get your tackle here.

Tubs and Pails May Advance Again in Price

There is every indication that the price of tubs and pails may advance again. There has already been a rise in the price of galvanized iron. The wise ones say there will be another advance soon. The price of tubs and pails. You can depend upon it, we will not advance the price of our tubs until we have to, but we advise you to buy what you need now. Don't put off buying a tub thinking you may get it cheaper later. They are going up rather than down.

Dairy Supply Sales Grow

More and more dairymen are finding that it pays to buy their dairy supplies from us. We know that this is true because more and more dairymen are buying their supplies here. We sell more bottle caps than we ever did before. Mills bottles also go faster than ever before. Wyandotte cleaner and some other items that have been added to our dairy supply line are also selling quite satisfactorily. Many of these items we stock in our warehouse here by dairymen who formerly sent away from our city to buy them. Formerly they had to buy them in our case. (Continued on Page Four)

We Have The Hose You Want

We are attempting to carry a grade of hose which will satisfy all the conditions. For those who desire the best that it is to be had, the hose which will last the longest, we have the best service. It has Royal Cord hose which is built better and stronger than any of the others. It is made like a cord tire. Instead of woven fabric as contained in other brands of hose, the Royal Cord hose is made of a close laying side by side, close together, wrapped around and around with one of the others. It is built like a cord tire. It is really much stronger than any hose with the woven fabric. It is a cheaper grade of hose, which will stand for years. (Continued on Page Two)

You'll Like Our Lawn Mowers

When you buy a Lawn Mower you want to be sure and get one that runs easy and that cuts well. No matter what other qualities a mower may have, if it lacks these two qualities it is not the kind of a mower you want. The mowers which we sell run easy and they cut well and in addition to that they are durable. We unhesitatingly recommend them to you and are sure you will feel satisfied if you get one of them. You will find the price not far different than the cheaper grade of mowers which do not have the durability. We would like to have you come in and see our Lawn Mowers before you make your purchase.

We Prefer Winchester Ammunition

We believe there is no better ammunition than Winchester. It has been made by the same people for many years and they know how to make good ammunition. Winchester ammunition has given satisfaction during all these years and there are a great number of people who now demand Winchester when they buy ammunition. If you have not been using Winchester, we recommend to you that you make the change and that you buy Winchester in the future. If you have been using Winchester, you know that it is good ammunition and we feel sure that you will continue to come to our store and buy it.

Our Fly Spray Kills Them Dead

Did you ever have the experience of spraying the flies, seeing them drop to the ground dead and then in a short time return to find that they have been resurrected and flown away. Many have had this experience. But if you buy our fly spray, the flies die and you are free of the dairy men. Dairy men are in a maddened that we put in this spray and they could not stand it then they must send away for it. We found so many people who liked it that we have continued to (Continued on Page Three)

Buildings Long Neglected are Being Painted This Year. Everybody is Doing It — Why Not You!

Haven't you noticed as you have walked around the town, that many more buildings are being painted this year than in former years. Haven't you noticed as you have gone around the business section, that many more stores are painting up than has been the case in several years. During these depressing times many have neglected their buildings. They have neglected their homes. Many stores have likewise been neglected. But this year people have decided to start the road back in time to fix up. It's time to put on a good front and let the people know that we such as our Lawn Mowers bring this extra demand for paint. We recommend to all our readers that you fall in line, fix up, make your place look a little more cheerful. You'll feel better if you are in a place of which you are not ashamed.

Put Electricity Where Needed

Why not have a convenient plug in the wall where the electric iron is preferred. A convenient plug for the attachments of the radio, the vacuum cleaner, the electric heater, the toaster and all of the other electric things that you use in the home. It costs such a little to put in these fixtures that you can hardly afford to do without them. We have all the supplies that you need, the cord, the iron, the wire, the outlets, the boxes, plugs, plates, etc. and the labor to install them. If you are a householder should try to have convenient outlets for electricity save the housewife's time and trouble.

The Easiest To Use Kalsomine

There is a big difference in the different brands of Kalsomine. Some are harder to spread than others and some brands of Kalsomine will not hold. We have the best others. King Kalsomine, the brand which we sell, has the good qualities of all the other brands of Kalsomine, and it does have in an outstanding degree, the quality of being the easiest to use. King Kalsomine is the slickest Kalsomine they ever tried. That is to say, your brush works better than any other brush. (Continued on Page Four)

There Is No Good In Crying

Did you ever watch a little boy fall down in the mud, spill his candy, get mud on his clothing. You have seen this thing many times. The boy sits up and looks at his mud and cries. He wants his mother to come and brush off the mud, find his candy and start on his way again. The boy's mother, however, doesn't sit down to cry. He jumps up. He brushes the mud off as best he can. He picks up his candy, washes it off a couple times, puts it back in the sack and goes on his way. You see, there is no good in crying. True, he is sorry that he fell in the mud, but it doesn't do any good to cry. Even though he was unable to salvage all the candy it doesn't do any good to cry. People are grown up children. Many of us have fallen down in the mud. We have plastered mortgages on our farms. We have scattered our assets, but it doesn't do any good to cry. Neither our mothers nor our guardians are going to pick up the pieces for us. We will have to solve them ourselves and we will enjoy things very much better if we will get up, brush ourselves off, make the best appearance we can, salvage all our goods that we can, go on our journey rejoicing, as does the little boy who spills his candy.

An Old Customer who bought here first as a Young Girl.

TACK POINTS

HOWDY FOLKS — "Who is the most unfortunate person in the world today," asks a lecturer? How about the girl who can't eat strawberries without breaking out into a rash?

A han cackles when she lays an egg. But that's nothing, you ought to hear a husband squawk when he lays a carpet.

AND YOU OUGHT TO HEAR SOME OF OUR CUSTOMERS CHROW ABOUT THE SERVICE THEY GET FROM OUR RUBBER HOSE.

The picnic season will not be critically opened until sister's sweetie, dressed in white flannels, sits down on the blueberry pie.

Or until father picks an armful of pretty foliage, which later turns out to be poison ivy.

NOTHING LIKE A LAWN MOWER FOR REDUCING THE SPRING FEEL.

AND THERE'S NOTHING LIKE OUR GARDEN SPRAYERS TO REDUCE YOUR GARDEN TROUBLES.

Philosophers differ as to the ultimate benefits of the marriage institutions, but one result is obvious—

Before marriage people exchange kisses by the peck and after marriage they exchange pecks for kisses.

In our exchange department you can exchange what you have for what you want.

Dr. Merrill asked a lady patient if there has been any insanity in her family.

"None," was the reply, "except when my husband thinks he is the head of the house."

However, the question of who is boss never comes up when they are buying paint. She wants the best and he wants the cheapest and they are agreed that Low Brothers is both best and cheapest.

Oregon Garff advances the idea that perhaps the reason there are so many Irishmen is because "Once upon a time there were two Irishmen."

And the reason so many Irishmen trade at Everton's is because that's where they get full value for their money.

Says John Skabelund: "The meanest man in the world is the man who believes that 'I'd won't tell his barber about it!'"

John was going to think up another one for us but that lack fishing tackle we sold him worked it, well that he had no time to think between bites.

And now that that is done, maybe we can get at our daily work.

WE HAVE THE HOSE YOU WANT

(Continued from Page One) and which is guaranteed to withstand any water pressure, which is sold for less money. For those who do not have so high water pressure, we have still a cheaper grade. This, however, is still a guaranteed hose. It has a fabric body which makes it strong and it will give long service. The hose which has no fabric and which will not stand water pressure, we hardly think is suited to this part of the country where water pressure is such a common thing. We are therefore not carrying this cheaper hose this year. The price of our standard hose is such a very little higher than this cheap hose that we have decided to carry only the hose which we can recommend.

The first bicycle was propelled by pushing with the feet on the ground, 1810, when ascending hills the riders carried the "hobby horse" on their shoulders, they weighed 50 pounds.

Early coil warriors, in ancient times, knew the principle of the lightning rod . . . although it was not invented until the 18th century, by Benjamin Franklin . . . they put spikes in the ground with the points upward during storms to ward off the demons of lightning.

Glass is not a solid . . . it has not one of the properties of a solid. Aluminum sold for $10 a pound in 1800!

In the 13th century it was a mark of distinction to burn wax candles, as only the very wealthy could afford to use them.

Bird Cages
Cost Less

It does not cost nearly so much to buy a bird cage now as it did at one time and the cages are really newer than they were in former years. If you would like to have the company of a bird, we'll furnish the cage for very little money.

Preserving Goods Here

We will be prepared this year as usual to supply the preserving pans, preserving kettles, cold pack racks and other material and the other things that are needed for preserving fruit.

DAIRY SUPPLY SALES GROW

(Continued from Page One) and when he had calls they were weighed out for the customer. Recently calls have been so frequent that we have put our caps up in packages of convenient size and when customer orders he is supplied with the proper size package without waiting to have the goods weighed. Cleanliness is one of the advantages of handling the caps in this manner, as our milk caps are not open to dirt, neither are they handled by hand. If you are not buying your dairy supplies from us we invite you to do so.

"GOOD GOODS" OUR MOTTO

(Continued from Page One) to carry goods in our stock which would attract people back for more goods after they had made their first purchase and we have been successful to the extent that we have held our old customers and have gained many new customers. We still believe it is a good policy to carry good goods and we shall continue this policy in the future.

OUR FLY SPRAY KILLS THEM DEAD

(Continued from Page One) carry it for years and we have it on hand now. For household use we have stocked O'cedar spray which kills the flies also. It has a fragrant cedar odor and is pleasant to use. You simply can't afford to buy a cheap spray that stuns the fly only but does not kill them.

Miller Brooms Are the Best

Many broom dealers carry nothing but the cheaper grade of brooms. Most of the wholesale broom salesmen have nothing as good as the brooms we sell. They claim there is no demand for the higher priced brooms. We are finding a lot of people who appreciate a good broom and are willing to pay a few cents more for a good broom than is necessary when they purchase a cheap broom. We have brooms of various grades. Whatever price you pay for a broom, you can be sure you are getting full value for your money.

Our Rent Department

Many appreciate the convenience of being able to rent things from our store. Recently Kalsomine brushes have been the most popular item in our rent department. However, our electric sanding machine has been kept busy most of the time. The electric wax polisher has also been popular. Of course we are always renting dishes, and typewriters rent all the year around. Some do not know that you can rent curtain stretchers at our store. We also rent a tub reamer for fixing leaky water taps.

THE EASIEST-TO-USE KALSO-MINE

(Continued from Page One) not seem to stick to the brush, but the brush moves over as if the Kalsomine were really slick. That is because of the extra large amount of glue which is contained in this kalsomine and when it is mixed with hot water and allowed to stand until it jells, it really is slick. In addition to making it slick, this glue also makes it stick to the walls and it does not come off like other brands of kalsomine. Inasmuch as King Kalsomine costs no more than other brands, it seems to us you will be doing yourself a favor by buying King Kalsomine next time.

A MIRROR-like finish, smooth and glistening—or without lustre if you prefer—with the beauty of the natural wood grain showing through—LOWE BROTHERS NEPRUNITE VARNISHES give an excellent finish for floors, woodwork and furniture.

Various types of surfaces are subjected to different kinds of wear and abuse. For this reason there are different kinds of Neprunite Varnish—each serves best for the purpose indicated by its name. None of them will turn white—won't even scratch white.

Come in and let us tell you why Neprunite will give you complete satisfaction.

YOUR PORCH will look nice and stay nice

Low Brothers Porch and Deck Paint is made in a wide range of pleasing colors from which you may choose. Come in and let us show them to you.

YOUR porch will give a smiling greeting to your friends and it will prove a source of immense pleasure to you and your family if it is "fixed up" a bit.

The porch is really an outdoor sun parlor and its appearance should be considered as a matter of importance. Due to the abuse to which it is exposed—rain, snow, sleet, ice and the hoe rays of the sun—wearing shoes and old-fashioned chairs, the porch floor needs the best kind of protection that can be secured. For this protection we offer LOWE BROTHERS PORCH AND DECK PAINT. It is very easy to put on—no work will be planned and surprised at the results you can obtain.

Director Outlines New Program for Rehabilitation

There are two major aspects to the work of the newly organized land policy section of the program planning division, agricultural education administration, according to P. V. Cardon, director of the Utah State Agricultural Experiment Station, who is serving temporarily as regional director of the new work in that state. Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, and California.

The first, or emergency, aspect of the work of the land policy section, relates to the purchase of submarginal lands in certain socially distressed areas where the acquisition of such land would help forward a program of rehabilitation for the people occupying them. In this relationship the regional director serves, at the same time, as regional representative of the Surplus Relief corporation.

It is expected that the $5,000,000 available to the Surplus Relief corporation of the public works administration will be used to acquire submarginal tracts in certain areas of well-developed, workable project program which would provide first, for the rehabilitation of the families affected and, second, for the removal of such lands removed from cultivation.

Rehabilitation would be effected, where practicable, by carrying through a program of reclamation upon which families removed from the submarginal lands could acquire on an acceptable amortized purchase plan, a setup providing a higher standard of living. This would be accomplished through existing federal reclamation projects in the rural rehabilitation division, the farm credit administration and others.

Higher use of the acquired submarginal lands would be affected through assigning them for administrative purposes to one or more existing agencies, as the forest service, national park service, biological survey, Indian service, soil erosion service, and others.

The second, or long-time, aspect of the work of the land policy section relates to the assembling of facts regarding land use and the formulation of suggested policies for improvement. This will be done through full cooperation with various states and federal agencies, in the interest of effective coordination and procedure. Director Cardon said.

On Teams Are Still in Use in Maryland

MARYLAND, the Old Line state, this year is celebrating its three-hundredth anniversary. In March a stone cross was unveiled at Saint Clement's (now Blackstone) Island, in the Potomac river, which marks the landing place of Leonard Calvert, the first Maryland governor. On June 10 another celebration will take place at St. Marys City, site of the first Maryland capital, near the extreme southern tip of the state.

Maryland is a delightful geographic miniature of America. Her eastern shore is as level as any prairie state and, under modern cultivation, becomes as fertile. Southern Maryland, remaining with natural mansions that are centuries old, is a counterpart of tide-water Virginia and the old South. The rolling green fields and forested hills of Montgomery and Frederick counties remind one of the Blue Grass country of Kentucky and the level valley of New York and New England, while the long climbs of Big Savage mountain, Negro mountain, and Catox ridge have made many a western motorist feel that they were as high as the Rockies and the Sierra Nevada.

Her tiny area is a museum of geology, disclosing the most ancient rocks of our globe and others still in the process of making, and running the scale through every major geological epoch. From Little St. Marys, where the Colonists of the Ark and the Dove established the first community in the world where Protestant and Catholic could worship in friendship together, in an age when Europe was red with blood shed in the name of religion, to the mountains of western Maryland, where George Washington, fighting the Indians, gained his first military experience, a continuous panorama unfolds of colonial landmarks and scenes sacred and momentous in our national life.

In this state, whose finest tradition is tolerance, intellectual giants and big-souled men and women originated notable principles of governance and new ideals of human society.

Capt. John Smith Was There. It is impossible definitely to fix the time when white men first saw what is now Maryland. But certainly the Chesapeake bay region was carefully explored by Capt. John Smith of Jamestown, in 1607. In that year he went up one side of the bay and down the other, going up the rivers and inlets as he went seaward. He was the first to know the site of Baltimore and sailed up the Patuxent river. He also went up the Potomac as far, at least, as Indian Head.

After the rigors of the Newfoundland climate had ended his hopes of establishing a colony there, and after Virginia had refused to receive him unless he took the oath of allegiance to the king of England, Sir George Calvert, the first Lord Baltimore, went back to London and asked the king for a part of the unsettled region north of the Potomac river.

This was granted him, and also a charter (which he wrote himself) that entitled him to set up a palatinate, with the most ample rights and privileges ever conferred by a sovereign fealty to a king.

Under it, all that the crown retained was feudal supremacy. Two Indian arrows and a fifth of the gold and silver produced were the sole annual tribute required as a gesture of fealty to the king.

Impressed by the crescent form of the southern boundary of the territory granted him by his friend, Charles I, Lord Baltimore decided to call it Crescencia. The king, however, wanted to honor his wife, Queen Henrietta Maria, and Maryland the colony became.

The first Lord Baltimore dying he could take advantage of his grant, the title was continued to his son, Cecil.

Seen From the Water.

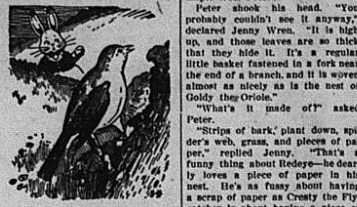

Maryland had its beginnings between the Potomac river and Chesapeake bay, and the events that transpired in that peninsula have been such a vital bearing on the destiny of the United States and the course of human history that one needs to journey either who

AN ALL-DAY SONGSTER

OVER in a maple tree on the edge of Furner Brown's doorway lived Redeye the Vireo and his little mate, Peter Rabbit. They had a nest there, because Jenny Wren had told him so. Redeye Was a Little Fellow of About the Size of One of the Warblers.

tion of happiness, Redeye must be the happiest of all birds. Redeye was a little fellow of about the size of one of the Warblers and quite as modestly dressed as any of Peter's acquaintances. The crown of his head was gray with a little blackish border. Underneath he was white. For the rest, he was dressed in light olive green. The first time he came down near enough for Peter to see him well, Peter understood why he is called Redeye. His eyes were red. Yes, sir, his eyes were red, and this fact alone was enough to distinguish him from any other members of his family.

But it wasn't often that Redeye came down so near the ground that Peter could see his eyes. He preferred to spend most of his time in the tree tops, and Peter only got glimpses of him now and then. But if he didn't see him often, it was less often that he failed to hear him. "I don't see when Redeye finds time to eat," declared Peter as he listened to the seemingly unending song in the maple tree.

"Redeye believes in singing while he works," said Jenny Wren. "For my part, I should think he'd wear his throat out. Just listening to him makes my own throat sore. When other birds sing, they don't do anything else, but Redeye sings all the time he is hunting his worms and study about how many to swallow a worm or a bug when he finds it. Just as soon as it down he begins to sing again, while he hunts for another. I must say for the Redeyes that they are mighty good neat builders. Have you seen their nest over in that maple tree, Peter?"

Peter shook his head. "You probably couldn't see it anyway," declared Jenny Wren. "It is high up, and those leaves are so thick that they hide it. It's a regular little basket fastened in a fork near the end of a branch, and it is woven almost as nicely as is the nest of Dolly the Oriole."

"What's it made of?" asked Peter.

"Strips of bark, plant down, spider's web, grass, and pieces of paper," replied Jenny. "That's a funny thing about Redeye—he does by means a piece of paper in his nest. He's as fussy about having a scrap of paper as the Flycatcher is about having a piece of aneskin. I had just seen it on the nest a few days ago, and unless I am greatly mistaken, Sally Sly the Cowbird has greatly imposed on the Redeye. I am certain I saw one of her eggs in their nest."

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

ARE YOU AN ARTIST?

IF I OUGHT to be beautiful, my dear, I am seventy-four years old.

Many young people will not understand that at all. So let us tell the story:

A woman traveling in India was entertained by a lady of high rank. The visitor was so impressed with the charm and grace of her hostess that she exclaimed: "I think you are perfectly beautiful!" Then came the answer: "I ought to be beautiful, my dear, I am seventy-four years old."

It must have been in my Creator's plan that the years should give us beauty, that for the pleasures they take away they should compensate with other enrichment. And since enrichment in life is always reflected, that means that years should empower us to shed beauty around us.

