President Roosevelt Endorses 30th Christmas Seal Sale

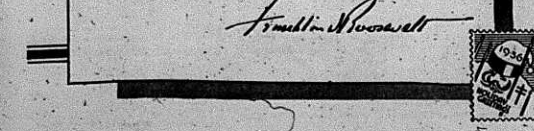

Below is a facsimile of a statement issued by Franklin Delano Roosevelt urging the people of the country to do their part in supporting the nationwide campaign to raise funds for the control of tuberculosis.

Thinking Day of this year marks an important milestone in our country's conquest of an age old scourge. On that day will be launched throughout the country the thirtieth Christmas Seal sale of the National Tuberculosis Association and the 2000 affiliated state and local associations.

It is tremendously encouraging to know that tuberculosis is no longer the leading cause of death and that the agent is no longer so intimidating with realization. However, the fine progress that has been made should not be permitted to arouse a false sense of security on the contrary there is a need for continued and intensified activity.

On the eve of the thirtieth Christmas Seal sale I urge all to do their part in supporting the nationwide campaign. It is the duty of each local community to raise funds for its own protection against this enemy of home and health.

The Living Truth

WE DO not need to defend the truth. Truth is its own defense. Not many years ago merchants and bankers, when they left their places of business, turned off the lights and put up great heavy shutters. Today they pull aside the blinds and turn on a strong light. The greatest protection the truth of God can have is to expose it so that everyone may see what it does. Let us give up trying to guard our faith. It is better far to live it.

Run away from work and you will find that work can run.

YOUNG TURKEY HEN
BEST FOR BREEDER

Birds Under Two Years Are Most Desirable.

By J. C. Taylor, Associate Extension Veterinarian, New Jersey State College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts, Newark, N. J.

Recent turkey breeding studies conducted by University of California poultrymen indicate that it is not desirable to use turkey hens of more than two years of age as breeders.

This six-year study on the age of turkey breeders and the resulting progeny showed that average egg production decreased from 76.6 eggs the first year to 49.5 eggs the second year. Production the third and fourth years was 44 eggs, while only 27.6 eggs were produced the fifth year.

Although production decreased with the age of the turkeys, it was found that the fertility of eggs did not change significantly with age. Hatchability of eggs decreased after the second year.

The eggs laid in the second year were larger than those produced the first year. Production of eggs was larger at hatching time, but there was little difference in weight of chicks at 8 weeks of age. Mortality was a trifle higher among the progeny of the year-old hens among those of the two-year-old hens.

Wild Turkeys Nuisance

According to Accounts
Account books of 100 years ago show that wild turkeys were very small. The average weight of those sold in Boston was seven to eight pounds, according to a writer in the Boston Herald.

There was, as told in Bentley's diary, a farmer and inhabitant named William Inwood, at Nahant, early in the Nineteenth century, who had domesticated wild turkeys which when dressed weighed 14 to 18 pounds each.

Other settlers from New England in 1800 and for several years after found the wild turkeys a nuisance. It is recorded that at the first seeding of wheat the wild turkeys were so bold that some sowers, to get to seed and drive them from the neighborhood. One man trapped about two dozen in the cornfield by strewing shelled corn about it and leaving the door open.

Poultry House Insulation

To insure against heavy losses from cold and to reduce the cost for heat this winter, poultry men should insulate their poultry and brooder houses against the winter weather, says the Indiana Farmer's Guide. Wood shavings or ground corn cobs properly treated may be used effectively as a filler between the walls and ceilings of the houses to provide cheap protection from cold temperatures. When the material is treated with lime in the proportion of 2 pounds to 100 pounds of insulation material, the material becomes unattractive to rodents and insects, and because of this, little trouble is experienced from such pests.

Molting and Production

The length of time a bird is out of production can be estimated by the molting of the primary or large wing feathers, according to a writer in the Indiana Farmer's Guide. It requires about six weeks to completely renew the primary feathers. The molt of the feather in the center of wing between primaries and secondaries, feather. The remaining primaries are dropped a group, about two weeks apart and grow in at the same rate. Occasionally a few of the several primaries at one time, which in estimating length of time out of production should be treated as a single primary.

Poultry Gleanings

Improper temperature causes deterioration in egg quality. The chief cause of leg weakness in young birds is said to be overfeeding. Plan to keep the pullet laying flocks closely housed during the winter season. The difference in the color of the yolk of chicken eggs is controlled largely by the feed. During the past few years a big improvement in quality of eggs has been noted in the Northeast.

Production and health of hens can be maintained in the poultry house without any special ventilation, except for fresh air through the heat generated by the birds.

Bob Davis Reveals His Tales from Vancouver Island; The Dueling Pistol!

DURING the early 1840s, in the city of Dublin, Daniel O'Connell, distinguished among the Irish liberators, made a public speech denouncing the Dublin corporation, violently anti-Catholic, as a "big game" group, organized for the destruction of Irish ideals in Erin's struggle for independence.

Although the broadside, in comparison with O'Connell's usual explosions, was regarded as somewhat mild, one of O'Connell's members of the Dublin corporation, challenged the liberator to meet him on the field of honor. So definite and provocative was the challenge that O'Connell had no option other than to accept, pistols being the weapons.

The meeting took place in Phoenix park with the result that O'Connell was the victor. O'Connell, desiring only with his antagonist, had deliberately fired his bullet through the air, and O'Connell, desiring only with his antagonist, had deliberately fired his bullet through the air, and O'Connell, desiring only with his antagonist, had deliberately fired his bullet through the air.

Some years later, O'Connell, bearing that Mrs. D'Este, was involved in a lawsuit, threw up two lucrative briefs, went down to Cork, pleaded his suit and won, for which he took no reward.

In after years, whenever he passed the house of D'Este, he was observed to lift his hat, while his lips moved as if in prayer. The liberator, whose declining years were fringed with pain and illness, died, 1847, in Genoa, Italy, while on his way to the Vatican. His will bequeathed his body to the church and his heart to the Eternal city. The former is enshrined in the Cemetery of Gianicolo outside the wall, the latter in a crypt near the tomb of Lascaris, in the Church of St. Agathe, Rome.

After a lapse of more than a century it would seem that the O'Connell D'Este affair had been entirely forgotten, but it has not been so. In the late 19th century, it has been said by the arrival in Victoria, B. C., shortly before the World War of a Major Wheeler, Pisatoir Fort Oresera.

While in Victoria Major Wheeler met James G. Yates, from whom he had received a sum of money because of reverses he could not return. For the debt Mr. Yates accepted a payment of $100,000 in muzzle-loading dueling pistols with the necessary accessories. 111 cartridges were packed in an oak case bearing on a small silver plaque the name "Alex Cockburn, Esq."

In 1914 Yates, with his family, moved from Victoria to Comox, on the eastern shore of Vancouver Island, where he found him and named the place after the starting sequel to 1206, which he had inherited from his father, who had died in 1212.

The Man Who O-O
Tales and Traditions from American Political History

DEMONSTRATIONS
CONVENTION "demonstrations" show among exhibitors of hysterical enthusiasm, usually manufactured rather than spontaneous—had their origin in the public convention of 1860 in Chicago.

The two leading candidates were William H. Seward of New York and Abraham Lincoln of Illinois. The New York delegation brought along a prize fighter named Tom Hyer and a band which marched about the streets playing martial music.

To match these noise-makers, supporters of "Old Abe" hired a Chicagoan "whose about would be heard above the most violent" trumpet on Lake Michigan and a leather-lunged Dr. Ames, who, though a Democrat, was connected to whom it lay for Lincoln. But the real "blow-off" came when Lincoln was nominated at the fourth ballot.

An eye-witness has described the scene as follows: "The immense throng of men, and gave round after round of applause; ten thousand voices swelled over the quick sections of the platform, every attempt to restore order was hopelessly vain." "The man who O-O" was a great success in bringing a large painting of Mr. Lincoln. The canon sent forth roar after roar the quick sections of the platform, every attempt to restore order was hopelessly vain.

KEYNOTES
HOW many of us recall the keynote speech of Senator Kiewit at the Republican national convention in Cleveland this year? Or that of Senator Barkley at the Philadelphia gathering in the Democratic convention of 1918 and later events made packed in an oak case bearing on a small silver plaque the name "Alex Cockburn, Esq."

Setting upon the then catchy phrase, which set convention delegates on their ears, the Democratic national committee made the race on the slogan of "He kept it out of war." It latterly listed to re-elect Wilson, for two months after beginning his second term the United States was in the war.

Success of a keynote in this particular instance was made most rapidly by the "Ten Cent Party" tactics of the rival party. They didn't want to discuss the war, but they were talking about nothing else.

Terminal of Gota Canal
Gothenburg is one of the terminals of the Gota canal, which winds over 340 miles through the heart of Sweden, sometimes following lakes, sometimes rivers, some times a canal so narrow that trees at the sides of the banks brush the small steamers on the water. All in all 98 miles of canal supplement the natural waterway. These various lakes were completed more than 300 years after the project was first conceived and undertaken.

Earned "Social Security"

It would seem that "social security" is destined to be a political issue for a long time to come. Within the parties there is considerable internal dissension as to what is the proper program to pursue.

In the meantime, millions of American citizens are quietly and effectively achieving social security for themselves without benefit of government.

They are setting up trust funds and savings accounts. They are buying life insurance in unprecedented amounts—and more and more of the insurance sold is of the annuity type which provides old-age income as well as protection for dependents.

This is not an argument against government social security, which is believed to be a compelling need of the time. It is, however, a tribute to that old type of American independence which guards against the future through individual thrift, foresight and good hard work.

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL
by MAX BERNS
Whims of the Moment

Barney Glasgow, once a shabby, poorly-dressed fellow, now, with his hair combed and wearing a suit, is the most powerful member of the legislature. At fifty Barney became desperately fond of his wife, Louise, who was the daughter of his old friend, Simon Zivke. Barney's daughter, who is now with a mild husband and Richard, his son, is on the verge of getting out of his father's way but falls in love with her himself. Owners of this story are

Chapter Six

Barney and the daughter had come to the house at the time, hoping to find Emmy Louise still awake. But she had fallen asleep. Barney, however, to his mind decided to tell her about her father. As he expected, she took it badly.

"Always you go to sleep first, and not when two people really love each other," said Louise, who was not her usual self. "I'm not here to tell her about it. I'm here to tell her about it."

Why does Congress consist of two branches? The Continental Congress had only one branch and proved unmanageable. Therefore, our Constitution provides for a Senate as well as a House.

The Federalist, famous authority on our Constitution, says: "The necessity of a Senate is not less indicated by the propensity of all single and numerous (large) assemblies to yield to the impulse of sudden and violent passion, and to be seduced by factious leaders into intemperate and pernicious resolutions. Examples on this subject might be cited without number; and from proceedings within the United States, as well as from the history of other nations. A body which is to correct the errors of the House, and to be less susceptible of the passions of the moment, and consequently ought to hold its authority by a secure term of office of considerable duration."

MENDON

Mrs. Green Smith was hostess to a lovely arranged dinner Sunday. Covers were laid for Mrs. T. P. South of Logan, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lindstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Orilla Bird with her daughter home after spending past three weeks at Orem with her daughter Mrs. M. Jensen and Mrs. Sadie Hansen.

LOCALS

Postmaster Here—
Jordan High school defeated the Boys at the University Utah stadium on Saturday by the score of 13 to 7 to annex the state high school football championship.

With Cache Auto—
F. H. Lovitt who has been with the Lundberg Buick Company service department for the last two years, the new service manager at the Cache Auto Company.

Leaves Hospital—
Joseph N. Combs, prominent farmer of Orem, was brought to the hospital here on Friday where an infected ear was lanced. He recovered his trouble sufficiently by Monday that he was permitted to return home.

Remove Sales Tax—Effective November 25 by recommendation of Governor C. Ben Ross, the Idaho sales tax law was nullified. This means that in our neighborhood state there will be no sales tax on retail sales such as we have in Utah and many of the other states in the Union.

Move to Denver—
Mr. and Mrs. Archie K. Hill and daughter Chadley Ann left Thursday for Denver where Mr. Hill has been employed at Ogden for the past two years with the Bureau of Reclamation and now being transferred to Denver.

Mystery Comedy—
"Mark" a new act mystery comedy will be the first play to mark the twelfth season of Little Theatre productions at the college.
Prof. Chester J. Myers, managing director of dramatics, announced.
The play will be presented in the college auditorium on December 9, under the direction of Mrs.
Robert P. McLaughlin.

New Department Store—
According to street talk, Logan is to have a new department store.
From the same source we learn that the new store is to be located on First North street and is to be a three story structure, replacing a couple of the old buildings on the south side of the street.
The new store, if the information is correct, will be owned and operated by the nationally known firm of Sears Roebuck Company.

Do a Good Job—
The Millville water works is about completed according to Mayor Harry Hoodless, who was a business visitor in the county seat on Saturday. Mayor Hoodless has worked untiringly for the success of the water system and now boasts of having one of the most modern water systems in the entire state. There is ample water for all residents of that community who are connected with the new culinary water plant.

C. O. Stott, state director for the resettlement administration, left Sunday for San Francisco where he will confer with this Coast regional director, concerning budget matters for the Utah organization for the coming year. C. P. Burnham, formerly of the resettlement office here, but now administrative officer, came to the regional director, arrived Monday from regional headquarters to inspect the offices of the administration in the state.

Duck Season Closes—
The open season on ducks in Utah closed Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. The thirty day period alloted to hunters of this state by federal edict, ran to its close and the old shotgun gun has been put away for another year. There was some fairly good shooting in the Cache county area during the open season. The fact that the water is generally disturbed during the next eight seasons, means the ducks to migrate from this section but the hunters get getting by used to this treatment. Little or nothing is said any more.

Cardston Visitor—
Max A. Combs of Cardston, Canada, has been in Logan the week. He announced that the Golden Jubilee will be held at Cardston on June 28, 29, 30 and July 1. It is a 50 year since the settlement of that section of Canada by C. O. Card, one of the original pioneers. Practically all the early settlers were from Cache county. Rates will be arranged on the train and on bus lines. Mr. Combs hopes to have a Cache Valley band at the Jubilee. There are now about 90 families residing in Cache who have either lived in Cardston or who have relatives living there.

from Congressman C. Clark at Washington, D. C. that the application of Mink Creek for P. W.
A. funds for erecting a new school building has been granted. The sum allocated to this project is $15,300.

Has Community Interest—
The Utah Power and Light company will do its part in radiating Yuletide cheer again this holiday season by furnishing free electric current for festoon, stringer, and display lighting in commercial districts of all the communities it serves in Utah, Idaho and Wyo-mining. It was announced Monday by G. M. Gadsby, president.

Golden Wedding—
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Knight, of 601 East 5th North street, celebrated their golden wedding on Thanksgiving day with a holiday dinner. The six living sons and daughters were present at the dinner. They are George A. and W.

ALLEN HAD HEAVY WIN IN ELECTION

Logan City Board Member Re-elected — Pres. Fond to Retire from County Board.

That the citizens of Cache county sympathize with the citizens of Cove in their fight to retain their best possession, a community school, was evidenced by the large vote cast in the Cache County school district No. 4 on Wednesday when H. Allen, former county commissioner, and bishop of his ward, was elected to the school board.

Mr. Allen secured Pres. H. Ray Fond of Richmond whose term of office expires this year and who did not desire to be re-elected. Mr. Allen obtained 47 votes to 34 for Ira Fry of Lewiston.

John J. Hendry of Woburnville was re-elected to the board with a vote of 457 to 147 for Herman Theurer, his opponent.

Logan City, H. E. Olsen was re-elected to the city board by a vote of 315 as against 102 for Mrs. Blanche H. Allen.

FOOTBALL TO GIVE WAY TO BASKETBALL AT UTAH STATE IN THE FUTURE

Gridiron Champs to Receive Final Banquet in Salt Lake City Next Week — Hoop Squad May Take Trip to New York.

Football made its departure from the Utah State campus when the athletic council of the college definitely ruled out the proposal that the RMC gridiron champions should accept an invitation to participate in the annual Sun bowl game at El Paso, Texas on New Year's day. The Aggie football team is to play in the Southwestern Sun bowl game Monday evening, and after the gridiron voted to accept the athletic council's proposal.

Cache valley paid its final respects to Utah State's successful football season when a victory banquet was held in the Blue-Blue building under the sponsorship of the local chamber of commerce. Two hundred super-champions by their coach, E. Romney, and by representatives of the various groups in attendance.

A similar banquet, which will be sponsored by the chamber of commerce of Salt Lake City, will be held in Salt Lake Tuesday, December 8. After the festivities in Salt Lake the successful season of the undefeated Utah Farmers will end only in history.

Hoop Game

With the closing of the football season in Logan, basketball will take place next week, will receive quite responded to the opening of cup games in the college gymnasium. Eliminations which will take place next week will reduce the squad to less than half its present number.

The Utah Aggies are seeking their third Rocky Mountain conference basketball title. Whether this ambition will be realized or not remains to be seen. It may be.

PAID SIX YEAR PUBLIC WORKS INVENTORY

The Utah State Planning board, cooperating with the National Resources committee of Washington, D. C. is preparing an inventory of a possible six-year program of public works development for the state.

The work for the State of Utah is under the direction of Donald W. Petersen, director of the State Planning board.

The board is asking that all political subdivisions of the state cooperate in the development of this inventory. Thornton W. Peterson, secretary of the board said today.

Development of possible small irrigation reservoir projects is urged. It is intended that the inventory will include public developments of all descriptions, such as city water systems, sewerage systems, street, sidewalks and park improvements, recreational facilities, and scenic roads. Mr. Peterson said.

Representatives of the Planning board are contacting public officials of the state offering technical assistance in preparing lists of suggested developments.

Surveys That Save

Few people know that there is an organization, with headquarters in New York City, that sends its engineers to cities throughout America for the purpose of making surveys that save lives and property—and yet, does not make a charge for this service. This organization is the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Each one of the engineers sent out to a city is an acknowledged expert in that part of the survey in which he engages. These engineers inspect buildings, groups of buildings and whole blocks to ascertain the possibility of a sweeping fire, and are thus able to bring the "conflagration breeders" to the attention of the authorities. They inspect and test the fire apparatus in all stations and gauge the efficiency of the personnel of the firemen. Also, the supply and pressure of water are inspected and tested, as well as the number and availability of hydrants.

A completed survey gives an accurate picture of just how safe a city is from the menace of fire and a detailed report on the conditions found is made, along with definite recommendations for improvements. Written copies are placed in the hands of city officials. And when these recommendations are accepted and acted upon, the town becomes a safer place in which to live and work.

Thousands of cities have been visited by the engineers for these surveys—some of them several times—and it takes little imagination to visualize the number of lives that have been spared and the property that has escaped destruction by fire as a result.

Honor Thy Father and Thy Mother
 That Thy Days May be Long in the Land
 Which the Lord Thy God Giveth Thee
 Exodus 12-20

ALONE

Alone in his den on the eve of Thanksgiving
 At three score and ten and six years of living
 He is turning the leaves back to find if he can,
 A reason for being, one forgotten man
 The morrow in thousands of homes in the land
 In cottages humble, in Palaces Grand
 Will gather to feast, and thank God for giving
 The many good gifts, that make life worth living.

For freedom to worship the God of our Choice
 For music, for song, for hearts to rejoice
 He granteth his children these glad days of mirth
 Still turning the leaves a reason to find
 Why Joe and Elaine left their Daddy behind
 There's none as I see, says he to himself
 Why old folks like books, should be laid on the shelf.

All we are God's children, tho' aged and gray
 Delight in the pleasures of 'Thanksgiving' day
 He gave me the years and filled them with Joy
 Till Mother was taken, left me with the boy
 I do not complain, nor sorry my loss
 I picture the master, stretched out on the cross
 His beautiful hands, great nails driven through
 He cries, Father forgive, they know not what they do.

'Tis midnight and dark, he opens the door
 A flash, then a crash, mid the wild tempest roar
 Torrents of rain from the black, pouring down
 The river flows over and is flooding the town
 All thru the night, his rest torn asunder
 By the flashing of light, and the clapping of thunder
 There's a weird sound of gloom in the sob of the rain
 As he prays for the safety of Joe and Elaine.

The storm is now over, the sky is serene
 He opens the window to gaze on the scene
 The gray dawn is breaking, way out in the East
 They are kindling the fires preparing the feast
 Thru dim weary eyes, sees a raft in the lane
 They are bringing the bodies of Joe and Elaine
 He takes up the book and writes in the back
 The reason they left him alone in the shack.

Alone in his den at the dawn of Thanksgiving
 At three score and ten and six years of living
 He is turning the leaves of the good book once more
 As they tenderly carry them in thru the door
 Man's spirit, God's word, doth never grow old
 But the leaves and the cover, returns to the mold
 Then closing his book, he laid it away
 And entered his chamber to weep, and to pray

Honor the Old Folks that THY days may be long—
 The beginning, the burden, and the end of my song.

GEO. H. THOMAS, Los Angeles.

It was recreation time in the Dorset of Maine Gaelic, and most of the little girls were playing in the large room set aside for that purpose. A few were reading in corners and one group was talking very seriously over the day's work. One girl stood looking out of a window; suddenly her interest was roused by something she saw in the pale haze; several of the others joined her, with them the latter in charge.

"Below them a beautiful, and-eyed young woman stopped on her way to the convent to pray before the image of the Virgin Mary. Her hands were clasped in prayer and her sorrow in her eyes intruded into her face." "Who is she?" one of them asked. "Why, that's Doan's English!" "What's she ever here?" another asked. "She was like you — she couldn't go her ways correctly either."

"Doesn't look very happy?" a girl said, studying the face of the stranger. "She married," said another. "No, she isn't married," said the sister. "Is that why she isn't happy?" "No, my dear. You see she devoted all her life to looking after an invalid father whom she loved. "Why would that make her sad?" "She suffered greatly for years," she says, "everything for him—and a few months ago he died."

"The girls continued to discuss the matter until the sister saw them back to their work." Meanwhile the Mother Superior appeared of Doan's arrival, went into the room to meet her and she led her to the little cell that had once been her room. The woman admitted to her that she had not found happiness. Since her father's death she had traveled to Paris, Vienna, the Riviera—everywhere, but she had seemed to see nothing.

"Mother Joseph thought a moment. "Why not leave the cities you have found so lonely and try some thing different, like a convent?" "I can't go to the desert, for a time." "The desert, Mother? What will I find there? Like a child she looked up into Mother Joseph's face, wondering." "There in the solitude," the Mother Superior put her hand affectionately on Doan's hand. "There you will find peace. In the face of the infinite your grief will vanish."

"Doan's friend, Father Superior, advised her to travel to travel to Algeria, to the city of St. Mary, where she would find peace. ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Not even in the boom days was there such a surge of extra dividends, wage increases and employee bonuses as this season. Corporate industry is pouring out money to its stockholders and workers in unprecedented amounts.

danger spots.

However, it is the President's belief—which is shared by many—that if the nations of the Western Hemisphere show Europe that a round-table discussion of issues can lead to amicable settlements and agreements, some progress toward world peace will be made.

meanwhile, it seems that every seasoned news commentator and every old-time war correspondent is certain that war in Europe and Asia is inevitable—one of those leading correspondents recently stated, on departing for Europe, that he was going to cover the rest war.

The Italo-German recognition of the Spanish rebels has further widened the cleavage between these powers and France and Russia. The greatest force existing today in both Europe and Asia is the force of hatred.

The President's trip to Buenos Aires is thus in the nature of a gesture in a world which will never nearer to armed chaos. A matter of fact, in recent months there have been more occurrences contributory to war than there were in 1912 and 1913.

Everyone hopes that gesture will be productive of good. In the

Ingenious Nawab
About 30 years ago in Rajkot, India, the Nawab of Junagadh held a reception during which, for the first time, he never moved from his throne. The guests were suspicious, yet he constantly smiled at them and seemed to be enjoying himself. And he was. He was asleep. Having had too much opium before the reception, he had had his court artist paint a gay, nappy smile on his face so that he would be present and still take his much-needed nap. — Collier's Weekly.

THE sea, boys and girls, has produced some pretty tough customers. What I mean, Pop-eye the Sailor isn't entirely the figment of a cartoonist's imagination. He's more than half truth. The lads who spend their whole lives fighting the elements in the places where those elements are at their worst, develop sort of constitution that a dray horse would envy. Some of their feats of endurance are almost unbelievable.

The Struck a Submerged Ledger.
A few miles from Newfoundland the ship was caught in a heavy undersea current that began dragging the barren cliffs that marked the coast. The Tewkesbury was doing 11 knots an hour, in an effort to beat out to sea again, but the current was dragging it inshore at the rate of 20 knots an hour, and it was only a matter of arithmetic to figure out how long she'd stay afloat.

It was a hard job—and a dangerous one. It's no cinch to find off a heavy lifeboat in a sea, strong enough to dash a steamer against the rocks. But how dangerous, Jan had no idea in the beginning. He got a bit of it, though, when his partner caught his hand in a pulley and smashed it while trying to pull in a piece of slack rope. That left Jan to fend the boat off alone—a perilous, two-man job, in the hands of one man. IT WAS A BATTLE FOR LIFE. Not only Jan's life, but the lives of a dozen others as well.

Too Cold to Heed the Warning.
While some of the crew rowed and the others bailed for their lives, the two boats started out on a heart-breaking journey. For FOUR MORE HOURS they kept up the struggle. "And believe me," says Jan, "I thought we were going to die when we had been fighting the elements alone. Tremendous seas rapidly filled both boats and, due to the cliffs that stretched along the shore, the only place either of them could land was at Peters River, 15 miles away. Frozen though he was, Jan knew it would be a long time before he could chance a thaw out again.

What the Teeth Reveal.
Laps square extent led to the upper jaw, if parried, show a generous, sympathetic, temperamental, Jan, of course; close together, a more generous, methodical, sincere, business-like. Sharp canines teeth—vicious, sharp, unimpaired, nobility; long, half-witty, egotistical, inclined to be selfish; irregular-shaped—stolid, unimaginative, blood.

DIFFICULT DECISIONS
By CLUYAS WILLIAMS
WHEN I feel that I am in a difficult position, I usually find myself saying to myself, "I must do this or that." I usually find myself saying to myself, "I must do this or that." I usually find myself saying to myself, "I must do this or that."

HEARD IN THE HUFFLE:
Coach Jack Sutherland played in one of his last games last night. He has four years of varsity football at Pitt. ... Buzz Bivitt, the son of Edw. Bivitt, a former All-American halfback candidate, has a better than 500 passing average. ... Jack Manders, veteran Chicago Bear, has converted 14 out of 17 tries for a 70 percent touchdown during the past three seasons.

Coaches Realizing Grid Fundamentals Will Pay Dividends
RECENTLY it was noted here that the professors of football were becoming more and more inclined to devote themselves to enlightened exposition of the game's fundamental practices. Instead of advising the 22 he filled with forward passes they were making moderate and effective use of this weapon. In place of the lateral fripperies, and the more gaudy shifts they were advising some intelligent application of the punt and field goal.

Such evidence of progress after an overlong period of blatant conduct has led to some examination of the causes immediately preceding the return to sanity. I believe I can give the reasons for the trend. They are: 1. The increasing total of last period triumphs during the past five years. 2. The tremendous touchdowns scored standing up. Let us consider them in the order in which they are set down here.

Formerly the least pretentious colleges were so valiant that they fairly gibbered in their eagerness to be included in the trials. Yale, Bowdoin, and Amherst were among the first to appear. Top-heavy scores then were almost as frequent as torn muscles. So the period scores were comparatively unimpressive. Having torn their tank forward adversaries to shreds interested in his high school and seal, the major-leaguers ambled across the dazed and wounded with far less zest but just as pretty touchdowns scored during the final moments.

Now, though, the great universal truth is that the little fellows of most of their crumb. Columbia University, San Francisco, stadium almost before the last World Series. It is due to the fact that the last World Series. It is due to the fact that the last World Series. It is due to the fact that the last World Series.

WRESTLING AND BOXING ARE POPULAR

Capacity House Greeted Athletes Brought Here Through Efforts of Promoter Danford.

Cache valley and northern Utah were filled to near capacity at the Danford arena, Wednesday night, and were given two full hours of hair-raising and blood-thirsty entertainment by sportsmen who make wrestling their main source of income. These men—others know how to perform expertly several forms of athletic games. They can run, kick, punch, punch, hit, scow, pull, hair, moon, curl and, and even use their dramatic ability to put on a show that wrestling fans clamor for.

The fight card started off with a battle royal among five youngsters of Logan, who went four rounds, not being eliminated in the second, the others fought to a draw.

The next bout between Jack Christensen, Logan, and Floyd Hansen, Canada, was won by Hansen, with a body slam, after several minutes of good, aggressive wrestling on the part of both contestants.

The third bout between Abdul Kahn, Colorado, Logan, and Floyd Hansen, who substituted for Bill Powers, who was unable to be in Logan, went to the fifth round, ending in a draw. Both wrestlers displayed several variations to the flying mare, and others know, Kahn being the knot.

In the semi-wind-up Dick Hill, Elwood, California, and Floyd Hansen, Washington, went for fifteen and a half minutes, with Hill winning with a fall, using a hammerlock. Hill, who has a physique of a Greek gladiator, dominated the match from start to finish. Stone must have grown up outside of ropes because he hit for the open every time Hill made a go for him.

The last and final bout was by Sharnan, and Al Boyd, Salt Lake City boys, was a thriller, with Sharnan winning the first fall in 17 minutes, using a hammerlock. Boyd, who incidentally is a politician in Salt Lake, came back strong in the next period, and threw Sharnan with a scissor. In the deciding period, both boys took a turn at knocking the shoulders down to conform with the mat, but neither succeeded until Sharnan surprised Boyd and flipped him over his shoulder in a backward body slam that proved too much for Boyd. Sharnan won the deciding fall in 12 1/2 minutes.

All in all the evening's entertainment was highly appreciated by a capacity crowd, which is possible by Promoter Bert Danford, former pugilist boss of Cache valley. A word of praise and commendation should be given him for his efforts to bring such a group of athletes to Logan. The arena is fast growing in popularity as each Wednesday rolls

Marshall, Shirley Teamed as Father, and Daughter

The screen's best-known British actor and his youngest feminine star are brought together for the first time in RKO Radio's novel romantic comedy, "Make Way for a Lady"—Friday and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

Herbert Marshall and Anne Shirley are the favorites and are starred as a father-and-daughter team. Marshall, an outstanding figure on the London and New York stage, before by came into pictures, has played opposite nearly every outstanding feminine star of the films, among them Katharine Hepburn, with whom he recently starred in "Portrait of a Lady"; Claudette Colbert, "Oreia Darbo, Norma Shearer, Miriam Hopkins, Sylvia Sydney, Marlene Dietrich, Gertrude Michael, Ann Harding, Margaret Sullivan, Ruth Chatterton, Merle Oberon, Jean Arthur, Constance Bennett and the late Jeanne Eagleton.

The petite Miss Shirley, who only recently celebrated her eighteenth birthday, has a screen career far antedating Marshall's, starting as a child actress at the age of three, although it was less than two years ago, after the release of "Ann of Green Gables" that she attained the coveted rank of a star.

Both players, however, have climbed swiftly to fame in recent months, and they are said to be ideally cast in their respective roles as a wealthy publisher's second, finds more people gathering in front, clamoring for tickets, for a full round of duels.

his romantic highschool pupil daughter, whose sudden determination to find him a suitable bride brings about the delightful complication of the story.

Gertrude Michael, with whom Marshall appeared in two recent offerings, and Margaret Graham have the principal featured roles in the picture, adapted from Elizabeth Jewell's novel "Taddy" and T. C. Sullivan. Taylor Holmes and Frank Conlan, Jr. head the supporting cast of the Zion Myers production, directed by David Burton from the screen play by Gertrude Purcell.

Football to Give Way To Basketball at Utah State in the Future

recalled that four of the five stars selected on last season's all-conference quintet were Aggie, Ryan, Petty, Wade, and Gardner.

This season the Aggies will find it necessary to make a limited function without the aid of Watson, regular center; Petty, captain and brilliant forward; Gardner, all-conference guard; Henderson, Skousen, and Blanton, all strong reserves.

Captain Kent Ryan and the mighty Ed Wade, the only regular to return from last season, will form the nucleus for the Aggie cage aggregation which will play for the 1937 title. Grant Anderson and Shelby West, forwards; and Ruelton Goates, and Elmo Garuff, guards, are the other lettermen from last season who will play an important part in building up a basketball machine for the Farmers.

Adon Peterson, former student of Snow College, is conceded an excellent chance to hold down a berth on the regular quintet. Other promising candidates are John Broberg and Earl Ellis, centers; Berkeley Parkinson and Rex Rerke, forwards; Bob Bunker, and Ruette Vestes, guards.

Practice sessions in the college gymnasium will continue until the season opens. The Farmers are overlooking a trip to the Pacific coast for preseason encounters this year, although such a tour during the holiday season was a tradition with Utah basketballers in previous years. The anticipation of a tour to New York City and other eastern centers late in January has made the cagers indifferent toward a Pacific coast tour.

A practice game between members of the fresh team and the varsity crew will be held in the Farmer gymnasium next Monday at 4:30. A game between the freshmen and the second string

Boston Letter To Cache American

By F. A. A.

THE past month we have seen the Russian Ballet and a London company in "The Gondoliers," but neither of these events gave us the least pleasure that we have had from our many contacts with Utah folk. First we heard Cyril Dalin talk to a meeting here to which we bring Mr. Dalin was born in Springville, Utah, but it is not here that he made his name. He told the club about the Indians he had known in his boyhood and that he had used in his stories. According to him the Iamanties are far superior to us pale faces both in the matter of skills and courage, then the great manages the king, the anarchists all rule the country, and the "Prof. Harts" called on us to say goodby. They were on their way to Plymouth for the day, but we could go to Washington, D. C. to represent the Young University and grace the scholarly inauguration ceremony. LOGAN SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL 3 ACT COMEDY

The Queen's Husband to be Presented Friday Night at Nibley Hall—Cast Announced.

The Queen's Husband, a three act comedy by Robert Sherwood, will be presented by the Logan Senior High school next Friday at 8:15 p. m. in Nibley hall under the direction of Miss Mattie Morell. The play is a witty, clever comedy dealing with a small European kingdom where the queen manages the king, the anarchists all rule the country, and the "Prof. Harts" called on us to say goodby. They were on their way to Plymouth for the day, but we could go to Washington, D. C. to represent the Young University and grace the scholarly inauguration ceremony.

Special music will be provided by the school orchestra, under the direction of Mr. A. T. Henson. The play was made up by Richard Bullen, Joseph Inoy, Bruce Jones, Naomi Everson, Annie Cardon, Grace Baeman, Y. M. C. EMERGENCY EXISTENCE IN CACHE CO.

Two Hundred More Employables Than Can Find Places on the W P A Setup.

According to a report from the Cache County Relief Office an emergency exists in Logan and Cache County. This was expressed to the directors of the Logan Chamber of Commerce at their monthly meeting Friday evening.

The unemployables and dependents are receiving good care from the Government, state and county under the Social Security set-up.

At one time Mr. Rigby was a real estate buyer in this valley and naturally he has a wide acquaintance here.

Mr. C. Harris of the Chamber was instructed to appoint a special committee to make further investigation and report.

It is reported a number of families from the county are moving into Logan with the idea of getting a job.

WILL THE TOWNSEND PLAN INCREASE COSTS?

By J. A. HENDRICKSON. Because of many false and misleading statements made by economists, published in magazines and newspapers, it is believed that goods will materially increase in price if the Townsend Plan comes into operation.

You oftentimes hear the statement that a $25.00 suit of clothes will cost $100.00 per cent. A lot of bread will cost from 5c to 10c that a pair of shoes will advance from $10.00 to $100.00.

The little fellow should learn to be sceptical of these statements, for they come from sources that are opposed to the plan.

As far as the 2 per cent sales tax is concerned we have that here now. It is now, has not been the means of increasing prices more than 2 per cent.

A transfer of real estate or stocks on the mining exchange are matters that we concern ourselves with.

Now below is the actual increase of a suit of clothes selling at $25.00.

Table with 2 columns: Item, Price. Rows include 1st sale, farmer to wool buyer, 2nd sale, wool buyer to retailer, 3rd sale, wool buyer to wholesaler, 4th sale, wool maker to cloth maker, 5th sale, cloth maker to retailer.

Gas Tax for Roads—The directors of the Logan Chamber of Commerce are strongly opposed to the diversion of any of the state gasoline tax.

M. C. RIGBY DAHO HOTEL MAN CALLS ON OLD FRIENDS

Business Good in Snake River Valley Says Former Cache County Commissioner.

M. C. Rigby, former Cache County commissioner, former resident of Newton but now a resident of Rigby, Idaho, where he is president of the Snake River Valley, spent the early part of the week in Logan and Cache county on business.

At one time Mr. Rigby was a real estate buyer in this valley and naturally he has a wide acquaintance here.

The hotel business at Rexburg has been better, this past year than any time since Mr. Rigby moved there. He has a modern hotel at present.

There is a lot of money available to carry on that work without making the old folks ashamed by the ugly words, indignity and poverty-hour-hour.

Several months ago our county commissioners asked the Welfare Board to look into the matter to secure the state for aid in assistance money.

Assistant National Adjutant Will Speak—District Commander Edwards to Preside at Various Sessions.

Commander J. J. Edwards of the American Legion District No. 1, has announced the annual convention at Lewiston on Saturday December 12, with the opening session at 2 p. m.

The welcome address will be held in the Community Center building.

The following address will be rendered by Mayor B. T. Pond: Lewiston and there will be a reception by Clyde Stratford of Brigham City.

It is seldom that rich people are converted to this happiness for the sake of many of these people have been unfaithful to the extent that they have spent their money in making themselves rich.

A large number of our local people have been unwise as foolishly speculating in stocks.

The annual party of the Central Lodge of the Irish-Fire Fighters association will be held Friday, December 11th.

The men entrusted with the welfare have it within their power to do more for humanity than all the prophets, preachers, Revivalists and Evangelists in the state.

A great many men and women would consider themselves in the service heaven to have opportunity to serve on this welfare board.

There is a lot of money available to carry on that work without making the old folks ashamed by the ugly words, indignity and poverty-hour-hour.

Radio Robot Flies
Eight Miles Aloft
for Weather Data Tiny Storage Battery
Has Been Devised

Pasadena, Calif.—Scientists here as a step toward improved weather forecasting have made a robot balloon, which constantly clings down to earth radio reports of temperature, pressure and humidity from a stratosphere as lofty as 40,000 feet (nearly eight miles).

The flying radio station weighs only two pounds and the balloon is five feet in diameter. The radio emits a 170 meter wave, which is one of the shortest wave-lengths known to be practical for use. The apparatus has already made one flight to 30,000 feet.

Because of the weight of California Institute of Technology's soaring weather station, the smallest yet devised for such an ultra-short wave, Louven E. Wood, graduate assistant who designed the meteorological device, developed a tiny two-ounce storage battery that will rest on a fragment weighing 45 grams, and having a life of 100 hours.

By gathering weather data up to altitudes of 40,000 feet, meteorologists will be able to refine the accuracy of air-mass forecasting.

One-Two-Three Radio.
The radio which was used by Capt. O. C. Malar of the United States signal corps, has one that transmits the data by radio, interrupted by a timing device that transmits the data by broadcast. The timing device is a watch that has been refined, and develops one two-and-a-half-mile per hour, which is ten times more than an ordinary watch.

Ultraviolet Ray Is Used in Selecting Eggs for Storage
Amsterdam.—The truth about their age as exposed by the ultraviolet light, it has been discovered at the University of Utrecht.

The trick depends on the phenomenon of fluorescence. Ultraviolet radiation is itself invisible to the human eye, but it causes the fluorescent substances with which light of different colors.

To the human eye an egg is just another egg. But under the violet light of a very strong red glow, with a very pronounced red color. Less freshly laid eggs shade into blue, and the older they are the deeper is the blue.

Dream Book Is Relic From Ancient Egypt
London.—A new and unique relic from ancient Egypt is a dream book, used over 3,000 years ago, to tell whether dreams were good or bad.

The book, which archeologists say very remarkable, lists various symbols in an Egyptian hieroglyphic script. It is followed by the terse verdict: "good" or "bad."

Too Many Whalers on the Trail of Poor Leviathan

He Is Protected by Treaty of Powers

JONAH was never inside a whale at all and never meant to say he, declares the latest bit of biblical interpretation. When the prophet related how he had been "swallowed up by a great fish," he was only using a figure of speech which his contemporary hearers understood well enough to mean that he was in a pretty bad fix.

Nowadays a whale is in the position of Jonah. Too many whalers, with too efficient ships and too much money, are pursuing the poor Leviathan through all the seven seas, and cluster thickest on the most desolate part of the world, say "down under," in the waters about Antarctica. A convention of 18 nations drew up a protective treaty at Geneva, which has now gone into effect.

Among the rafting powers are some that have no coastline at all, like Czechoslovakia and Switzerland, and others whose direct interest in the whale is purely financial, like Turkey and Rumania. But the real masters of today's whaling are the United States, Norway having only a 2 per cent share in the industry.

Some nations were not agreeable. There was a few notable hold-outs to develop a treaty. The United States, for example, refused the greatest stretch of Arctic coast in the world, and Japan, which has the longest whaling fleet, refused to accept any national advantage whatever. A new Germany, which is a newcomer to whaling, also refused.

These holdout nations should be treated as the great abominable, filling whales with no bag limit at all, they might be expected to undo all the good that has been done by the treaty-sealed self-denial. But the story is not quite so simple as that.

These whaling nations are terribly big game hunters. Built in the treaty-sealed self-denial. But the story is not quite so simple as that. These whaling nations are terribly big game hunters. Built in the treaty-sealed self-denial. But the story is not quite so simple as that.

Al present, Japan and Germany have only one floating factory each. The United States has 100. The "brooks" as it is called, remains an open question whether they will accept the limitation. The whaling fleet, when every mark, and it is urgently needed to feed other fish in their respective national economies.

Early Palestine Favored Heads Bulging in Back
London.—The curious fashion of shaping one's head to make it bulge high at the back was known to early inhabitants of Palestine, to British archeologists digging at ruins of Lachish have discovered.

Several skulls, apparently pressed and bound to this shape in the plant, were found at the site. The skulls are believed to date from an earlier time than the common, rounded head of the Israelites.

The old-shaped skulls are produced by a method of pressing the head of the fetus. Pharaoh of Egypt, Akhenaton, whose family name was Amenhotep, though whether he was a producer of the old shape was naturally deformed or intentionally so has long been debated by scientists.

Plants' Food Making Slowed by Heavy Water
New York.—Heavy water, containing double the amount of hydrogen atoms instead of the common, single-weight ones, slows down the food-making process in green plants. Dr. James Curry and Sam F. Treloar, of the Columbia university have found.

They kept colonies of one-celled green plant in practically pure heavy water, and parallel colonies in ordinary water. The plants in heavy water were slower to grow and their leaves were smaller. The plants in ordinary water grew faster and their leaves were larger. The plants in heavy water were also slower to reproduce.

MONTAGUE

Reveals the Inside Story of
"The Captain's Little Lamb"

He Was Blither in the Parlor Talking Pleasant, When in Bustle the Door and Through It Comes Jake.

BY JAMES J. MONTAGUE
"HERE we went out of tapping—rather heavy tapping on the door of the pilot house. The mate, who was in the window was directing, not too gently, the operations of the crew in diverting the logs. The stream of directive he was leveling at members of the crew, and with a turn toward me said: "It's Jake, let him in."

I opened the door, and a medium sized man stepped lightly into the place, hurried his legs beneath him, and lay down, apparently to pleasant dream.

I restrained my curiosity till the sock was safely slipped somewhere under the stream. Then I expressed a justifiable curiosity about our visitor.

"I'm taking Jake down to the Dalles to see the captain," he said. "The mate's laid up, and I thought the sight of his little pet might cheer him up. He ain't seen Jake for a long time."

I looked at Jake, and wondered how the captain could be so interested in a sheep. Jake was of a dark and untidy brown color, his hair was in shreds and matted, and he was notably chewing on what he had in his mouth.

Tales From Vancouver Island:
Along the Highway
I HAVE never known a man entirely free from the inclination to protest against what he calls the "bad breaks" received now and then along the route. All of us are prone to complain when anything goes wrong with our program and it doesn't take much either to start the squawking.

After a bad morning on a trout stream, a blowout in the neighborhood of Coles Hill, the loss of a sweater alleged to be a rain shed, and fried instead of grilled salmon, and for lunch I was induced by my fat friend, George Warren, to halt and have a look at Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children, along Malahat beach off the main highway on a bend in the famous island.

"What is there that can be turned into copy?" I asked, thinking in terms of the column, "aren't all of these people really mad?" George said they were, but nonetheless drove into a maple-landed field a mile north and stopped beside a long and narrow building extending north and south into a beautiful grove of jack-pines. He got out and showed me old fashioned flowers blooming riotously among rocks and on trellises, and for the long he said, was looking out from behind the wheel. It will do you good to see what is being done for the children of humanity. Come along, only one short flight.

"Automatically I followed the fat man, but I neglected one way or another. But as he had insisted..."
Disciples of Hope.
At the second floor elevators he came out on a wide strip of yellow sunlight, tempered by cool breezes from the Georgian straits, filtered through endless forests of pine, fir and spruce trees, extending for miles east. Against the wall, on 72 coats, spread with immaculate linen and pillows, enveloped in occasional coats of blanket, lay 72 children, in slips and breech duffs, with nothing between them and the sky.

In years they ranged from four to twelve. Not among them all was a child of the accretion in resignation. From these mishapments, stunted, unconscious contortions, the most of them, flat on their backs, came no sign of complaint, no murmurs of discontent. There they are, disciples of fortune, waiting for their lives to be responsible for their presence in this vale of tears.

Lace curtains before being washed for the first time should be soaked for an hour or two in cold water to which two table-spoons of table salt have been added. This removes dressing in curtains and makes them much easier to launder.

Cake icing will adhere better and stay soft and glossy if a little glycerin is added to the icing mixture.

The blunt end of a pencil is excellent to use when marking initials on linens which are to be embroidered.

To cook a ham so that it will retain all its flavor, encase it with a paste made of common flour and water, taking care to seal the steam cannot escape. Bake in a hot oven, allowing a quarter of an hour for each pound. The cooked paste can be easily removed and it takes all the rivet with it. A ham cooked in this way is delicious.

THE PLAN OF THE RATS FAILED.

YOU remember that the rats in the big barn had agreed that if Billy Mink should return they would all attack him at once and kill him or brighten him so that he would leave and never return.

They Were Crazy With Fear and Gave Him No Help.

wouldn't he have the smallest chance to win? All those rats had been very bold and brave when they had met to plan how they should get rid of this new enemy.

But he knew what the younger rats did not know, which was that he had been in every rat's great fear of all members of Billy Mink's family.

Happy is the gift of seeing the good things of life in such high relief that the rest is unimportant.

Approve not of him who commends everything to his nation.

When a man with an air as if it were natural to him to give orders and to be obeyed before the means put him in a position to do it.

If you have average opinions, people will be hypocritical to you to keep on good terms.

When a boy gets up to his ears in love he is more careful about washing them.

Double's Nemesis Confidence, self-assurance, self-reliance—these are the great friends which will kill the traitor doubt.

A long answer turneth away anybody else who was going to ask a question.

Discuss your troubles with many and they will discuss them with the whole community.

Feuds arise from exaggerated personal pride and generally originate in a desire to be not a great deal to be proud of.

The well-bred man keeps his beliefs out of his conversation.

If you encounter a man who knows several sciences, let him talk of his friends and discuss all that's that's the man to be up to.

It is nothing thrilling about sentiment; nothing dangerous, either.

Old Wooden Rocker

HERE it stands in the corner with its back to the door.

The old wooden rocker so stately and tall.

With naught to disturb it but the duster or broom.

For no one now uses the back parlor room.

Oh, how well I remember, in days long gone by.

When we sat by the rocker, and my sister and I.

And we listened to the stories that our grandpa would tell.

By that old wooden rocker we all loved so well.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you take for your cough, cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief only by breathing and coughing.

You cannot afford to take a moment's rest until the coughing has been completely stopped.