"Certainly," you will say, "if what you mean by beauty is not the beauty of the eye. There is the beauty of wisdom, of humor, of understanding that comes with age. There is the beauty of calm and peace of those who have lived the 'depth' that makes the mellow beauty of old silver and old wood. Take Whistler's painting of his mother. Where can you find greater beauty of peace and calm and wise content?"

Then I should take issue with you. For what I mean by beauty alludes also to a beauty of the eye. To see Whistler's "Mother" is beneficial to look at, no less than the lush young beauty of the dancing girl.

"Why have the greatest artists delighted to paint those rich in years? Their object is beauty, and their medium entirely the visual, the

Centennial of the First Passion Play

THREE hundred years ago, in 1634, the pious peasants of Oberammergau, a little village in the Bavarian Alps of southern Germany, gave the first presentation of the Passion Play. This was in fulfillment of a vow made the previous year for relief from the plague that had devastated Europe following the Thirty Years war. For three centuries the folk of Oberammergau have kept the vow and the performance this summer marks the centennial.

COACHING SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY

Coach Criner to Arrive Here Sunday—Other Instructors Also Scheduled to be Here.

All is in readiness for the eighth annual summer coaching school, which will open at Utah Aggies next Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Coach H. O. (Pete) Criner of Princeton has notified Coach Dick Romney that he will arrive in Logan Sunday afternoon, and though no definite word has been received from the other coaches, it is likely that they will arrive during the afternoon.

With the largest list of inquiries received, about 750 to 800 young men are expected to reach a high mark of interest and acclaim. The school will be particularly interested in the new knowledge displayed by Criner. Himself an all-American end at Chicago, he played and coached under the best coaches in the country. He is thoroughly imbued with the football lore of the famous Chicago coaches. He coaches the entire system and his classes should particularly profit by this system of instruction. He has been an active participant as player and coach.

As in past years, the coaching school will be concentrated. The football class will meet each morning at 8 o'clock, and will continue for four hours with a break for lunch. The basketball class is scheduled for the afternoon. Sports will be held in the gymnasium. The school will be held in the school building. The school will be held in the school building.

CACHE AMERICAN

Fourth-Weekly Newspaper, Published Every Tuesday and Friday by the Cache American Publishing Co. at 81 West Center Street, Logan Utah

Entered as second-class matter November 1, 1921, at the Post Office at Logan, Utah, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Government Behind Home-Building

The next major activity of government will be an attempt to stimulate heavy industries—which normally provide the bulk of employment, were hit hardest by depression, and have been the most lethargic in recovering from it.

Experts estimate that it is possible to unlock credit to the tune of $1,500,000,000 or more in this manner. That money would go to painters, carpenters, masons, plumbers, contractors. It would buy cement, steel, paint, lumber, roofing, electric fixtures.

Here's a thought for the wise property owner to start considering right now: If building is greatly accelerated, prices for everything involved are going to rise.

GOLD COINS ONCE BURIED NEAR LOGAN CANYON SAWMILL

By ROBERT CROOKSTON

Editor, Cache American: Here is something that sounds like fiction, so those who believe fiction won't think much of it because these are facts.

It is not generally known that in at least one instance gold money was buried in Logan Canyon. I do not know if anyone has found this gold or not, the man that buried it never got it again.

When winter came on and he learned that the mill would be shut down for several months he asked permission to stay. He had plenty of food brought from town and when the snow got so deep that it was time to get out deep the road was passable, this stranger made arrangements for his horses to be brought to Logan and stabled for the winter. He had the mill, so those who believe fiction won't think much of it because these are facts.

It was a touching drama, as this man talked to his horses as they stood there in the snow. He had behind a load of the morning, and a master never met again, and they seemed to suspect as much.

Price Fixing Plan Abandoned Under New NRA Setup

Washington NRA officials and definitely turned it back on price fixing today in outlining a new policy that will require the revision of scores of codes to permit free competition.

The declaration was a product of months of economic study which was affected indirectly by activities of groups such as the Darrow board. It responded partly to earlier public criticism and observations of officials on result of the experimental codes.

POULTRY
SANTINYO BROODER
HOUSE IMPROVEMENT

Clean Well Before Chickens Are Placed in It.

The greatest chick losses occur during the brooding period, which makes it necessary to clean the house thoroughly before the chickens are placed in it.

To do this having a sanitary brooder house the poultryman should first scrape all the old manure and dirt from the lower side walls and top floor of the house and clean the water containers, wash hoppers and other equipment used in the house. After this has been done mechanical cleaning has been done, the lower side walls, floor, water containers, feeding equipment, brooder stove and canopy should be scrubbed with a lye solution made by dissolving one pound of lye in a gallon of water.

This stiff brittle broom may be used to apply the solution. This lye mixture will not only further clean the house but it also has germ-killing power. Where the poultryman has a fire gun, he may use this instead of a broom.

After the brooder house has been thoroughly cleaned, it must be closed again for intervals during the brooding period. There should be a dirt floor, remove the top few inches and replace it with clean dirt, sand or fine gravel.

The use of wire frames to contain the feeders and water containers is also advised. The house should be free from drafts and if it is movable, it is well to take it to a new location after cleaning.

It is well to crowd the chickens in the house. About six square inches of floor space per chick is necessary for good health.

Dosing With Drugs Will Not Benefit Laying Hens

Dosing the flocks with drugs will not result in more eggs. That is the conclusion of the poultry department of the Michigan Agricultural college. Egg production is a method of inherited characteristics and proper feeding, housing and care are very apt to be unprofitable and hens which are compelled to forage for their living have little time to eat.

Drugs do not change the factors inherited by hens nor do they supplement the food. The possibility of nostrums affecting egg production are very remote. Dr. H. E. Moskey, United States Department of Agriculture, says positively that no known drug or combination of drugs will increase egg production.

Rations for laying flocks must supply the food elements needed to maintain the body weight of the hen, to supply warmth and energy, and to supply the material contained in the eggs themselves. Good nutrition should be secured and grit furnish all the materials needed by the laying hen.

Diseased hens should be treated for the material which they are affected, and in case of contagious disorders, proper sanitary measures should be practiced to prevent the spread and runs where chickens are confined.—Indiana Farmer's Guide.

Winter-Hatched Chickens

Winter-hatched chicks are less subject to diseases, cannibalism, and other vices than chicks hatched during the May, June and July months. Successful farming. Coccidiosis and some other poultry diseases are less likely to check off cold weather. The artificial heat necessary for the comfort of early chicks keeps the floor litter dry and less favorable to the development of disease which is encouraged with damp litter. Cannibalism and feather-picking may be kept among the winter-hatched chicks by limiting the amount of light used. Covering the windows with burlap or tar paper excludes sunlight and keeps the floor dry and successful in controlling these troubles.

POULTRY HINTS

Keep the poultry house clean and plenty of dry litter on the floor.

Separate the layers from the laying flock and produce infertile eggs.

Knowledge of the function of proteins in feeds is regarded as essential to success in poultry raising.

Farm poultry records kept in Tennessee indicate that 76 per cent of the income from poultry was from egg sales.

If all the chickens on farms in the United States were divided equally among the population, each person would receive three.

The care and feed of a growing pullet will determine the laying ability of the full-grown hen. The best of blood backing may be of little value if care and feed during the growing stage were lacking.

Good Will Offering to the People of United States.

Washington.—Sent by the American University of Beirut, Syria, as a good will offering to the people of the United States, 15 living cedars of Lebanon from the Phoenix coast at the eastern end of the Mediterranean were recently loaded in America. At the direction of the President they were planted in the grounds of Arlington National cemetery, overlooking the Potomac river.

In the Bible these majestic trees are called "the trees of Jehovah, the cedars of Lebanon, which he has planted." Their most famous appearance in history was when King Hiram of Tyre transported Lebanon cedars to Jerusalem for the building of Solomon's temple.

Famous Trees Never Numerous. Scholars differ as to how many cedars of Lebanon there were in antiquity, according to the National Geographic society.

It is probable that at no time were the limestone ridges of the Lebanon completely clothed in these majestic trees. In ancient times the wood was already valued, not only for its great strength and resistance to rot, but also for its rarity.

Some decades ago, with the encouragement of Queen Victoria, the small remaining cluster of giant trees was inclosed by a zone wall. The trees had long been considered sacred to man, and Hadrian issued an imperial order that the groves should not be harmed. Later the Maronites, who have a small chapel amid this tiny forest, threatened excommunication for anyone who harmed the trees. Herd bands of goats have showed less respect than man, and by nibbling at the saplings have prevented new growth.

A count of tree rings, made on small branches, indicates that the Lebanon cedar has a slow growth

Panama Route May Use Old Gold Road

Field section with Canal Zone highways. Bus and automobile traffic over a trans-isthmian highway from Colon to Panama would be relatively light.

The Panama City to Colon route is but one of several roads to connect the city with the American highway which was suggested to the Republic of Panama in the survey report. "The transformation is a highway of the present pack-horse trail from David, province of Chiriqui, to Bocas del Toro, would be much in advance the economic well-being of the western end of Panama."

A highway from Colon to Puerto Bello, which is situated on a small deep-sea harbor and which in Spanish days was an important distributing point.

The report said that potential traffic on the Panama link of the projected inter-American highway cannot be estimated, "but indications exist of a considerable increase as the roads in the western section of the republic continue to be extended and improved."

The distance from Panama City to the Costa Rican border was given as 808.1 miles, or 500.5 kilometers. Completion of an all-weather road would involve a minimum cost of $2,141,200. Provision of a complete road, with 28 feet graded section and an oiled surface of 18 feet, would cost $2,400,000. The best type road, with a 30-foot graded section and 8-inch thick concrete pavement 20 feet wide, was estimated to cost $1,907,532.

If I have to say my three sisters. If I have to say my three sisters.

From the splendor of the small boat that slips between the islands one may supplement his limited knowledge of this region supplied by obsolete descriptions and by copies of the original letters and maps left by Sir Walter Raleigh's adventures. He learns that Roanoke Island perfectly exemplifies the adage that byways of isolation pocket the most realistic of life. Here is a genuine, unadorned, hospitable folk, a mild-mannered, hospitable folk. The islanders are somewhat of a type, and their manners and customs, historic survivals of old English Devon.

The abolitionist sentiment did not reach Roanoke Island until less than a decade ago. For land transportation there were up to that time only two-wheel carts and the sand ponies and occasional oxen. Even the little hand-pumped tradition of the cartway was brought to the Portuguese and to Sir Walter Raleigh's voyagers.

On Raleigh's attempt to colonize the island, monuments to the New World. The "Lost Colonies," which they began and ended, were almost and dispatched to the North Carolina Sea Islands were the first English-speaking settlements in America.

Discovered in 1584. In 1584 the adventurer obtained a patent from Queen Elizabeth, whose favors his genius readily commanded and dispatched to the New World the first of his expeditions. The little band, under Amadas and Barlowe, sailed through an uncharted sea to Roanoke Island—Roanoke Island—a spot so favored in climate and setting and so rich in the possibilities of the future that it seemed to them a veritable paradise.

Back to England they sailed to describe it, taking with them friendly Indian chiefs; and also tobacco, saffron, maize, pumpkins, and other native products. Their story created excitement, and in the following year Raleigh sent out Sir Richard Grenville with a second colony, numbering 100 men. He determined to make a permanent home on Roanoke Island and established a settlement there.

They landed on August 17, 1585, and built a log fortification, to which they gave the name "The Fort in Virginia." However, they could not live in peace with the Indians, and the entire colony sailed back with Sir Francis Drake in 1586, just two weeks before the arrival of reinforcements. Finding the fort deserted, and no trace of the 15 men except the bones of one slain by a snake bite. The remaining 100 men were a shock to the homekeepers, and they willingly followed the advice of their leader, John White, to return after establishing a colony of friends of the Indians. The plan succeeded admirably. Mantle, one of the fort garrison, was discovered and given a title of nobility as Lord of Roanoke—the first English peerage in America.

On August 18, 1877, five days after the baptism of the Indian, was born John White's granddaughter, the probable first English child native of America. She was baptized on the following Sunday. This was the first child of the first colony established by a mother and her child.

On her little plantation, in place woods and sand water, in the early days, she cared for a psychiatric mother, raised her own brood and her mother's and her brother's children. She cared for her own garden. Then for 45 years she ministered to all the sick of the remote little local doctor coming only at rare intervals.

Baseball To Be Played In Logan Sunday

Logan fans meet the Southfield club of the Utah-Idaho league at the county fair grounds Sunday afternoon. The Southfield club has been defeated as yet this season. The fans will be there to draw the first victory from the new team. However, they will have to do it without the assistance of Cy Elias who is hobnobbing about with a sprained ankle. Colgate is to play the Pease team, the Pease team is to play the Pease team, Honeyville and Haled will play the Ogden club at Ogden.

Logan Business Man Succumbs to Illness

(Continued from Page One) Brother, E. L. Thompson, known of Holywood, California. Mr. Thompson was born for his broad and active interest in civic affairs throughout the long period of his residence in Logan. He became a charter member of the Commercial Boosters Club which preceded the Logan Chamber of Commerce. In both of these organizations he served as a director. During the World War he served as a member of the Cache County Council of Defense for Cache County. He has been a member of the Logan Rotary Club, in which organization he likewise served as a director, and at the time of his death was a director of the Logan Golf and Country Club. In many ways he has lent his active support and contributed generously to the up-building of the State and the community being identified always with the progressive, forward-looking, substantial citizenship of the community. His fraternal affiliations were limited to membership in the Modern Woodmen of America, and although recognized as the highest type of Christian gentlemen, of gentle disposition and spiritual temperament, he had never established a direct personal affiliation with any religious denomination. His political allegiance was given to the Republican party. A man of unassuming reserve, he moved quietly through a long, intensive and successful business career, at the same time leaving many tangible evidences of his deep and sincere interest in the development of the community in which he lived and the people with whom he associated, and among whom he made a host of loyal friends. His sweet and gentle nature, marked, however, by a firmness rooted in integrity and a determination to adhere always to the highest standards, won the admiration of all who knew him. He was devoted husband and father, whose interest was so largely centered in his home and family. He was a devoted father and grandfather, and an immediate family and associate, but by a wide circle of friends in this and other communities.

What Will Be Roosevelt's Attitude (Continued from Page One) creed that the antagonism against Secretary Wallace, so manifest at the beginning of his address, gradually melted away, and at the conclusion of his powerful address, only a scattering few were not with him heart and soul. Happy day, so far so good, but comes now one of the grandees, perhaps one of the "scattered few" and wants to know "how come?" Didn't Secretary Wallace say that I might not get a job this year or next year? And then an old tariff mosaback, a practical tariff linker, not a scholarly theoretical one, quoted that old tariff slogan.

Lower tariff means more imported goods. More imported goods means less goods made in the U.S.A. Less goods made in the U.S.A. means less work. Less work means more unemployment. A doubting Thomas then chimed in: "Twenty seven million persons are out of work throughout the world. Ten million of that number are in the United States," which at once caused this young graduate to wonder whether this "New Deal" with its policy of treating a scarcity and scrapping of tariffs as a cure for our "panic of plenty" is just what it is cracked up to be. And now just off the press, comes Economist Irving Fisher's saying: "The nation is not getting wealthy by destroying wealth. It is said that certain astute Argentines have visited the United States expressly to find out what market this foolish policy of wealth destruction will leave vacant."

Senator Borah recently said: "Our able Secretary of State had recently declared that eighty percent of the world's population of 2,000,000,000 persons are today living below the poverty line. Stated in another way 1,800,000,000 people are living in poverty. In our own country there are no less than 600,000 people living below the poverty line. Does not this pre-empt the right of distribution rather than over it? Verily it would seem that "our country is a land of plenty and destruction, but one of production and distribution. The annual Stockholders meeting of the Hotel Stampo, the Stockmen's Reunion was held in Soda Springs on June 1. In the County Court the new Board of Directors for the coming year was elected and will consist of C. A. Lallain, Paul Tipton, W. D. Taylor, Walter Hogan, Albert Beas, S. E. Mathews, Milton Horsley, J. C. Lau, all of Soda Springs and Willard Burton of Grace and Grover Hoan of Thatcher.

From among the newly elected Director Albert Beas was voted president; Paul Tipton, vice president and S. E. Mathews, secretary and treasurer. The Operating Committee will consist of S. E. Mathews, Willard Burton, Bill Hanesey, Albert Beas, and Paul Tipton.

The dates for the 1934 Epic Drama of the Old West will be held for August 2, 3 and 4. Secretary S. E. Mathews announces that optimism is very highly during all the meeting and the newly elected Board of Directors expressed their opinion that no effort should be saved to make the 1934 Drama the most outstanding and impressive masterpiece of Wild West entertainment ever presented.

The Association just recently completed one of the biggest cement open-air dance floors in the entire State and the crowd that jam the floor every dance night has pronounced it the best "floor with the ballroom finish." This huge floor, is 60 feet by 90 feet is nestled in the heart of the beautiful Stampo Park, the most natural rodeo amphitheatre in the Northwest. This new trail well pleased with the things of interest it afforded, will be open to the public and is open to the public subject to the rules governing all camps under the management of the Forest Service. It was expressed by members of the party that since Crimson Trail terminated at this camp site that it be called Crimson Trail Park.

Tour Taken Over Canyon Parks-Trails

(Continued from Page One) leg or more camp sites are on this trail. Two rest rooms have been constructed by the Forest Service. The camp is clean and the surrounding cliffs and mountains are very beautiful. One very good feature of this camp is that the road after making a turn, bends back upon itself thus enabling Mr. Carver to circle the camp without the usual backing and scraping of trees.

Continuing up the canyon the party came across a party of the Bureau of Fisheries headed by Dr. Brown. This group was making a survey of the number and kinds of fish in Logan River. Dr. Brown reported that the more Rainbow Trout in the stream as contrasted with a greater number in the dams which were of German Brown variety. The dams being rich in fish foods the principal of which is worm with cone shaped head which lives in the mud at the bottom. Its appearance suggests its name, tubifex.

The girls camp and Springholow were the next camp sites visited. The girls camp located six and one half miles from Logan on the right hand side of the road contains in addition to the camp two new public rest room sites, one on the right side of the road is equipped with stoves and rest rooms, has accommodations for seven or eight parties. Also these may be used for overnight camping. The spring on this camp site has been divided into two branches which flow thru the camp and add their coolness and beauty to the surrounding foliage. In recent addition to the camp on the right has been the construction of a pier with iron rings to which are tied the boats of those who use the dam for fishing.

The party continued up the canyon past Dewey's Meadow and other camping spots to City Park located eight miles from Logan on the right hand side of the road, on the left side being the building formerly used for fish hatchery. City Park is being worked on by the Forest Service and the Citizens Conservation Camp. It has been greatly enlarged and upon completion will have accommodations for a thousand people, family reunions, church gatherings, school parties etc. will have the larger open spaces and smaller groups of the camp sites around the borders. Water is a feature here and three or four automatic hydrants are on the flat. One feature in the large clearing is a new drinking fountain with graduated steps to accommodate the little folk. The east camp which is under construction will have twenty or more camp sites when completed. The west camp has ten new camp sites. Two large rest rooms have been provided by the Forest Service. The camp is a delightful place, all the trees and shrubs have been spared to provide shade and to insure privacy for the campers.