It is a common mistake to think that a cough is a disease in itself.

It is only a symptom of some other ailment.

It is a warning sign that your system is being attacked.

It is a signal that you should take prompt action.

It is a call for help.

It is a demand for relief.

It is a plea for mercy.

It is a cry for aid.

It is a shout for help.

It is a call for aid.

It is a plea for mercy.

It is a cry for aid.

It is a shout for help.

It is a call for aid.

It is a plea for mercy.

It is a cry for aid.

Make Danger Dramatic

Safety education in the public schools would do well to roll up its sleeves and go to the highways in earnest. Whatever part this wise movement has had in reducing accidents among children on the streets and highways, it is not enough. Youngsters still pop out suddenly from behind standing automobiles. Boys and girls on bikes still do a snake dance down crowded or badly lighted streets. Children dart into the highways after their toys, and cut across streets whenever they happen to think of it. And the casualties mount up with horrible acceleration.

Possibly too much of this safety education has been in the form of lectures and chats. So far as this is the chief strategy of any school, we recommend something more drastic—the dramatization of danger. Why not stage within school gymnasiums or yards the actual approximation of conditions on the streets, and the common run of perilous possibilities. Let the children themselves set the stage and think up the possibilities. Go so far as to see that in the course of the school year every child takes part in this mock drama of heedlessness on the highway.

We learn by doing. Children can learn the rules of safety on the streets by doing the wrong thing under conditions that reproduce all the perils of the street in miniature. We suggest that laying the dramatic emphasis on the wrong thing is better than undramatic lectures on the right thing to do.—Jamestown, N. Y., Post.

Why Destroy Beauty By Cutting Trees

When the trees are cut down there is nothing left but an ugly stump to remind us of where a beautiful tree was growing and where there has been a hundred years of life.

The men in the Forest Service are doing all they can to preserve the beauty of our playground, and if there are a few patches of timber too thick, let it stand, as there is plenty of room to go up there.

Go up to the public park at center and main streets and enjoy looking at the live trees that the city's electricians have decorated.

When the trees are destroyed, all you have left is a pile of dirt and rocks, like those hills near Los Angeles, with not even a chipmunk.

Some one will say, "The children like them as well." It is to the children's eyes to find him on the street that makes them eager for the tree. Parents could easily pacify the children by explaining how much more sensible it is to have the trees growing on the mountains where the little deer can shade up in summer and find shelter from the storms this time of year.

Chapter Two
The paths of Domini and Brother Antonia, who now had a new and interesting life, had been entered the monastery, crossed the Alps, and had been stopped and where she got her first taste of the art.

As she attempted to rebuke the train to proceed to Steam-Mor, a man brushed by her rudely, followed by a porter who pushed her aside as the train started to move. It was only with great difficulty that she was able to get on to the platform, the seat down in her compartment. Across from her was a man who was looking at her.

There was a strong contrast between the two men. Domini thought the other as old as she. "It was nothing," Domini said. "Madame! What ever have you done to your hair? It is so red and so shiny. I shall forget it from this moment." Domini paused, started by the outside suggestion of the hotel, turned back to her.

"My mother was French, my father was Russian. This is my father. He spoke as if he did not know what he was saying. "Perhaps you will meet again, riding tomorrow to the Oasis of Sid-Serouy, she waited for some reply but none was forthcoming. "Domini rode alone the next morning. The Oasis of Sid-Serouy was a few miles out of Steam-Mor, a town on the open desert. Some children playing in the street were playing with their arms outstretched, calling for money. She was an old Arab peddler, with her arms full of flowers passed behind her back.

"That song—what do you mean?" Domini asked. "It is the song of the 'No one but God'—what is in my heart." Domini repeated to herself and words, "No one but God" and she knew what it was in her heart. She had been interrupted her reverie. "Most things are unimportant, anyway. Really they are." Domini looked at him gratefully and sat down beside her. They talked more easily now, of the desert and its people.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Wright of Franklin were among the business shoppers in the Cache county metropolis. They feel there is no better place anywhere than right here in Logan to do their Christmas shopping. The Logan Merchants carry a line of Christmas suggestions that appeal to those discriminating people.

How About the Tunnel?

One of the most furious snow storms of the season raged in Sardine canyon Saturday night. The drifting of snow was so blinding that motorists were not safe. The road bed was a glare of ice. It occurred to us as we faced the storm's fury what a lesson could be taught by the members of the state road commission if they could be caught in that canyon on a "night like this." We believe the impression would be so convincing that a thorough investigation would be made of the proposal to tunnel the mountain south west of Wellsville and make an all-year highway between Cache and Boxelder. O. C. Sindrup of College ward has made a thorough study of conditions for a tunnel and he believes the project feasible.

Attend Convention—

All heads of departments in the county building are in Ogden today and tomorrow where they have come to attend a convention.

New Bulletin—

A new publication has just been released by the experiment station entitled "Influence of Rotation and Maturity on the Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Carbon of the Soil" by Dr. J. E. Graves and Professor C. T. Hiest, according to Dr. Lowry Nelson, director.

Change Meeting Date—

The Cache county commissioners have changed the regular meeting date this week to Thursday as they expect to be in Ogden on official business on Wednesday. Persons having business with the county commissioners this week should make note of this fact and call Thursday for the transaction of their business with the commissioners.

Frank Wood Retained As President

At the annual organization meeting of the Cache County Sugar Beet Producers association, held today at the court house, the same officers as last year were retained. Frank Wood of Amalgamated is re-elected president; Edwin Clawson of Hyrum was elected vice-president; A. L. Harris of Richmond was elected secretary. The executive committee is composed of Saul E. Byer of Lewiston, Erastus Johnson of Richmond and Theo. K. Monk of Benson.

MILLVILLE

Millville—Mr. and Mrs. David Scott of Blackfoot, Idaho were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Scott on Sunday evening. Mrs. Hilma Scott and family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hourdy of Logan on Thanksgiving day. Those who attended the funeral of Mrs. N. W. Christensen and two visiting also by Prof. Moore, accompanied by Dr. Meyers of the Evans Humphreys, Thomas Jessop; and Jane Jessop, Agnes Jessop, Mrs. Neaves and Mable Clifford.

Dr. Nelson Guest Speaker

Dr. Lowry Nelson of the UCAC was the guest speaker at the Logan luncheon today. He explained the varying policies of the New Deal with respect to the land ownership. In the 4th it was a policy of the government to get the land into the hands of the people which policy had led up to the Homestead law, enacted in 1862. Many poor lands were settled and they have been just and several times in fact many of them are now being placed for sale by land sellers, the value of which is no more than $2.00 per acre, for as high as $25.00 and in some cases $50.00. The seller in many cases pay city $75.00. Because of the impossibility of families making a living on these lands it has been necessary for the government to give relief. There are one million farm families that are being helped. If this relief was not given there would be terrible suffering. There is being an effort made now to move the people off these lands and this effort has retired 9,000,000 acres that are being helped. If this back into game areas, forest lands and some to the Indian reservation. One of the concerns of the government is to check the enormous waste in erosion. Mr. Nelson said that at a given point along the Mississippi river one million tons of soil passes in 24 hours. The musical part of the program was two solo songs by Elmer Christensen, accompanied by Mrs. N. W. Christensen and two visiting also by Prof. Moore, accompanied by Dr. Meyers of the Evans Humphreys, Thomas Jessop; and Jane Jessop, Agnes Jessop, Mrs. Neaves and Mable Clifford.

Successful Carnival At Trenton

Trenton—a very successful ward carnival was held here Wednesday and Thursday. While dinner was being served to those in attendance a program of the government to get the land into the hands of the people, assisted by M. E. Clayson, who read a short play, Ed. Larsen of Newton gave some bird imitations which were very clever. Misses Jenkins and Christensen also of Newton, tap danced.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lott are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy.

Mrs. Blanche Campbell of Ogden is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Bybee.

Mrs. Mary Mortenson entertained at dinner in honor of her nephew of Salt Lake City who will soon leave on a mission. Quite a number of relatives were in attendance.

Mrs. Joan Bingham of Brigham City is visiting her brother Mr. C. H. Hansen and family.

Mrs. Sara Winn had her tonsils removed at a Logan hospital Tuesday and is visiting her sister, Mrs. Melva Semmons while convalescing.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stevens and daughters, Carma and Gayla of Salt Lake were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clara Stevens.

Mrs. Murry Anderson of Preston is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brigham Spackman.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hansen are the proud parents of a baby boy. Mrs. Phyllis Henderson and children of Logan are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barrol Pulliam, while here, her baby suffered an attack of pneumonia.

Miss Edyth Wood returned to Ogden after spending Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cottle and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Orrison of Clarkston entertained at a dinner December 5th. It being their wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Madsen returned home after a trip through Southern Utah and Nevada; with their race horse.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR WHY "It's Buick again!"

YOU don't have to go far afield for first-hand testimony on the marvelous goodness of the new 1937 Buicks.

Right here at home—among your friends and neighbors—are folks who can tell you plenty about this handsome traveler—and what makes it great!

Want a frank appraisal of Buick's flash-action oil-washed valve-in-head straight-eight engine? Ask any Buick owner.

Want to know what Buick's Aerobut carburetor means—about Buick's double-end stabilization—about the soft straight-line certainty of Buick's tipoe hydraulic brakes, with their easy-but-sure action?

Just listen to the voice of happy experience!

You'll run into a brand of enthusiasm among Buick owners that makes a salesman's talk sound lukewarm, but don't let that sweep you off your feet.

Just drop in and we'll show you the cold facts behind the warm fervor—how, in spite of extra bigness, extra power, extra beauty, extra performance, this year's Buicks—listing at $765 and up at Flint—are the easiest to buy in all Buick history.

will get a "hit" out of this week's selection of dapper designs for home-sewing. It's not a bit too early to be anticipating your first-of-the-year requirements and each frock here presented is an veritable winner in its individual class. The cleverly cut slip, Pattern 1900, consists of just six simple pieces including the shoulder strap and offers a choice of straps or a built up shoulder. With a combination of bust ease and a fitted waist, this number will prove a popular favorite in silk crepe, crepe de chine, pongee, or taffeta. An excellent gift for an intimate friend, by the way, the pattern is available in sizes 18, 19, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. The charming morning frock for mastrons, Pattern 1941, speaks for itself. A one-piece model, five pieces to the pattern, it too offers a choice of long or short sleeves and slides through your man's arms in a liffy. A perfect number for comfort combined with a pleasing appearance, this delightful pattern is available in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46. Size 36, with short sleeves, requires 3 1/2 yards of 39 inch material— percale, rayon, poplin, gingham, tub silk, or seersucker.

The sick princess frock, Pattern 1902, has everything it takes for success and— you'll hardly believe it, but it's so— requires just seven pieces for the pattern. Princess frocks are always tops for home sewing, and whether for campus, business, or general gad-about wear this clever number, with a choice of long or short sleeves, simply compels admiration and demands immediate attention. The sleeves are gay and youthful, the pockets big and tricky. Your selection of fabrics is almost as long as the counterpane— wool crepe, flannel, broadcloth, velveteen, silk crepe, satin, taffeta, linen, rough weaves, or cotton— wool crepe, flannel, broadcloth, velveteen, silk crepe, satin, taffeta, linen, rough weaves, or cotton. They Helped Make Christmas a Healthier (and Happier) Time for Their Fellow-Americans

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON
CHRISTMAS this year is a healthier (and therefore a happier) time for many of the Americans—just how many there is no way of knowing—a part of the credit for that fact is due to two women. One of them was born on Christmas Day 115 years ago and the other was mainly responsible for giving her fellow-Americans a gray, blue-colored little "scrap of paper" which has become as much a symbol of Christmas time as holly wreaths, pine trees, red candles, carols, or even Santa Claus himself.

No doubt, you are familiar with the names of both Clara Barton and Emily P. Bissell, but you never happened to think of them in connection with the idea of a "healthy, happy Christmas." The purpose of this article is to show that connection.

On Christmas day, 1821, a baby girl came into the world at the home of Capt. Stephen Barton near North Oxford, Mass. Her parents gave her the name of Clara Harlowe, after the heroine of Samuel Richardson's Eighteenth century romance, "but when she grew up, being a practical-minded young woman she dropped that romantic name and became known simply as Clara Barton.

If she had been a boy, perhaps she might have followed the footsteps of her father, who had served in the Revolution under "Mad Anthony" Wayne, and joined the army. As it turned out, she was destined to go to war, even though she was a woman, but she went to alleviate pain and suffering, not to cause it.

Clara Barton was a sickly child but by engaging in vigorous outdoor exercise she changed herself into a robust young woman, a fact which was important to her later career. Even while engaged in teaching school (in 1854 she established at Bordentown, one of the first free public schools in New Jersey) she kept up her outdoor exercise. When she went to her New England home for winter vacations she worked in the garden and in the hay field. In winter she was a devotee of skating and other winter sports.

Service in the Civil War. After a very successful career as a teacher Miss Barton went to Washington and served as a clerk in the patent office, where she was working when the Civil war broke out. Then she determined to devote herself to the care of wounded soldiers on the battlefield and she was instrumental in organizing the first voluntary commission which took charge of nursing sick and wounded soldiers in the field and in hospitals.

She served with the Army of the Potomac and in 1864 she was appointed "lady in charge of the hospitals at the front of the Army of the James. In 1865 she went to Andersonville, Ga., to identify and mark the graves of Union prisoners buried there. Lincoln placed her in charge of the search for missing men of the Union Army. As a result of her successful record came out the fate of more than 30,000 "unknown soldiers."

During the years 1866-67 she lectured on her war experiences and afterward went to Switzerland for her health which had been seriously affected by her strenuous labors during the war. She was at Geneva when the Franco-Prussian war broke out and she assisted the grand duchess of Baden in the preparation of military hospitals. Also she became acquainted with the work of the Red Cross, the society of mercy which had been organized by Jean Henri Dunant, a Swiss, when she saw the horrors of war in Northern Italy in 1859, and she gave instituted aid to that society during the conflict of 1870-71. At the joint request of the German authorities and the Strasbourg "Comite de Secours," she superintended the supplying of work to the poor of that city in 1871 and in 1872 had charge of the public distribution of supplies to the destitute people of Paris who had undergone the horrors of siege and the ruin of the Commune. At the close of the war she was decorated with the gold cross of Baden and the iron cross of Germany.

Put this stamp with message bright. Upon every Christmas letter. Help the tuberculosis fight. And strike the New Year better.

These stamps do not carry any kind of mail, but any kind of mail will carry them.

The first day's sales were encouraging but Miss Bissell soon saw that they would not be able to sell enough of the seals to raise a similar stamp in order to raise money for the pavilion which her state division of the Red Cross wished to build. For Miss Bissell to think was to act, so on December 9, 1907, two pretty girls in Red Cross uniforms took their place at a table in the post office in Wilmington, and began selling, for a quarter each, little pay envelopes labeled thus:

"At Terror's Door"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
A NOTHER good way to find adventure is to go around ringing doorbells looking for it. And who knows more doorbells than a house-to-house canvasser? Olga McCormic of Astoria, N. Y., can tell you all about that. On a day in April, 1935, when the wolf was howling around the door and there weren't any other jobs to be had, Olga tried her hand at canvassing, and for a week she went around pushing bell buttons receiving some pleasant greetings, some scowls, some angry outbursts, and having a good many doors slammed in her face.

Monday was the toughest day of the whole bunch, she says. Well—Monday always seems to be a bad day. People are usually cross on the blue day after the weekend, and this morning was no exception. In two whole blocks, Olga hadn't taken a single order. Discouragement was taking hold of her. She walked into a block where only one house stood, shaded by rows of trees and surrounded by patches of growing vegetables.

Looked Like a Chance for an Order
There looked inviting, Olga was sure she'd get an order. Disregarding a sign that said, "Beware of the dog," she opened the gate, went down a board walk, and finally came to the front door. There was no doorman in sight. Olga knocked. No answer.

But canvassers know that "No answer" doesn't always mean that no one is home. Olga knocked again—and when that didn't bring any reply she reached over and tapped lightly on the window pane. Suddenly a groggy voice came from within and Olga wanted "If you're looking for a sale, you've come to the wrong place. The man inside Olga had taken it for her.

Worse Than the Ferce Dog
Olga's eyes turned toward the door of the house in frantic appeal. Would it open? Would the owner come out before his dog had torn

The Man Was Big and Frightful her to please? It seemed to Olga as though he'd never get there. The dog let out another growl and crouched lower. Then the door did open and Olga's mind knew which was the more afraid of the man or the dog. The man was big and frightful, a man in a gray suit, a stubby growth of hair on his jaw and the dirtiest clothes Olga had ever seen in her life. Olga says she looked more like a gorilla than a human being, but he snipped at the dog and the dog went away. He had seen her before. Her sample case was on the ground and samples of soap, lotions and perfumes were strewn right and left. With shaking hands she started to pick them up. The man glared and bellowed, "Well, what are you selling, anyway?"

He Bought Four Dollars' Worth
Olga told him in a voice that trembled. Then she got her second check of the day. The man glared and ordered four dollars worth of her goods—the biggest order she had had yet. Olga's coat and dress were torn and she'd had a terrible fright—but she stood there, as if she were a statue. She heaved a contented sigh and started down the wooden path toward the gate. She had just reached the gate when she met a woman, her arms loaded with packages, coming in the other direction. "Well, what are you selling?" she asked. "I'm selling—'Well, what are you selling, ma'am?" she began.

"Never mind what you're selling," the woman snapped. "I don't want any of it. She brushed past Olga and started for the house, but half way up the walk she stopped and called back, "Say, were you out at the house?" Olga thought she'd better not mention the order the man had given her. The woman was apparently the old fellow's wife and she might change her mind and bargain at the end of the board walk. So she said, "Yes, I was at the door—and that dog of yours almost scared me to death."

Was an Oddity to the Mad House
The woman smiled. "Hmph," she said. "I've a wonder you wouldn't pay some attention to that sign we've got posted. That not only the dog, but it's a wonder you didn't get killed by that madman. He's at his mind—stupid crazy. I just called on the door store telephone."

Olga could feel her legs getting weak under her. The dog had been the least of her troubles. She had been sitting and talking to a man who had threatened to murder her. She had been talking to a man about the goods she had sold him! From the back of her memory came the thought that a contract signed by an insane person was void. Was the man sane or insane? She had no way of knowing. She looked at the woman. "But he just gave me an order," she stammered.

"Oh, he did, did he," snapped the woman. "Well, if you want to deliver that order you'll have to take it to Bellevue or the Island, because that's where he goes." And with that the woman turned and stamped into the house.

Belongs to "Wally" Family
The Chesacalco, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times, is a member of the feathered clan and rightly belongs to the Gallin or poultry family which includes the ordinary domestic species, grouse, quail and pheasant. A large number of them are found in Mexico and Central America. The eye of the bird has the same animal character and fine as the game cock and Mexican claim they light in a similar manner. We have been called the Texas Gull in some localities, but the name Chesacalco is given because they cry which sounds like the local name.

Cuddle Toys for Gifts

WOMEN!

Light's INSTANTLY... COLEMAN

"Emie, Meenie, Minie, Mo"—it's hard to decide which to make but why make just one, why not all! Delightful cuddle toys, these and just the soft, warm playthings for a baby's arms. There's nothing in the making of them, for each is composed of but two pieces, with the exception of the bear, whose jacket is extra, and the chick, whose flapping wings are separate. Your gayest cotton scraps can go into the making of these winning gifts. In pattern 6009 you will find a transfer pattern for the four animals; instructions for making them; material requirements.

Temptation

TO RESIST temptation once is not a sufficient proof of honesty. If a servant, indeed, were to resist the continued temptation of silver lying in a window when he is sure his master does not know how much there is of it, he would give strong proof of honesty. But this is a proof to which you have no right to put perfectly. The temptation of silver which will overcome any virtue. Now, in so far as you approach temptation to a man, you do him an injury; and, if he is overcome, you share his guilt.—Dr. Johnson.

MEAT PERFECT AFTER 8 YEARS IN OPEN ROOM

Someone should tell this story that comes from John C. Hill, storekeeper in South Carolina. He has been hanging on the back door of his store, he writes, "a strip of meat perfect with FIGARO Condensed Smoke Eight YEARS ago. This piece of meat is ribbed, baked, 12 inches long and 1/2 inch wide. It is firm, sweet and sound as a dollar—neither rancid nor spotted in any manner and has kept perfectly these eight years. FIGARO is the finest thing I ever ever seen for smoking meat. I have been using it ever since it was first put on the market." (Signed) John C. Hill, Mr. Hill has to buy the meat because it is so good, he cannot afford to lose any of it. Yet the average man does lose 50% the every year, because the meat is so good, it is not thoroughly smoked. Drying out weather, keeping meat in a simple matter. But when summer comes, or a warm spell during the winter, look out! Rancidness develops. You suddenly find the meat, all with "skippers" or worms. These mold appears on it. Or it dries out and hardens.

be SURE! all your meat will keep perfectly right through the summer months, wash it thoroughly after it comes out of the cure and brush FIGARO Condensed Smoke over every square inch. FIGARO prevents it from becoming rancid, dry, etc. It is called FIGARO Condensed Smoke. Since then, FIGARO has been used to smoke more than two billion pounds of meat! Your dealer has it, or can get it in 50c size (enough for 200 lbs.), $1.00 for 10-lb. size (enough for 250 lbs.), $1.00. But DON'T TAKE CHEAP! Use FIGARO on every pound of meat year—after.

Van Valkenburg, who had been the first to displease doctors by proposing publicity as the weapon to use against the white plague.

Van Valkenburg immediately saw what a great opportunity was offered by Miss Bissell's proposal. He placed at her command every facility of his newspaper to publicize the Christmas stamp idea. As a result, the presses which were printing the seals in Wilmington couldn't turn them out fast enough to keep up with the demand. Philadelphia and the surrounding area, so a Philadelphia printer was enlisted.

Through its Washington correspondent, the newspaper got the postmaster general's permission to put up a booth in the Philadelphia post office lobby. Five days before Christmas the general office in Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania branch of the national Red Cross endorsed the stamp. Four days before Christmas an editorial urged that "A Million Mercy Messengers" be bought by the people. Two days before Christmas "Happy New Year" was added to the stamp design, the demand having grown so that more than half a million were distributed to city, state and nation.

Then came a flood of signed endorsements: from Washington; Richard Roosevelt, Secretary of State; Rodman W. Stewart, Secretary of War; Taft; from Baltimore, Cardinal

Hepburn Has Vivid Role in Show at Capitol

Again Katharine Hepburn comes to the screen in a "different" role and as in the past which aroused the interest of young American star, the interest of picture-goers is keenly aroused. Naturally, there is always a good deal of speculation as to what she could do next inasmuch as she has appeared in such a variety of characterizations. It has been the good judgment on the part of her producers RKO Radio, that has prevented her from being typed and as a result has increased her fans' enthusiasm because her parts cannot be anticipated.

In "A Woman Rebels," Miss Hepburn plays Pamela, a warm, vital English girl eager for life and expression against the will of her straight-laced father whose prejudices and unwilling tyranny lead her into many tragic situations. An unfortunate romance changes the course of her life, and for years she sacrifices the protection of the true love offered by a successful British diplomat played by her co-star, Herbert Marshall.

Featured support of the two stars is by Elizabeth Allan, Donald Crisp, Doris Dudley and David Manners. The picture has been directed for RKO Radio by Mark Sandrich and produced by Pandro S. Berman.

The stirring story was adapted by Anthony Veiller and Ernest Valda from the novel "Portrait of a Rebel" by the noted Netia Byrd.

The picture was shown at the club with Mrs. Ephraim Bergeson, Mrs. Boston Baker, Mrs. Anna Jensen, as honored guests. Their birthday occurring in December, a delightful social afternoon with a lovely luncheon served from small tables to fifteen ladies.

The annual N. C. high school Harvest Fall, held recently at the school gym was a nice affair. Miss Alice Simmonds was elected by popular vote as the queen of the fall.

Mrs. Edward Clayton was invited to Trenton to give a number of readings at the ward carnival held Wednesday and Thursday.

MUFLERS Make The Ideal GIFT

Membership upon the State Welfare Board affords opportunity to do no end of valuable work. At the present time our County is infested with the high-powered promoters who promise something like a ten-for-one bet to our people who have saved up money. This is nothing new of course, the same thing has been going on here for a life-time. The pitiful part of it is that Barnum's assertion about a sucker being born every minute is too true.

The Welfare Board should include it as a part of their duty and obligation to educate and protect these suckers against the city tongued chyster who takes their life's savings in return for some gaily printed stock certificates.

When this is done there will be no need of pensions for our old people.

Petty Bribes Often Taken
 "Some folks get all the breaks," is a common expression often heard when this or that fellow happens to have encountered a piece of luck. But there are peace officials in the land, if they are so inclined, who not only get the breaks by holding down a respectable and lucrative job with a monthly check each month from the public treasury, but in other ways.

In this connection we are reminded of a story told us by a rather dignified chief of police from a neighboring town. It is a story that gave our informer a hearty laugh. His story, which we believe to be true, ran about like this: A carnival came to town. You must refrain from mentioning the name of the town. Among the concessioners at the carnival there were some high powered personages who operated a "bunch" game, using attractive woolen blankets as the allurement for the unwary. Owing to the shady way in which these concession men operate their game, they knew well they would be closed up unless they "bought off" the officers charged with the responsibility of the enforcement of the law. The operators of the racket were constantly on the alert when a law enforcement badge carrier came near the scene. As was expected, one put in an appearance. The concessioner approached the officer with a "Good evening chief. How do you like the prizes we are giving away? Perhaps you would like to take one of these blankets home with you? Oh, I know you wouldn't like to be carrying it around on the grounds. Show me your car and I will put this one in it." The chief was shown a very attractive piece of merchandise and consented to have it taken to his car. The "racket" ran throughout the carnival days, unmolested. The public was permitted to be fleeced while the chief went home and snoozed comfortably between the woolen goods he had received as a petty bribe. How did the officer in the other town get this story, you ask. Well the gullible chief who accepted the bribe also fell when approached by the concessioner: "Do you know the chief in —city? Will you give me an introduction to him?"

"I would be glad to do this" was the retort. "I know him well." A long letter of introduction was written to the chief in the next town which was to be visited by the racketeers. But, behold, we have some honest police chiefs in the land. And the old blanket game was routed from at least one town in the state during the summer carnival season.

Chapter Three
 There was a strange contrast between the two men. Domini looked like the one who had been ill and awkward, the other so friendly and engaging. I must make a pilgrimage into the desert to you, he said. Let me advise you to wait. I am done. Wait till the call is so strong that it can't be ignored, Antonio replied. Their attention was distracted by a group of four Arab girls taking their washing to the stream. The sight of the foreigners seemed to intrigue and to amuse them. As Domini's request, Antonio invited them over to where they stood. One of the girls, before the rest, went up to Boris, arrested by a gleam at his throat. Playfully, she lapped into Arabic, and Antonio translated. "I see a caravan — camel — walking by a church. It continues in Arabic. He says that in this church your life began," Antonio translated. "Your life, he says. He describes it. It is only then that you are fully born. Your spirit continued his prophetic in disappointed image. It seemed that from that church, the day was to start by another person. He was to start by the desert. It was the wind to rain. It drove out the music of the church. The desert is gray." "Where is the caravan going?" Can he tell me? "It is on the road to Bambara," Antonio replied. "Bambara? But that's the route I planned for my pilgrimages." The Sand Diviner continued. "A tent — far in the desert — close by the Dead Sea. Suddenly some great emotion seemed to possess him. "What does he say?" Domini asked. "There is something glorious in the air. The desert is full of life. The sand covers it with millions of tiny flowers — big as the flower of the aloë."

He stopped suddenly and uttered a cry. "It is a warning!" "You are great joy." Then, as the Sand Diviner made another sudden stop and uttered a cry, he slowly turned and with a look on his face as if the cry had been from afar. "I won't hear any more," said Domini suddenly. "I don't care. It is a warning. I don't care. I don't care what comes after. Please let us go and let Antonio out into the street. They did not talk about what had happened. During the next few weeks Domini and Boris, who were almost the only travelers in Beni-Domari, were together constantly. A warm affection and a certain degree of sympathy grew between them. But he never felt that his real self. Only on one occasion, when they rode together to a Black Pool in the desert, did Domini gather the courage to ask him about himself. When Boris remained silent, she asked his forgiveness for her intrusion. "Please don't be impatient with me. There are things in a man's life which he has not yet lived. I have tried to imagine what I'd do alone here, but I couldn't have faced that. Then I thought of you. I thought of the day at Beni-Zerbor — the time we rode to the tomb on the desert. I thought of the dunes that night under the stars. Somebody's happiness to me, I can breathe again. I can feel sun and wind again. I can hear to live in the world. You've done that for me, Domini. Deeply moved, Domini said, "Thank you, Boris. I'm glad."

"Please, Domini, don't question me. There are things in a man's life which he has not yet lived. I have tried to imagine what I'd do alone here, but I couldn't have faced that. Then I thought of you. CITY OF SODOM
 Sodom was one of the most ancient cities of Syria. It is commonly mentioned in connection with Gomorrah, but also with Adama and Zeboim, and on one occasion (Gen. 14) with Bela. Sodom was evidently the chief town in the settlement. The four are first named in the ethnological records of Gen. 19:9. Abram and Lot stood together between Bethel and taking a survey of the land around and below them. The whole circle was one great plain. In the subsequent account of the destruction (Gen. 19), the topographical features of the country with all the precision which is characteristic of such early times. The mention of the Jordan is conclusive as to the district for the Jordan crosses where it enters the Dead Sea, and can have no existence south of that point. Sodom and three neighboring cities were destroyed because of their wickedness. The plain of Sodom in which they stood was pleasant and fruitful like an earthly paradise, but it was first destroyed afterwards mostly overflowed by waters of the Dead Sea, or Lake of Sodom. Modern writers, who have been misled, however, are not agreed as to the precise site to be assigned to these cities.

MESSAGE DELIVERED
 Rebekah had a brother named Laban. When he was informed of what had taken place at the well, and saw the beautiful ring and the bracelet that had been presented to his sister, he hurried to meet the man, and to learn more about the interview. He seemed to be favorably impressed, and invited the servant and his company to come and share the hospitality of the house. This invitation was cheerfully accepted. After the animals had been provided for, a meal was set before the guests, but the servant refused to eat, until he had delivered his message. He was told to proceed in his vision, and the servant of Abraham, and the Lord has greatly blessed my master; he has become great; he has become blessed with flocks and herds, silver and gold, men servants and maid servants, camels and asses. My master has a son, to whom he has given all that he possesses and the time has arrived when this son should have a wife. (I have now forty years old) but my master will not that he should have any of the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom he lives; but should have one from the hand of his kinsman. The servant then related what had taken place at the well, and when the Lord had shown him that Rebekah was the chosen one.—Gen. 24.

SODOM DESTROYED

Two angels appeared at Sodom. Not seeing them, proceeded and extended greetings and invited them to remain with him, and because of his hospitality over night. At first they declined the invitation, but later on accepted, and went into the house. A huge mob gathered, and demanded the visitors to come out. Lot went out and remonstrated with them, but of no avail, and he was crowded against the door till it was at the breaking point. The messengers then came to the rescue of Lot and pulled him inside, at the same time smote those outside, great and small, with blindness, so they were not able to find their way. Lot was then told to gather those of his family who lived there, and take them with him and leave the city, but he was ridiculed and laughed at, only his wife and two daughters would follow. His wife, however, was disobedient, and suffered the consequences, and was turned into a pillar of salt. Lot and his two daughters fled to a place called Zoar. On the morrow the Lord caused brimstone and fire to descend from heaven on Sodom and Gomorrah, and two other cities, Sodom and Admah.

Throughout the Scriptures the ruin of Sodom and Gomorrah is presented as one of the most signal effects of God's anger.

Mrs. Emma Hancock, Mrs. Harry Barlett, motored to Preston on Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Langstroth.

Relief Society—The Logan Stake Relief Society will hold their Union meeting Saturday at 2:30 in the stake house. A special department for secretaries will be conducted. The Presidency requests a good attendance.

May Go to Coast—Steve Campora, Trenton farmer, was a business visitor in Logan, Thursday. Mr. Campora says he will spend the severe part of the winter in California but he will leave Cache valley so long as we are enjoying the mild weather we have enjoyed thus far this fall and winter.

Stephens Gets Job—E. W. "Wick" Stephens, a former Aggie, who for the past nine years has been executive manager of the Interstate Junior Livestock show in San Francisco, has been named president and general manager of the South Star Francisco Union stockyards and the Stockton Union stockyards.

Talks to Beekeepers—Dr. George F. Knowlton, associate entomologist at the experiment station, has been invited to speak at the Utah State Beekeepers association annual meeting December 15 at the Newhouse hotel in Salt Lake City. Dr. Knowlton will discuss the asexual poisoning of honey bees by application of insecticides.

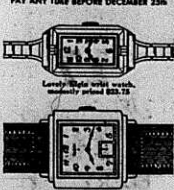

A Lasting Remembrance—You may have a relative or a friend who formerly resided here but who may be "thin" elsewhere at present. You could give nothing that would be more acceptable for Christmas than a subscription to the Cache American. It would be a constant reminder for a year and the cost is only a few cents to any point in the United States.

Entertaining Show—The Junior high school play "The Princess and Mr. Parkers" presented Friday night, was as cleverly entertaining as well as educational. It carried a cast of 27 and a large staff of student workers. It involved the cooperative efforts of the dramatic, new drama and drama departments. Miss Luitie Bancroft was director and Belva Lee stage director.

It's closer to Christmas than you think!

Cafe Business Lures Players In Hollywood

If this keeps up, most of the restaurants in Los Angeles and Hollywood will soon be operated by motion picture players.

The announcement that Bing Crosby, Carol Lombard, Una Merkel, Richard Dix and others prominent on the screen have opened "Sons of a Gun," a club exclusively for players and a new studio executive and directors, closely following the disclosure that other players have similar plans.

Dave Chasen, now appearing with Joe Cook in Paramount's "Arizona Cowboy," has a restaurant at the intersection of Beverly Boulevard and Doheny Drive, Beverly Hills, which will be opened during the holiday season, and Eddie Tierney is looking for a site on which to build a South Sea island type of eating place.

Francis X. Bushman recently opened a restaurant on Pico Boulevard, Jack LaRue is proprietor of one on Ventura Boulevard and Hank Mann, well known character actor, owns a cafe in Hollywood.

The late Thelma Todd owned one on the ocean front near Santa Monica and it is still operated by her estate.

Carol Nash owns an interest in Los Angeles cafe.

All of which calls to mind the fact that the motion picture players for today, unlike his brother of the past, is investing his money in other kinds of business in preparation for a possible "rainy day."

After looking over the menus they have decided that no matter what happens people must eat.

Even, Glareless Light Essential For Reading Without Strain

Glareless, abundant light for reading is provided by the new scientifically-approved lamps having a translucent bowl beneath the shade, and placed just beyond the elbow.

By Jean Prentice

Be sure that your reading lamp is properly placed. Just beyond the elbow is the correct location for a floor lamp beside an easy chair. If you read at a desk, the lamp should be placed in front of the feet, if you are right-handed, or at the right if you are left-handed.

Don't forget to sit up straight when you read. Some adults carry over from childhood bad posture habits which were probably acquired because the light they used was weak or glaring.

Safeguard Your Eyesight

Also, before you lose yourself in the trials and tribulations of some beautiful heroine of the latest novel, there's one more point to consider for the sake of your own eyes—

And that's quality of light.

You can have lots of light... and still not be protecting your eyesight. If it glares. Good light for reading is abundant light, without glare and without sharp contrast.

Glare is avoided with the new type of scientifically-approved lamps which are made by many manufacturers. A translucent bowl beneath the shade is an aid to eye comfort since it softly and evenly distributes light both up and down.

Always remember, too, that for really comfortable reading there should be some general lighting throughout the room as well as localized lighting at your chair.

can affect the weight and that disease of the pituitary gland can affect the weight and that either type has its distinct characteristics.

But to what extent does the action of these glands affect the mild fat person or the chronically thin person? The thin person has no signs of deficiency of any glandular function and yet, usually, who eats almost the same things and amounts gains all the time. There are some mysteries about this weight thing left for solution.

But the advances we have made are enabling us to help a great many more fat persons than we formerly could.

If you are fat and do not have any pronounced symptoms of glandular disease, only your doctor can tell you what you will receive in weight if you follow the diet here given. See to it that least one half of your food intake is fruits and vegetables. Do not include potatoes, dried beans, peas, squash in the vegetable. Eat meat only every other day and never eat meat with potatoes, dried beans or squash.

That recipe is simple to follow but it takes careful watching to carry out. It is very hard for most people to change their way of eating. And as a doctor, I can tell you that very few persons do change even for the short time that they come under a physician's care. They do not seem to have the determination to do what is best for them. In ordinary terms, they do not have the willpower to do it.

For the thin person the same general type of diet is good, but he must be sure to eat a few nut meats after each meal and perhaps a chocolate bar in the evening. A thin person should not be desirous of gaining much weight. That is why the thin person has a better chance of living long and enjoying life than the fat person.

Kirkham Harris Final Rites At Hyde Park Warden

Hyde Park—Funeral services for Kirkham Harris, Hyde Park mall carrier for 53 years, were held in the ward chapel Monday at 2 o'clock with Bishop W. W. Ogden in charge. Music was furnished by the choir under the direction of H. L. McQuarrie. Special numbers were a vocal duet by Arthur Peleton and R. S. McQuarrie and violin solo by Charles Harris of Logan. Speakers who praised the many admirable characteristics of the deceased were: Joseph Nielsen, H. S. McQuarrie, Mrs. Hattie R. Lee, C. McQuarrie, Mrs. Dayton, with closing remarks by Bishop Seaman. Prayers were offered by Mr. C. H. Lusk and W. D. Hurten. The grave in the Hyde Park cemetery was dedicated by Lorenson Johnson.

Word has been received that Mrs. Charlotte Harney, former a resident of Hyde Park, now residing in Logan, had the misfortune of falling and breaking her hip recently. She is confined in a local hospital.

The Ladies Literary club held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. C. A. Hurten last Thursday afternoon. The drama "Pride and Prejudice" was reviewed by Mrs. Henry R. Hurten. Vocal selections were rendered by Ruth Cartwright, Meta Ewing and Gertrude Johnson of Smithfield. Lunch was served at small tables. Christmas motifs were used in menu and decorations. The following guests were included: Mrs. Herbert Seaman, Mrs. William Pollet, Mrs. Owen Merkley, Mrs. Lois Reeder, Mrs. George F. Ahlquist and Mrs. J. W. Seaman. Miss Catherine White acted as the Hyde Park MIA queen at the Cache State gold and green ball Thursday evening at the Amuseador. Miss June Burgess and Blaine Hancey gave a dance demonstration.

Mrs. C. A. Webb has returned home from a business trip in California.

Mrs. Ernest Ashcroft and new baby daughter have returned to their home from a local hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Geo Perkes and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White spent Monday in Ogden on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Winn of Smithfield were visiting at the home of Mrs. Hattie Hyde Sunday.

Wilford Dalnes has become the owner of a new 1937 Sudebaker automobile.

The Messes Roma and Rula Hurten entertained at a bunco party at their home Friday evening. The guests included: Ainslee Seaman, Luana Hancey, Evelyn P. Seaman, Doris Reeder, Evelyn Seaman and Roma Jean Thurston.

Mrs. Leora Seaman, Mrs. Ethel Thurston and Mrs. Carrie Hurten attended the PAT meeting at North Cache High school Wednesday.

The MIA are planning a carnival to be held December 18. Hot Relief From 3 years of Horrible Suffering with Sluggish Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.

Read this remarkable testimonial— sworn to by Mr. Clement, a well known California merchant. This wonderful case is known personally by hundreds of his neighbors and friends and is typical of those who give him relief. Until He Took these Williams S. L. K. Formula.

"I am 56 years of age, have been in business here 14 years. I have had sluggish kidneys, liver, and bowel trouble most all my life, but in the last 3 years it got so bad I thought I would have to give up my business. I went through agencies, and tried medicines of all kinds, but nothing did me any good. A friend told me about Williams S. L. K. Formula, and I certainly am grateful to him. I got a bottle, and I had only taken about half of it when I already began to feel better. Today I feel like a new man." Mr. Taylor Clement, 71 Weatherford, Susanville, California.

FRENCH fried potatoes as well as other such foods are digestible and delicious when cooked at the correct temperature. The trick is to seal the surface of the food in fat of the right heat so that in further cooking, only the heat and not the fat penetrates. It is simple when you use a thermometer, for the flexible gas burner can be accurately controlled to maintain the exact even temperature desired to produce beautiful and easily digested food. Use at least three inches of fat in a pan. Cook with a lid, if for ease in

King Edward, Wally, and Law Makers

By ROBERT CROOKSTON

Editor, Cache American: Seems strange that King Edward has deserted his people and more especially when he is loved and respected by millions of his subjects.

Those subjects are among the best people on earth. Seems as though he has everything to lose and nothing to gain by allowing his emotions to predominate his judgment.

Seems strange he is making the destiny of the Great English nation by playing with fire this way. To boil the thing down to simple talk, we arrive at these facts: People who have any degree of decency do not like a man playing around with a married woman.

Also, nice people do not respect a married woman who plays around with other men.

If she is so stunning, why did not her husband hang on to her? If she is so dam charming why does her husband allow her to saunter around?

The Irish playwright, George Bernard Shaw says, "There is nothing whatever staler than this woman Wally."

Well, if Mr. Shaw has such little regard for moral scruples, that he considers a marriage vow of so little importance he has lost respect of a lot of people by making such a statement.

This kind of a subject leaves a bad taste so lets change to something wholesome.

Alabama has a law that puts public officers in prison when they fail to carry out campaign pledges.

Our own legislators made some promises we hope they want forget to carry out this winter.

The promise to exempt the small home from taxes certainly looks good to most of us, so let us watch and see who is active in making this a reality; then reward them accordingly.

People who bought cheap homes near the state prison, now want the prison moved. They surely knew what that cheap realty represented when they bought those city lots.

The Utah legislators are considering the expenditure of one hundred thousand dollars to advertise our state.

It would sure be great if we could get some new settlers here who have money. About the only kind moving in the last half century are those who are broke.

One thing we can brag about now to prospective new settlers is that, no matter how any church influence direct our politics. This is surely a long step forward.

In doing this advertising for Utah, we better not get too many to see Salt Lake City in winter with all that smoke.

Better support the woman's organization that is trying to substitute coke to replace the stutty coal.

We could brag truthfully about our weather. Really, we have many other good points to be proud of, other sections are getting blizzards and sub-zero weather, while we have Indian summer.

M. H. Monsen Services Held In Hyrum Ward

Funeral services for Martin Henry Monsen, 69, who died Tuesday at his home, 112 East First North, after a two year illness, were conducted today in the Hyrum Second ward chapel with burial in the Hyrum City cemetery under the direction of the Thompson mortuary of Hyrum.

Mr. Monsen was born in Hyrum, September 5, 1867, a son of Jens M. and Anna Sophia Hansen. He served as custodian of the Logan chamber of commerce for several years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Anna Elison Monsen; two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Grace Morris, Mantell and Edward Monsen, Logan; and Mrs. Edna Nielsen, Hyrum, 29 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren; his mother, who is now past 90 years of age, and three brothers, Wilford Monsen, Hyrum; John Monsen, Corinne; Franz Monsen, Los Angeles.

Services Held For Infant of Narvel Smith

Lewiston—The funeral services for the twin baby of Mr. and Mrs. Narvel Smith was held in the First ward chapel Monday, Dec. 7, at 1 o'clock by Rev. Lewis of the bishopric was in charge. Choir sang "I Need Thee Every Hour"; invocation by Lester Dunkley of Whitney; Eulogy, "Real and Beautiful Home" by Mrs. Ray Harrison and Mrs. Etile Villett; accompanied by Mrs. Alta Harrison; talk by Edward Levitt; music, "Beautiful Land" by L. D. Low of Franklin, Idaho; talk, M. G. Hyer; closing remarks of appreciation from family for services and kindness shown them by people during the illness and death of their baby by Dow Lew, and choir sang "Nearer My God To Thee" benediction by Joseph Bergeson; grave was dedicated by Bishop David O. Hendricks. Interment in Lewiston cemetery.

Words of consolation were spoken, this little child, although its stay was short, brought hope and sunshine into the lives of its parents. It was well born, the greatest heritage bestowed to man.

Large groups of friends from our own and neighboring towns came to do honor to the family of Mr. Smith and to offer their sincere sympathy. The floral offerings were beautiful. This baby boy was a twin; the little girl is the death of their baby by Dow Lew, and choir sang "Nearer My God To Thee" benediction by Joseph Bergeson; grave was dedicated by Bishop David O. Hendricks. Interment in Lewiston cemetery.

New Investment Firm—

J. A. Reeder of Salt Lake City, applicant for a radio broadcasting station in Logan, has determined upon living here and has opened a branch of the Union Investment Company in this city, having taken offices at 137 1/2 North Main street. He will be associated with Bishop O. A. Sonne and will be in a position to finance new building construction under the Federal Housing act. Mr. Reeder expects to have something to announce before long on the broadcasting station here. The Federal Communications Commission met on December 11 to take up the case and past year. "Guss Again" creation of a permit.

JUNE CARLISLE, 15, of Mill Creek, will represent Utah's 4400 4-H club girls in the National Style Revue, to be held in Chicago, December 1, as a feature of the National Club Congress, to which she receives an all-expense trip from the Chicago Mail Order company, sponsor of the contest. Her winning costume was a navy blue-wool sport suit with red blouse and blue accessories, costing $18.25. She won over 100 other county contestants, selected by county and state extension agents.

time" citizen, when Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Rowan, formerly of Ririe, Idaho, were made the proud parents of a five and a quarter-pound baby girl, born Tuesday, December 1.

Giants Get Camilli—
Joseph Camilli, former first sacker for the Logan Collegians, who was farmed out to the Logan club by the Pacific Coast league a few years ago, figured in an important trade league trade this week. Camilli went to the New York Giants in a trade of an outfielder from the Giants crew to the Phillies.

Card of Thanks—
We wish to thank all those who have extended sympathy in any way to us during our deepest trial in the laying away of our husband and father, Jesse L. Rees. MRS. MARION L. REES and Family.

First Born Arrives—
"Tailorier", student trailer city at the college, and last of the epic making flower cities, recently came to do honor to the family of Mr. Smith and to offer their sincere sympathy. The floral offerings were beautiful. This baby boy was a twin; the little girl is the death of their baby by Dow Lew, and choir sang "Nearer My God To Thee" benediction by Joseph Bergeson; grave was dedicated by Bishop David O. Hendricks. Interment in Lewiston cemetery.

They all look alike... but one is a CHAMPION.

The smoothness and ease of a champion fencer in action is a thrilling treat for any one to experience. In whiskeys, too, smoothness counts for a great deal. Windsor, a champion in its price class, is wonderfully smooth and easy. It has a rich, round, ripe flavor that distinguishes it as one of the soundest of all straight bourboas. Yet it is mild and light. Judge Windsor by the standards that you apply to a champion. You will not be disappointed!

CAPACITY CROWD LIKED RING SHOW

Woman Toe Twister Lives up to Expectations of Boxing and Wrestling Fans.

Another capacity crowd jammed the Thatcher arena, Wednesday evening to watch the stirring matches that promoter Bert Danforth had on his slip and punch card. The large crowd eager to see a woman wrestler in a man's ring, came away well pleased with the performance of Betty Butany, one of the few of the lighter sex to dawn the garb of a toe twister. The nimble brunette who threw Phil Spelman was one of the many highlights of the program. Abdul Kahn, wild Turk of the squared ring, threw Bill Powers in a match that brought applause to the pair. This match was scheduled for last Wednesday, but Powers didn't show up, so Kahn in order to please a crowd that had been waiting for a week for the match, went right to work on Powers, and after slaming each other around like a pair of rag dolls, Kahn applied the pressure to Powers' shoulders, who took a dentally has a mighty pair of shoulders, to win the tussle. Jack Christensen, always a favorite in local wrestling circles went the limit with Ray Shaw to gain a draw. In the final and headline fracas Ralph Morley, adonis from Toledo and the idol of thousands of Utah fans, threw ity Shearman in a bout that produced some of the best puffs of this current wrestling season, not only from the crowd, but from the hair pullers themselves, to win two out of three falls. Time was when Ralph was a set up for the handsome nephew of our own "Tey" Devn, but that day has passed and the sport world is hailing another wrestler that cranks out of everything that is clamped on him. former university wrestling star, has had a busy week. He wrestled on New York Monday night, winning over Bill Sledge. Some 18 or 20 hours later, early Tuesday afternoon, he was in Salt Lake City, where he wrestled Tuesday night. Wednesday he showed in Los Angeles. Thursday he took a day off, to change his collar, but resumes the pace tonight at Oakland. Saturday night he greets his old friends in Salt Lake City, and Monday night he wrestles in New York City. It must be fine to be a champion, especially if one can get along indefinitely without sleep.