One feature of this camp is that a parking space has been reserved for cars thus keeping them out of the camp proper and from taking up space which may be used for baseball games, etc. This method of parking is also a feature of all of the large camps. The Crimson Trail beginning at the girls camp has been developed by the Forest Service and now consists of a double trail. The original trail being joined at City Park by a lower one which follows the river back to the girls camp. Members of the party who took allow the water mains to be tapped then the Forest people will distribute it to the camps. Further that if the people will realize that these camps are put here for their benefit and for the traveler who will undoubtedly pay them a visit and will pass his observations on to others then we will feel like we have something which is at our very doors and which we can all enjoy. The first bullets were made of steel. In its steel bullets were first made for cannon in Maiden, England. How pig iron was named. . . . In former times the iron was poured into a main ditch dug in the sand floor — the molten iron flowed into smaller ditches where it cooled—the smaller ditches on either side of the main resembled a litter of pigs with its mother—hence "pig iron". The picnic season will not be officially opened until sister's sweetie, dressed in white flannel, sits down on the blueberry pie.

FRANKLIN'S BIG CELEBRATION

Rodeo, Athletic Events and Baseball—McBride and Hall Horses in the Show Ring.

Marion McBride and Parley Hall of Wellsville, two of the best known rodeo men in the intermountain country, have been engaged to stage a rodeo at Franklin on Idaho Day, Friday, June 15. Judging from the features on the day's program, their event will be bigger and better than ever. There is a big rodeo, one of the night previous to the celebration date and one to close the events of the big day celebration. The parade will be held at a big old door area where all the events will be staged.

There is to be a public meeting in the forenoon at which Governor C. Ben Ross is scheduled as the principal speaker. The North Cache high school will supply the music. There are to be contests of all kinds. Baseball will be between Preston Park and the intermountain team and in the afternoon the Smithfield league team and Lewiston All-Stars will engage in a game. The rodeo follows the baseball game.

Bert Danford is staging a big wrestling and boxing. Ira Derr is scheduled to give a lecture with Bill Hansen of Iowa. Red Warren will put on the gloves with Jimmie Wood and in the evening will mix it with K. O. Johnson. Turp Taylor has as his opponent, Tiger Jack Griffin.

These opponents in each case are all colored boys. One admission admits the purchaser to the entire day's events.

Special Caravan Arriving in Franklin Far Idaho Day Program

Mr. J. E. L. is expected to arrive on the morning of June 15th, a caravan of 25 cars and over 100 people. The caravan will be through many of the towns of Idaho. It will arrive in Preston at 10 p. m. in time to participate in the celebration. Members of the parade will be furnished with programs for the morning program.

Another unusual feature of the celebration will be the arrival by aeroplane, at 9:45 of Mrs. K. M. Kelly, wife of Harry Kellen of Port Hall. As Mrs. Kelly happens to be a local beauty, she will be the center of her friends will be on hand to receive her.

Visiting Faculty Arrives for Summer School Opening

Registration for the Summer Session at the Utah State Agricultural college began Monday morning, with Dr. Dennis Hendrickson, director of the Summer Session, in charge. It is expected that the attendance at this year's Summer Session greatly exceeded that of preceding years, as evidenced by the large number of students registering on the first day.

The members of the visiting faculty who have gathered on the campus, and who will give lectures and class work during the first two weeks of the Summer Session are: Otis Oldfield, Director of the Utah State Agricultural College; Professor Chester O. Reed, Utah State University; Dr. J. E. L. Sundwall, Director of Hygiene and Public Health, University of Michigan; H. C. Travis, Princeton football coach, Princeton University; John Bunn, Basketball Director, Utah State University; Helen Heffernan, Chief Supervisor of the Division of Elementary Education and Rural Schools, California.

Word has also been received from Professor W. C. Christensen, director of the Utah State Agricultural college department, that Professor Christensen will be in Logan to conduct the intermountain baseball school which will open today, to take charge of the school, which will begin Thursday.

Lectures Began Today at USAC Summer Session

Dr. John Sundwall, Director of the Division of Hygiene and Public Health at the University of Michigan began a series of lectures Tuesday morning at the Utah State Agricultural college. Dr. Sundwall, who is the second lecturer on the Summer Session lecture program gave on Tuesday a very realistic talk on his "Impressions of Russia." Factors which Dr. Sundwall thinks will make Russia of special importance are: Land resources; the enormous population; intense interest in education; the present economic problems, and interest in health. Other impressions which Dr. Sundwall considers outstanding in Russia are the people's interest in art, the progress made by the people in their service to their country. Dr. Sundwall will continue his lecture series Wednesday morning, when he speaks on the "League of Nations." His lectures Thursday and Friday will be "The Healthy Mind" and "to be a Public Meeting in Education." These lectures are of special interest to educators, and will be given in the general public as well.

All Summer School sessions are free of charge to the public is invited to attend.

Andrew Jensen Principal Speaker at Scandinavian Conference Held Sunday

Hundreds of Scandinavians attended the Scandinavian conference here Sunday, held in the Logan L.D.S. tabernacle in commemoration of the eighty-fourth anniversary of the first mission work in the Scandinavian countries. Emil Anderson, president of the Scandinavian group, was in charge of the meeting and introduced Andrew Jensen, an historian of the L.D.S. church as the principal speaker.

Mr. Jensen told of the founding of the Scandinavian mission on June 14, 1850, by Erastus Snow and Wilford Woodruff. He has been 3000 missionaries to these countries, namely, Denmark, Sweden and Norway. He said it was his desire to complete the history of the Scandinavian mission work in the intermountain region. He pointed out that he had nearly completed one history of the Scandinavian mission fields, and would these working toward interviewing the Scandinavian missionaries in their native lands. In his talk, Mr. Jensen stated that the first L.D.S. mission work started in the Scandinavian countries, 60,000 had converted to the Mormon faith from Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

Other speakers at the conference were Fred Anderson, Hyde Park, H. C. Peterson, Logan; Joseph H. Peterson, Fenwick, former president of the Danish branch; John E. Peterson, former Strenness of Salt Lake. Music was furnished under the direction of Henry Cole, and included a violin solo by Mr. Ote; Gust. Larive and Nora Clark; vocal solo by Mrs. Peterson and solos by the congregation.

RESPONSE TO LETTERS SENT TO CAPITAL

J. A. Hendrickson has received responses from letters sent to Washington, D.C. to the following representatives from Utah, Elmer Thomas and Elbert D. Thomas. Senator King has not as yet sent a reply.

Mr. Hendrickson in his communications to Utah's representatives called attention to the idea of having the government redeem all outstanding interest bearing government bonds and in their stead, issue non-interest bearing currency.

Congressman Murdock stated that he has been working for the plan ever since he entered congress. Congressman Robinson says the plan seems to be sane and sensible and that he and the leaders have been working for it since plan for upwards of a year.

Senator Thomas letter follows: Dear Mr. Hendrickson: Thanks for the copy of your telegram to the President. I'm glad to hear that you suggest I would have to add that I've got a few people in the Treasury Department here with whom I have suggested at some time may bear some weight.

You already know this, but I call your attention to it merely for the matter of record. Utah State, all the counties, the school districts and the cities maintain themselves on borrowed money in anticipation of taxes. Several times ago I tried to get the State of Utah up to date by suggesting an appropriation to cover the interest on the bonds. It was the great interest charges. It was without saying that I failed.

I might note, though, that my suggestion is not a new one. I have a sentence inviting me to pay before they are due and take a discount myself, which is equivalent to the interest which the holder of the bond will receive. The inconsistency of indirect financing is beginning to dawn. If you are not familiar with Brisbane's editorials on direct financing you will be interested in them. I am, Sincerely yours, Elbert D. Thomas.

Dear Thomas' letter also follows: Mr. Hendrickson: I have your letter of recent date and am glad to see your message sent to the President relative to the redemption of the State of Utah's interest-bearing bonds. I appreciate your sending this information to me, and assure you that the same will have my very best attention.

Thinking you will not hesitate to send me any further suggestions you may have, I am, Sincerely yours, ELMER THOMAS.

President's Memorial Day Address at Gettysburg; Major Labor Disputes Trouble Administration; Attempt to Assassinate Ambassador Caffery in Havana.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

BEFORE a vast multitude of persons gathered at Gettysburg battlefield President Roosevelt delivered a Memorial Day address that was in effect a vigorous attack on critics of his plans for national reconstruction. He introduced "the most important speech of his career" as "the most important speech of the world," Mr. Roosevelt first paid eloquent tribute to the men of the North and South who fought bravely on the field of Gettysburg and described how the heroes of the nation had been welded into one, its unity being aided by foreign wars, until now all sectionalism has disappeared. He continued:

"We are all brothers now in a new understanding. The grain farmers of the West do not set themselves up for preference if we seek at the same time to help the cotton farmers of the South; nor do the tobacco growers complain of discrimination if, at the same time, we help the cattle men of the plains and mountains. In our planning to lift industry to a new prosperity the farmer upholds our efforts. And as we give the farmer a long sought equality the city worker understands and approves. Good comes to the average man. We know that we all have a stake in the prosperity in the government of our country."

"Today we have many means of knowing each other—means that have sounded the notes of sectionalism. It is, I think, as I survey the picture from every angle, a simple fact that the chief hindrance to progress comes from three elements which, thank God, grow less in importance with the growth of the world. One is the selfishness of the masses on the part of the overbearing majority. These people are those who seek to stir up political animosity or to build political advantage by the distortion of facts; those who, in order to follow the crowd, are still, because they have never been willing to take an interest in their fellow Americans, dwell inside of their own narrow spheres and will represent the selfishness of sectionalism which has no place in our national life."

GOING from Gettysburg to New York, the President embarked on the cruiser Indianapolis, put out to sea to review the American fleet, which, as assistant secretary of the navy, he helped to command during the World War and in which he maintains the warmest interest. With him were Secretary Swanson and Joseph Daniels, his wartime navy secretary. There were some other distinguished guests, but members of congress tried in vain to get aboard. The Indianapolis was anchored about a mile from Ambrose lightship, and 58 fighting ships passed through the strait. The fleet was commanded by the four-starred flag of Admiral David E. Sellers, commander of the fleet, led the parade and, with the Louisville, turned out of line and anchored near the city. It was the largest fleet in American history and had not been witnessed since the early days of President Coolidge's administration.

AT THE annual exercises at the United States Navy academy 465 midshipmen were graduated. A total of 322 were commissioned ensigns in the navy, 25 lieutenants in the marine corps, one lieutenant in the Philippine corps and 100 will resign.

UNDER the present administration the navy is doing quite well, but the army feels it is neglected. Secretary of War Derr and Major D. Baker, who held the portfolio during the war, appeared before the house committee and urged the necessity of the reorganization of the army to 165,000 enlisted men and 14,000 officers. That the present army is inadequate in the face of present disturbed world conditions was declared by both speakers.

"The American army as now manned would not simultaneously protect our existing possessions, defend our citizens and repulse the invader," Secretary Derr declared. A more satisfactory army would be an initiative of congress, he said, as well as explaining why he had not suggested an increase to President Roosevelt because of the

DIRELIGATES from the five New England states, New York and Pennsylvania have now signed a solemn pact for the protection of women and minors in industry, which has been under negotiation for several years.

The compact, which must be ratified by the legislatures of the several states, contemplates minimum standards of wages for women and minors and contains a provision that "no employer shall pay a woman or a minor an unfair or oppressive wage." State boards are to be set up with authority to investigate pay rolls and require compliance.

CHARGES are made by the house agriculture committee that joint stock land banks have been using federal funds made available under the 1933 farm loan act to buy in their own hands at 35 cents on the dollar while pressing foreclosure on their debtors.

The committee approved the Fulmer bill to authorize farmers who have obtained loans from joint stock land banks to buy on the open market joint stock land bank bonds, tendering same to the joint stock land banks in payment of their indebtedness. The bill would also enable farmers to repurchase their lands that have been previously foreclosed. If said lands are still in the possession of these banks.

THE Irish Free State took another step in its efforts to become a public when the fall stricken passed a bill abolishing the senate. After this action had been taken, President Eamon de Valera said: "We would like to get out. We do not want to have any thing to do with the British. If there is to be any form of association, it must be in the common interest of both."

Eamon de Valera said: "We do not want to have any thing to do with the British. If there is to be any form of association, it must be in the common interest of both."

No definite plan was mentioned, and none is expected to be put forward before the dismemberment of the senate will become effective. Until that date any action of the parliament will have to have senate approval.

It is apparent that De Valera no longer hopes that Ulster will be included in any Irish republic.

STATEMEN from many nations met in Geneva and reopened the disarmament conference, with a full realization of the fact that their failure may mean the renewal of war in Europe.

The League of Nations, which is the end of the League of Nations. Such hope as they had of breaking through the impasse seemed to rest on the plan which Foreign Minister Litvinov of Russia said he was ready to offer. It was believed it would concentrate on a policy of political security as a basis for disarmament. Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large, presented the views of President Roosevelt, urging an accord emphasizing supervening of order in the development of international traffic to arms.

Louis Barthou, foreign minister of France, showed no inclination to accept the German demand for disarmament. The French are said to believe Hitler is due soon to run up against domestic troubles that will tie his hands; they will continue to promote their defensive alliance with the German chancellor.

HAVANA police learned that there was a plot to assassinate Ambassador Caffery, American ambassador to Cuba, and to destroy the American property in Havana. The plot was an extraordinary precaution to protect Mr. Caffery, but it was a serious matter. A speech before the chamber of deputies, said that disarmament talk was foolish and in so many words suggested that war was the only way out of the economic adversity that beset Italy and Europe generally.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT signed the joint resolution of congress empowering him to stop shipments destined for countries at war, and immediately proclaimed an embargo against shipments of arms or munitions from the United States to Bolivia and Paraguay. His action was the first of his kind since the American Revolution. Because of existing treaties he could not forbid actual shipment of arms but he did prohibit their sale to the United States to the warring countries.

Oscar Durela, Bolivian representative in Geneva, before an open session of the League of Nations council invoked Article 18, the arbitration clause of the league covenant, as a basis for settling the dispute with Paraguay. If his demand is granted the dispute will automatically go to the World Court of Permanent Arbitration. The United States would mean the "finish" of Bolivia.

OODOS and Ross, French flyers who hold the distance record, sought to better their work by making a nonstop flight from San Francisco to California. They got across the Atlantic ocean all right, just a week later, in the heaviest substance in the world; it weighs 1,404 pounds per cubic foot, or 98 per cent more than lead.

Death Valley Revealed by Infra Red Rays

The radically new method of photography, utilizing infra red rays and designed essentially for spectroscopic and research work, reveals Death Valley in California as it has never been seen by the human eye, reproducing on the plate distant peaks invisible to the photographer. The picture was taken from the ridge of Telescope peak looking toward East Vegas, Nev. Death Valley appears in the foreground, 8,000 feet below and about ten miles away. The section of the valley shown is Bad Water, 235 feet below sea level, the lowest point in the United States. The mountains looming up on the far side of the valley are the Funeral range, while directly opposite is Dante's View, famous tourist mecca.

WANT TAX CHANGE A DRY RECORD SET LEAVES POISON COWS SCHOOL EXPENSE UP MORE INCOME TAXES

OGDEN, UT.—Members of the Utah State Farm bureau appeared before the Weber County Farm bureau recently, and officially presented for the first time the state farm bureau tax program. The state farm bureau tax program would raise income tax rates, lower exemptions, eliminate offsets and would levy a gross wholesale tax on the farm. The farm bureau legal department already is drafting bills that conform with the bureau's tax program, and these bills will be presented at the next legislature. Farm bureau officials also have announced that candidates for the house and senate who favor the farm bureau program can expect the support of the organization, and they have taken it down here, but they give us a big time here, too. ERAS OF SOUND THAT HAVE GONE INTO OBLIVION

What vanished sounds, what fine ghosts of the ear, rise from the known years? Screaming upon their axes, in a storm of dust and hoofs, the war chariot charge over the Biblical plain; the measured pluck of oars from banks of oarsmen; the gaily banded boat of Otilia, the heavy wooden pound of the quartermaster's timing mass heard muffled from below decks behind Pacific columns; the strangled music of lost instruments mingling with a vast chanting before the gods.

One hears the hiss of streams of Greek fire from Byzantine citadels, bells ringing against thunderstorms in Gothic cities; the poggan sound of Renaissance artillery, the rumble of the first coaches on the first good roads, and the howl of wind in the rigging of an Eighteenth century man-of-war in foul weather at anchor in the downs.

They are all gone! men will hear them no more; and in our own day the last sounds of the handcrates descended, fighting gallantly, toward the world. It may be that they will hold their ultimate own, and presently mount, passing on the upward way, the last of the childhood of modern noise down-rumbling.

What contemporary sound, one passes to ask, will summon up our own strange years? The universal grind of gears when traffic starts under the light, the demure attention of a river? In my own mind, it is something more subtle, more like the dry, merciless, electrical tick one hears in the pressured silence of a power room, a small sound, obedient, without life, and astronomically alien to the bosom of man—Henry Beston in the Atlantic Monthly.

"Tums" Builds a Home

St. Louis, Mo.—The palatial new building being erected by A. H. Lewis Medicine Co. is a fitting expression of the enthusiastic sentiment of millions of users of Tums.

It will present a striking appearance in its contrast of black terra cotta base with mottled cream above the second floor and glittering gold finish on high vertical niches. Upper windows, fifty feet high, will have roll effect strips between them and furnish abundant light, while lower portion will have etched windows and stainless steel decorations.

The building, machinery and equipment will cost between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 and is to be used exclusively for the manufacture of Tums—Adm.

MORE TROUBLE FROM SALLY SLY

A FEW mornings after his talk with Jenny Wren about Redeye the Vireo, Peter once more visited the Old Orchard. No sooner did he come in sight than Jenny Wren's tongue began to fly. "What did I tell you, Peter rabbit? What did I tell you? I knew it was so, and it is!" cried Jenny.

"What is so?" asked Peter rather testily, for he hadn't the least idea what Jenny Wren was talking about.

"Sally Sly did lay an egg in Redeye's nest, and now it has hatched, and I don't know whether it is to become of Redeye's own children. It's perfectly scoundrelous," cried Jenny and hopped about and jerked her tail and worked herself into a small brown fury.

"The Redeyes are working them selves to feathers and bone feeding that ugly young coward, while their own babies aren't getting half enough to eat," she continued. "One of them has died already. It was kicked out of the nest by that 'bung brute'."

"How dreadful!" cried Peter. "It does things like that. I should think the Redeyes would throw him out of the nest."

"They're too soft-hearted," said Jenny. "I can tell you I wouldn't be so soft-hearted. No, siree, I wouldn't! But they say it isn't his fault that he's there, that he's nothing but a helpless baby, so they just must take care of him."

"Then why don't they feed their own babies first and give him what's left?" asked Peter.

"Because he's twice as big as any of their own babies and so strong and greedy that he simply swallows the food out of the very mouths of the others—Because he gets more of the food he is growing twice as fast as they are. I wouldn't be surprised if he kicks all the rest of them out before he gets through. Mr. and Mrs. Redeye are dreadfully distressed about it, but they will feed him, because they say it isn't his fault, it's a dreadful affair, and the talk of the whole orchard. I suppose his mother is gadding about somewhere, having a good time and not caring a tip of her tail feathers what becomes of him. I believe in being good-hearted. I certainly do, but there is such a thing as overdoing the matter. Thank goodness I'm not so weak minded that I can be imposed on in such a way as that."

"That may be so," replied Peter, "but just the same I can't help feeling a lot of respect for Mr. and Mrs. Redeye because of their kindheartedness."

"A MIND THAT NOTHING CAN IRRITATE"

HERE IS a man of rarest equipment, not only in that nothing could irritate it.

We find that in the biography of great men incidents are mentioned out the source of a tremendous waste of which men and women are the victims.

It is the waste of health and strength and mentality and fine abilities because of the lack of that quality of equanimity.

I think women suffer more from the frustration caused by that kind of waste than men, for women are far more vulnerable to the irritations, as we can personally the many annoyances of every day, the innumerable ways in which we can allow ourselves to be distracted. If we will, from the big points of issue.