"Mother," asked Bobby Lee in a hoarse whisper, remembering his experience last week at a funeral...

"I should like to know what is keeping John North?"

"There's one comfort," said Aunt Emma. "The ice-cream is safe in the freezer."

"Mother," cried Kitty, "do you remember that story about the man who walked and he never came and at the stroke of 12 the faint light of dawn came?"

"That's all right," said her mother. "Johnny mightn't it be well to send Bobby home over to his mother's to find out what is the matter?"

"My all means, Helen. I'll start him at once."

"But all John's landlady could tell you was that he had gone some time before, saying he would be back in 30 minutes, and she never saw him since."

"Do anything has happened," Mrs. Wynman answered quietly. "John would come if he could."

"What and what those people mean," said Mrs. Wynman. "How can I face them?"

"Under the whole frigate beauty Mary looked like a ghost as she went to her guests. But she still spoke quietly."

"Something has happened to delay our marriage. We cannot ask you to wait longer. I'll see myself."

"Well," murmured Ella Lamb, but she did not seem to care.

Mary. I can't face you. Someone took my hat...

"Of course," he understood. Go on, John."

"And once when I was excited I wrote her an idiotic letter. But that was before you and I."

"Of course," he reassured him again. "This letter was the silliest piece of foolishness I ever perpetrated."

But just then I got wise to Sybil's tricks and dropped the whole affair. Later on I wrote her another letter with threats of showing you that letter, and I thought if you should see it, Mary."

He made a gesture of despair. "This afternoon, just as I was being dressed, a small boy brought me a letter from you."

"I know how impossible those windows are. I read about like a wild beast trying to break locks at first one, then another. At last I thought of that little door that leads to the bell tower and through it I tried the door. It was locked. The inner doors were locked, too, and I was a prisoner in the vestibule."

"I guess not. We can get the half past seven train. Aunt Jenny will telephone you to break locks at our first traveling dress, and you must rush home and change your wardrobe."

"I should like to know what is keeping John North?"

"There's one comfort," said Aunt Emma. "The ice-cream is safe in the freezer."

Toy Pistols a Menace?

The nation-wide campaign to keep children from playing with toy pistols, launched recently by the American Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations, has failed to strike a responsive chord in the breast of Judge Joseph B. Lindsley of Spokane, Wash., who has handled hundreds of juvenile delinquency cases.

The judge fails to see that letting a youngster play with toy guns is in the slightest degree likely to turn him into a bandit when he grows up.

"The spirit of adventure is born into boys," says the judge. "They want to read 'Dauded Boyne' and other stories of adventure. Then they want toy guns—and, as they grow older, they should have firearms and be taught to use them."

"A man who is following criminal tendencies does not need a gun, if he is determined to commit a crime. Nowadays bandits use a sandbag or a piece of gas pipe as effectively as they do guns."

There is a good deal of sense in the judge's re-who is going to turn out to be marks. The youngster a bad egg needs something more than a 10-cent-store pistol to set his feet in the path of crime.

The above drawing arranged by the Unemployment Compensation Division shows the channels through which the ten phases of the social security program functions in Utah. Note that there are four federal agencies and Utah agencies involved. Of the ten phases nine call for state participation and one, the old age benefit (pension) plan, is operated solely by the federal government. Note especially the difference between Unemployment Compensation, Old Age Benefits (pensions) and Old Age Assistance (aid to needy aged).

In the Old Age Benefit plan the employer and employee each contribute one per cent and in UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION only the employer contributes.

Wild Game Study Now In Good Hands

By ROBERT CROOKSTON

Now we really have a man here who is sold 100 percent on the study of wild game and fish. His name is D. L. Rasmussen. He was sent here to the college by the chief of Biological Survey, Ray N. Darling, the famous cartoonist-sportsman. We will talk about Mr. Darling later in the program. Rasmussen should have the whole-hearted support of every person who loves our wide-open spaces. He gave a talk the other night to a room full of eager listeners here in the Chamber of Commerce. It is extremely interesting to listen to Mr. Rasmussen explain in detail his findings in the research work he and his men are doing.

ment does not have sufficient money to do all the work they would like to. And therefore, every one of us who is interested in the preservation of our fish and game must take it upon ourselves to assist in whatever we see that needs to be done. When we hear of an arrest for violations of the law, phone the judge and tell him to give them the works. The State Fish and Game Assn.

He is owner and publisher of a newspaper somewhere in Iowa. Mr. Darling tried for many years to get the Iowa Legislators to assist in the development of protection of wild game. But the old moss-backs would not show any interest and to several years Mr. Darling spent thousands of dollars of his own money and also continued to edit and cartoons in his paper in an effort to champion development of the fish and game.

When Mr. Roosevelt was selected to head the game department he included this man Darling, cartoonist and newspaper owner, into the office of Chief of Biological Survey.

Mr. Darling then had the opportunity of his dreams and straight away he established machinery for research work, pertaining to wild life in several parts of the United States.

This thing of course means nothing to many individuals, because they can travel a place like Logan canyon, which has a river and such a river, also the entire area covered with pines, aspens, grass, cedar, slder and mahogany, wild deer and elk, coyotes, wolves and lions.

Some individuals can travel this area and never see any of these things we have mentioned. But many of us are conscious of this big playground and we must show these men that we are behind them to the last ditch.

We must remember this, that many people would shoot these deer that stay along the river and highway if they were not afraid of being seen by a forest ranger.

We should all know by now that the State Fish and Game Department is having their convention the last of this week. I am taking this opportunity to ask all my friends who can attend to attend that convention to be sure that they lay off on the whoopies till time and make it strictly a business affair like the Cache Association did in their 3-day convention held just recently. They should at least insist that there shall be no more open season on cow elk.

BEDTIME STORY

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE RATS LEAVE THE BIG BARN

BILLY MINK'S second visit to the big barn had been an occasion of great pleasure to Billy and terror to all the rats who lived there. He had hunted them just for the pleasure of hearing their squeals of fright and the scampering of their feet as they raced this way and that way seeking safety. With his wonderful nose he had followed them to their most secret

"We've got to leave this barn," replied the gray old leader. "I will remain here it will be to die. This milk will stay here, or if it doesn't I will keep coming back and he has hunted down and killed every rat. We must leave the barn, and do it at once. There is no time to be lost. Probably he is asleep now. By the time he awakes we must be out of this barn. The rat who doesn't leave it now never will leave it!"

Immediately there was a great discussion. Every rat was right that the wise old leader was right. But where should they go? It was winter and they could not live long out of doors. They must go to a place where they would find both shelter and food. They might as well remain to be killed by Billy Mink as to go forth and starve or freeze to death. At least that is what some of them said. Some suggested one thing and some another. Finally they agreed to follow the leader for his advice. They had followed him so long that they had learned to trust his advice.

"Two Tickets to Terror" By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

IT WAS just a couple of tickets that started the whole thing. These tickets played the major role in the yarn we're going to hear today.

It was the tickets that started it all, but it was a letter that dragged Auntie into the affair.

It happened this way. The apartment directly over Helen's was occupied by a young couple, the Chesters, with whom she and her husband had recently struck up an acquaintance.

Auntie didn't really wait a lot for the theater. Some time before she had lost her husband, and shortly after that her son had died.

The young couple went out. Auntie is an old-fashioned mother, and so sooner were they out of the home than she set the ironing board in the kitchen and the undergarments in the wash.

Colorful Card Announced by Promoter Danford for Tomorrow Night as Weekly Athletic Show.

Jaquis Eku, said to be the only Eskimo in the world to be following the wrestling profession, reared at Point Barrow, Alaska, will be one of the chief attractions at the weekly wrestling show in Logan tomorrow night. Eku will have as his opponent Floyd Hansen of Pueblo, Colorado.

The headline bout will be between Abdul Kahn, the wrestling tank, and Ralph Morley, Stearn Christensen, the Salt Lake Cup hero having as his opponent Bert Hansen of Oakland, California. Jack Christensen and Wilford Anderson will grapple for twenty minutes or less. There is also a boxing show in the form of a battle royal.

The show is scheduled to appear in the Thatcher Arena at 8:30 prompt.

Hersholt Is Artist With Pen or Role

To the distinguished company of screen actors whose various shades of a career was that of pen and brush artist, add the name of Jean Hersholt.

Hersholt, who plays the Country Doctor in the Twentieth Century-Fox picture, "Reunion," starring the Dionne Quintuplets now as the Capital "Empire" was regarded as a portrait painter of tremendous promise at the Copenhagen Art School, where he won a Master of Arts degree. But shortly thereafter he became interested in the stage and turned to acting abandoning his art career to serve a two and a half years' apprenticeship at the famous Dagmar Theatre. Later he toured his native Denmark and other European countries for many years, winning considerable fame.

In 1918 Hersholt went to San Francisco to do a Danish play at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Thomas Ince saw his work and promptly hired him for pictures. His rise to screen fame, first in silent pictures and then in talking films, was steady.

The along came "The Country Doctor" first feature picture starring the Dionne Quintuplets, in auxiliary organizations were Miss Fern Bulst and Edward Payne, who were sustained as members of the Sunday school stake board.

Mrs. Ophelia Wright, was sustained as a member of the Y. L. M. L. A. board. Mrs. Kate Nielsen and Mrs. Fred Miller were made members of the Primary Stake board.

It was reported that the Hyrum stake has 22 missionaries in the field at the present time. The evening meeting Sunday was under the direction of the stake M. L. A. with Earle Allen in charge. A fine musical program was rendered and some very interesting talks were given by General board members and representatives of the M. Men and Gleason girls dept.

The Parent Teachers association will hold their regular meeting at the Hyrum First ward amusement hall, Wednesday evening, Dec. 16, at 8 p. m. An excellent musical program has been arranged and Mr. Pond, speech director at the South Cache high school district, will be in the form of a social. Everyone is invited and urged to come out.

Logan Stake Entertains

The Logan Stake presidency entertained the stake board members, bishops and ward clerks at their annual social last evening in the First ward amusement hall where a large crowd listened to a well prepared program. The program was as follows: Vocal solos, Jos. A. Mattins, accompanied by Mrs. Furrer; reading, Boyde Puley; musical trio, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Christensen and ErRay Christensen; Christmas dance, Norda Pinlinson and Jean Allen accompanied by Jean Wright; readings, Francis Montrose; the boy soprano, Frank H. Daugh Jr.; and Wallace Loughrey impersonated Santa Claus, who gave a number of gifts to some of the board members. After the program refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed.

Christmas Dance Set

The Logan Junior chamber of commerce will hold a Christmas dance Wednesday at 9 p. m. in the Hotel Eccles. H. Parley Kilbren, president, announced. Le Roy Anderson, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Lyman Checketts, chairman of the attendance committee, are in charge of the arrangements.

PROVIDENCE

Providence—Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hammond left for California where they will visit with their children who reside there.

A number of our poultrymen attended the social of that organization on Friday evening at Logan. The members of the M. M. club held a no-host party on Wednesday evening in compliment to Mrs. Norman Polstrom at the home of Mrs. Max Hammond. Cards formed the entertainment for the evening. A dinner was served at one long table. Beautifully decorated. Places were laid for Mesdames, Ray Mayors, Denton Mathews, Melvin Churg, K. R. Campbell, Lloyd Theurer, Preston Alder, Lamont Pike, Clayton Nielsen, Theron Campbell and LeRoy Zollinger. A gift was presented to Mrs. Puhri-man and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Prie.

Datus Hammond who has been teaching and going to school in California is here with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hammond. Datus has accepted a position at the USAC where he is teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Puhri-man and family will move to Maled in the near future to make their home.

Mrs. Elaine Hansen, Mrs. Adeline Mathews and Mrs. Annie M. Pickett were co-hostesses to the members of the daughters of hand cart pioneers at the Hansen home on Friday afternoon. A program was rendered and luncheon served to twelve.

The MIA of both wards entertained at a drama evening in the pavilion on Tuesday. Plays were given by River Heights and one by each of our wards. They were greatly enjoyed by a real large crowd.

Real Industrial Progress

The Union Pacific Railroad has announced that it will spend $3,000,000 for new engines, new passenger cars, an additional fleet of automobile freight cars, and the air-conditioning, re-equipment and modernization of other passenger cars. This supplements an extensive improvement program which has been carried on during 1936.

A contract has already been awarded for 20 high speed freight and passenger engines, to cost $3,000,000. Bids are now being taken for 40 new passenger coaches and five new "coffee shop" type dining cars. Three hundred automobile cars of record capacity will be built at the system's shops in Omaha. The air conditioning and modernization phase of the project has started, and several hundred additional workers employed.

Here is real industrial progress—the kind of progress that provides employment, stimulates a multitude of other industries through purchases, creates real productive wealth and taxable income and, finally, improves the standards of a vital public service. It is emblematic of the kind of progress being made by other railroads as well.

And this money is being spent in the face of the fact that the railroad industry has a long way to go before it can operate on a generally profitable basis. It is true that both passenger and freight traffic are increasing—it is also true that the lines as a whole are doing little better than breaking even, largely because of our inequitable transport policy that favors other carriers at their expense. Think of the millions that would be spent if we created a policy that gave the railroads a fair competitive break and placed them on an even regulatory basis with their competitors!

Liquor Stores Do Rattling Good Business
 By ROBERT CROOKSTON
 Editor, Cache American:
 Plans are being made for our Legislatures to spend one hundred thousand dollars in an effort to advertise Utah.
 Allright, that part of it is very good and there are several things that should be done at once regarding the advertising of Utah.
 There are about as many things that should be done, as the things we brag about.
 One thing we should keep quiet is this continuous reporting to the world the money our state is making from the profits of liquor.
 Quoting from a recent report, Utah's monopoly in the liquor business has brought $660,829.83 profit in the first 18 months of operating liquor stores, unique. That kind of advertising will do Utah no good. We only have a population of 367,847. A little more than half a million, so there is a lot of drinking for people who pretend to be so damn saintly.
 This profit on liquor does not include the revenue from the beer, which also runs into eight figures.
 So many of us were under the illusion that the infamous experiment, the 18th Amendment, was going to be a cure for all drunkardisms. Then we were equally sure that the state should engage in the booze business.
 It is my personal belief that there is now about 40 empty whiskey bottles littering up every where, to only one of those plain flasks that contained the good old moonshine.
 And I am no angel myself and don't want to be, I know from my own experience that when the flu epidemic was at its worst, the good old moonshine was the best medicine we could get, and if anyone indulged quite freely there was no bad hangover the next day like people get who drink a few pills of this sheep-dip.
 The thing that I don't like is that our state has flooded the market with cheap, inferior liquor and has put the moonshiner out of business. The price of good whiskey is beyond the reach of most of us.
 Just recently France has refused our ships that have a cargo of oranges to enter their ports and this is done in retaliation because we have restrictive tariff against their wines and other liquors.
 Some of us condemn those people for not paying the war debt to us.
 We did not loan them money, we loaned them merchandise.
 They have offered to pay the war debt and we have refused it.
 Why not let them pay us in good liquor and we make it

 By N. C. PETERSON, Deputy Sheriff.

plain to our own distilleries that they must arrange to manufacture enough booze so that there will be no more "new whiskey" on the market. One thing about this distilling business that should be remembered is this. That the people we see upon the streets in a drunken condition only represent a small percent of the number that drink to excess. Most people who get drunk have sense enough to stay out of sight.
 Many of them put on parties in some home and make the night hideous for all the neighbors by their racket.
 Others drive around all night in their car.
 One cure for this is for Mr. Average citizen to collect evidence against the drunken drivers and then attend the trial and insist that the drivers certificate be forfeited.
 Another thing. Tell the students who are hitching, to be sure and safeguard the plumb line against freezing while they are home for Xmas.

A Glorious Tale Of World's Most Colorful City

A new and truly romantic team is brought to the screen in Metro-Cody-Mayer's "San Francisco," playing Sunday at the Capitol Theatre, in Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald.

Clark Gable in "San Francisco" at the Capitol, Sunday

For the first time the rugged two-fisted, jaw-socking Gable of old and the lovely Miss MacDonald with the voice that thrills, are brought together, with Spencer Tracy sharing stellar honors. "San Francisco" has drama, love interest, comedy and spectacle. Gable has the rough and tough type of role in which his screen public likes him best. Miss MacDonald has the ideal part to give her opportunity to sing and when she sings there is a reason for her singing for her songs are a part of the plot. The story, directed by W. S. Van Dyke and produced by Bernard Hyman and John Emerson, is the story of the Barbary Coast of thirty years ago, opening on New Year's Eve, 1906, and continuing through one of the most disastrous dramas of the century, the San Francisco earthquake and fire. Gable is the boss of one of the most popular resorts on the Bar-

Clarey Coast. Miss MacDonald is the small town girl who wanders into his dance hall, filled with ambition to become a great singer. Beginning her career on the Coast she succeeds in raising to operatic heights, but returns to the Coast to sing in lights for the man she loves. Gable has never been seen to greater advantage than in his present role in which he gives performance that stands out for its power and sharply etched character delineation. Miss MacDonald sings songs which range from simple ballads to gloriol operatic arias, surpasses even her superb work in "Rose Marie" and "Naughty Marietta."

Perhaps the greatest surprise of the picture, however, is the strikingly different portrayal of Tracy who abandons his usual tough roles to contribute a sincere and unforgettable portrait of the priest, Father Mullin.

Scoring in the supporting cast are Jack Holt, Jessie Ralph, Ted Healey, Harold Huber, and twenty four former film stars who may be discovered in minor roles.

Needless to say the direction of that ace megaphone, W. S. Van Dyke, sets a high standard for production values. "San Francisco" guarantees entertainment for every member of the family. It is a picture not to be missed!

Claire Trevor Bans Realism In The Future

Near Too, Too Fierced When She 'Parloina' Friends' Gens

Extreme realism may be all right in Russian novels or on the stage, but not in pictures, according to Claire Trevor, who is the romantic lead opposite Coar Romero in the Twentieth Century-Fox thriller, "15 Maiden Lane," currently at the Capitol Theatre.

Claire, who plays a society girl posing as a thief in order to smash a all-baited gang preying on "Diamond Row," steals an emerald pendant from her uncle's secretary to convince Coar Romero of her cookhood. This bit of 'theiving' had to be accomplished while Claire was doing an difficult rumba with Cesar, which made it a neat trick indeed.

The sequence was shot several times and each time Claire bungled in her "tight finger" work. Finally Director Allan Dwan dismissed the cast and announced that the scene would be tried again in the morning.

That evening, Claire worried about her seeming inability to swipe a necklace. She worried about it as she danced with a friend at one of Hollywood's night clubs. But as the orchestra swung into a rumba she suddenly got an idea that stopped the fretting.

She decided to "hit" a friend's necklace just for practice. Claire gave her friends instructions and they danced around the floor, and when Miss Trevor and her companion came close to the other couple she unslipped the necklace and presto! it was gone. Claire was proud of a perfect job. Her elation didn't last long, however, for soon she noticed that people at nearby tables were staring at her in a strange and suspicious way. It didn't dawn on Claire why people were looking at her in this way until a woman danced close to the friend from whom she had taken the necklace and whispered, "that beautiful blonde with your party stole your necklace."

Explanations were made and Claire escaped "arrest" and the "third degree," but nevertheless she was saved off extreme realism in the future.

CORNISH

Cornish-Artistic appointments featured the beautifully arranged toulouse tea given by Mrs. Eph' Bergson last Saturday afternoon in honor of the approaching marriage of her daughter Audrey who becomes the bride of Eileen Hanson son of N. Hanson, Wednesday, December 23, in the Logan temple.

Mrs. Bergson and Mrs. Hanson acted as Miss Bergson in receiving.

Miss Verl Baker of Ogden and Mrs. Douglas Bergson presided at the tea table, which was covered with a lace cloth over yellow satin and centered with a low bowl of yellow and coral chrysanthemums. The young ladies who assisted in serving were Tharred and Joyce Bergson. Mrs. L. H. Baker and Mrs. Omer Handcock had charge of the trossous room. Shirley Baker received the gifts.

Sixty called during the afternoon. A number from here attended the North Cache high school play last Monday evening at the school auditorium in Richmond. Miss Glenda Busham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Busham, was Eileen in the leading role of the drama, "Guess Again." She is a senior at North Cache this year. Clairo report she carried her role thru in a very creditable manner to herself and her school.

A large group of relatives and friends from Lewiston and Weston attended the trossous tea given for Miss Audrey Bergson last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. H. T. Christensen of Salt Lake City spent last week end visiting her sister here.

Mrs. Katie East and daughters of Logan spent last week end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Eberanson.

Orval Peterson of the U. S. A. C. spent last week end in work with relatives.

All people of the ward are invited to attend the Sunday school program, Sunday, December 20.

and the Relief Society program and social, December 23 in the Relief Society room at 2 o'clock. The district school is putting on an operetta, "The Tops That Had to Wait" next Monday, December 21. Much time and effort has been spent in preparation for this school function and they hope to see a large group attending the affair next Monday evening.

Carl Hanson and Andrew Simmonds left Monday morning for Michigan where he left to get a new 1937 Chevrolet. Mr. Gordon Pearce, salesman for the Morgan Auto Company in Downey, made the sale to the above two men.

"Sid Says"

That some "Dumb Chik" tried to demonstrate his "ignorance" by stealing a "Winding Road" sign from the side of the state highway, I reckon he wanted the hundred and some odd "reflector buttons" to doll up his bride or bicycle or sumpin'.

Perhaps if he gets caught with them he'll realize that "All that glitters isn't gold". Then there's the "fifteen cent" persons as Roland Hayes, negro singer; Mercedes' Triple-Mention orchestra; Elmer Rice, playwright; Cornelia Stratton Parker, noted author; and others who were in Lo-an through the efforts of the lyceum committee at the college of which Russell E. Bertson is chairman. Other lyceum members to appear the winter quarter are: John T. Flynn, and Kent Rockwell, two prominent lecturers and artists.

A new personnel guidance program has been outlined for the lower division students to take effect on registration day of the winter quarter, according to Fred W. O. Peterson, Dr. Arden Franden, head of the department of psychology, has been named chairman of the organization. This program, according to Dr. Franden, is to help students make better educational and vocational plans, and to aid them in achieving success in the pursuit of their careers.

Director C. L. Pockock of the public relations department at the college states that approximately 700 students have been given work in various departments of the college, through the facilities of the National Youth Administration, of which he is in charge for the local institution. This fund is very timely and helpful to students who, if they didn't have this opportunity of working, would be unable to attend college. Mr. Pockock states that the work done by students is not only helpful in a financial way, but it gives them a chance to work in their major fields as all students are placed as much as possible in the type of work they want to follow. Professor Walter Witt of the music department has selected the opera "Aida," Egyptian opera by the world famous composer Verdi, to be presented by students at the Capitol theatre, March 8 and 9.

The extension service of the college recently completed a ten-day extensive leadership school for county agents and adult leaders in agriculture and home economics in Utah. The school consisted of general meetings where lecturers were given by outstanding men and women in various fields of agriculture and science. Socials were also given for the leaders during their school period.

County agents, through the extension service at the college, have distributed to farmers in their respective localities money due them from the agricultural program that comes under the old AAA program. From January 1 of this year to the present time the total for corn, wheat, and sugar beet payments is well over half-million dollars.

Dr. Lovoy Nelson, director of the experiment station, was recently named on a national farm tenancy committee in a personal invitation by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Dr. Nelson is one of the delegates from various states throughout the United States to be appointed and he is now in Washington conferring on this matter.