Equanimity! A grain of it is worth large quantities of some of the other ingredients of success or happiness. For without it a large part of those ingredients is born up. With it almost secondarily in the ideal, can frequently be transmitted into something worthwhile. It occurs to me that that quality of poise and calm which we call equanimity acts on our abilities as the gastric juices act on food. It makes most of them. Without it they are squandered.

That is why many women with fine abilities—whether they happen to be in creating happiness in the home, making most of their children, or writing books or painting pictures—make nothing of their possibilities. They allow the little snags and hitches of every day life to thwart them. Momentary annoyances in the details of living irritate them and throw them off their main track.

It is far from easy, of course, to live always in the light of a true sense of values, to see the irritations always in perspective, and

A CORNER IN MY HEART

By ANNE CAMPBELL

YOU have a little corner in my heart,
A sunny part,
Where the flowers belonging just to you,
With windows open so the gentle air
Of brown when singing may come drifting through.
There is a garden, and the fragrance drifts
Into the little corner where you
And in the evening palest moon-light sits
In my glad heart, and there's an evening star.

Now you are gone, the sun no longer shines,
The garden flowers are dead, the moon no more
Looks down in splendor through 'the trumpet's voice,
The star is absent from my heart's wreathed door.
A little corner of my heart is dull
And dusty that you made so beautiful!

Question Box

By ED WYNN
The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:
What is your opinion of married love? I don't you think it is the happiest life.

Answer—It all depends how the two people enjoy themselves.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
Yesterday a tramp came to my back door and asked for something to eat. I gave him a meal on his promise to cut my lawn. He ate the meal but he ran away and never kept his promise to cut the lawn. What do you think of that?

Yours truly,
RAY D. OBE.

Answer—It just goes to show that you must never take the word of a total stranger.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
My sweetheart and I are going on a hike next Sunday. We intend walking cross country. My girl weighs 19½ lbs. What I want to know is this: When we come to a fence, is it my place to "help" her over the fence?

Truly yours,
RAY D. OBE.

Answer—My dear boy, as your girl weighs nearly 20 pounds, it is your place to "help" the fence.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
A friend of mine says he knows a pair of twin girls that whatever you tell them, must be told to them together. Why is that?

Yours truly,
RAY D. OBE.

Answer—That is because the twins look so much alike, they can't be told apart.

My Most Important Job
The Big Fellows
H. G. Wells

By ED HOWE

I CONFER, by observation, of idleness, work, observation, mischief, wisdom, folly. What have I found my most important job? To countenance and better manage myself, that I may increase efficiency of mind and body.

LEONARD HALL, New York City.

A man named F. C. Fox became general manager of the Santa Fe some three years ago, and went out on the line in a special car. Two or three of the older officials were with him, and they sidetracked one morning, somewhere. An Irish section foreman soon appeared who was well acquainted with the older officials. The Irishman had come down to demand more wages (really very generous, and he knew it, but like the rest of us, he was always clamoring for more). So to the officials he knew he recited what a good man he was; how he had long been imposed on; how valuable his services were to the company, etc.

The officials had long known agreed with him in our disposition to pass up all his man's face, and roast him behind his back. "The man to see inside," the official said; "the new general manager." So the Irishman started climbing the car steps, grumbling his protests, and declaring he intended to speak a piece of ground after long suppressing his indignation. . . . Almost immediately the Irishman returned from his visit and the new general manager, a big fellow, ain't he? The Irishman said, and returned to his work.

F. C. Fox is a large man at that time young and athletic. Mr. Fox was sitting at his desk, back turned. The Irishman sized him up, did not speak to him, and calmly brushed out. Everybody respects the Big Fellow, although nobody admits it. Perhaps they should not; such admittance may be interpreted as cowardice—lack of nobleness; I do not know, and am not discussing the question here. I only wish to say everybody respects the big fellows a little more than they respect the little fellows.

"It's all bluff a good deal; and bluffing is mostly foolish.

Your "hand" has a certain value. The ten will take the nine; and so on up to the contrary between the two spot and the ace; or the contrary between the section foreman and the section foreman. There may be a certain satisfaction in indignation meetings, public and private, but they have brought me so little through my many years that I attend few of them.

MILITARY HONOR FOR Westinghouse And, Are We PROUD

Everyone knows that when the United States Government puts the stamp of approval on a thing it must be deserving of the honor. In competition with seven of the nation's leading manufacturers of electric refrigerators, Westinghouse has been awarded the contract for 1367 machines to be used by the United States Army. Ask yourself if this isn't the

Greatest Proof of Real Value Ever Made by any Electric Refrigerator

Mechanical Superiority And Economy of Operation with the Hermetically sealed unit when you buy an electric refrigerator. Not only did Westinghouse out-strip all other refrigerators, but on the basis of current consumption alone, over a ten-year period, our nearest competitor was 25% higher, and among those manufacturers submitting a bid two were 57% higher. No wonder the U. S. Army chose WESTINGHOUSE to the total of 1367 Refrigerators

FIFTY-FIFTY
"The letter I gave you this morning—did you post it?" asked Mrs. Brown inquiringly.
Brown put his hand in his jacket pocket and drew out the letter.
"I'm afraid not, my dear," he said coolly enough.
"Of course you didn't!" she snapped.
"Yes, I remember, dear," he returned.
"How like a man that is!" she continued.
"But, dear—" he stammered.
"Don't 'but' me, I'm angry," she snapped.
"But, dear, be reasonable. Look at the letter; you forgot to address it," he explained.—Stray Stories.

PRINT FROCK THAT IS WORTHY PLACE IN ANY WARDROBE

PATTERN 1778
There's nothing like a print frock to suggest spring—to brighten up our wardrobe—and our spirits! We'd love the model sketched here in one of the colorful all-over designs so popular this season. It has truly flattering, feminine lines—the gracefully draped sleeves, the slim semi-belted waistline and length-giving skirt panel. With the neckline worn open, artificial flowers placed on the neckline and a chic note. For added interest, tiny buttons trim the back of the sleeves may be omitted or may be made of contrast.

Pattern 1778 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 40. Size 16 takes 4 yards 58 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.
Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.
Address orders to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 100 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

"Are you going to teach your small boy to follow in your footsteps?"
"No," said Senator Borghum. "Of course, he'll go into politics. Everybody has to. But nobody can go on following footsteps. Emergencies are bound to arise which compel each person of voting age to decide for himself what he is going to do."
It Was Fluffy
"What did the wife say when you came rolling in at 2 A. M.?"
"Maybe you have time to spend these hours listening, but I haven't that long to waste repeating what she said, and she talks a heap faster than I do."
Let Off Lightly
Waiter—Would you mind settling your bill, sir? We're closing now.
Guest Patron—But, hang it all, I haven't been served yet.

The Charge on Adobe Walls

THE CHARGE ON ADOBE WALLS

(From the Palling by J. M. Harbeck)

BY ELMO SCOTT WATSON

SIXTY years ago this month there occurred a fight, the story of which has become one of the classics of the Western frontier. That was the battle of Adobe Walls which began on the early morning of June 27, 1874, when a war party of several hundred Comanche, Kiowa, Cheyenne, Arapahoe and Kiowa Apache Indians attacked a buffalo hunters' camp, occupied by 28 men and one woman located on the south fork of the Canadian river in the now Hutchinson county in the Texas Panhandle.

Pe-ah-rife

the saloon, who were already awake and dressed, to the windows with their big buffalo guns in their hands.

"We were scarcely inside before the Indians had surrounded all the buildings and shot out the windows from their homes in Texas and had been the most of their warriors were killed or wounded. It began to dawn upon them that Isalah had been a false prophet. So the charges were directed around the place. The Comanche, gorgeously apparelled in war bonnet and scalp shirt and mounted on a fine pony, made a long charge toward the building. He then attempted to retreat but was shot down. This daring warrior who had hoped to make a great name for himself by his late charge was Pe-ah-rife, one of the leaders of the Comanche.

Billy Dixon

BY ELMO SCOTT WATSON

SIXTY years ago this month there occurred a fight, the story of which has become one of the classics of the Western frontier. That was the battle of Adobe Walls which began on the early morning of June 27, 1874, when a war party of several hundred Comanche, Kiowa, Cheyenne, Arapahoe and Kiowa Apache Indians attacked a buffalo hunters' camp, occupied by 28 men and one woman located on the south fork of the Canadian river in the now Hutchinson county in the Texas Panhandle.

Chief Quannah

the white men who were exterminating the buffalo, he found the tribesmen ripe for such a crusade.

The first Indian leader to agree to help in this inevitable enterprise was a chief of the Comanches, Quannah, the half-breed son of Cynthia Ann Parker, who as a little girl had been stolen from her home in Texas and had become the wife of the great Chief Peta Nocona. Then the medicine man "carried the pipe" to the Cheyenne, Arapahoe, Kiowa and Kiowa Apaches and they readily agreed to accompany their Comanche brethren.

Characterist of its ranking as a frontier classic is the number of men at one time or another have been called "survivors" of the Adobe Walls fight. Seemingly every old-timer who was ever a buffalo hunter on the Southwestern plains of the '70s has been accorded the distinction of "He fought at Adobe Walls" by amateur historians and imaginative newspaper reporters, and this, despite the fact that there has been in existence for many years an authentic list of the actual participants in the Apache warriors' defense of that outpost of the frontier.

So a great war party of between 600 and 700 mounted warriors set out for the buffalo hunters' camp and on the night of June 26 they camped about five or six miles from Adobe Walls, being painting themselves and their horses and preparing themselves for the charge against the hated white men. "Those men shall not fire a shot; we shall kill them all," was the promise of Isalah.

Under the terms of the Medicine Lodge treaty of 1867, the federal government fixed the Arkansas river as the northern boundary of the Indian country for the tribes of the Southwestern plains and guaranteed that white hunters should not cross that stream. But they did.

That night at Adobe Walls 28 men and one woman slept peacefully. Little realizing that a storm of savage wrath was about to be hurled against them. In Harrah's saloon were Henry Sahm, Matt Westerson, Mike Welch, Hiram Watson, Billy Ogg, James McKinley, "Bernuda" Cardale, Mike McCabe, Henry Larson and two men known only as "Dutch Henry" and "Frenchy." In Isalah and Wright's store were Sam Langston, George Wiley, Thomas O'Keefe, Buffalo Mike, Andrew Johnson and William Olds and his wife. Just outside the stockade two brothers named Shadler, who bore the nicknames of "Mickey Ike" and "Blue Billy" and who were engaged in freighting hides to Dodge City, were sleeping in their wagons with a big Newfoundland dog at their feet.

In 1872 the mammoth town of Dodge City, Kan., sprang into existence and became the outfitting point and center of activity of the hide hunters who, with their big Sharps buffalo guns, were constantly invading the red man's country.

On the third day a party of about 30 Indians appeared on a high bluff east of Adobe Walls and they were quickly dispersed by a shot from Billy Dixon's rifle which struck one of the savages from his horse. It is a little incident that might be called a "curious coincidence" if it were not that the distance of the shot all the way from the muzzle of a half-ton rifle to the body of the man was 1,100 yards.

Among the members of the party were Jim Harrah, an old buffalo hunter who was going along to open a saloon at the new trading post; Thomas and Koochee, a blacksmith; and future Buffalo Bill destined for later fame—Billy Dixon and Matt Westerson. After a journey of 150 miles the expedition reached a spot on the south fork of the Canadian where stood the ruins of an old trading post, known as Adobe Walls, which had been built by William Bent and Owen Sibley some time before 1840. A mile or so farther on, in a broad valley where there was a pretty stream called East Adobe Walls, Bent and Sibley had decided to establish a branch store at Adobe Walls and built a sod house, 15 by 20 feet, leaving James Langton in charge of the new business there. To Adobe Walls also came William Olds and his wife to open a restaurant.

Before going to sleep, Dixon and Harrah went out to look for a new trading post. In the morning for the buffalo hunting grounds to the northwest. By the time the repairs to the wagon were completed, the sky was growing red in the east. So Harrah proposed to Dixon that, instead of going back to Dodge City, they should start out on the morning, get ready to start out as soon as the sun was up. To this Dixon agreed and started to get his horse he looked down the valley and there, through the dim light of the morning, he saw a light which almost paralyzed him for a moment.

A dark mass of horsemen was moving swiftly up the valley and the next moment it had spread out like a fan and a mighty war-whoop shattered the stillness. Instantly was completed with his host of wild tribesmen to make good his promise to wipe out the buffalo hunting party. The Indians swept down upon him. But his horse fired one shot, then turned and sped toward the Harrah saloon as the wild charge of the Indians swept down upon him. But his horse was warning was enough to bring the occupants of the saloon, who were already awake and dressed, to the windows with their big buffalo guns in their hands.

"We were scarcely inside before the Indians had surrounded all the buildings and shot out the windows from their homes in Texas and had been the most of their warriors were killed or wounded. It began to dawn upon them that Isalah had been a false prophet. So the charges were directed around the place. The Comanche, gorgeously apparelled in war bonnet and scalp shirt and mounted on a fine pony, made a long charge toward the building. He then attempted to retreat but was shot down. This daring warrior who had hoped to make a great name for himself by his late charge was Pe-ah-rife, one of the leaders of the Comanche.

Dishes That "Go" With Each Other

Variety of Combinations That Are Designed to Complement.

To enjoy the edible good things of life is one of the prerogatives of the epicure. What comprises this food service depends upon the taste of the person or of the family, and preference. The real epicure is the person whose taste has been highly refined by education in foods. He knows how to discriminate in edible, both as to quality and to combination. This housewife, who is a Chinese gentleman of discernment says of one vegetable that "it flatters the palate, it is a delicacy, it is a good table dish which will serve as that one dish may "differ" another. Let us mention, today, some dishes which "differ" each other.

A food which flatters another must be something apart from the dish itself. This is why it may be a mistake to buy a quantity of meat can save money by buying enough to get a lower price and home-cure a portion.

He advised the commission that he would like the referee's instructions in a meeting in the afternoon of the ring. He was asked for a big man as referee and objected to Arthur Donovan, one of New York's foremost officials. He also suggested that, since his opponent's claim after meeting him and two others were seriously injured, it might be better to post an ambulance at the main gate so that Carners could get swift transportation after the fight to some haven of mercy.

This Man Is Mine Now Playing At Capitol Theatre

Not merely four orchids, but a whole flower shop to RRQ-Radio pictures for presenting in "This Man Is Mine", which opened at the Capitol Theatre Sunday, a vivid, new and greater Irene Dunne and a deliciously new variation of the triangle theme. In the plot, adapted from the stage hit, "Love Files in the Window", a husband is stolen by a hurelral lady and the wife tries desperately to win him back however,—the methods employed by the siren and by the wife, and the dumb but idealistic antics of the husband, provide some of the most beautiful scenes.

Speakers who made brief remarks, including the life of the departed were: Pres. A. E. Anderson, Dr. D. C. Budge, Pres. E. O. Peterson and P. P. Chappin. Resolutions were read by Joseph E. Cardon, Pres. W. Dunn, Judge M. C. Harris, and Rev. T. Ross Padon. The grave at the Logan cemetery was dedicated by Pres. C. W. Dunn.

The flowers which were most beautiful, were in charge of Mrs. B. O. Thatcher for the U.S.A.C. Women's club. Prof. S. E. Clark was in charge of the music with Dr. W. B. Preston in charge of the retirement annuity. Full information may be obtained from Alberta C. Anderson, Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office in this city.

of the spiciest, richest satirical humor and situations this critic has seen since the proverbial Hecate was a pup. One might surmise that the authors had spent years in the west and completely reversed the process in every instance, in the picture nothing one expects to happen ever does. The story of "This Man Is Mine" opens with an idyllic domestic scene showing Tony and Jim Dunlap, a young married pair completely happy. Then Fran Harper comes to town. She is the girl who years before, had deserted Jim at the altar. Feeling keenly that Jim may still be in love with Fran, Tony determines to start a backfire. He deliberately burts the unsuspecting Jim, poor chap, right into Fran's arms. When she fails to bounce back, as Tony had expected him to do, and not only remains right where he landed but also tells Tony that she must give him a divorce, things begin to occur in a large and extremely lively manner.

FLAG DAY EXERCISES AT TABERNACLE

Under Direction of the Elks Club, a Very Interesting and Patriotic Program was Given.

A large congregation assembled at the Logan tabernacle last evening to witness the flag day exercises sponsored by the Logan Elks, assisted by the American Legion and auxiliary.

At 7:30 in the evening the Logan High school band, under the direction of Professor A. T. Henderson, furnished some very excellent music after which the playing and lowering of the flag was fittingly done by the Boy Scouts. Those attending the meeting then marched under an arch of flags held by the Boy Scouts.

A. A. Firmage, exiled ruler of the Elks, took charge of the exercises and after an excellent introduction of the speaker of the evening, the Rev. J. E. Carver of Ogden.

Prayer was offered by Bishop A. I. Pedersen of the American Legion Auxiliary acting as flag bearers. Professor R. S. Clark then played the anthems of each flag and then to the present stars and stripes.

Professor Walter Well said a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Well's clarinet player. The president then talked on why we honor the flag, and referred especially to the record of John Paul Jones by his masterful way of organizing an army and helping to win a war in which he was engaged.

A string quartet, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Byron, played the number, Isadore Shere also presented a violin solo.

Prayer was offered by President Joseph Quinley.

The program was then retired by the American Legion color guard.

Mrs. Addie Lowe Tenderly Laid at Final Rest

Franklin-Relatives and friends from many parts of southern Idaho and northern Utah, attended the funeral services here Tuesday for Mrs. Addie Lowe Lewis. The program consisted of the following: In which deceased as well with the Lowe family being among their acquaintances was emphasized in the outpouring of the multitude at the service, presided by the many beautiful floral offerings.

Bishop Earl H. Shumway of the Franklin ward was in charge of the services and in his closing remarks praised Mr. Lowe for his loyal support of the ward authorities and praised the deceased for her devotion to family, her faithfulness to her marriage and her devotion to her church.

The flower girls were grandchildren of the deceased and the pallbearers were sons and sons-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Lowe. The program consisted of the following: Musical numbers: Sister Thous Art Mild and Lovely, by the ward choir; vocal solo, Gem Van Orden, accompanied by Jewel Van Orden; organ solo, Rosery, by Maud Evoking; Love, Hansen of Hamar, Idaho; vocal duet, by Mr. and Mrs. William Shumway; choir rendered the closing number, Jesus Lover of My Soul.

Speakers were John Hopgood Hooper, Utah, a life long friend of the family; Pres. W. K. Barlow of the Franklin ward, representing the central committee of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers, told of Mrs. Lowe's activities as a member of the organization and praised her parents as some of the outstanding pioneers of Utah.

Lions Elect Leaders For Utah, Idaho

Idaho Falls, Idaho — J. W. Thornton of Provo, Utah, and Gilbert L. Stanton of Caldwell were chosen Lions district governors for Utah and Idaho, respectively and Richfield, Utah, was chosen as the 1934 meeting place at the closing business session of the District at here Tuesday. The elections marked the formal close of the Utah-Idaho conference, which has been held here Monday and Tuesday.

Thornton, who is principal of the Provo Junior High School, Provo, was opposed by J. H. Anderson of Heber City, Utah, in the election. Stanton, who is but 27, was unanimously chosen to head the Idaho club.

Stanton is publisher and editor of the Idaho Granger, an agricultural paper. Born in Kansas, he has been a resident of Idaho since boyhood and is a graduate

Agent Describes Method Of AAA To Measure Land

West organizations in 11 districts of Utah, organized under the AAA, are measuring wheat fields and contrasting acreage figures to the county assessor with wheat contracts, reports LeRoy C. Funk, state agent.

A plane table with a circular protractor, a straight edge to which is attached a measuring tape, semi-circular protractor to read slope measurements, is being used by the AAA to measure the perimeter of the field is being taken by using a leveling staff.

A plane table with a circular protractor, a straight edge to which is attached a measuring tape, semi-circular protractor to read slope measurements, is being used by the AAA to measure the perimeter of the field is being taken by using a leveling staff.

Supervisors are finding this type of land measurement accurate and speedy. "Any method less accurate than the one in use is not acceptable to the wheat farmers of the state. Particularly is this true of those farmers who may need to make acreage adjustments as a result of the survey," says Mr. Funk.

According to the wheat contract, a cooperator must plant a minimum of 64 per cent of his acreage to comply with his contract. If he does not he is penalized.

Wheat cooperators are demanding accurate measurement of the acreage on their farms. The measuring method used by the AAA is practicable and acceptable. "Punk says.

FORWARD: This may, perhaps be called a drama. Beyond that I have defined to the one of the most manly belly laughs may so easily prove another man's pain in the neck.

Director Leo Stevens wants to Theodore to give him a five thousand dollar budget, extension on his current picture.

PROFESSOR GLITZ: Yeah! So why don't you shooting them first time?

STEVENS: You know I'll take what they want! Sequences get taken in their proper order, and the shooting is done in the order that I turned out last year—

THIRD YOUNG WOMAN: If you don't mind, I'll raise a stink that!

GLITZ: Well, why don't you socking him in the puss?

GLITZ: Okay, little lady. I see what you mean and I'll be fixing it up for you. Now, I'll be sending and take yourselves a vacation for today, tomorrow I promise you to be like and Leroy don't bother you no more.

STEVENS: (Introducing just a touch of wheedle); Now, L. T., just another three or four dollars and we can get back to work.

STEVENS: (The lid's off again); Tea, you short-sighted, bagging 'twice—that's all you know how to do! Hey, I'm through with you!

LARGE GENT (rapturously); L. T., listen to my own breath! Get ready for the best thing that's ever happened in music, even from us, it's called "The Straight," All right, Phil—go ahead.

(Phil goes, tumbling over the keys in a sort of berserk abandon. The other gives a wide-eyed stare.)

GLITZ: (To the girls); No, no—wait. L. T. Don't do it! It's Da-da-dee-oo, dum-dum-dee-dee. See—perfect three-four time.

GLITZ: Oh, sure! All right, boys, we'll find it a spot in the next number. So long.

Branding Irons Tell Story of Romantic Period.

Alpine, Texas—Branding irons that burned claiming marks in the sides of yearlings during the last century lie in historical importance at Hill Ross Teachers' college here.

Cattle rustling, drives over long trails to northern grazing lands and markets and all the color of pioneering in the Big Bend country of west Texas are commemorated in these curiously twisted pieces of iron.

One Used Ninety-Six Years. Among the 600 irons is the "G" from the Hill Ross Teachers' college, one of the oldest brands in Texas. It was registered in 1838 and the mark has been used continuously for the last 90 years.

MAX BAER BECOMES NEW HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION BY DEFEATING CARNERA

Madison Garden Bowl—All the lavage and drama of Jack Dempsey's conquest of Luis Angel Firpo—something the prize ring thought never would be equaled—was out of the past last night as Max Baer crushed his way to the world's heavyweight championship over the battered body of huge Primo Carnera.

Eleven times in 11 rounds the massive Italian, biggest man ever to hold the title, crashed to the floor from Baer's blows, twice in the last round, before Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the fight after two minutes, 16 seconds of the eleventh round, such chase and tumult as pugilism hasn't seen since Dempsey's most famous triumph in 1923. Twelfth time the giant slid to the floor full length from just balance in a wild lunge at his foe.

Helpless at the end of the tenth round, when Referee Donovan almost stopped the fight between two knockdowns, Carnera staggered out of his ditch in the eleventh. Moody, semi-conscious, but as brave as any man who ever went to so certain a fate.

The thrill-ridden crowd, losing one sullen, hoarse roar after another that swept in waves across the arena, arose for the "kill." Once the cheering Baer half pushed, half battered the champion to the floor. Again his cobble-stone fists into the great bulk of the Italian he all but tore him apart. That the challenger fought only in flashes probably accounted for the fact that Carnera lasted as long as he did.

Buck Jones at Gem Today and Tomorrow

An easy-going, braggadocio cowboy who delights in stretching the truth into fantastic yarns of his fictitious exploits.

A racing car!

Hollywood are the principle motivating forces that provide the fun and thrills in "The Thrill Hunter," Buck Jones' latest Columbia picture, which opens at the Gem Theatre today.

Buck will be seen in the role of a yarn-spinning copper, whose stories of flying a bombing plane for the Chinese army and winning the Grand Prix for auto racing, are swallowed by dubile Hollywood motion picture producers.

The trouble begins when Buck is forced to demonstrate his non-existent prowess by driving a racing car and stunting a plane before the cameras that are utilized to create a new star out of this supposedly sensational Jack-o-all-trades.

Events develop quickly, with accompanying action and laughs, as Buck, because of his profligate ways, falls into one precarious situation after another.

"CHANGE OF HEART" REUNITES GAYNOR-FARRELL AS CO-STARS

REUNITED in their most enthralling love story—Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor as they appear in "Change of Heart" EPB

It took real courage to cast Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "Seventh Heaven" when they were virtually unknown, but the acclaim with which they were greeted richly justified Winfield Sheehan, vice-president and general manager of Fox Film production, in giving them their great roles. Even he, however, could not foresee their future colossal popularity, which has carried them into their twelfth picture together, "Change of Heart," coming to the Capitol on Sunday.

Arizona Wranglers At Capitol

Sheriff Loyal Underwood and his Original Arizona Wranglers are coming to town!

The man who made his Arizona cowboy the most imitated act in radio history will bring his original troupe to the Capitol Theatre, Saturday, June 16, one day only.

The Arizona Wranglers, led by the sheriff in person, will present on the theatre stage the scenes and musical numbers that made them famous over the air and set a new style in radio entertainment.

It was over station KNX in Underwood first present the Wranglers. To thousands of listeners in the western part of the United States such characters as "Dude from Tall," "Blucker," "Sleepy" "Nubkins," "Dynamite," etc., soon became many of her own experiences. It is a real life drama.

James Dunn and Ginger Rogers head the supporting cast, with Beryl Mercer, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Irene Franklin, Shirley Temple, Drus Leyton, Mike O'Hara and other well-known actors in prominent roles. John Dylstone is directing the picture under Mr. Sheehan's personal supervision. Conyn LeVeen and James Gleason wrote the screen play from Mrs. Norris' novel.

came an important part of every evening.

Many cowboy acts have tried to imitate the group, but Sheriff Underwood and his Arizona Wranglers remain the original act that set a national fad. Their renditions of the old cowboy ballads were a distinct contribution to modern music.

In addition to the Wranglers, in the feature picture "Where Sinners Meet," starring Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook.

Johnson Averts Textile Strike and Tackles Steel Workers Threat—Steps for Drouth Relief—Fletcher Made Republican Chairman.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

GENERAL JOHNSON, administrator of the NRA, evidently must be given credit for a skillful piece of work in negotiating an agreement which forestalled the threatened strike of some 40,000 workers in the cotton textile industry.

The picture presented to the union was one of steel stock smelted for want of water and fuel, grasshoppers and chinch bugs doing untold damage in the wake of the heat and dryness, thousands of acres of planted grain lying unharvested or blighted and hundreds of farm communities praying for rain.

HENRY F. FLETCHER of Pennsylvania has been handed the rather difficult job of managing the Republican party. The national committee at its session in Chicago elected him chairman.

The employers are permitted to go ahead with their program of curtailing production 25 per cent and the laborer takes the promise of an NRA investigation into the matter of higher wages and other points of difference. The union also is assured of increased representation on the industrial relations board of the cotton textile industry.

The next great labor trouble, the dispute between the steel masters and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, promised to be most difficult. It seemed that prompt action by President Roosevelt would be necessary to avert the threatened strike.

General Johnson offered a compromise in the form of a special labor relations board for the steel industry, similar to that which was created for the automotive industry in March. But the proposition was rejected by both the steel masters and the spokesmen for the union.

According to the American Iron and Steel Institute, the steel threats are due to the activities of union leaders who seek government intervention to manage the industry into positions of power and domination over the steel workers of the nation.

ROUSED to action by the drought, which is the worst the country has ever experienced, President Roosevelt telephoned from Cocon. to the federal relief administration, directing that a special relief work program be put into operation immediately in the middle western states.

Secretary of the Interior H. H. HICKES journeyed to Chicago and testified in the disbarment proceedings brought by him against two Chicago lawyers, C. W. Larsen and J. M. Malinin. The latter once a federal judge in the Virgin Islands. Mr. Hicks asserted the defendants had tried to bribe him in order to obtain for Malinin the position of governor of the Virgin Islands and a federal post for Larsen. He said their "conspiracy" was based on "rump-up charges" growing out of a Federal court case he handled as an attorney.

The secretary's charges were later flatly denied by the defendants. The case was being heard by the grievance committee of the Chicago Bar association.

CARRYING forward the program of arbitrary federal acreage control which began with the passage of the Bankhead cotton bill, the house voted, 206 to 144, for passage of the so-called Kerr tobacco bill vesting the AAA with statutory power to force compliance with its adjustment program.

The measure was sent to the senate over the protests of Republicans who denounced the plan as just another step toward regimentation of the farming industry and the enslavement of the American farmer.

MUCH interesting information is given the special house committee that is investigating "un-American" activities in the United States, these being especially the activities of the Nazis.

Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador, Dr. Hans Luther, and the German consul-general in New York, Dr. Otto Kiep, both figuring in the investigation.

Under examination, Carl Dickey, partner of the New York firm of Earl Pyle and Associates, said his firm has a contract with the German tourist information office, receiving $2000 a month "rating as vice, counsel, and getting together material for travel information."

One witness, Rev. Francis Gross of Perth Amboy, N. J., linked American propaganda in a letter which he read to the committee.

Representatives of the State, Post Office and Labor departments were interested listeners to the testimony produced, and there were reports of later deportation proceedings.

THE national committee adopted a statement of principles for the party in the fall campaign which is to be incorporated in the Democratic platform, without any personality and more specific set forth what the Republican party thinks should be done to restore the nation to prosperity.

There was assurance of liberal treatment of these problems in this paragraph:

"Our nation is beset with problems of infinite perplexity—the problems of recovery, of unemployment, with its attendant tale of human suffering; of agriculture, with its lost markets and relatively price; of forever checking abuses and excesses that have become all too apparent, and threaten the problems of a wider spread of prosperity, of relieving the hardships of unemployment and old age, and of averting, these dire depressions. These problems must be approached in a broad, liberal and progressive spirit, unhampered by dead formalisms or obstinately clinging to the past."

LOUIS BARTHOU, foreign minister of France, appears as the dominating figure in the negotiations which will dispel the war clouds hanging over Europe. The most important thing he already has accomplished is the signing of an accord between France and Germany on conditions of non-aggression.

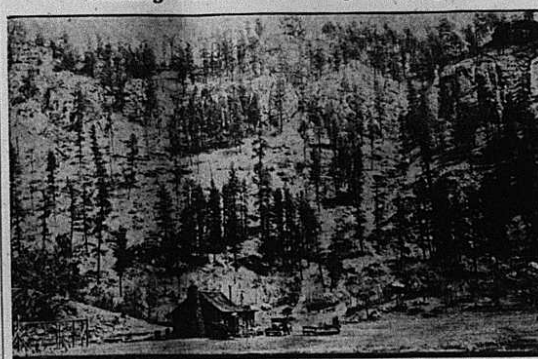

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR H. H. HICKES journeyed to Chicago and testified in the disbarment proceedings brought by him against two Chicago lawyers, C. W. Larsen and J. M. Malinin. The latter once a federal judge in the Virgin Islands. Mr. Hicks asserted the defendants had tried to bribe him in order to obtain for Malinin the position of governor of the Virgin Islands and a federal post for Larsen.

BOISE 1935 CHOICE EMPLOYMENT RISERS FIGHTING THE PESTS POISON IS FRESHLY BROUGHT RELIEF BEGINS

IDAHO FALLS, IDA.—Boise was named the 1935 convention city by the Idaho Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at the closing session of the fourteenth annual convention here recently.

SALT LAKE CITY, UT.—Through the Denver, Colo. Grand Western Railroad company in March, the number of men employed in the shops and the maintenance of way departments is fast approaching the 1930 level, and during July will equal or exceed this level.

SHOSHONE, IDA.—Two tons of poison proved inadequate in controlling grasshoppers in Lincoln county, and five more tons have been received. This material is being distributed among farmers on several tracts of the Big Wood project, particularly in the western part of the North Shoshone tract where the hopper invasion was greatest this season.

BOISE, IDA.—A grasshopper campaign started at Idaho by County Agent A. G. Kilburn, five and one-half tons of bait was put out at the Deep creek section.

BOISE, IDA.—Secretary General Bert H. Miller has been advised that the first suit on the constitutionality of the state chain store tax will not be appealed and that protesting companies will pay the tax. The attorney general estimated the tax would approximate $600,000 today, and at least $1,000,000 for 1934. The tax was enacted by the 1933 legislature.

MOSCOW, IDA.—Several hundred 4-horn cows and six of 10 calves were fed the 12th Annual Junior short course at the University of Idaho this month.

BOISE, IDA.—Miles of snow fence owned by the state highway department will be made available to southern Idaho to construct rabbit drives, according to Gov. C. Ben Ross. The first district from which an application for rabbit drives was Dietrich, and a large supply now stored at Shoshone will be turned over to farmers for use in the Incubators, made by the fence.

BASIN, WYO.—A hunting accident took the life of Logan Bury, 22, near here. The youth had his 22 caliber rifle in a bush, and later pulled into the brush with the muzzle pointing toward him. The gun was discharged and the bullet entered his head.

POCATELLO, IDA.—Participation in the federal corn-belt program this year will net Bamcock family farmers approximately $45,000, according to the county agent.

IDAHO FALLS, IDA.—Increased interest in 4-H club work in the eastern district of Idaho in the number of enrollments this year as compared to last year, said G. W. Cleveland, in charge of this work.

PAROWAN, UT.—The wool men of this district have succeeded in putting their wool of approximately 40,000 fleeces on the market, 50 per cent of which was combed, with an advance of from 14 to 16 cents per pound. From 20 to 23 cents was paid to the growers who sold outright. Due to much dry weather and wind, the wool is not so good as in previous years, and carries more dirt.

SALT LAKE CITY, UT.—Farm lands in the western region of this area approximately 50 per cent of the loans made during 1933, Geo. S. Glen, regional manager of the Utah city water supply alterations and a portion of the Eden and Hintsville highways.

WALSH'S ROGERS BEVERLY HILLS—Well all I know is just what I read in the paper, or see him and low. You know I wrote to you in one of my little daily epiphany's that about other days I meet the Secretary of Agriculture, Wallace, in one of the California Missions. Well it was no made up job.

You see he had been out here on a speaking and inspection tour, and he was naturally doing a little sight-seeing on the side. Well I had been down to La-Jolla to the funeral of a friend, and a very very dear old friend of Fred Stone, Mr. Low Hencken, a retired business man from Chicago, just about as good a character as you would find to the town.

Well one should never pass any of these Missions without stopping and going in. They are among the great historical spots of our country. The one was built in 1772. That's the year our last World Series was over with England. I don't know much history, but I have looked at "Spirit of 1776." It pictures a terrible spirit of '90. I expect it's a terrible bad painting, and many bad things, but it's a heroic looking group. One has his head tied up in remembrance of a feat, and another the little fellow has a drum. It and Washington standing up in that boat crossing (I think).

Delaware these two constitute all the art they had in those days. Nothing being painted now will give you the idea of what it was like in the Deep creek section.

We were ourselves loose from England in that year, its a question of who it was a better deal for. There was a lot of talk about things 1776 that we weren't "bleased" with when we were under England. Just mention any problem that you had with us before 1776. Do you realize there was no Senate, and no Congress, and that your King was a freedom. No inflation, deflation, reforestation, speculation.

The only thing like today was we had a money, but we had no debts. Course you had a little Indian trouble, about one tenth as much as you do today with your Kingmakers. If any trouble showed up, why you had Paul Revere to saddle old "Ned" and come down the valley, and he'll tell the Slaves or Blackfeet are coming! And Paul was more sure fire than a telephone.

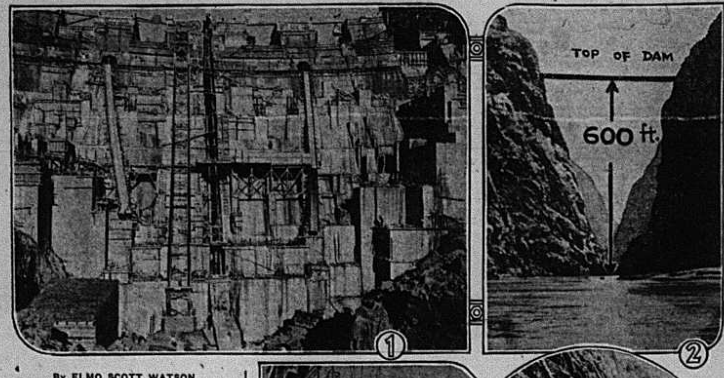

Suppose the fellow that wants to war you hasent got a nickel. Well he cant war you. But in those days everybody had a horse. They must have been great old days at that. The tax in those days that we fought to do away with, must have amounted to at least five percent of what it is today. They were very religious people that come over here from the old Country. They were very Indians. They would about a couple of humans on the way to every prayer meeting.

But whats all that got to do with what was happening out here on west side of Uncle Sam? An old Puritan, I suppose, that wanted to get up into the Country. Father, Father, Father, and he built Missions and a school, and taught the Indians trades, and the churches were run like big ranches. They each had thousands of cattle, and horses and sheep. He was an odd fellow. He could pray without stopping for an instant. He was a greater humanitarian than all the Pilgrims combined, including the 3 million slaves in the Mayflower. It was such a man ever set foot on the Eastern shore. He civilized with a Bible, and the old Pilgrim boys did it with a blunderbuss. There was never a church in the East built for Indians to worship.

So a accidentally run onto Secretary Wallace in San Juan Capistrano, 65 miles out of Los Angeles, which perhaps like me, was not of that faith, he viewed it with great reverence. Each community formed and ruled everything, (and these Missions were not in a great way country remember) but they did it all, no overproduction, no unemployment, no tariffs, no processing taxes, no birth control with boys, no profligacy under every third row of free blowing wind. There was a lot of these valleys, and they all lived in each of these valleys, until the Gringos come. They gunned it up proper, so I think Mr. Wallace thought must have been on the way these people did the thing that all our civilization seems to say we cant do. Wallace thought there was a way, because he stood on the very ground where it worked.

"THE WORLD'S GREATEST ENGINEERING PROJECT"

By OLMÉ SCOTT WATSON
 THE TIME IN 1906 or early in 1907 Uncle Sam will be able to say to the other nations: "If you want to see one of the modern wonders of the world, come down into the southwestern part of my country and take a look at a job that I've just finished on the Colorado river." And in saying that he will be uttering an idle boast. For the completion of the Hoover dam will mark the conclusion of one of the greatest engineering feats of all time, greater even than another of the triumphs of Uncle Sam, engineer—that of digging the Panama canal—and when this gigantic mass of steel and concrete is finished it will be the biggest structure of its kind in the whole world.