Citizens Seem To Be Getting Pension Minded

Since the campaign and election has been over, the eyes have not set up on the question of the country. Senator Herbert Maw, of Utah, is preparing a bill to present to the state legislature, authorizing a $30 a month pension to all persons over 65 years of age, without any strings attached to the proposition.

Con. Trueman, assistant director of the Townsend plan, is preparing a bill asking the state to appropriate $60 to the aged. Maw, editor of the Bozeler Journal, is trying his hand at drafting a bill calling for $100 per month.

In this county a petition is being circulated, which is directed to the President and the Congress of the United States. It reads: We, the undersigned American citizens, exercising our constitutional right, petition you to enact the Townsend National Recovery Plan into law during the next session of Congress, so that the end that a maximum pension of $300 a month be paid to all citizens over the age of 60 who retire from gainful occupation; that you provide for the expenditure of this money by the issuing of bonds of two per cent transaction tax on every transaction of every kind and character; that you provide for the compulsory operation of the $300 a month pension so as to force the rapid circulation of money; that you provide for the purchase of stocks and commodities from factories, mills, forests, mines and farms, thus creating new jobs to produce the needs of this new market, and end the national depression, which is now in its seventh year. Respectfully submitted.

COVE

Cove—Mrs. Mary Tilsner entertained the Kyle club at her home Saturday. Tables of bridge formed the game of the afternoon. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable time was had. Mrs. Thora Day took high honor score prize.

At our Sunday school Sunday three members of the stake board were present: Mr. Hyde, Mr. Jessup and Miss Bevens. They visited our classes and gave some timely instructions.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Allen and Mrs. and Mr. Charles Allen have returned from their California trip where Mrs. Allen went to consult in the Fresno Bureau speaking concert. They had a wonderful trip but are glad to be home again.

The rain Tuesday night made the roads nearly impassable. The coating of ice makes it almost impossible to keep cars on the highway. Our school bus, under driver S. W. Allen, could not make the hill at Stratton, and children had to walk to Stratton. Allens were another bus was sent to pick them up.

Another very interesting Mutual was held Tuesday evening. You, over there, come out it would sure do you good. Our young girls with their teachers and invited friends entertained at the home of Miss Zenda Harrison on Wednesday evening. A waffle supper with all of its accompaniments was served after which Bunco was played for a time. The evening ended in the singing of many songs. Those present were: Norma Harrison, Hyde Park; Zenda Harrison, Cove; Dorothy Levitt, Cornish; Edna Allen, Cove; Itha Johnson, Benoni; Bush Allen, Cove; Ethel Day, Cove; Grace Day, Cove; Garnet Cornish, Cove; Mary Hendricka, Cove.

Miss Carol Hain has been confined to her home with a bad cold, bordering on pneumonia and not much. Others were detained because of the dangerous condition of the roads.

W. H. Bell, registrar at the college announced. Students registering for the winter quarter for the first time will have the opportunity to begin courses in practically all of the major schools. Mr. Bell states:

Board Issues Statement Of Security Act

regardless of the amount of property or income you may have. They are what the law calls "old age benefits" under the social security act. If you prefer to keep on working after you are 65, the monthly checks from the government will continue to come to you whenever you decide to retire.

The Amount of Your Checks

"How much will you get when you are 65 years old will depend entirely on how much you earn in wages from your industrial or business employment between January 1, 1937 and your 65th birthday. A man or woman who sets good wages and has a long life can expect as much as $53 a month for life after age 65. The least he or she can expect is $10 a month for life after age 65.

If You Are New Young

"If you are under age 62 a week and are young enough now to go on working for 40 more years, you can average of $23 a week for 52 weeks in each year, your check when you are 65 years old will be $53 a week for the rest of your life. If you make $50 a week, you will get $74.50 a month for the rest of your life after age 65.

If You Are Now Middle-Aged

"But suppose you are about 35 years old now and have 10 years to work before you are 65. Suppose you make only $15 a week for the next 10 years. When you stop work at age 65 you will get a check of $19 each month for the rest of your life. If you make $25 a week for 10 years, you will get $23 a month from the government as long as you live after your 65th birthday.

If You Die Before Age 65

"If you should die before you reach to get your monthly checks, your family will get a payment in cash, amounting to 3 1/2 cents on every dollar of wages you have earned after 1936. If, for example, you make $50 a week and die at age 45, you will have earned $53 a week for 10 years before that time, your family would get $53. On the other hand, if you have not worked enough to get the regular monthly checks by the time you are 65, you will get a lump sum, or if you should die, your family would get a lump sum. The amount of this, too, will be 3 1/2 cents of every dollar of wages you earn after 1936.

"The same law that provides these old age benefits for you and other workers, sets up certain new laws to be paid to the United States government. These

by CHARLES BUTTERWORTH

It's always made my blood boil to hear people say, "Butterworth, you know—this absent-minded fellow." And yet, as I look back over my career, what else but amnesia could have caused me to drift from the throes of law, through newspaper work, to the musical comedy stage, then to the screen and now to radio.

Believe me, my clients, when I say this I had always wanted to be in law. You will admit the very thought of an English barrister with his rather attractive wife (which I later learned American solicitors never dream of) might appeal to any youthful imagination. And for some reason, it was with me. I accepted law as a career. The Butterworth tradition held that the eldest son had always born the torch of his generation, and this time the whippers of Old Main Time were due to be singled.

me into signing a stage contract. And so I appeared in "Americana," "Flying Colors," and "Good Boy," and woke up one day in Hollywood. My introduction to radio was produced by more absent-mindedness. This time it was my old friend, Fred Astaire, who forgot that I was engaged to be a comedian, and engaged me as a talent scout for his Tuesday night series over NBC. But in truth the new assignment was second nature to me for I really discovered such stars as Greta Garbo and Carole Lombard. Say, I almost forgot—it was the Butterworth eye which uncovered Astaire himself.

What you get from the government plan will always be more than you have paid in taxes and usually more than you can get for yourself by putting away the same amount of money each week in some other way.

"Wages and employment" were ever used in the foregoing manner and employment as defined in the social security act.

What you get from the government plan will always be more than you have paid in taxes and usually more than you can get for yourself by putting away the same amount of money each week in some other way.

CACHE DISTRICT
The Cache District held its Court of Honor Sunday evening, December 13, at Hyde Park with Leonard Warden acting as Chairman. The following program was carried out:
Flag ceremony, Troop 17, Hyde Park.
District Chairman, Alvin Hess, introduced the following Scouters present: Dr. A. J. Evans, Regional Committeeman, Mr. M. J. Paul-

TRAINING COURSE ENDS
The Approved Training Course which has been conducted as a credit course at the U. S. A. C. under the leadership of Deputy Commissioner Lynn Richardson, was completed Wednesday evening, December 16. The group met in final session at the Scout Headquarters where they enjoyed a period of socialibility and fellowship.
During the Winter Quarter at the U. S. A. C. a course in the Principles of Scoutmastery will be given to Scouts who are receiving credit only, or both. It will be conducted regularly Wednesday afternoons from 12 to 2 p. m. All Scouters who can arrange to meet these hours should plan to register for the course.

WINTER VACATION CAMP
The Explorer Scouts and all Scouters of the Cache Valley Council are planning to participate in a Winter Camp at the Temple Cave at the forks of Logan river. This is a real Scout-like camp and should be participated in by those who are in perfect health and can take it. Winter camping is a real Scout-like experience. It isn't nearly as bad as it sounds if one is really prepared for it. Scouters and Explorer Scouts, plan for the day. Date, December 28 and 29.

FRANKLIN SCOUTERS MEET
The Franklin Scouters met in their regular monthly district meeting Monday, December 14, in Preston. The Commissioners met at 6:30 at the home of Commissioner W. Harold Handley. The District officers convened at 7 p. m. at the Franklin Stake headquarters where they were joined by the Troop Scouters at 8 p. m. There was a fine attendance of enthusiastic Scouters. Franklin District is going ahead.
BENSON DISTRICT TO MEET
The Scouters of the Benson District will hold their regular monthly District Meeting and the Second Session of their Training Course, Monday evening, December 21, at 7:30 p. m. in conjunction with the regular M. I. A. Leadership Meeting. All Scouters are urged to be present and dispense with their assignments for the Training course. A Court of Review for the Court of Honor to be held at Clarkston on the 22nd will also be conducted by the Court of Honor Chairman Dr. T. W. Javik.

FRANKLIN DISTRICT EXPLORERS ORGANIZE
Under the leadership of Explorer Commissioner Orion Jensen, the Explorer Scouts of the Franklin District have completed an organization consisting of a representative Scout from each Explorer Troop which is organized into a committee known as the Explorer Scouts of the District. This committee will be under the direct supervision of a District of Scouts director of Explorer activities. The Explorer representative committee will plan and execute the major portion of the program in the near future.

NEW PAPER CLUB REPORTERS APPOINTED
Scout Gordon Maughan of Troop 23, Preston, Idaho, and Explorer Scout Richard Bullock of Preston have been appointed as Press club reporters from their territory. Welcome into the club, fellows. We'll be glad to get your news.
NEW BOYS' LIFE PLAN
A new subscription offer for Boys' Life: the official Scout Magazine has recently been announced by the National Council Boy Scouts of America. It is as follows: Every Scout upon registering, whether he be new or re-enrolling, will receive a certificate which will be good for the amount of 25 cents if he forwards it within 30 days to the Boys' Life Publishers along with 75 cents, for a year's subscription to this greatest of boys' magazines! Any Troop at the time of re-enrolling if it secures five subscriptions for Boys' Life to accompany its Annual Troop registration may receive a year's subscription for the price of 75 cents per year whereas the old plan required that 10 boys or more must subscribe in order to get the 75 cent rate. Any Scoutmaster who secures three $100 subscriptions either from Scouts, parents or boys generally, will receive one full year's subscription for his efforts. Boys' Life is really the interpreter of the ideals of Scouting; it makes a great Christmas gift for Scouts.

TROOP REGISTRATIONS
During the past week the following Troops have reported their 1937 registrations: Troop 23, Hyrum First Ward; Troop 2, Logan First Ward; Troop 57 and Explorer Troop 157, Richmond North Ward; Troop 17 and Explorer Troop 117, Hyde Park; and Troop 16 and Explorer Troop 116, Logan Third Ward.
The Troop registration condition of the Districts stands as follows: Logan: 5 registered, 14 unregistered; 4 Cache: 6 registered, 11 unregistered; Hyrum: 1 registered, 15 unregistered; Onida: 1 registered, 17 unregistered; Franklin: 17 registered, 1 unregistered; Benson: 5 registered, 20 unregistered; Wyota: 1 registered, 9 unregistered.
TROOP 54 VISITS COLLEGE
Under the leadership of Scoutmaster Charles Jensen, 10 Scouts of Troop 54, visited the college on Saturday, December 12. They reported at the college where a member of the Forestry department conducted the Troop over the campus and gave them instructions and contact with the many trees on the campus. The Scouts and Mr. Jensen were very enthusiastic about what they had received and returned home better and wiser Scouts.
DEAR SCOUTERS, PARENTS, AND FRIENDS OF SCOUTING:
You are undoubtedly aware of the fact that the Boy Scouts of America publishes a monthly magazine, BOYS' LIFE, which is of interest to all boys. This magazine has become the leading boys' magazine published, and is continually raising in popularity. I am very much interested in seeing to it that a maximum number of boys throughout the country receive BOYS' LIFE regularly. Your boy friends, I am sure, would sincerely appreciate receiving some little remembrance from you at Christmas time.
BOYS' LIFE is such an easy gift to give. For only a few cents and a stain of Christmas shopping crowds. A year's subscription to BOYS' LIFE costs one dollar. If you will write out your gift list and mail it direct to the Scout office with your check, I will see to it that every boy on your list receives a copy of the Christmas issue of BOYS' LIFE and your gift will be acknowledged by a handsome Christmas card.
Trusting that you will react favorably to the suggestion that I am making, thus aiding me in my endeavor to make this worthwhile magazine available to more boys, I am,
Sincerely Yours,
(Signed) D. A. R. Cutler, President.

Stockholders Meeting
The regular annual meeting of the Stockholders of the National Bank of Logan, Utah, will be held in its banking room on Tuesday, January 12, 1937, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the election of directors and the transaction of such other business as may be proper.

Far Too Much Drinking In This State

By ROBERT CROOKSTON
Don't you know that drinking business we were talking about...

Just the same there are far too many of our people over doing this boozing.

A good quality of liquor would be in your mind and body so much.

25 years ago there were only about a dozen men in this town...

Utah has been in the business 18 months and gross sales have been $5,323,514.35.

It is of course going to be a big job to get some of our people to drink with moderation...

Now you take a self-sufficient person such as I. T. H. and...

Now folks this is a serious affair and the city...

national qualifications.

There are 20,000 Chiropactors in the United States and half as many Osteopaths. The Chiropactor has won legal recognition in forty-one states of the nation and three provinces of Canada. In these states, the drugless profession have their own board of examiners. These boards are empowered to issue licenses to qualified practitioners. The chiropactor does not administer drugs, nor perform surgery. Only certified graduates, with high school diploma, or its equivalent, are allowed to enter Chiropactic college, and a minimum of three years of study in college is required. The Chiropactic student spends more hours of study in the necessary and required basic subjects than does the medical student, who in a four-year course, is expected to master surgery and drugs as well as the basic subjects. Before he can obtain a license to practice Chiropactic, the student must have graduated from an accredited college. He is now required to pass an examination in such basic subjects as anatomy, physiology, histology, chemistry, pathology, bacteriology, diagnosis, hygiene and public health, as well as in Chiropactic principles and practices.

A simple study of this question will show that there is no need or public demand for basic science laws. Present statutes governing the healing arts provide a double protection to the people—graduation examinations at accredited colleges and licensing examinations by state examining boards for each profession, without the discriminatory practices indulged in by Basic Science Boards. Such a law will simply create another (duplicate) board for the taxpayers to support.

From this, it can be seen that Basic Science aims at the gradual elimination of drugless therapy. These laws are sponsored by the medical profession. They restrict competition and legalize monopoly. To the uninformed citizen, Basic 1936, so vividly demonstrates to all.

But can a major party survive in isolation in which its office holders—who are the sole source of the patronage that is so vital to any political machine—are reduced to the lowest number in history?

This question is now being considered privately by Republican leaders and publicly by practically all of the country's publicists and political commentators.

Under the American elective system, a party can receive a respectable popular vote and still be out in the cold when the time comes for calling the roll in Congress, State legislatures and municipal councils. That is what happened in 1936. Governor Landon polled around 27 per cent of the popular vote—but received only 14 per cent of the Electoral College vote. Republican candidates throughout the country polled about 11,000,000 votes as against about 27,000,000 for the Democrats—yet, they were victorious in only a microscopic proportion of the contests.

DRY KINDLING—That is the kind you need these mornings.

—By Fred Nordley

Best example of this is the House of Representatives. It was universally conceded, before November 3, that the Republicans would make gains, irrespective of who was the President. Democratic spokesmen said hopefully that these gains would not amount to more than 10 or 20 seats, while Republicans claimed they would gain well over 100 seats. Non-partisan commentators placed Republican gains at 40 to 50 seats.

Actual result was startling. Instead of gaining seats, the Republicans lost 15. Instead of losing seats, the Democrats gained 13. Farmer-labor candidates gained 13.

In the Senate it was mathematically impossible for the Republicans to achieve control, but everyone thought they would have a better showing next Congress than last. Result: The GOP lost 6 seats, the Democrats gained 5. The discrepancy of one is explained by the reelection of Senator Norris in Indiana, in which the Republicans thought they would have a better showing next Congress than last. Result: The GOP lost 6 seats, the Democrats gained 5.

Never did minor candidates—Prohibitionist, Socialist, Communist, etc.—make a difference. In post-war history, only third-party leaders to make a strong showing was Senator La Follette, who polled more than 4,500,000 votes in 1924.

Job Rash: Into the office of Oklahoma Baptist University rushed Horace Del Pozzo. He explained breathlessly: "I saw an advertisement where you wanted some additional students to work." He was told: "Why that ad appeared last year." He replied: "Well, I couldn't get around then but I thought maybe you could use me this year." P.S. He got the job.

—By L. Antonette

What will happen remains to be seen. The hard fact is that no major party ever was at so low a state as the GOP is at present—the Democrats in their hungriest days always had a large representation in Congress, governorships, state legislatures, municipal councils, etc. But politics is a surprising game—and the unprecedented can always occur. One guess as to what will happen to the two-party system in the next four years is as good as another.

For Father Coughlin of the Union Social Justice promoted before election that if his worst candidate, William Lemke, did not poll 9,000,000 votes, he would go off the air. Father Coughlin is now off the air. Mr. Lemke having polled only about 500,000 votes.

Christmas Celebration In Mendon

A big Christmas celebration for Christmas day has been arranged by the Sunday School Superintendent, Claud A. Sorensen, A. K. Wood and Fred Taylor.

The program will commence at 10 A. M. Floyd Morgan of the USAC will read a Christmas story. At 11:30 the children will draw toys from two large trees. At 2:00 p. m. a children's dance will be given. Free to all. 3:00 p. m. the tap dancing class of Miss Virginia Wade of Smithfield will give a program.

In the evening at 7:30 the Mendon Eagles will play Basketball with a team from Logan. This will be followed by a dance for the Sunday School Superintendent. The Mendon orchestra will furnish the music. Every one welcome.

Utah Orchards Will Get Check For Disease

Plaza are under way for a complete survey to be made throughout Utah for the detection of peach mosaic disease, according to Dr. A. L. Stark, extension horticulturist at the Utah State Agricultural college. The survey which will begin in May, will be made under the direction of the division of entomology and quarantine of the United States department of agriculture in cooperation with the state department of agriculture, the college experiment station, and the college extension service.

to be in all tissues of the tree. Since peach mosaic is a newly discovered disease, growers in this section are not thoroughly familiar with its appearance. Dr. Stark urges that suspected mosaic trees be reported to him at the Utah State Agricultural college at Logan or to the county agent.

New Farm Plan Gives Time for 1937 Planting

The announcement of the 1937 agricultural conservation program last week, more than three months earlier than in 1936, will give farmers ample opportunity to study the plan and to make their definite programs for this year.

Utah Orchards Will Get Check For Disease

The light-yellow areas are most evident in streaks parallel to the midrib of the leaf. Later in the summer a marked shortening of the internodes is noticeable. Due to this shortening of the internodes, the leaves of the tree cluster to give the general appearance of the common potato.

Community meetings will be held in January for the purpose of electing community committees and completing the county committee, and explaining the general outlines of the 1937 program. Farmers will be given opportunity to meet individually with their local committees or county agent to find out just how the 1937 program applies to their farms. At this time every farmer will have a opportunity to sign a work sheet. Every farmer who thus has a chance to know before planting time how much the 1937 program can mean to him...

Behind Jail Bars—Joseph Jonas, 19; Ray Andrews, 21, and Paul Harris, 31, all of Richmond, were bound over to the district court Monday by Judge Jesse F. Rich, under bonds of $1000 each. The men are charged with second-degree burglary and waived preliminary hearing in the city court. They are alleged to have stolen grain from George E. Doty of Richmond, who signed the complaint. They are being held in the county jail, being unable to furnish the bonds.

AND here's a tale from Mrs. Alma Heyer of Red Bank N. J. — a tale of horror that might keep you awake nights, and a tale of the woman's bravery that I can't help but admire...

It was a Thursday. Alma remembers that because it was the cook's day off, Alma was working as waitress and between meals she took care of the children of her employer...

The two kids were playing together outdoors, and Alma was petting the pelican. Suddenly her own boy Henry ran into the house. "Mother," he cried, "there's a big gray dog in the yard. It was biting me, and now it's biting Teddy."

When she got to the yard, she saw the dog with its mouth on Henry's neck. She ran to the door and tried to drive away that dog. She got out of the door and stopped dead in her tracks. The animal that had Teddy was not a dog, it was a wolf...

V. R. Carver, D. D. Young had charge of the program.

Santa Claus arrived with plenty of carnival equipment, which helped create the real hilarious good old Christmas spirit at the dance which followed the dinner.

Mrs. J. Paul Burgess won the Ladies Prize, and Mrs. J. C. Denton the guest prize. Prizes were awarded by the winners holding the lucky number at a drawing held during the dance.

A WORD TO THE SICK AND SUFFERING

Fill themselves with patient endurance.

Call the Doctor with his poisons, seek the Christian Science healer.

Beat the tom-tom of the savage, Build the Altar, burn the incense, Seek to aid the wraith of death, Pray to Saints and God and Angels.

Not to cure the ill within them, Not to cleanse and purify them, Just to calm the pain that hurts them.

Just to kill the guide that warns them.

Pain am I, but when you know me, When you once have learned my secret.

How I come to help and bless you, Warn you, guide you, teach and lead you.

When you know my loving nature.

How at first I gently twinge you, Lightly sting you as a warning, Hoping thus, by kind reminder, You will hear my voice and listen.

Burn am I that when you know me, You will gladly then embrace me.

Call me friend and give me welcome.

Call me friend and ask my message.

III

This, the message I would bring you,

This the reason for my visits,

This the warning I would give you,

This the secret I would teach you.

When you learn to live as nature,

In her great and boundless mercy,

In her tender loving kindness,

In her wisdom and her goodness,

Mean that then should live and labor,

When you learn to shun her by ways,

Leading off to vicious habits,

When you learn these things I've to say,

Strong and clean and pure and active,

Give it work in right proportion,

Give it air and food and water,

Fit to build its every member,

Fit to nourish every function,

When you teach your mind and spirit,

Pure and noble thoughts to barber, Drive out fear and hate and malice,

Charish love and kindly motive,

When you learn these things I've told you,

When you know them, when you do them,

Then I will depart and leave you, Then no more will pain be needed.

IV

This is, then, the truth I bring you,

That I hurt you but to warn you, Not to harm you but to heal you,

That I come to guide and teach you,

I am God's most blessed angel,

Sent to point the way to virtue, Sent to teach the noblest manhood,

Sent to fill the mind with wisdom,

V

Love me, trust me, heed my message,

I will bring peace and bless you.

That Beautiful Array

By JESSE BILL

Thirty years have over us flown, Thirty years have passed, and gone,

The streets, tonight, are all aglow, Not much like this thirty year ago.

No more we hear the sleigh-bell chime, Merry hearts singing to them in rhyme,

No more we race along the open street, Trying to see which one could beat. The streets, then, were clean and white,

And many hearts were merry, O, so light,

As around the corners they would go, Hailing with delight the dazzling snow.

What cared they the glory of their town, They were happy with a glory all their own,

They raced, with hearts free from care, Laughing hilariously on the wintry air.

But, then, time in Her conquering grace, All of these pleasures, from us, 'e'face,

And from the realm of man-made glory, Nearly erased that Wondrous Story.

Of Jesus, born in a manger, far, far away,

That brings so much joy on Christmas Day,

Not him who has given his stern decree,

That a brilliant display is all we can see.

That the stars we see high on the steeple,

—So wondrously displayed to all the people,

And the lines of glory that touch the ground,

Are all the joys that this year will abound.

Tonight I watch with a growing alarm,

That some Wayfarer may come to harm.

As they pass over the slippery street, So badly covered with snow and sleet,

And as I pass along, in my mind, I ponder,

And at this display, in silence, I wonder,

The thousands who gaze on this gala array,

Will have all they need on this Christmas Day.

MILLVILLE

Millville—The Primary organization held their conference on Sunday evening with President Hilma Humphreys in charge. An interesting program was rendered. Isabel Wilson and Lulu McBride of the Hyrum Stake Primary board were present. A large crowd of parents and children were in attendance at the conference.

Mrs. Blanch Hoodless has spent the past few days at Dayton with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Larson.

A farm bureau meeting was held in the school house on Monday evening under the direction of President Peter Peterson. Martin Reeder of Hyde Park was in attendance. He gave an excellent report on what had been accomplished by the committee of the Cache County dairy association in regard to our present price of butter. Jap. Vaughan Scott was elected a director, representing the Millville dairymen for the ensuing year.

The Mahoning in connection with the acting ward ward teachers have conducted their yearly visit to the members of the ward.