Not the least part of Uncle Sam's triumph will be the fact that the dam and its appurtenant works will be completed in record time. When the contractors began work on April 30, 1931, they were to be allowed seven years in which to finish the job. That would have meant its completion by April 20, 1938. Right now they are nearly two years ahead of schedule and it is estimated at that at the present rate of progress the whole thing will have been done in six years or less.

Inclusive as are the statistical data connected with the Hoover dam, the average person cannot get an adequate idea of the immensity of the project from abstract figures alone. Most of us are poor judges of distance so would mean little to say that the dam will have a maximum height of 730 feet above its foundation rock, that the top of it will be approximately 100 feet above the level of the river and that it will raise the water surface of the river 24 feet.

But let's get at it this way: If the Washington monument were set up alongside the dam and you stood on top of that monument, some one standing on top of the dam would have to let down nearly 60 yards of rope in order to pull you up to where he stood.

Can you visualize 100,000 cubic yards of concrete? Probably not. But if some one told you about a tower that was 100 feet square and rose two and a half miles in the air, you could get some idea of the amount of concrete that's going into the Hoover dam, the power plant and the appurtenant works.

Some of the statistics for a moment in favor of this gigantic project. The Hoover dam is being built in the upper Black canyon on the Colorado river about 25 miles southeast of Yuma, Nev., where the river forms part of the Arizona-Nevada boundary. The purpose of the project is to control the Colorado river water supply and power development. For these purposes the project calls not only for the construction of the Hoover dam, but also the construction of the All-American canal in southern California.

The total cost of the project placed approximately $100,000,000. It will include: Hoover dam and reservoir, $70,000,000; All-American canal, $38,500,000; power development, $30,000,000 and interest during construction, $17,000,000. But let's analyze this, since this is a federal project, that its construction means that many thousands of the people of America are employed, let it be stated at once that Uncle Sam's investment in it (in the form of congressional appropriations) will be repaid in the form of interest and income derived from supplying irrigation water and from the sale of power generated in the power plant. It is estimated that the dam will stand just below the dam.

Although power development was a secondary consideration in planning this project, it promises to become a very important one in the future because of the effect which cheap power will have upon modernizing and conserving the life in the Southwest. The plans for this power plant call for the installation of 15 turbines of 15,000 horse power each and two turbines of 25,000 horse power each with 15 generators of 15,000 kilowatt-capacity each and two generators of 40,000 kilowatt-capacity each. The large units exceed in size the largest yet manufactured, the 85,000 horse power turbines and 70,500 kilowatt-capacity generators in the world-famous Dniester project in Russia. One of these mammoth generators will weigh over 2,000,000 pounds, will measure 40 feet in diameter and stand 32 feet high.

This power plant will have a total capacity of 1,850,000 horse power, or four times as much developed on the American side of Niagara Falls and nearly double the amount developed both at Niagara Falls and Muscle Shoals, even when the latter reaches the peak of its capacity. It will be operated and maintained by the city of Los Angeles and the Southern California Edison company and under the general supervision of a director appointed by the secretary of the interior. The city will generate power for the states of Arizona and Nevada, a large number of southern California municipalities and for the Metropolitan Water district, and the Southern California Edison company will generate power for company purposes.

An essential part of the project is the construction of the All-American canal, so-called because it is entirely within the United States. It will begin about 15 miles northeast of Yuma, Ariz., where the new Imperial diversion dam will be built, and will connect with the present system of irrigation ditches in the Imperial valley, a distance of about 80 miles. At the same time, a 120-mile extension of this canal will pass east of the Salton sea and carry water to the adjacent Coachella valley.

From the beginning of the All-American canal near Yuma it will pass through a ridge of shifting sand and where the deepest cut will be about 100 feet deep. Huge siphons or culverts will be needed in many instances to carry the canal under numerous washes.

Some distance up the Colorado river will be located the Parker dam, intended both as a power plant and as a diversion dam. Designing an ascent hydroelectric plant, a rapid rise in completion. There, 205 miles directly across the state from Los Angeles, will originate the water supply for the Metropolitan Water district.

The Parker reservoir will be located approximately 100 miles downstream from the Hoover dam and is proposed to be built on the Colorado river. The first 115 miles extending west to Shaver's Summit will require heavy expenditure for construction and operation, as the flow will be an ascent of the Colorado river. The Hoover dam will be used to operate pumping lifts.

Although the Metropolitan Water district is paying for the construction of the Parker dam by the reclamation bureau, the project will be of immense importance to the Southwest. This dam is intended to control the power plant of the dam and then to extend transmission lines on down the river to the Imperial dam, using the power thus delivered to pump water for irrigation purposes in the vast undeveloped area in Arizona. This project will be known as the Gila development.

And of interesting phase of the gigantic Hoover dam project was the tremendous job of diverting the flow of the Colorado river before the construction of the dam could be started. To do this it was necessary to drive four tunnels, 70 feet in diameter, through the rock of the canyon walls, two on each side of Washington—Congress did a lot of resting in its closing hours.

Feared Too Much New Debt

Washington—Congress did a lot of resting in its closing hours. The United States loaned something like eleven billion dollars to foreign governments to aid in Europe's recovery after the war against Germany. For a long time after the money was loaned, the United States got nothing at all. In the meanwhile, there was directed a bombardment of propaganda from the borrowing nations and from some of the misadventured in our own country calling for absolute cancellation. But cancellation could not win. It was impossible. So there followed a lot of negotiations in which commissions from foreign governments came here and conferred at length with our debt funding commission.

Settlements were eventually worked out. The debts were funded. That is, the debtor nations were given a long time in which to pay. They were given enormous concessions in the amount of interest and in the repayment of the various loans. I have not space here to repeat those concessions because it happens that I am the only newspaper correspondent in Washington who reports every one of the debt conferences, and I say unequivocally that those funding settlements represented a monumental loss of more than one-third in the total amount which the debtors contracted originally to pay.

Now, again we are in the midst of new efforts to get something done about the debt. The foreign nations are again making a play for it. The foreign nations are again making a play for it. The foreign nations are again making a play for it.

But, after all, there are the debts, but, after all, there are the debts, but, after all, there are the debts.

Debt on Debit

Debt on debit, or repaid. It is the policy of the Hoover dam project to pay them out of future earnings. The Hoover dam project is a self-paying project. It is a self-paying project. It is a self-paying project.

My own feeling coincides with the latter view. If the New Deal program for economic planning, for the most part, is to be a success, it is necessary to have a plan for controlling crop planting and distribution, and the other things that are necessary to the plan. It is necessary to have a plan for controlling crop planting and distribution, and the other things that are necessary to the plan.

Natural Defenses of the Body

ALTHOUGH man has a wonderful brain, there are a number of things done by the body to protect it from disease. The body has a number of natural defenses of the body.

Some food or other substance, placed in the mouth, is irritating (acid) or likely to interfere with the movement of the parts and immediately there is a great flow of saliva or the mouth's digestive juice. This dilutes the substance and to be less irritating, or if it irritates it is washed away.

Something rough rubs or presses the skin and a callous forms, which serves both as a cushion and as a shield. If the skin is broken, little blood vessels appear in the clot which fills the gap, and the surrounding skin reaches out and fills the gap, with only white scar remaining.

In a person living at or about sea level the number of red corpuscles and white corpuscles in the blood is high, whereas if you go to live in high mountains, 14,000 feet, the number slowly increases to 7,000, and this provides more iron which is now needed.

If the need continues, the blood forming organs in the marrow of the long bones become more active and the blood is thus enriched until the red corpuscles down to the lower altitude again.

Then there are the white corpuscles of the blood which attack and kill bacteria and other germs that enter the body.

The above are just a few of the natural defenses of the body. Surely we are fearfully and wonderfully made.

Lessening the Distress in Hay Fever

YOU are a hay fever victim. You have tried the pollen extracts and find yourself one of the number who are helped by them.

It is necessary to have a plan for controlling crop planting and distribution, and the other things that are necessary to the plan. It is necessary to have a plan for controlling crop planting and distribution, and the other things that are necessary to the plan.

Ewing Flays Indorsement Of LaFont

Salt Lake. — Proposed appointment of Harold A. LaFont, member of the federal radio commission, as one of the seven members of the newly authorized communications commission has developed a storm in the professional delegation, said a special dispatch Wednesday to the Salt Lake Tribune from Washington.

Indorsed by Senators William H. King, and Elbert D. Thomas, the appointment of LaFont is opposed by National Commissioner of the Federal Radio Commission.

The senators gave their indorsement notwithstanding the fact that LaFont is a Republican and was named by former Senator Reed Smoot to his present post.

The radio commission, the dispatch explained, is abolished under the terms of the communications act, and LaFont immediately should transfer to the new board, appealing to all members of the Utah delegation to support him.

Previously, Senator Thomas had recommended the appointment of J. A. Barclay, director of the Salt Lake stock exchange, to the radio commission, but the stock exchange commission. The senators did not concur in the appointment, nor did they concur with the house members, the dispatch said.

Ewing pointed out that recent laws have set up three commissions to act as a check on the appointment of any Utah Democrat on any one of the commissions.

One of the commissions is headed by Senator King, O'Mahoney, Wheeler, Dill, Pope, McClarn, Pittman, Trayden and Adams.

Ewing understands that Senator King has not personally conferred with the president to appoint him on the communications commission, and now contends that the fact that King and Thomas have indorsed LaFont, a Republican, and that Senator Thomas has recommended Barclay, another Republican, there is no chance whatever of any Utah Democrat's getting any one of the nine commissionships which under the law must go to Democrats.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

It was Mark Twain who said, "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it."

Nowadays something is being done about the weather. Weather by wire is a common place happening in most of our larger cities. That is to say, the development of moderately priced air conditioning equipment by manufacturers.

Air conditioning is more than merely cooling the air. It is air conditioning equipment which the correct temperature and, perhaps, the most important, regulates the humidity.

Working in an air conditioned room is the standing on the porch after a spring shower and revelling in the freshness and purity of the air. Air in an air conditioned room is more pure than the air supplied by nature.

When John Hunter Yates returns from the presidency of his home state in Utah, he is greeted with a warm welcome. He is a young man, handsome, and his society is full of people who are interested in his work. He is a young man, handsome, and his society is full of people who are interested in his work.

Yates smiled warmly. "Wonderful!"

Blissom looked at him quickly aware of the subtle change that had taken place in the man's face. Yates endeavored to make his face as unassuming as possible, but it was quite a task to do it. His effort to be casual was pathetic.

Blissom's tone was heavy. "What's happened?"

Yates avoided Blissom's eyes. "You've been very nice and amusing—a nice vacation, rather better than our little fine times here."

Poultryman Tells How to Preserve Eggs For Winter
Now is a good time to store eggs for use during the fall and winter months, advises Carl Frischnecht, extension poultryman of the Utah State Agricultural college. Eggs laid during this time of the year are not only cheaper in price but they keep better in storage than those laid later in the season.

If satisfactory results are to be obtained, the eggs should be fresh, clean, and fertile. It is a mistake to store eggs that are poor in quality and those that are badly soiled. Washed eggs do not keep well and eggs with shells that are unsmooth should never be stored, Mr. Frischnecht warns.

A good preservative for eggs is sodium silicate or water glass, which can be purchased at drug stores. One quart of sodium silicate mixed with nine quarts of water, that has been boiled and allowed to cool will provide enough of the solution to preserve 15 dozen eggs successfully.

Following is the procedure Mr. Frischnecht suggests: First, select a five-gallon crock and clean it thoroughly after which it should be scalded and allowed to dry.

Second, when a quantity of water to the boiling point and allow it to cool. Then when cool, measure out nine quarts of water, place it in the crock, and add one quart of sodium silicate, stirring the mixture thoroughly.

Fourth, the eggs should be placed in the solution. If sufficient eggs are not obtainable when the solution is first made, additional eggs may be added from time to time. Be very careful to allow at least two inches of the solution to cover the eggs at all times.

Fifth, place the crock containing the preserved eggs in a cool, dry place, well-covered to prevent evaporation. Waxed paper covered over and tied around the top of the crock will answer this purpose.

Another way of increasing the family food supply for the fall and winter months at little cost is to bottle a few of the surplus

Forest Chief Goes to Coast
Ogden—R. H. Rutledge, regional forester, left Monday to attend a number of meetings in California, Oregon and Idaho. On June 12 and 13 he will meet with the board of directors of the Forest Service in San Francisco to take up forest road proposals and to discuss projects.

On June 14 and 15, Mr. Rutledge will meet with the Western States Fish and Game associations in Portland, Ore., to consider fish and game projects, and on June 17 will confer in Boise, Idaho, with the Southern Idaho Timber Protective association. The question of fire protection in the Idaho national forests will be discussed at this last conference.

Mr. Rutledge, who is a member of the Idaho state planning board, will meet with the board in Boise on June 19 and 20 to consider land utilization plans with a view to aiding in the use of lands for agricultural, grazing and timber growth.

PREVENTS ATTRITION***

* ATTRITION—Wearing by friction.

HERE'S a new term that's full of important meaning to you, and to your pocketbook: Vico prevents attrition!

Attrition sends many a motor to the junk-heap long before its time. Attrition causes a heavy drain on any pocketbook to pay for repairs that could have been avoided. Attrition is the enemy of smooth motor performance... power... economy!

Only one thing can prevent attrition—an oil that has a tough, heat-resisting "body" and, at the same time, the ability to spread easily on metal, to cover every bit of the friction surfaces.

Vico has those qualities. That's why Vico-lubricated cars are still going strong after 80,000—100,000—400,000— as high as 700,000 miles, with but minor repairs. That's why many motorists report increased gasoline mileage when Vico is used—due to reduced friction.

For sure, economical lubrication, use Vico in your car. There's a correct grade for every motor. Only 25¢ a quart, tax paid.

Howe About:

Sentiment
Manufactured Roar
Ford's Philosophy

By ED HOWE

THE gross sentimentality American has long practiced in their public affairs, and do not privately believe in, has done them great harm. No one can doubt it was our foolishly sentimental lack of making the world safe for democracy that landed us in the World War. It is a mistake which has corrupted us, and harmed instead of promoted democracy; it gave the political class their present terrible power.

Gross sentimentality (too much sympathy for evil doers) ruined our courts, and built up a legal system that is the astonishment of the intelligent world; it has corrupted our youth; our women and our religion—everything we are now in almost universal revolt against had its inception in gross sentimentality.

The writers and leaders known as the Red Squad have taken advantage of our smiling, hypocritical acquiescence in sentimental folly until we are the laughing stock of sane foreigners. Our present groaning because of self-inflicted wounds will make a page in future histories that will distance the once brave word American.

I have just been reading another African book, and encountering two well-behaved maidenly ladies who went everywhere. They had no automobile, but they would like to go, and returned to introduce. So they were welcomed by all the whites, and the Red Squad found them so amusing they were all delighted to see them. The author thus dismisses them finally; they had been everywhere in the world that one would like to go, and experienced nothing that in their eyes amounted to risk or discomfort. But they will never visit a travel book, their observation is too accurate, their views too sane, to command attention.

I have lived so long, and heard so many tales, only of very unusual interest. Today I give it my full attention to this: A twenty-year-old girl of the best set in a small town is taking a liquor cure.

The writing between the lines here is that publishers will print nothing about Africa, or anything else, not absurdly exaggerated. In everything in print publishers insist that lions roar maniacally, man hunt, and carry off women and children.

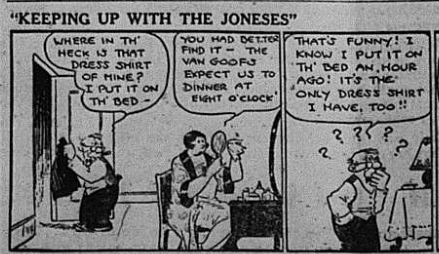

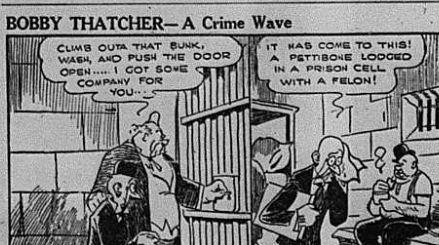

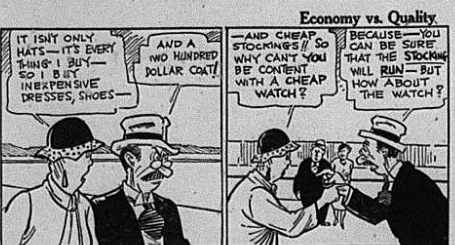

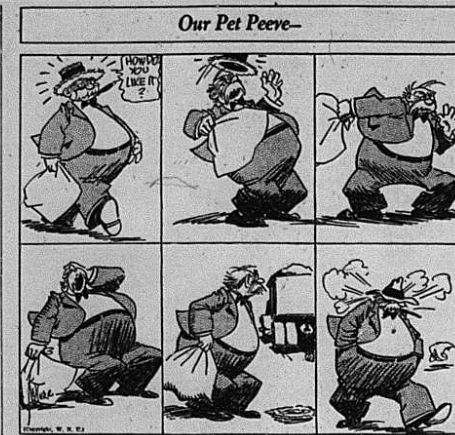

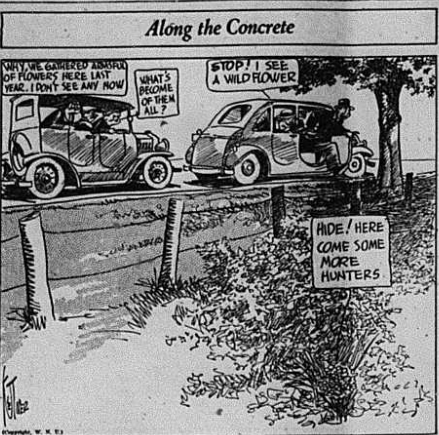

In all you read, look out for the manufactured roar, and discount it, or your reading will add to your confusion.

Henry Ford recently wrote: "A man has no divine right to a job, but must work to find work. Charity undermines character; self-help is the only road to economic salvation. I do not believe in routine charity; I think it is shameful that any man should have to stoop to take it or give it. It is neither helpful nor human. The charity of our cities is the most barbarous thing in our system. True charity is a much more costly effort than money giving; it is the most beautiful thing in the language." . . . This philosopher spent a large amount of money in getting his kind thinking before the people, but they paid not the slightest attention to it.

I was once in the company of a mother and daughter, and especially admired the daughter. "She deserves all you say of her," the mother said, "but as a child she was terrible; I was busy half the time returning things she stole from the neighbors. And she was a tyrant with the other children and with her parents. In her babyhood I as sincerely regretted she ever was born as I now rejoice in it, for she is an unusually creditable woman, she frequently humiliates me with her ladylike manners." . . . I admired the young woman the more because she so successfully overcame the natural bad habits of youth. Success in life is realization as we grow up that if we are to enjoy the fruits of civilization, we must acquire civilized habits.

I rarely read without encountering a statement that capitalism has failed. . . . Every such statement is silly, but no one can be convinced of it. Capitalism is nothing more than the least troublesome way demonstrated by long experience, of handling necessary barter. It has never failed that has marriage, or law, or philosophy; not nearly so much as religion or democracy. . . . What these men mean when they say capitalism has failed) are they declaring that when we wish to buy railroad tickets it is best to pay for it with corn on the cob or pigs on the hoof than with money?

If a man is born a fool, must he remain one forever? . . . At least one philosopher holds out the hope that the brain may be improved by proper exercise, as may the muscles. I have forgotten his name, but this philosopher declares that a man who betters his conduct at the same time increases his brain power.

PATTERN SUITED TO FROCKS OF VARIOUS TYPES AND FABRICS

You'll soon be needing one of these completely new morning dresses, as warm days are well on the way. The design of this little frock is so adaptable to ideas of your own, you can use the same pattern to make several different dresses. Make it all of a printed wash silk or of solid-colored pale blue, green or rose cotton fabric. Or you can make the winkle-alive effect of a harmonizing or contrasting material—and you'll have still another new and very exciting dress. Really as lovely for afternoons as for mornings, and expressing gaiety in no small way.

Pattern 1782 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrate step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coin or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

HARD TO LOOSEN ERROR'S GRIP ON POPULAR BELIEFS

Two eminent scientists at Atlantic City, in the midst of the annual meeting of the American Association of Economic Entomologists, catalogued "eight popular beliefs that are not true" thus: "A child is influenced by what his mother sees or thinks before the child is born; birth marks are caused by what a mother sees or touches before her child is born; the average length of human life was much longer than now; fit people always are good natured; mental disorders are caused by overactivity; children of first cousins, though of good parentage, are likely to be feeble minded; stunted growth of hair on a person's limbs and chest indicates great physical strength; the theory of evolution implies that men are descended from apes."

This list of beliefs unshared in fact is particularly interesting because many of its items is a venerable cornerstone of the human mind. None of these widely accepted errors is of recent origin, none of them arises from the life of today; even the youngest of them, that concerning the theory of evolution, is of a considerable age. It is all of them have been contradicted by authority time and again. Yet they persist in vigor apparently unimpacted, and there is no sign that any of them is giving ground under the impact of denial.

A belief once accepted by the population at large has more lives than a litter of kittens. The earnest inculcator of sound doctrine who attempts to dislodge it undertakes a most hopeless task. Nor does this mean that truth is mocked. The untruth is simply, often pitilessly, dressed in the exceptional circumstances that seem to support it and are vividly related and remain in the memory, while the growth of truth, by the slow and patient garment stitched with life and but—New York Sun.

Bedtime Story by Thornton W. Burgess

PETER LEARNS MORE ABOUT THE VIROOS

SPEAKING of the Viroos, Reddy says he is the only member of his family around here, he marked Peter.

"Listen," commanded Jenny Wren, "I don't want you to hear that warbling song you over there in the Big Elm in front of Farmer Brown's house where Goldy the Oriole has his nest?"

Peter listened. At first he didn't hear it, and as usual Jenny Wren made fun of him for having such big ears and not being able to make better use of them.

"That's Reddy's cousin, the Warbling Vireo," said Jenny. "He's a better singer than Reddy, and just as fond of bearing his own voice. He sings from the time July Mr. Sun gets up in the morning, and goes to bed at night. He sings when it is so hot that the rest of us are glad to keep still for comfort."

"Somehow, I don't remember just what Warbler looks like," Peter confessed.

"He looks a lot like his cousin Reddy," replied Jenny. "His coat is a duller olive-green, and underneath he is a little yellowish instead of being white. Of course he doesn't have red eyes, and he is a little smaller than Reddy. The whole family looks pretty much alike anyway."

"You said something then, Jenny when it is so hot that the rest of us are glad to keep still for comfort."

"I don't know of anybody more fond of the treetops than he is. He doesn't seem to care anything about the Old Orchard, but stays over in those big trees along the road. Over that Big Elm he's got a nest as high up as Goldy the Oriole. The haven't seen it myself, but Goldy told me about it. Why anyone so small should want to live so high up in the world I don't know, any more than I know why anyone wants to live anywhere but in the Old Orchard."

"Yes," declared Peter. "They get me all mixed up. If only some of them had some bright colors it would be easier to tell them apart."

"One has bright yellow feet. He has a bright yellow throat and breast and is called Yellow-Throated Vireo. There isn't the least chance of mistaking him."

"Is he a singer, too?" asked Peter. "Of course," replied Jenny. "Every one of that blessed family has the sound of his own voice. It's a family trait. A good thing is good, but more than enough of a good thing is too much. That applies to gossiping just as much as to singing, and I've wanted more time on you than I've had business to. Now stop along, Peter, and don't bother me any more today."

"Truly yours, I. IDEALIST. Answer—Something that will startle people, like a surprise, or go to a ballroom during a dance on a hot summer's night and throw about ten eggs in the electric fans."

"Dear Mr. Wynn: A friend of mine said that he knew a man that was in the hospital having splinters taken out of his tongue. Could he be true? If so, how do you account for splinters in a man's tongue?"

"Truly yours, ANG. THOUS. Answer—That is probably true. It most likely happened this way. The man was very stinky. He had just said for a drink and it spilled on the floor. See what I mean?"

"Dear Mr. Wynn: Do you think it is right for men to work on Sunday, thereby breaking the Sabbath?"

"Truly yours, E. VANGELIST. Answer—I do in some cases. For instance, if a question, which one is "broke," the man or the Sabbath, I say the Sabbath."

"Dear Mr. Wynn: What is meant by "A Man of Promise"?"

"Truly yours, SID. KNIFE. Answer—A man of PROMISE is a chap who borrows money and never pays it back."

"Dear Mr. Wynn: I am a boy eight years old. We have just started phydology in school. Tomorrow I must tell the teacher all about "The Five Senses." Please tell me what are the five senses?"

"Truly yours, I. BALL. Answer—The five "senses," my child, are the Associated Newspapers WNU Service."

thing they please. I heard that with a visitor in the room, while class-room discussion was taking place, a boy jumped around to the girl who was speaking, and said: 'Oh shut up and give me a chance to let—' and then without remembrance from the teacher! "

"I think that as the old idea of the stern father and sterner schoolmaster which forced children into artificialities and insincerities was undoubtedly wrong, such as are our reader refers to, which are advanced by some educators today, are even more dangerous."

All human beings need the power of restraint. And it seems to me the danger today is not in forcing upon children too much restraint, but too little. For decades now the trend of ideas among parents and educators has been more and more toward allowing children every possible freedom of expression and development. Tearing and over-strictness with children is pretty much a thing of the past. And a thoughtful observer of the modern scene is more likely to be fearful of the other extreme."

Not only in the great crises in life, but in the little things of everyday life, we need the power of control and restraint. The person who was allowed in childhood to say and do exactly as he felt at all times is not likely to be a desirable companion or a valuable member of the organization. Therefore he is not likely to be happy. Restraint and control are power. And it seems to me that any system which would eliminate these from the training of children would rob them of their most important weapon in mastering their environment and fulfilling the best of their possibilities. © Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

Habits of Otter Family Some animals abandon their young as soon as they are able to feed for themselves, but a family of otters, parents and offspring, generally keep together for at least a year after the birth of the latter. This is said to hold until the young animals find mates and make homes for themselves.

Fertilizers in Ohio Fertilizers used by Ohio farmers in 1933 amounted to 208,569 tons, according to the annual report of fertilization in the state released by the agronomy department of the Ohio State university. This is 28.6 per cent more fertilizer than was used in 1932, most of the gain occurring in the fall when fertilizers were purchased principally for corn. The fall crop would be 40 per cent above that of the previous year, according to the Ohio Farmer.

Wood for Fuel Many farms have a good woodlot that provides an ample supply of fuel for winter needs. Some of these are being destroyed through improper cutting. Trees which are defective, trees which overtop valuable young growth and sitable trees which have little value for lumber should be used for fuel. A crooked stick burns as good as a straight one and good fuel should be left for timber and should be given every possible chance to develop.

Rotation Plan to Foil Chinch Bugs

Locate Legume Crops So as to Isolate Small Grain, Corn and Grass.

By A. L. LANG, Asst. Chief of Soil Experiment Station, University of Illinois—WNU Service. Threatened with the heaviest chinch bug infestation ever recorded in the history of the state, Illinois farmers should consider revising their rotations as a means of especially protecting their 1934 corn crops.

If this is meant the location of legume crops in the rotation so as to isolate the small grain, corn and grass fields where the chinch bugs are prone to breed and feed. It has been proved that legumes are distasteful to the insect pest, and separating the bug's "favorite" crops with legumes is suggested as one of several control measures. Furthermore, the addition of one or more legumes will improve the fertility of the land on which they are grown.

A four-year rotation supplying this dual purpose may consist of corn, oats, clover, and soybeans. In this case, not only is 60 per cent of the farm in legumes, but 80 per cent is in cash crops. One crop of corn is completely set off between two legumes, which in many cases will prevent serious damage from chinch bugs. The fact that the oats field will have a spring sowing of clover is a definite multiplication of the insects in this crop. If the clover gets a strong, early start, the chinch bug population of the corn, a rotation of corn, beans, wheat and clover can be planned. An important feature of this combination is that the small grain crop, which is always the early breeding ground of the chinch bug, is not in the rotation above and with a good stand of clover in the land, would keep 75 per cent of the land in legumes throughout the growing season.

New Strains of Alfalfa Culture Being Developed Three strains of alfalfa nodulate bacteria, capable of fixing more nitrogen and producing a somewhat greater crop in the soil, are being raised in the laboratory. The alfalfa plants, have been added to the stock from which the Wisconsin college of agriculture is preparing its alfalfa seed cultures.

These strains, recorded in the laboratory as pedigree numbers 100, 101, and 113, were carefully tested in greenhouse trials last winter when they proved to fix more nitrogen and to produce a greater crop of alfalfa than the standard hay than most other strains tested.

Inoculation tests in these greenhouses also showed that the soil nodulate bacteria found in the soil of fields which have grown legumes are helpful to the plant, some are actually harmful. Before any strain of inoculating bacteria is used for the preparation of cultures in laboratories of the university agricultural college, it must first have proved to be beneficial as shown by greenhouse and field tests.

at no extra cost - THE American Medical Association's official journal recently said, editorially, that too many children still have rickets (faulty bone development) and would continue to have until some cheap, generally available, agreeable source of vitamin D is provided.

To help meet that need, Sego Milk is now enriched with vitamin D by irradiation with ultra-violet rays—nature's method of creating this precious vitamin.

By using irradiated Sego Milk you can now give your children—all your family—an extra supply of vitamin D—at no extra cost.

Let your children have sunshine. It's good for them. Give them such other sources of vitamin D as your doctor may prescribe.

Many investigations have shown more than fifty per cent of young children suffering from rickets. Many cases exist that can be detected only by expert examination, but which cause faulty bones and bad teeth in later life.

You can't afford not to give your children the extra protection which irradiated Sego Milk provides.

It is probable that this extra supply of vitamin D may be beneficial to adults as well as to children. Irradiated Sego Milk used for all milk and cream purposes will give your whole family an extra supply of this precious vitamin.

Sego Milk is pure, fresh cow's milk, concentrated and sterilized. Nothing whatever is added to the natural milk except the valuable vitamin D.

UP TO $11 A MONTH PROFIT FOR ROLLATOR REFRIGERATION OWNERS. "I have a neighbor whose husband makes a handsome income in the cold storage business—buying produce when it is cheap and keeping it until prices are high. I find I can do the same with my Norge. I buy in quantities, whenever there is a price advantage, and Rollator Refrigeration keeps the food fresh for days and days. You'd be amazed at how much I save."

"We'll Call You Up" A family leaves on a vacation trip. "We'll call you up," they tell relatives and friends. They know that the telephone will put them in touch immediately. It isn't expensive to keep in touch with members of your family or relatives in other cities. Telephoning is like being there in person.

Look for the word Irradiated on the face of the Sego Milk label.

WHEAT FOR EXPORT

Washington—Farmers of the foreign trade or free port bill by the senate has opened vistas for vastly increased activity at our every important port in or outside the country.

No Wheat for Export

But the belief of a number of experts in the department is that the whole farm program during the year on one point. That is that all the major crops of the United States, with the exception of wheat, should be consumed inside the United States.

Overruled by President

President Roosevelt has overruled the Trade Commission's recommendation on a point of modification of the securities act so important that Landon declared he would not sign the bill until the president's action was adopted.

Bad News for Farmers

Shortly after the adjournment of congress Secretary of Agriculture William C. Clegg has been very distasteful news to the wheat farmers of this country. He would have made the announcement at some stage anyhow, but the drought in the West makes the situation ripe for calamities at this time.

Question of Time

The whole point of the amendment is that the buyer should be compelled to analyze the situation within a reasonable period, and within a reasonable period, the farmer for the company or its bankers to pay him back. But this period, they say, should be no longer than six months.

Teachers Worried

Over Boy Prodigy Chester, Pa.—A seven-year-old boy prodigy, who has completed five years of school work in five months, is worrying his teachers. Charles Fritz is brilliant in his school work but Principal A. H. Schowalter said, "I don't want to see him develop in a one-sided way."

Memorial to Nurses Who Died in the War

As Bacter Kemp sounded the beautiful strains of the Red Cross building in Washington. It memorial was dedicated by Mrs. W. C. Clegg. The figure was that of a nurse, the statue was unveiled on the grounds by Mrs. A. Delano and 200 other Red Cross nurses led by Anna Kerr, a close friend of Miss Delano.

Royal Exiles Work at Various Trades

Many Russian Nobles Are Now Penniless.

London—Where are Russia's royal exiles? Interest in them has been aroused here by the libel suit brought by Princess Irina Yusouppoff against the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film. The princess alleged that the film "Blasphemy" depicted her as being seduced by the czar.

The court awarded her £20,000 damages after a hearing, packed with the drama of Princess Yusouppoff's description of how he killed Rasputin. It was the revelation, however, that the Yusouppoffs, once among the wealthiest in Europe, are now comparatively penniless that led to the interest in the fate of other royal Russian exiles.

Investigations have shown that most of them are in London, Paris, and New York working for their living. Grand Duke Cyril in France. The head of them, the Grand Duke Cyril, lives at the Hotel de France, Paris. He has little money, but frequently is seen on gala nights at the casino.

"GATE CRASHING" IS NOW LONDON SPORT

Society Finds Way to Enrich Empty Purse.

London.—London's chaperoned "gate-crashing" season is open; and the society of cash-rich girls of some of Britain's nobility.

From $20,000 to $100,000 will crash almost any gate in Britain, with a chaperone often the possessor of a well known title name.

So well-known are some of the society of cash-rich girls who will "introduce" the wealthy daughters of their debenture "friends" that more than half the gates are crunched without the knowledge of the hostess.

In London there is the former Grand Duchess Nadia, both happily married. Sir Harold Wertheim, the husband of the first name, is immensely rich. The second married Lord Milford Haven, a cousin of King George.

HUMMING BIRDS

Next of Humming Bird.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C. W. H. S. B. S.

A humming bird family are the most interesting members of the avian world. They are the smallest of birds, being longer than the rest of the bird. Variations has a bill less than a quarter of an inch long.

They are found only in the New World where they range from the Strait of Magellan to Canada and Alaska, constituting one of the most brilliantly colored, and specialized families of birds found in this vast region.

The family is most abundant, as regards species, near the Equator. In the Andean region of South America, the Republic of Ecuador has 146 kinds of hummers and Colombia 105 known forms.

In passing north and south from these centers of maximum abundance, species become and fewer. In North America north of Mexico (not including Lower California) there are 104 known forms.

EARLY SEPARATION URGED FOR CHICKS

Experiment Station Expert Favors Segregation.

By Prof. W. C. Thompson, Poultry Branch, Washington, D. C. W. H. S. B. S. A great advantage to the poultryman will result if his birds are separated as to their inherited traits of early, medium or late maturity.

Improvement has found ample evidence to indicate that the best progress of the poultryman, other things being equal, are the individuals which start laying early.

For Louisiana, this early laying is about 150 and 175 days of age. Such birds are precocious layers. In every hatch of chicks this spring there will be some individuals among the young pullets which will be precocious. There will be some which will not come into laying maturity until from 175 to 200 days of age, and there will be still others which are decidedly late maturing.

In preparation for such a basis of selection, every hatch of chicks should be marked in such a manner that the date of hatch for every pulch will always be known. One hatch for example might be marked with an outside toe-mark; another hatch with an inside toe-mark; and later hatches with other identifying toe-marks.

Keep Turkeys Away From Chickens, Specialist Says

Blackhead is one of the most serious ailments affecting turkeys, and one of the most common means for spread of this parasite is through chickens. Hence, larger turkey farms are advised to make it a practice to keep the two kinds of fowl always separated, so that they cannot be on the same ground.

The name is a misnomer, C. M. Ferguson, state poultry specialist, says, as it has nothing to do with the head. It is evident in the bird by spots on the liver and by inflammation of the bile ducts which causes heavy stool when it starts a hack, and as yet no known cure has been announced.

Isolation is the best preventive, along with isolation from chickens. The same organism is found in chickens, but seldom causes trouble in them. The "Billings" method developed in Montana, is young turkeys to be raised in a separate pen, consisting in raising the young turkeys on fresh ground, and again fencing off a space on one side of the pen. After two months the birds are past the danger period, and then yards are rotated every month. Olo Farmer.

Color of Poultry Skin

A desire in market poultry once again is in color. The color of the feet is the best preventive, along with isolation from chickens. The same organism is found in chickens, but seldom causes trouble in them. The "Billings" method developed in Montana, is young turkeys to be raised in a separate pen, consisting in raising the young turkeys on fresh ground, and again fencing off a space on one side of the pen. Scots Grey and Dumple

Scots Grey and Dumple poultry which may rightly be termed national and both, as might be guessed, by anyone understanding the practical Scotch, are hardy and useful. One is the Scots Grey and the other is the Dumple. The Scots Grey is a short-legged as to give them the appearance of being heavy. The Dumple is a long-legged breed is evidenced by the fact that the Scots Grey Specialty club, which was formed in Scotland, has traced it back for more than 150 years. Throughout the years the Scots Grey has been a favorite for laying and table qualities combined with the hardiness necessary for their native climate.

Cure for Scaly Leg

Scaly leg can be overcome by the use of any disinfectant used on the feet. However, as the legs are the most important part of the poultryman's investment, it is well to use a special remedy. A coal oil solution will rid the birds of scaly leg, but the birds' legs will be more than likely to be the coal oil. Do not leave it for any length of time as the coal oil will be more than likely to be the coal oil. Do not leave it for any length of time as the coal oil will be more than likely to be the coal oil.

HERM WEAKE CONFERENCE SUNDAY, WELLSVILLE WARD

(Continued from Page One) while each day. We must avoid getting into bad thoughts and we can do this by coming to our churches on the Sabbath day as the Lord has commanded us. He has said if we walk in his way we shall have eternal life. We can only take the sum of our thoughts with us. The closing song was "The Holy City" by Parley C. Hall, and the choir.

An organ prelude opened the afternoon service and the choir sang congregational songs "Praise to the Mother" and "Prayers" by Elder Chas. Anderson of Millville and Elder Leonard Larsen of Hyrum. The choir sang the anthem, "Bless O Ye Heavens". The sustaining of all general and stake officers was read by Shaka Clark B. M. Dunn.

President John G. Israelson spoke of his visit to the home of his parents in far off Norway and told of the conference and many souls in foreign lands. Said we have many blessings here we do not appreciate and have many opportunities we do not take. Felt this was truly a marvelous work and a wonder.

Solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple" by Kenneth Murray. President John C. Brencchley said we must not be satisfied with the thoughts of yesterday nor the work of today, but must keep thinking new thoughts and not be idle in quilting and laying down on the job we have, but must go on now more so than ever.

Brother H. W. Smith, Seminary teacher at South Cache, talked along the thoughts of "Man is that He Might Have Joy" and bore strong testimony.

Brother Towler said he came to take to take back to his state which is the newest state in the church. Spoke on the worth of our bodies and what they should mean to us. We had the opportunity to come to earth and partake of a body of flesh and bone, that we might go on to progression. If we were to come to eternal progression. Said if we want to have real joy out of life we must serve our fellowmen.