After dinner, Domini left for his room, and fulfilling her function as hostess, she was not far from the door when she saw the light of Trevigne's men were faring as Batoch entered into the tent with a bottle of liquor for Boris and da Trevigne. It was a fine cordial, he explained, called Laganaria, and it was good for the nerves, even to the extent of giving with their scraps from death, and she was enjoying herself in their company when, looking up, she saw de Trevigne walking toward them. It was a strange look on his face.

"Good night, Madame," he said with cold politeness, and then, to the argument, in a voice like the cracking of a whip, "Sergeant, get your men here. We march at dawn!" Domini had Batoch with her to look after her, but she herself took up the tent in the camp. She waved it back and forth, but she was not answering. Then in the darkness behind her she saw a light. "Look, that is not a shadowy form. Voices speak, and they sound like the voices of mad men." She was trying to be anxious in the vicinity, and Boris decided there was something to be gained by sending a spy to look at the tent, and he ran to him.

FARMERS AND DAIRY HERDS PROFITABLE

Cove—The year of 1936 has dealt very kindly with the people of Cove. Our harvest of grain and hay were away from the average. The farmers told me they were never so well returned for the labor of his hands.

The returns from our dairy herds has brought to our homes many of the comforts of life.

Many of young and middle-aged men have had employment in factories and elsewhere so that there is no one in our little community. We have been blessed abundantly so that there is no one in our little community.

Some few improvements have been made in the town and we are now moving in that they may enjoy all the comforts that go with a strictly modern home.

Alfred Allen has built a home and store combined. Aldon Combs has finished an addition to his home and it keeps a number of fine dairy cows.

E. H. Allen and Fred Tison have each added a screen porch to their homes and have put all modern conveniences in for their pleasure and comfort. Brother and Sister Rich have each added a screen porch which makes it more pleasant and comfortable for their family.

Health Commissioner Points out Dangers of Colds

The careless attitude toward common colds is responsible for much human suffering, and to call attention to this failure to keep your body in a healthy condition of danger to health, Dr. J. L. Jones, State Health Commissioner, gives the following timely suggestions.

Ordinarily, at this season of the year certain of the common colds are in evidence everywhere.

Over ninety per cent of all cases of contagious diseases are contracted either through "the nose or throat. Some one coughs or sneezes and fills the atmosphere with germ laden spray, and you breathe the seeds of their disease. These seeds are in the air, waiting for a chance to enter the body. The most effective measure for accomplishing this is to destroy them at their source. This means the covering of the nose and mouth with tissues, or through contact with towels, cups, or other drinking or eating utensils the sick person is spreading his disease as passively as to others.

The first principle of disease prevention is to prevent the germ from entering the body. The most effective measure for accomplishing this is to destroy them at their source. This means the covering of the nose and mouth with tissues, or through contact with towels, cups, or other drinking or eating utensils the sick person is spreading his disease as passively as to others.

Body resistance, the other factor in avoiding disease, means sane and hygienic living. It requires more than the germ to induce a case of disease. A person's resistance is important to maintain such a condition of health that the germs will not grow, even if they enter the body, as it is to keep them away from the body.

At this season of the year body resistance is frequently called upon to do a man-sized job and often fails. This failure is not due to body equipment, but to the condition in which it finds itself. The presence of diseased tonsils, infected teeth and other foci of infection, the lack of fresh air and sunshine, and inadequate supply of nourishing food, insufficient sleep, improper clothing, mental and physical fatigue and other causes, lack of proper exercise and recreation; over-heated quarters, chilling of the body, constipation, etc., these are the important factors which render body resistance ineffective.

Winter time should be a real friend to everyone and it is to the well conditioned individual, but to the "half-brave" it may have quite the opposite effect. The cold season is the best time to hear of it till that day. Then Abraham presented Ambelech with sheep and oxen and made a covenant. But he had been seven ewe lambs, and gave them as a witness that he had dug the well wherefore the place was called Beerseba; being the place where the covenant was made. Ambelech and his captain then returned into the land of the Philistines. — Gen. 21:22-32.

HYRUM CITY IMPROVED THROUGH PAST YEAR

Great White Way Brightens City Streets—Meters Measure Water to Citizens.

By Lila N. Peterson

Hyrum—During the past year a great many improvements have been made in our city in the various city departments through government channels and individual improvements on personal property. Altogether they have increased the beauty of our home town and helped make it a better place in which to live.

A few of the improvements that have been made by the city should be mentioned, perhaps the most conspicuous of the new white way lighting along main street. All old wooden poles have been removed and iron poles with a plain white globe have been placed on each side of the main thoroughfare for four blocks. The lighted ball park is another big improvement, and Hyrum is the only city in northern Utah with such fine well-lighted ball grounds. This work was all under Councilman William H. Terry and supervisor R. B. Mansueti.

In the water department extensive repair work has been done on the water pipes. The water meters have been installed, and Hyrum is now receiving water in town received from all the city. They can be paid for only when used, and at a very low rate. Hyrum charged as low as any city in the United States, that has water in its system. The water was analyzed at the state laboratories and found to be 90 per cent pure, with iron and degree cold. A large filtering tank was built in the canyon at the head of the pipe, where the water emerges from the hillside. This filtering tank is partly beneath the surface, the water is used, never seen, and the unit it comes out of our taps use for.

This department has Councilman Earl E. Smith as supervisor. The streets and sidewalks have been repaved and the sidewalks repaved or new ones put in their place. The roads have been kept well graded and the sidewalks have been about nine blocks of new cement sidewalk laid. Councilman J. Paul Burgess has charge of this department and Elroy Olson is supervisor.

The dedication of the Jim Bridger monument and the Hyrum dam was a big item in the events of the year.

On June 8 and 9 one of the finest celebrations in the history of this city was staged. The Hyrum dam has been under construction for two years and on June 8th was turned over to the Bureau of Reclamation to the South Cache ward men.

At the time of this writing, farmers who have received water from this dam have been very grateful that this project was undertaken and completed. It will increase the value and productivity of many acres of heretofore practically useless land.

The monument was erected at a spot overlooking the Hyrum country, at the crest of the dam. It was near this point where Jim Bridger and his men had cached more than $15,000 worth of valuable furs. This is indeed a historic spot.

Individuals have painted their houses, barns, fences, rebuilt some things and a great many improvements have been made in their surroundings and grounds. We may also mention the addition now under construction at the South Cache high school. It will include class rooms, library and swimming pool. It is indeed an asset for our community.

The football team of the South Cache high school made a remarkable record during the football season this fall. The boys were under excellent supervision. They were good clean winners with much determination and they nearly captured the regional championship. Although they did not receive this distinction they did have bestowed upon them an honor as they were selected to go to Las Vegas, Nevada to meet that team.

Thanksgiving day. They did some fine playing and the patrons and patronesses of the school are very proud of them.

The numerous improvements developed during the past year cannot all be mentioned. We are proud of them and we expect to put over many more worthwhile things during the coming year. We are glad to see the new city one for others to come as an example of an up-to-the-minute, progressive, friendly, and friendly community.

There is one common cause, to continue to grow, to learn, to improve, to become better men and women and to always obey the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Ted Thatcher Visits College From Idaho

Ted Thatcher, former college student and fencing instructor, returned to the college Wednesday for a short visit. He has been named as the new member doing government entomological research in forestry.

Ted Thatcher and one of his former pupils, Linden Castle, who is an instructor of fencing on the Aggie campus, staged an exhibition performance for the members of the regular fencing class and several interested outsiders.

"Most of it I picked up by myself," he stated, "and I can't remember the number of points he did on the target and gave me important points on form."

Paul Thatcher of Ogden was president of the Ball Lake chapter of the Amateur Fencers' league of America last year.

"To me, fencing is then out of fashioning of all sports. I can't remember the number of points he did on the target and gave me important points on form."

"To me, fencing is the most doing has given him little opportunity for regular combat, he has tried to develop his footwork and form."

"There is much that can be learned from a plain and mask," Mr. Thatcher added.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

Edited by DR. DAVID H. REIDER, Kansas City, Missouri

THIS CHRISTMAS I have no way of knowing how many people this may reach. The possibilities are great. No matter how far you live in low walk or high station. I take this opportunity to wish one and all a very, very MERRY CHRISTMAS.

And while we are on the subject of Christmas, let's pause a while to consider what Christmas is and is not.

Christmas is the celebration by all Christian peoples of the birthday of Jesus Christ. It is symbolized by the giving of gifts, one to another.

Christmas is not the commercial enterprise that many would turn it into.

Pause and look about you and see what one little thing you can do to gladden the heart of someone, who, without this thing, that you can do will have a very dreary Christmas. If everyone would do just one little thing for someone less fortunate than they on this Christmas think of the tremendous good that can be done.

Many and many a home this Christmas will be alive and cheerful with the Spirit of Christmas and there it will have stopped, in their desire to see that their own home is cheerful, they neglected to remember the real spirit of Christmas. Remember that Christmas is not a matter of your intake of food during the holidays. The unthinking eating of large amounts of sweets and eating heavy meals takes the toll of lives and health at the Yuletide.

Last year I had a patient who was recovering nicely from an ailment and was following instructions carefully. Christmas holidays came and she visited out of the city with relatives. There she ate heartily of all that was presented and when she returned from her vacation she was back to where she had been three months previously. She had to have all her organs examined and to health. A needless sacrifice.

A letter from a grateful patient says: "May your Christmas be as happy as will permit. The greatest present I have ever received is already here, my health."

May you have, one and all, the same Christmas, gift-abundant and abundant health.

Address questions to Dr. David H. Reider, St. Nevada City, California.

River Heights Folk Appreciate Water System—Logan Employs Number of Heads of Families.

By Mrs. John Lundberg

River Heights—Another year has soon gone by and this little town southeast of Logan named River Heights is growing slow but sure. During the year six births have been reported. There was also two deaths.

There has been a number of families moved into the ward, and four new houses have been erected. There is a fine home on the east of the store. Mr. William C. Bowen has erected a fine building. Arthur Olson and Melvin Regton came to a close for 1936 with the passing of November. Idaho started the season off on September 5 with a special issue for 150 antelope. The season for 1936 antelope. The season for 1936 antelope. The season for 1936 antelope.

Mr. Lundberg says that the water system will give a great deal of pleasure to our town. Thanks to the effort of J. Karl Wood who worked hard to get it done. He certainly has to give him credit for our good system.

Game Hunting Season Closed With November

Big game hunting in the National Forests of the Intermountain Region came to a close for 1936 with the passing of November. Idaho started the season off on September 5 with a special issue for 150 antelope. The season for 1936 antelope. The season for 1936 antelope.

Under the direction of our Board of Game and Fish, many improvements have been made in our village.

The ward meeting house has been renovated. The attendance at all religious meetings has increased. Ninety-eight per cent of the students at North Cache are enrolled for seminary work.

Elders aid sponsored by the L. D. S. church was put over in a bigger and better way than ever before.

The new gymnasium at our school house has been available for the use of our ward, which is a great pleasure for our people. Water meters have been installed in all houses in Cache and have been added to our streets, also Christmas decorations using colored lights. All roads have been improved and snow fences placed within the city limits.

A skating pond is about ready for use and a water project that will furnish more water for city use is under way.

THIS CHRISTMAS I have no way of knowing how many people this may reach. The possibilities are great. No matter how far you live in low walk or high station. I take this opportunity to wish one and all a very, very MERRY CHRISTMAS.

And while we are on the subject of Christmas, let's pause a while to consider what Christmas is and is not.

Christmas is the celebration by all Christian peoples of the birthday of Jesus Christ. It is symbolized by the giving of gifts, one to another.

Christmas is not the commercial enterprise that many would turn it into.

Pause and look about you and see what one little thing you can do to gladden the heart of someone, who, without this thing, that you can do will have a very dreary Christmas. If everyone would do just one little thing for someone less fortunate than they on this Christmas think of the tremendous good that can be done.

Many and many a home this Christmas will be alive and cheerful with the Spirit of Christmas and there it will have stopped, in their desire to see that their own home is cheerful, they neglected to remember the real spirit of Christmas. Remember that Christmas is not a matter of your intake of food during the holidays. The unthinking eating of large amounts of sweets and eating heavy meals takes the toll of lives and health at the Yuletide.

CLARKSTON PROSPERS DURING YEAR

By Mrs. M. Goodey

Clarkston—In the top of the mountains, in a village named Clarkston in the County of Cache and in the wonderful state of Utah, live 641 people. We have always been a happy people because we have had to work and work hard for the things we receive.

We believe that the wonderful health we have always enjoyed is the direct result of our location.

The work we have performed has brought forth great crops of fruit, grain, extra choice of milk and has helped support the market with the best grade of veal, pork, turkeys and chickens and unnumbered cases of eggs and has produced milk enough to keep three milk trucks busy making trips to Richwood and Wellsville each day.

The people of Clarkston are happy to support as their bishop, Thomas Thompson, with H. L. Butters and J. Byron Ravsten as councilors and Joseph T. Griffin as clerk.

The civic officers are: Golden Butters, president of the town board; Clarence Clark, Ben Bunting and Joseph Godfrey, Thomas Godfrey as board members.

Under the direction of our Board of Game and Fish, many improvements have been made in our village.

Joan Crawford, Gable, Star On Capitol Screen

Against a background of interlarded close, with Scotland Yard detectives close on their heels in a mad dash over the map of Europe, Joan Crawford and Clark Gable appear in their new Metro-Biograph-Majestic picture, "Love on the Run," opening a three day showing at the Capitol Theatre today with Bank Night.

Joan Crawford

Prominent in supporting roles are Franchot Tone, Reginald Owen, Mona Barrie, Irvin Leduc, Charles Judels and William Demarest.

Gable portrays a newspaperman. He runs away from the altar and a pompous politician and Gable and trouble. Tone has the part of a newspaper-buddy of Gable.

Owen becomes a deep-dyed villain in the action-filled comedy melodrama as Baron Spenderman, head of an international spy ring. Gable and Miss Crawford are pursued in airplanes, trains and automobiles only to uncover a bigger game in the Baron and his spy intrigue.

W. S. Van Dyke directed the new picture, adapted from an original by Alan Green and Julian Brodie, which appears serially in a national magazine.

Christmas greetings to their many friends in Cache county and to the personnel of the Cache American.

WILKEN FAMILY WHISKY

Here's us Wilkens taking our Christmas bundles around! Our neighbors grin all over when the Wilken Family pulls up with the old sled full of Christmas bundles. It's me driving, and my brother William handling over the bundles and Tom holding on to the bundle for the next stop. Here you see us at Larry Burke's place and that Larry with the big mittens on him. Harry E. Wilken Here's hoping you enjoy a wonderful and Merry Christmas. We sincerely appreciate your past patronage.

A holiday gift of our Family's Whiskey will sure please your neighbors!

The personal recipe of The Wilken Family that's been distillers since away back

With all your orders, you've made us put in a lot of late hours over to the distillery—watching out to make sure that never a single batch of our Family's Whiskey goes off our place but what it's just so. Taster and taster than you ever had a idea for the next stop. Here's the way our Family has been doing ever since it started making whiskey.

This is our own Family's Recipe—and of course I'm interested in you buying it. But even if I weren't, I want to say I don't know of any other place that you could find a nice gift for anybody than the very same whiskey enjoyed by us distillers ourselves!

Our church has installed a new Electric Organ which is greatly appreciated by the people of the community, and also those who sing in the choir and especially our organist, Emil Albertson.

At this time of year our thoughts naturally turn to the friendships we have made through both our business and social contacts.

We value the cordial relationship that has existed between us and we wish to do all we can to preserve and strengthen it. We extend to you the season's greetings and hope that the coming year will bring you an abundance of health, happiness and prosperity.

and moved to Smithfield. As for the boys of the ward none have married but there are some that may marry and we hope that when they do they will bring their wives back to join our little community.

As for new children in the ward we have three. A son to Mr. and Mrs. Reed Jessop, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Elason, and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Austin Morgan.

Edw. L. Morgan has been very prosperous in his truck garden this year and has had very good crops and cabbage and onions.

Another new automobile has been purchased by Allan Swenson of our ward.

The citizens of the community have the "real Christmas spirit" this year and they show it by the decoration of their homes. Some that are to be complimented on, are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Elason, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Alma Yester and the church.

Relief Societies are helping to carry out the Church Security plan by making quilts, extracting fruit, vegetables and used articles.

All church organizations are progressing and each sponsor entertainment enough for the needs of the people young and old, with the aid of a double feature picture show each week.

We have four L. D. S. missionaries in the field at the present time. They are Elders Franklin Gunnell, Carl H. Bradshaw, and Glen Allan, who are laboring in the British mission and Carl Cooper who is the Eastern States mission.

Two of our young men, Fred Williamson and Howard Muggs are in the U. S. Army and up until the last month both were stationed at Hilo Hawaii, but now Fred has been transferred to Fort Meade, Camp in California.

The Vanguard group have taken an interesting ten day trip to Boulder dam, visiting all points of interest in Southern Utah and along the way. Leader Ross Maudslayi.

We also have two active groups of Sewing Mothers organized through the Relief Society. The first is a group of two chosen north of Ogden. He is a freshman at the U. S. A. C. and an accomplished organizer.

The two ward choirs are presenting a dramatic cantata entitled "Peace, Good Will to men", for the public on Sunday evening of December 27.

LOGAN AND CACHE GET PROTECTION

City and County Fire Apparatus High Class—Insurance Now Well Equipped

By C. W. Rapp, Fire Chief
Much has been said and written in the past few years to impress upon the citizens of this community the need and value of fire protection and prevention. Much has been done towards the attainment of the desires of those who realized the necessity of fire protection and prevention.

In 1917 Logan City authorities organized a fire department. They did this in defense against high insurance rates and high fire losses. Since that time the city has built a fire department which has produced a descending annual fire loss record. $22,000 in 1917, the first year of the paid fire department, and $2,150.00 in 1935. Logan city has an insurance rate equal to that of Salt Lake City. During the past twenty years the department has grown from one piece of equipment and five men to a department of four pieces of equipment and forty men. Prior to 1924 the citizens that lived outside of the incorporated limits of Logan were without fire protection, but four to five conscientious commissioners serving the citizens of Logan and neighborhood feeling that has always existed between City and County Cache County, and the good Cache County fire department was organized. As chief of this organization is an very proud of the record it has made. During the year 1935 the department answered 50 fire calls. During the year 1935 we answered 120 calls, and this year, 1936, we will respond to not less than 150 calls. To our ambulance department during the last four years we have added the following first aid equipment: ambulance motor, H. & I. tank and a Divag suit. This suit was equipped, during 1936, with a telephone and a flood light. An oxygen tent was purchased by the city this year and added to the ambulance and first aid equipment. It has added greatly to the responsibility and work of the members of this department. The members of duty give their time to ambulance service and first aid work and receive no compensation. The members of this department take pride in their standing as firemen, and good citizens and realize that their duty as firemen is to protect life and property.

To the citizens of Cache County we extend our very best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Home from Chicago

Charles Olsen, Becker's representative in Cache Valley and his son, Charles, returned Wednesday night from a two weeks vacation in Chicago where Mr. Olsen visited with his brothers and sisters and boyhood chum. He reports that he never saw business conditions in the Windy city when they looked brighter for the merchants. The big business blocks were ablaze with decorations for the holiday season and all seemed to be fully stocked to take care of the many demands made by the purchasing public.

Glendale Greetings

From Glendale, California, today we received greetings of the season from E. P. Bacon, a former resident of Logan and at one time district manager here of the Utah Power and Light Company. Mr. Bacon referred fondly to the memory of Jesse Earl and stated that while he is not with us in person he is very much in evidence in the pleasant memories of the past. Mr. Earl will be remembered by many at this season of the year for the good deeds performed while with us. There is no finer accomplishment in life than to be able to live in the memory of our friends.

IN GRATEFUL appreciation of the courtesies you have extended to us in the past, we welcome an opportunity to thank you for that measure of good will and confidence which we enjoy for you. From this priceless asset . . . the good will of all those whom we serve and of those who serve us . . . we hope to draw inspiration for continued effort and for greater achievement.

Print your child's name inside his rubbers when he goes to school. This will make it possible for a teacher to identify them, which would otherwise be impossible to do where there are many rubbers of about the same size.

When making mayonnaise, stir the beaten eggs into cold vinegar and when it is boiled it will curdle, as may be the case when eggs are added to hot vinegar.

To remove the feathers from wild ducks, dip them in boiling water, then wrap in a thick cloth. The feathers are steamed loose in a shaker and the "pins" will give little or no trouble.

If cinnamon toast is served frequently, it pays to mix some cinnamon and sugar and keep it in a shaker so that it can be used quickly.

Borax whitenings napkins. Use a tablespoon of borax in each two-thirds of water used for rinsing. Rinse in cold water.

Before storing winter cabbage wrap each head in an old newspaper. This will keep the cabbage crisp and green much longer.

FAMOUS HEADLINE HUNTER
"Everybody"
"The Needle That Slipped"

YOU never can tell an adventurer by what he looks like. The surfer, the Herk Bateman of Brooklyn, N. Y., for instance, Herb went to Rutgers university and was to be a pharmacist and a chemist. Today he's a traveling representative for a firm that manufactures tooth powder.

Maybe you wouldn't think it of Herb to look at him, but the truth is that he's got a past. He ran away from home at the age of sixteen and went to work in a munitions plant that was turning out explosives for the Allied armament. And in 1918, when he was eighteen years old, he was fighting in Palestine, Egypt and Turkey with the British forces.

Herb enlisted in the Canadian army, and they shipped him off in the captured German steamer, the Hudson, with a convoy of 11 other ships. That trip was no pleasure jaunt. The quarters in the main hold were damp and crowded. There was the continual fear of being torpedoed by U-boats. To make matters worse, the ship ran into a storm off Newfoundland and almost sank. The hatches were battened down for three days.

Below decks, the quarters were a shamble, with close to a thousand seafish landlubbers making matters no better. And to make them even worse, the power of the engines of the seagoing, some of those poor devils were in a terrible plight.

Below decks, the Grim Reaper himself began to stalk among the coughing, moaning, fever-stricken men. Flu victims were dying at the rate of eight or nine a day. Herb says that he never saw a man die, but he has seen a great many men who have been struck by the Grim Reaper.

It was the last night of the storm, and Herb had been picked for an unpleasant detail—the irksome duty of standing watch over a dozen or so corpses of men who had died during the day. He hid down a ladder.

Three Kinds of Overweight
I sometimes think that most of us are just a little too severe in criticizing those who are overweight. They are not fat, they are merely carrying too much weight. They are not fat, they are merely carrying too much weight.

For a while he tried to fight off the sleepiness that was all but overpowering him. Twice he woke up to find a sharp, piercing pain in his back, but he tried to ignore it. He was too tired to care.

"How long I slept," says Herb, "I couldn't tell you. But suddenly I awoke with a start as I felt a sharp, piercing pain in my back. I tried to sit up, but I couldn't. I felt as if I had been put in a straight-jacket. My back wouldn't bend, and I could hardly move a muscle."

It was pitch dark. I tried to look an arm's length and rub my eyes. Then suddenly, from right beside me I heard a piercing scream—heard a horror-stricken voice cry: "God have mercy! He's come to life!"

Saved by a Job With the Needle
The man who had done the screaming must have been the boy pointed him out as "the would-be stiff" and never gave him a chance to forget he had tried to die by going over the side in a dead man's haberdashery. But underneath all the joking, Herb can say a serious side to that gruesome episode. "After many years," he says, "I still dread to contemplate what would have happened if the sailmaker had been more deft with the needle and I had first succumbed and then been consigned to the sharks. Just one more among the thousands of missing—men who went away and never came back."

Eight and Left Parties
In legislative bodies of continental Europe, the non-right is usually the party seated on the right side of the presiding officer, and usually upholding the government in power for the time being; in some countries, the Conservative party is opposed to the Left or Liberal. This use of terms arose in 1791 in the English House of Commons.

NEWHOUSE HOTEL. A Distinctive Residence. An Abode...renowned Throughout the West.

Salt Lake's Most Hospitable HOTEL Invites You. THE Hotel Newhouse. W. E. SUTTON, General Manager.

1936 Outstanding Accomplishments At Lewiston Town

By Miss Anna Orshard
 Lewiston last year we accomplished the remodeling and building of our beautiful chapel and class rooms, also of our community building, which houses a beautiful dance hall and a modern and artistically decorated picture show house, where we and many of our neighboring towns people enjoy the very best and latest picture shows. And at the close of this year we, the people of Lewiston, are thankful and proud of the many blessings and opportunities that have come to us through these two beautiful buildings.