Elder Smith said our bodies are the only worth while things we have and that we had better take care of them, so we will have a good one to claim when we are resurrected. Spoke of this wonderful valley, not only for its schools and where we get all the necessities of life. God said he would bless those who keep his commandments and Elder Smith said we were surely blessed. Said we have blessings and opportunities here they never have in the old country and compared conditions here and here. Felt we must be thankful for this gospel and let our homes be an abiding place for prayer and thanksgiving.

Closing remarks were by Pres. Johnson who felt that we must always be alert and alive and serve the Lord now as never before. The choir sang, "In Our Redeemer's Name" with Kenneth Murray, Parley Hall and Ray Lehmann singing the trio. President John C. Brencchley presided at the evening meeting which began at 7:30. President Johnson presided at the 8:00. The O. Singing, "We Thank Thee O God for a Prophet," prayers were by Otha Seale of Henderson and Elder Brencchley of Hyrum. "On the Wings of Song" by the singing ward with Mrs. Anderson as accompanist. By Mr. Johnson I will show my Allegiance to the church," was reported by Elder Seale. A Man of Hyrum Second ward, story, "Brook Bridge" by Elder Seale of Henderson. Devotional words were made by Shaka Broock, Emma Nielsen to Hyrum. Hymns, "Mend My Way" and "Blessed Assurance" by

Treasures Of the Heart

These treasures, heavy created silver from the old estate carved table brought across the plains in forty-eight. An old gold watch that winds with a funny little key. All these things hold memories and are treasures to me. To my treasures I have added a simple little picture. It is not a vase or book, or yet a wedding ring; but just a picture taken from a magazine. A picture of some one whom I have never seen. The picture, a lovely young bride. The gown, simple and white, lace and flowers. Perhaps hills of the valley, to bring happy hours. The face so sweetly earnest, with hair rolled high. To love her greatly one would not need to try. Memories of loved ones, perhaps a single kiss. They are treasures of the heart and pictures such as this.

Jim Londos Wrestling Champion

Madison Square Garden Bowl, New York—Jim Londos of Argos, Greece, retained the heavyweight wrestling championship last night by pinning Jim Browning of Verona, N. J., with a back flip and a body slam in 1 hour, 10 minutes and 10 seconds of time. The match was held at the Madison Square Garden on June 25, 1934.

The sliding came in orthodox fashion, with Browning pinning the Greek in a series of leg splits, body scissors and straitjackets, which, only to be seized suddenly and hurled down onto the top of his head. He was dazed and staggered around the ring looking for help from the side, finally caught him in the back flip and slam, and then pressed his shoulders to the mat with a double arm hold.

The crowd numbered about 20,000 and paid gate receipts of about $40,000. Browning, recognized here as champion, beat Stranger Ed Lewis for the title two years ago. run First ward; girls chorus, "Sweet Forget-Me-Not," Mendon ward; report of June Conference was made by Levi J. Anderson and Pres. Mrs. J. D. Baker of the stake boards. President Towler and Elder Smith both gave encouraging reports and messages to the M.L.A. The closing song was "O Ye Mountains High" by W. H. Turry was in charge of the music with Roy Darkey at the organ.

Elder Smith said our bodies are the only worth while things we have and that we had better take care of them, so we will have a good one to claim when we are resurrected. ### Funeral Held At Wellsville for Mrs. Hoskins

Wellsville.—Funeral services for Mrs. Charlotte Hoskins, who passed away at the home of her son, W. H. Hoskins at Ogden on Sunday evening, were held in the Wellsville ward tabernacle, with Bishop Evan H. Bankhead of the Wellsville Second ward in charge. The flowers were beautiful and were carried by fourteen granddaughters with Miss Helen and Miss Ada Murray in charge. The pallbearers were Raymond Rowberry, Leslie Rowberry and Leland Rowberry of Salt Lake. Miss Larsen Ogden; Levon Darkey, Rupert, Idaho and Chenn Paugreen of Tremonton. Grandsons of Mrs. Hoskins, the music was by the two ward choirs with Miss Gladys Hill in charge, assisted by Mrs. Anona Maughan at the organ.

The services began by the choir singing "Come Unto Me"; prayers were by Wm. H. Maughan and Henry J. Parkey. These speaking words of comfort and consolation to the family were Bishop John R. Kerr, John Wyatt, Joseph Salisbury, Salt Lake; Bishop John J. Hendy, George J. Williams, Logan and Bishop Bankhead.

Special musical numbers rendered were: solo and chorus, "What Voice Sings the Start and End"; solo, "Invocation"; Paul Cragun of Ogden; duet, "Dramatic of Mother"; Parley Hall and Kenneth Murray; solo, "Sweet be thy Sleep"; Mrs. Russell Puffer of Ogden and solo and chorus, "Oh My Father"; Henry Darkey and choir. A large cortege of automobiles followed to the city cemetery where graves were dedicated by Bishop Evan H. Bankhead.

Out of town relatives attending the services were Bishop John Arthur Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hoskins and daughter of Rexburg, Mr. and Mrs. Levon Darkey of Rupert, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Myron Rowberry and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Salisbury, Joshua Salisbury, Mrs. Carrie Burchman and James J. How to Please the Burglar

While everyone else is on vacation, the burglar has his busiest season. L. A. Sawyer, burglary expert of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, says there are certain signs that always gladden his heart. He likes to see an accumulation of milk bottles and newspapers at doors, and always is pleased to note that mail boxes are full of running over with letters and circulars.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

The taxpayer will find a certain amount of encouragement in recent treasury figures concerning emergency expenditures for the eleven months ending May 31. After subtracting public debt retirements, was $3,387,466,000. Roosevelt's estimate of the deficit, made only two months ago, was $7,300,000,000—more than twice the present deficit which will only a month of this fiscal year left to go.

New Courses When Building Is Completed

New courses in cafeteria and lunch room management will be offered in the school of home economics during the coming year at the Utah State Agricultural college immediately following the completion of the new building. The courses for which contracts have recently been awarded are: Food and nutrition, which is widespread and is constantly increasing according to the demand created by the school of home economics. Part of this demand comes from high school courses which are serving all of which institutions are serving at least one meal a day to the attending students. The courses to be taught at the school of home economics are: The completion of the new building will give the school of home economics a completely equipped laboratory for teaching of food and nutrition. The school facilities has prevented the introduction of this necessary work in previous years. The introduction will assure the fact that every teacher and student of the school will be fully prepared to conduct the course. It is probable that the work will be extended to preparation for professional work.

The cafeteria and the lunch room building, practically all the lecture rooms and laboratories of which will be devoted to the teaching of various phases of home economics.

Modern ELECTRIC COOKING is Certain and SIMPLE

Certainty and simplicity are necessary to make cooking what it really should be. Electric Cooking gives you both of these advantages beyond comparison with any other method.

No more unhappy experiences with boiling failures. No more embarrassment and loss of time and effort. With the accurate temperature control on your Electric Range you are always sure of good results.

Electric Cooking is simple because it requires less time in the kitchen, requires no pot-lifting, no soot and soot-baking, no testing of cakes with broomsticks, no soaking and parboiling of food. Experience has taught us that Electric Cooking is certain and simple. Ask any housewife who cooks electrically.

Franklin, Idaho—George Gamble, 71, pioneer farmer of Franklin, died at his home Thursday of heart trouble following a stroke. Mr. Gamble was born in England, March 29, 1863, coming to this country a small boy. He was married here in 1888 and his entire married life was spent here, with the exception of nine years at Pocatello.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Alice Gamble; eight sons and daughter, Walt Gamble and Mrs. Alton Sheaffer, Butte, Mont.; Frank J. J. William and Verne Gamble, Preston; H. S. Gamble, Franklin; Mrs. Irene Gamble, Preston; Mrs. Ruth Nuffer, Dayton; a brother, William Gamble, Swan Lake.

Parasite Control Outlined

Since mites and lice multiply rapidly during the dry, hot weather of the summer or before they start laying. This is commonly called vaccination. The most desirable age to inoculate is when the pullets are about twelve weeks old. At this age the loss is very slight unless the birds are internally handicapped by internal or external parasites. Mr. Frischman says.

Display Their Fish—

Trygg Sheffield and Noble Ralph have returned from the Madison river and brought back with them "mother's wash tub" full of fish. These fish were displayed at the Piggy-Wigly and created a lot of interest among those who know little if anything about the art of catching fish.

Utah Elevated—

Howard McDonald, a graduate of the Utah State Agricultural college in the class of 1921 and a former instructor in mathematics at the college, has been named director of personnel for the entire San Francisco school system according to a recent issue of the San Francisco Public School Bulletin. Mr. McDonald will assume his new duties immediately and will relinquish his former position as vice-principal of "Palooza" High School in San Francisco.

Band Excursionists—

Those who are going on the band excursion to Ogden and Salt Lake City Sunday should report at the Logan Chamber of Commerce promptly at 8:30 a.m. This is very necessary as it will take one half hour to load all the cars and get lined up and prepared to move at 9 a.m. Any who have means of transportation are invited to join the caravan. The committee still needs cars to help take some of the band members. Those who can take one or more should notify the Chamber of Commerce.

Entering Coast Races—

George O. Smith of Egan expects to attend the California state fair at Sacramento, California which has been announced from September 1 to 10th inclusive. Mr. Smith has entered his two race horses, Wood Hood and Bell Boy, in the races that will be run during those dates. These horses have in the past thrilled many a lover of fast stepping horses. They were successful two years ago at the Panama tracks in taking first and second in one of the fastest races ever staged there.

Make Good Catch—

Adrian Smith, Carl Felix and Hubert are back from a day's light fishing outing to Madison river. They returned with about 60 pounds of fish.

Spencer Tracy Stars in Exciting Picture, Capitol

"Now 11! Tell by Mrs. Arnold Rothstein," starring Spencer Tracy, opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday and proved to be a tense, exciting and dramatic 87 minutes of entertainment. Tracy does a masterful portrayal of the sportsman who is the main character in the drama. "Alice Payne," as the "other woman" and Helen Twilvetros as the wife are both splendid.

The picture skillfully reveals the romance, drama, comedy night life and sporting events of New York City during the exciting years from 1910 to 1922.

Observes Birthday—

George Pister, veteran harness maker, commemorated his 75th birthday anniversary Thursday. He is enjoying good health and says he expects to be at his shop for many years to come. A number of friends called upon him at his place of business and extended hearty congratulations.

Most All The Apricots Have Been Shipped

Brigham City — The major portion of the apricots have been picked and shipped to the markets. Seventeen cars were loaded at the Anderson Produce company warehouse and two at the Brigham City Fruit and Cooperative warehouse on West First street. These brought the producers a little better than two cents per pound.

Down at the Knudson warehouse by the railroad station many less car lot shipments have been made to Idaho, Montana and Wyoming points. First, strawberries, sweet cherries, raspberries and now dewberries, blackberries and Red Bird cling peaches are coming on.

Over 41,000,000 of Japan's 65,000,000 population have deposits in that country's postal savings banks. Less than half of the 138,000,000 people in this country are church members.

LOGAN AND CACHE COUNTY OWE $1,222,000 BONDS

Why? She says it's too much and wants it reduced and is going to wait until it is reduced. High finance. What would happen if we asked for a "conference" with our bondholders, requesting a reduction in interest rates. Would they be here? Surely. Then what? Well, we would tell them about the four years depression of which they might not have heard, of the condition of our farmers who are down and out who pay a goodly part of the taxes; of building owners whose rents have been cut everlastingly, disregarding leases and contracts, of 30% unpaid taxes, and the hundreds of Home Owners' loans to save the homes.

PURPOSE OF THIS ARTICLE

Some may ask, "Why this article?", and my answer is merely to create a sentiment among those who pay the bill, that the taxing units may get busy, real busy, and make demands, backed by a real determination to secure interest reduction and such a request will be listened to.

Light for the Bedroom

By Helen G. Toland

Good lighting in the bedroom is an invaluable aid in "getting the effect of a look." Good lighting accessories in the bedroom drawers, and inside shade tables.

ONE by one, science is smashing the life's 1001 illusions. The latest to go is the chubby little lamp with the highly colored shade that used to hold sway in the mid-lady's chamber. Science has pushed it off the bedside table once and for all, by declaring that the human eye requires quite as much light to read in bed, as it does to read any place else.

Purpose of "Boudoir" Lamps

The ten units of light which normally are used as a minimum for comfortable reading cannot be supplied by anything less than a 60-watt lamp bulb, and the so-called "boudoir lamp" usually boasted only a 25-watt. A comfortable reading posture implies a wide circle of useful light, which can be obtained only by a lamp with a reasonably tall base and broad shade. The boudoir lamp had neither. So since it provided too reading light, it was discarded, and thrown "that little" in the right place, it has been relegated to a decorative role in the home, and a new lamp has come to take its place on the bedside tables of the land.

Although the new lamp is really of some use, it is quite as attractive as the boudoir lamp. In general it is characterized by a tall base, but slender so that it does not appear bulky with items such as bedside table. The height of the base makes a broader shade suitable. This combination insures a wide circle of useful light on the book of the reader-in-bed, who can now enjoy a comfortable reading posture and no longer needs to be a contortionist.

Neither is there any further need of insisting, for the new lamp, being larger, carries a lamp bulb of the 60-watt size, equal to the task of providing enough light for normal eyes.

For use between twin beds, the lamp with two arms, two bulbs, two shades is proving very popular. Since it enables two to read comfortably as well as simultaneously, the convenient height of the junior floorlamp, its broad shade and three sockets combine to make it admirably suited to bedside service too.

Although these lamps are primarily practical, doing a real lighting job, they are in tune with the most frivolous bedrooms. The shades are tinted to carry out the color scheme of the room, quite as effectively as the highly colored shades on the old boudoir lamp. Deep color is not good for lamp shades, since it distorts the real color scheme of the room, and needs much of the light that our eyes really require.

Avoid High-Colored Shades

Again at the dressing table, shades of high color have been discarded, and in their place we find palely tinted or white shades. Twin lamp tall enough to bring the lamp bulb at the face height of the person before the mirror, shaded in pale parchment, enable madams to see herself "as others see her," which any woman knows is a decided advantage.

Yet bedroom the ceiling fixture comes into its own. In no other room in the house is there so much need of general illumination — to "get the effect of a frock, to find the right accessories in bureau drawers and to aid in the location of elusive collar buttons. But even in the bedroom a bare bulb must be kept from view. The ceiling fixture must have shades, either small individual ones of glass or parchment, or a larger globe that shields the eye fixture from view.

WAGLE FOREST OFFERS ATTRACTIVE FACILITIES TO CANYON ENTHUSIASTS

By F. A. LEBERT, Forest Ranger

"That the canyon in northern Utah are popular recreation areas to all classes of people goes without contradiction. The last few years have been marked by a phenomenal increase in the number of persons seeking recreation in the forest. The use has increased so rapidly that development of facilities for properly handling large numbers on camp ground areas have been unable to keep pace and we find present unused camp and picnic areas, overworked to the danger point."

"To allow to many people on small areas causes a rapid deterioration of the area which becomes less and less attractive due to the fact that unregulated use gradually kills out existing vegetation. The forest service had initiated a camp ground development program prior to 1913 to provide for the increasing use on the Cache National Forest. Limited by available funds, this program was given a welcome impetus through the organization of the CCC last year, making it possible to develop more areas than would have been possible under the regular program during the 1913 and 1924.

In this improvement work each camp ground area is studied and a plan is made for development of the area in such a way to give the maximum service and enjoyment possible without over-loading the area which always causes damage. The plan contemplates use at present and for future generations. Leisure time and good roads have increased forest visitors so rapidly, especially in Logan canyon, that even with the help of the CCC improvement crews, it has been impossible to keep ahead of the crowd and many of our fine camping areas have started to show the effects of improper use. It is expected that this crowded condition will be corrected by late summer. The public can help the situation by carefully observing camp ground rules respecting rights of others and leaving things and the camp in good condition.

In the development of the camp grounds many conveniences have been provided. Changes have been equipped with stoves for cooking, hot-water pits for those who want to open fire. Tables, benches, and on several camps, hydrants, and drinking fountains. In return for these conveniences it is only fair to ask the public to do a little housework—in cases where this

Camp grounds on the Cache National Forest being developed for the use of everybody. Your cooperation will be necessary to make the sayings and future generations to do any act detrimental to the conservancy of our recreation areas. ## ANNA STEN BRINGS NEW FACE AND FRESH TALENT TO FILMS

A new face and a talent that is fresh to the American screen is the promise Anna Sten brings to the Lyric Theatre in "Kiss". Miss Sten, the young Russian star, who came out of Moscow a few years ago was the first actress to be trained exclusively in Soviet stage and screen institutions. She made several pictures in her native land. "The Brothers Karamazov" won her world acclaim. The Russian actress brought her to Hollywood and put her through eighteen months of training and tests while he prepared story and production for her American debut.

Willard Mack and Harry West staff Grubbe made a fine adaptation of the immortal Emile Zola novel, which traces the rise and fall of modern literature's most colorful courtship, with the crowded, noisy boulevards and the gay music halls of Paris of 1870 as the setting.

McClellan gave Miss Sten the company of a group of distinguished players, among them Lionel Atwill, Richard Bennett, Mae Clarke, Phillips Holmes and Muriel Kirkland. The music hall sequences of the picture entail the use of lavish song and dance numbers, including an authentic recreation of the can-can, the dance with which Paris abounded the contemporary Puritan, and a hauntingly plaintive lament, "That's Love," was written especially for Miss Sten by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart. Dorothy Arzner directed the picture for United Artists release.

Civil Service Examinations

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows: Junior patent examiner, $2,000 a year. Patent Office, Washington, D.C. Graduation from acceptable four-year college course, with major in engineering, required, except that senior students admitted.

Senior forest code examiner (forestry) $4,000 to $5,100 a year. Forest Service. College degree in forestry and certain specified experience required.

The salaries named above are subject to a deduction of not to exceed 4 percent during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, as a measure of economy, and also to a deduction of 2 1/2 percent toward a retirement annuity.

All States except Iowa, Vermont, Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia have received less than their quota of appointments in the apportioned departmental service in Washington, D. C.

Full information may be obtained from Albert O. Anderson, Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office in this city.

D. S. Spencer Succumbs At Ripe Old Age

(Salt Lake City)—Daniel S. Spencer, retired passenger agent of the Union Pacific system and dean of the system's employes from the standpoint of years of service, died Tuesday at 4:45 p.m. in a local hospital.

The veteran railroader had been in ill health for several months, but the immediate cause of death was cerebral thrombosis. The dean of all the Union Pacific systems—for he served the railroad for 50 years—was more than a railroad man—he was one of Utah's leading citizens.

He passed his 77th milestone on June 12, just two weeks ago Tuesday. And it was on June 28, 1933, that the Union Pacific system announced that the veteran railroader was to be retired from active duty.

In the order retiring Mr. Spencer, the railroad paid high tribute to the veteran Utahn. Funeral services are being conducted today in the L.D.B. assembly hall on the temple grounds. Interment will take place in the City cemetery.

A resolution on the death of Mr. Spencer, adopted at a special meeting of the chamber of commerce board of governors Wednesday.

In the passing of Daniel S. Spencer, the state of Utah and Salt Lake loses a citizen of outstanding value, a man who has contributed his entire life to the building of this community and the development of its resources.

"The life work of Daniel S. Spencer, through the development of the parks in the state of Utah, will leave to the benefit of his generations to come.

"The warmth of his friendships, together with his activities in business and civic affairs, won for him the loyal friendship of all who knew him.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the board of governors of the chamber of commerce and Commercial club of Salt Lake City, express through this resolution its appreciation of the work so wonderfully done by Daniel S. Spencer and that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the chamber of commerce and a copy sent to the bereaved family."

The development of its resources. "The life work of Daniel S. Spencer, through the development of the parks in the state of Utah, will leave to the benefit of his generations to come.