During the year 1936 a modern well equipped new home for the Lewiston post office has been completed. It is a community building with Dr. J. M. Bernhart as a doctor.

The community building also houses a public library which has been officially opened.

and dedicated. Saul E. Hyer is president of the library board and Miss Bella Kemp, librarian. There are in the library between 17 and 18 hundred books, which have been donated by the people of Lewiston and come by outside communities.

We have an active flower club in our city who are sponsoring a number of projects. The latest venture was chosen as the town shrub, a very splendid flower show was held just before the Cache county fair, and the club is planning for a big and better flower show in 1937.

During the past year Lewiston has been honored with two great conventions. On July 11th the Lions club was host of the Cache clubs of Northern Utah. More than 200 northern Utah residents interested in the Inter-Mountain Association of Civic clubs attended their first membership luncheon, which was held at Lewiston.

Such men as Frank O. Martinez of Richfield, president of Southern Utah Civic Clubs, Samuel Powell of Ogden, president of Northern Utah Civic Clubs, E. J. Finkler, secretary of the Ogden Chamber of Commerce, Judge M. C. Harris of Logan and Frank Browning were present.

December 12th the American Legion met in a district convention in our city. Harold L. Finnamer, assistant national adjutant, Madison, Wisconsin, was the distinguished guest.

According to a statement made by Bishop Hesen Spackman, they have established in their chapel a new heating plant, the Holland Air-Conditioning Furnace with a boiler at a cost of $1100. Other improvements: water proofing the furnace room with tile, rebuilding of chimney, leveling and strengthening the floors and other incidental repairs amounting to $700.

They have two missionaries in the field, one in Denmark and one in the Central States. Their scout troops numbers 99 and 159 spent eight days in Yellowstone Park during summer. The South West Lewiston ball team won the pennant in the Cache Valley League.

Two modern and beautiful decorated grocery stores have been built during the past year. The Thruer, Red and White Store, and the better buy store in Lewiston made two extensions to their dry goods and grocery store. The 1200 extension is 4000 feet. It is artistically decorated in gold, silver and green with a tan background. It is a complete grocery store, with modern sanitary shelving, electric refrigeration for fresh meat and butcher equipment in the northeast corner is a large mirror which reflects and makes a splendid display of their fresh fruits. This modern grocery store is joined on the north by a large dry goods department.

Orie's Cash market is a modern brick building adjoining the community building. It is beautifully decorated and conveniently arranged. Has modern sanitary shelving, the latest general electric refrigeration for fresh meat, new butcher equipment and vapor spray display tables for fresh fruits and vegetables. These two great displays of their fresh fruits and vegetables are the lowest and most beautiful food stores in Cache valley.

Three years ago, under direction of Bishop David O. Hendricks, the trees in the park were removed a few at a time, and the grounds cleared of buildings and fences. Finally the park was turned over to the city officials and in 1935 the landscape gardener came and looked it over with the consideration of making a city park. But not until the late spring of 1936 did the work begin to earnest. During the summer and fall the ground was conditioned. The plans were made and carried out by landscape gardener C. H. Healey of Leeds, Utah.

Today the five acre park is practically finished at a cost of $8,550. It was built with the assistance of the W. P. A.

The park surrounds the new chapel, located in the heart of our city, and will add beauty and splendor to our town.

According to a statement made

PAST SEASON HAS BEEN GOOD TO MILLVILLE

By MRS. MARTHA HALE
 Millville—Patner Time will close the days allotted to 1936. When we tubers in 1937 we will find the people of Millville happy, healthy and busy.

The ground is still bare but we hope it will be covered with a beautiful white coat for the holidays.

In looking back over the year just passed we find it has been quite prosperous. Many improvements in our small town. By Sylvester Anderson, a new modern home has been built.

Several homes have been repaired, painted and improved in various ways.

Delore Garb has added a new material to his home. T. H. Culber, Jerry Wilcox and Joseph Anderson, son has remodeled their homes. Oscar Sjoberg has remodeled his barn. The store which is managed by Raymond Woodbury has been repainted. Some improvement has been made on the schoolhouse grounds. A lawn has been planted and cement walks made.

The crops of wheat, hay and potatoes have been fairly good. The green aphid feasted heavily on our pea crop this year so that it was considerably damaged. Hundreds of quarts of fruit and vegetables have been taken care of by our busy housewives.

There are 167 pupils enrolled in the Millville school, 60 percent of whom are from the Millville ward. The others are from the Nibley wards.

We have 15 pupils who belong to the school band. Which is under the direction of Prof. Wm. H. Terry of Hyrum.

We have a fair representation of our young people attending the South Cache High school.

The newly constructed waterworks system of the Town of Millville is one of the best water systems in the Intermountain country. The system comprises two springs, catch basins, diverting works, two inclosed cement reservoirs, and an adequate amount of new cast iron pipe. The construction just completed was done at a cost of over $25,000 and all government inspectors who have

The springs are located east of town rising up at the base of the mountain. Each has a separate diverting works and reservoir. The Matthews spring, northeast of town and the Garr spring in the southeast. Both are located on approximately the same level so that water will be available from both springs. The quality of the water is unsurpassed, as shown by numerous tests and analysis. A purchase of a flow of 78 gal per minute from the Garr spring Co. insures an adequate water supply. Sufficient water now being available so the water main in town could use over one thousand gallons of water per day. This is considerable more than the average family uses.

The diverting works consist of catch basin and a measuring device to regulate the amount of flow. These are located immediately below the springs. From these the water is carried to the reservoirs. Both reservoirs have a 36,000 gallon capacity. The Matthews reservoir being square and the Garr spring is round. This is an exceptional piece of cement work and much praise should be given the contractor for it.

The reservoirs are equipped with air vents. Clean runs and over flows and are entirely closed in. Approximately $12,000 worth of material was used in constructing the extension and replacement to the old system. Most of this amount was for cast iron pipe, the balance for meters which have been installed and connected.

The construction began in the late part of September and was finished on the 8th of December. Stetler and Glauser of Logan handled the construction while the water works equipment company of Salt Lake City had the contract for the materials used. No apology need be made either on the quality of the work or materials used. The town can well be proud of its water system and few systems will equal it.

BENSON WARD CHAPEL MAY BE REMODELED

Considerable Home Improvement Reported During the Year Now Coming to a Close.

By W. G. Reese

Benson—"Hope and despondency, pleasure and pain. Still follow each other like sunshine and rain."

There has been times of rejoicing and times of sorrow in Benson during the past year.

The passing of Bishop Henry Balla, Mrs. Florence Rees, and her son, Larson, who was brought home a corpse from Pennsylvania in a as an electrical fire for several years and the death of Louis Neely are events that have cast a gloom of sadness in the hearts of the Benson people.

The people of Benson are pleased and thankful that a convenient commodious school house has been erected in Benson. The school children are gathered in Benson by M. J. Paley and those who have passed out of the lower grades are taken to the North Cache high and the Smithfield Junior high school by Frank Reese and Ardel Jorgensen. While the Benson school building is used by the ward for worship and amusement at present there is a movement started to remodel the meeting house for which purpose several public spirited men went to the canyon last fall and got out lumber for that purpose.

Those who have erected new houses lately are Jodie Smith, Bert Reese, Sidney Reese, Gordon Ricks and the following names have built additions to their homes: Arthur Sax and Ernest Hobbs.

As Bishop H. W. Ballard and others have proven that the poultry business is profitable have enlarged their poultry houses. Among those who have done so are Wilford and Robert Parsons, Gordon Ricks has built a large poultry house in the west part of the ward.

The dairy industry holds a leading place among the farmers of Benson. The pulp bought for the dairy cows and the grain that is purchased by dairy men, helps to keep money in circulation. The community spirit that exists in Benson is a source of thankfulness.

MILLVILLE COMPLETES NEW SYSTEM

Community Now Boasts of Very Efficient Water Works Conveying Pure Water to Home

By W. G. Reese

There is no community in Cache Valley more elated over their water works system than is Millville said Mayor Harry Hoodless today with a call as the Cache American office to tell us of a congratulatory letter received from Frank Keller of Denver, head engineer of PWA projects in this district.

Mr. Keller, who recently made an inspection of the system since its completion, stated that it was a job that the citizens of Millville should be proud of.

Mayor Hoodless told us that the town now has an ample supply of pure mountain water for culinary purposes, sufficient to serve Millville for many years to come. Water was secured from the Matthews spring near the mouth of the Snake River from the Garr spring in Millville. Large concrete reservoirs were built at the spring, sufficient in size to hold 36,000 gallons each.

The new system was designed by Engineer Eugene Schaub of Logan. Cast iron pipe replaced all the old wood-stave pipe in the old system.

Ernest Stetler of Logan was awarded the contract for building the reservoirs, the trench work and the laying of the pipe at approximately $9,000. H. P. Bair of Logan was foreman of the job. The material contract was awarded to the Waterworks Equipment Co. of Salt Lake City at a cost of approximately $11,000.

The system cost $24,654 of which sum $11,454 was a direct grant under the PWA. $14,000 must be paid back to the government at the rate of $500 per year on the principal with interest at the rate of four per cent. The pipe was practically all done by Millville citizens, who were employed by Contractor Stetler.

There are 95 homes which can be served with the system. Eighty-five have already been connected with running water. Water meters have been installed with every water connection.

Mayor Hoodless was inspector of the system as it progressed for the town. C. Hulse, a member of the town board was town clerk. Other members of the town board who gave their united support to the project are George E. Larsen, J. E. Hill and J. W. Carr.

Yet Christmas Comes But Once A Year

There's a friendly air at Christmas... a spirit that we enjoy for a month before the holiday and for perhaps a week after. Yet there's time, somehow, for a cheery greeting in the midst of rush... time to think of other people.

It's this spirit that our bank likes; likes so well in fact that it's a part of our year around activities. We always find time for a friendly discussion and we hope to always have a cheery greeting for our customers.

To our friends, we therefore, extend our heartiest wishes for the season's greetings; and although Christmas comes but once a year our wish is that the spirit of the holiday will remain with you for twelve months.

Provide Coasting Lines

James Sorenson, street superintendent, has provided coasting lanes for the children of the city and they should continue themselves to these lanes and avoid accidents.

Beware, Fun Makers

Persons riding toboggans attached to the rear of automobiles are constantly in danger of their lives. They should be kept off the public streets as they not only put others to themselves but also to citizens who have use of the streets.

New Year's Day in the Nation's Capital

ZAMOUR THEAMOUR HUNTER

"Diving to Death"

BY FLOYD GIBBONS
LET'S dive right into this one with Diver and Distinguished Adventurer Walker Kayes of New York City. And remember that we're not only diving deep down into the treacherous currents of the St. Lawrence river—we're diving head first into the River of Adventure, too.

Went Down in Dangerous Current

I said the Adventures always hit you when you're least expecting it. Maybe I'm wrong in this case. Walker knew he was going to have trouble with the Victoria bridge—at one spot anyway.

"It was inspecting the piers on the Montreal side," he says, "and at this point runs a treacherous rapid which had taken the lives of two bridge workers only the previous summer. The piers reach too far out from beneath the bridge to enable us to lower a protecting screen to stop the current. All we had to work with was a small platform, just large enough for two men and the diver, built on the nose of the pier down close to the water. The pump, worked by hand, was up on the bridge and the air line passed down the pier. A short steel ladder was lashed to the platform to descend."

"That's the picture. Now watch it move. Walker, looking like some strange sort of robot in his ill-fitted rubber suit and round balloons for feet, is standing on the platform. He starts to creak on the morning as he steps onto the ladder and little does he realize that at twelve noon—four hours later—he will still be down under the river fighting a life and death battle with the water. Step by step he descends, hanging the ladder to keep from being swept downstream. Now his helmet vanishes under the surface, and we dive down after him to see what happens."

"The current is always less at the nose of the pier," says Walker. "I planned to examine that first. Then attempt to come up along the side first. I am sure I can do it. I started to creak on the morning but my stomach to react the current. I had moved about six feet when, suddenly, I was struck with locomotive force. A cross current had caught me whirling me away from the pier—toward the middle of the stream!"

Helpless in the Boiling, Foamy Water

"In an instant I was spun around in a whirling whirl—crushed by less pressure than I had expected. It happened so quickly that the tender had no chance to save him."

"I was utterly helpless. I couldn't see. The water was a boiling mass of foam. I could not control my movements in that current but I had been a chip of wood. But helplessness wasn't the worst of it. I was present though in the mind of the diver—the danger of the suit inflating and blowing up like a balloon if the head gets knocked lower than the rest of the body. The minute I began to float, I knew that I had under water, and I was in a predicament. I must have done it with too much force, for the small brass shaft of the valve bent and would not work properly. In the meantime I was spinning and wedged into a rock fissure which, for the moment, saved my life."

"Tons of water were pounding against Walker, knocking the breath out of him and threatening to crush his body. Then, to his horror, he found his suit. He water, trickling in through the broken air valve, was slowly filling his suit. He began trying to communicate with his tender. The roar of the water made the phone useless, and when he tried to signal by jerking the line the current made it almost impossible to feel the jerks. From the all but unintelligible signals that did come through, Walker gathered that his tender wanted to move down to meet the current and be hauled in at the back of the pier. He fought his way out of the fissure."

His Suit Inflated and Blew Up

"In an instant he was picked up by the rising water and spun around like a top. Then the dreaded 'blow-up' came. His feet shot up in the air and his head down as the suit inflated like a balloon. He was unable to get his arms out. The water splashed around inside him. He was worse off than before. And in that terrible current there was the imminent danger that his slender neck would be broken by the force of the current bent backward. The corset collar was forced back and the water seemed blown into his face. He was sent down to me. The life-line was taut as a violin string, and all he did to was loop the rope around it and the force of the current carried him up. I realized that I was very weak and I thought I depended on getting that rope around me and securely tied. It took half an hour to get that rope tied in a simple clove hitch, and then I was completely exhausted. I gave the signal for the tender, prayed for the breaks, and waited."

Safe After Four Hours' Struggle

"I didn't mind dying so much, but the loneliness was horrible. After an eternity I felt strong jerks in the rope and realized it about to be pulled in. It was now or never—and I had about an even chance of getting out before the suit burst or I was broken in two by the current. But it was a strong, steady pull—much steadier than I thought possible. Then, suddenly I was out of the water—safe again. My men had borrowed a winch from some telephone line, working on the bridge, and it was that which had pulled me up. I was so weak that I could not water that trickled through the air valve. 'My boys' faces were chalk white when I came out,' Walker says. 'but my blue face from strangulation, must have looked worse than any of them.'
—W.W. Service."

Pyromis-Emul

Contrary to popular belief, pyromis are quite plentiful in the world. Several races live in equatorial Africa and one was found in the Andes, says the Washington Post. It is thought that a race of pyromis were discovered by a French adventurer in 1774 who was using a military hospital. College students were known to get up at midnight, May 1, 1774, under the name of Columbia University. The site has been changed to the name of Columbia University. "Assault and Battery"

An assault is an unlawful attempt or offer, on the part of one man with force or fear, to injure the bodily hurt upon another. A battery is a willful and unlawful use of force or violence upon another person. The actual offer to use force to the injury of another person is the assault. The use of it is battery; hence the two terms are commonly combined in the term assault and battery.

Showing Three New Styles

YOU who sew-your-own will be

A more enthusiastic than ever after making realties of these three new styles. Each is truly a delightful fashion and best of all there's something for every size in the family—from the "little bear" right on up.

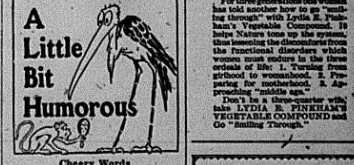

Pattern 1927 is the smartly styled smock that probably has an option on a little portion of your heart's desire. Fair enough, follow the dictates of your heart and you can't go wrong. This winter wardrobe nicely will serve you beautifully and well. It will add to your comfort too. Make it fringed, flannel, gingham, satin or chiffon for prettiness and easy maintenance. There is a choice of long or short sleeves and the shiny gold buttons offer just the sort of spicy contrast one likes in informal apparel. Available for sizes 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34. Size 34 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

Pattern 1928—This new day frock for sizes 30 to 32 is the final word in style and charm in any woman's language. It is this flattering fashion is to step lightly into the realm of high fashion. The soft feminine collar is most becoming and it serves as an excellent medium for contrast. The sleeve length is optional. Slender lines are the main feature of the skirt and a very pleasant effect results from the wide and handsome flare. Satin or sheer wool would most assuredly win your friend's approval and perhaps just a little of their envy. This pattern is designed for sizes 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Less with short sleeves. The collar in contrast requires 1/2 yard.

The adorable little number for Miss Two-to-Eight, Pattern 1924.

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

NOWHERE else in the United States is New Year's day celebrated more in accordance with long-standing tradition than in the nation's capital. Time was when the people of virtually every American city observed the custom of "keeping open house" on January 1 and "paying New Year's calls." But modern days (and especially the "whooper era") changed all that. After a riotous New Year's Eve celebration, the average celebrant didn't feel much like making the rounds for formal calls the next day. So this custom, like so many others of the so-called "good old days," gradually went into the discard.

However, in Washington, where precedent is a fetish and tradition a vital force in everyday life, this custom has survived longer. It has been modified somewhat, of course, but among some Washingtonians, especially the "Cliff Dwellers" (old residents) it has been kept alive in much the same form as in the past.

Perhaps one reason why it has been so little changed is that the annual New Year's Day reception at the White House has served as a model for other "open houses." Established as a symbol of the fact that there is no barrier between the sovereign people and their elected leaders, this custom of throwing open the doors of the Executive Mansion to be observed by almost every President from Washington down to Hoover. By that time it became apparent that, gratifying though its intent might be, the reception, which imposed upon the President the ordeal of shaking hands with thousands of people within a few hours, was too great a strain upon the Chief Executive and when President Roosevelt entered the White House the custom was regrettably but very wisely abandoned.

Began in New York. It began in New York when that city was the seat of government. George Washington was accustomed to receive prominent government officials during the day and Mrs. Washington presided over a series of receptions. The custom was continued in Philadelphia with the levees attended by both men and women who enjoyed the refreshments provided by the President and Mrs. However, there was little handshaking and at the close of the affair the President went to a private room appropriate to the occasion.

The first New Year's reception held in the oval room at Washington was that of President John Adams and since the President's House there was no such thing as a private room, it was then called, was still unfinished, it was held on the second floor, in the oval room. Although the public was invited to this affair, the same formality, which had characterized the levees held by George and Martha Washington, prevailed.

With the elevation of Thomas Jefferson to the Presidency the formal nature of the New Year's Day reception changed. It was no longer a levee, but a more appropriate speech in reply. He then cut off a piece, which he asked the minister to take back to the good people of C-Share with his compliments. When James Madison became President, his vivacious wife, Dolley Madison, did a great deal of entertaining and their New Year's reception were lavish displays of hospitality. The same was true of the Monroes and their receptions were especially happy affairs because this was the "era of good feeling."

Adams is "Fashed Around." But the reactions given by John Quincy Adams were not such happy affairs—at least not for that rather prim New Englander who was much harassed so great and so unkind during this administration that Tyler found it necessary to have an extra detail of police on hand to handle the people. However, he was luckier in their reaction to this innovation than was one of his successors. Later a storm of protest was directed against James Buchanan because of the "gauntlet of policemen" who surrounded the White House for his reception. There was good reason for having the officers there, however; it is recorded that in the crush at least one pocket was picked and other disorders marked the occasion.

The Day of the Proclamation. One of the most important New Year's Day receptions ever held in the White House was that of January 1, 1863 and it was significant because of a momentous event which took place immediately afterwards. Abraham Lincoln had read to his cabinet and had won their approval of this document, which would commit the government irrevocably to the destruction of slavery. At that time William Seward, secretary of state, brought the proclamation to Lincoln for his signature.

"I have been shaking hands and my right hand is almost paralyzed," Lincoln told him. "If my name ever goes into history it will be for this act, and my whole soul is in it. If my hand trembles when I sign, all who examine the document hereafter will know that I was shaking when I signed—but those who look upon the signature on that historic document now say that it was written as boldly, as firmly and as unflinchingly as any ever signed." A Lincoln.

Like Buchanan, Ulysses S. Grant was also severely criticized by the public in regard to the New Year's reception but for a different reason. Because of the death of Mrs. Rufus, wife of his secretary of war, he cancelled the function. Thereupon Washington gossip declared it was a bad breach of international good manners for the President to slight the foreign diplomats who desired to pay their respects to the head of the American nation, simply because of an unfortunate tragedy, even though it was in the President's official family.

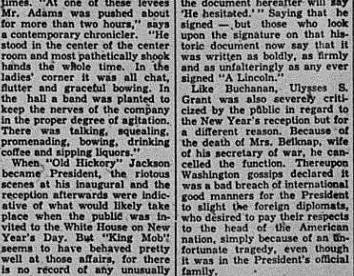

World War Aftermath. In 1920, during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt, the public was especially invited to attend the reception because the White House had been extended to slight the foreign diplomats who desired to pay their respects to the head of the American nation, simply because of an unfortunate tragedy, even though it was in the President's official family.

They Were Well Shaken. But well-shaken though the public was, it was nearly as they visited the Executive Mansion, these receptions were still something of a trial to the President and his family, as witness this plaintive letter written of President John Tyler's daughter-in-law.

The first of January, 1822, he passed, never to return, and I am nearly going off with it. I never felt so tired and so much shaken as I have felt on this day. I have been up for two hours and shaking hands with some of the best and noblest spirits of the people.

Eventually the crowds became

with the political situation of the times. "At one of these levees Mr. Adams was pushed about for more than two hours," says a contemporary chronicler. "He stood in the center of the room and most pathetically shook hands the whole time. In the ladies' corner it was all chat, flatter and graceful bowing. In the hall a band was played to keep the nerves of the company in the proper degree of agitation. There was talking, squealing, pronouncing and bowing, drinking coffee and sipping liquors."

When "Old Hickory" Jackson became President, the riotous scenes at his inaugural and the reception afterwards were indicative of what would likely take place when the public was invited to the White House on New Year's Day, was "King George" seems to have behaved pretty well at those affairs, for there is no record of any unusual disorderly scenes to mar the reception. Perhaps the presence of the public was especially gratifying to Jackson's favorite cabinet minister, Martin Van Buren, secretary of state, who was a "king George" and extremely formal. Van Buren became President when the formal and decorous behaviour upon which he had based his reputation was a new dignity.

And "partake of this American cheese" they did at the New Year's reception, after the Rev. Leland had presented it in person to Jefferson, who made an appropriate speech in reply. He then cut off a piece, which he asked the minister to take back to the good people of C-Share

Mr. Reed Allen and Miss Nea Eskelson took on the responsibilities of married life and everything attendant to it, last Wednesday. Reed and Nea are among the most prominent of our young people and are very active in social and religious affairs in our community. We bespeak for them a very happy married life and wish them joy and happiness in their new venture.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Allen and family were guests of Mrs. Allen's mother and grandmother at a family Christmas party given by W. J. Harrison and daughter Zenda spent Christmas with Mrs. Allen and Mrs. W. F. Hendricks and family. Well Santa has come and gone did he visit you and were you satisfied and happy? We hope so. All in all it's a beautiful time when we hear the beautiful songs, the bells, the whistlings of peace on earth, good will to men from everywhere. Sure your hearts and thoughts are turned to him who gave us the hope of Eternal Life and a promise of everlasting joy and peace. From this day on let us be nearer to Him and obey him more. Let's help to usher in the reign of righteousness and peace, which will bring the spirit of the Lord will cover the earth as the waters do the deep. Over the hills may we see the Christmas tree and revealing to us a little of the glory over there where many of our loved ones await us. May the spirit of Christmas find us further along the road that leads to everlasting happiness.

MILLVILLE—Mrs. and Mrs. Lewis Anderson are the proud parents of a fine baby girl who arrived on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Anderson left on Tuesday morning for Salt Lake City where he will spend the holidays with his son in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Jensen in company with Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson of Ribby spent Thursday evening and Friday in Salt Lake City. Mr. and Mrs. Perry Brown of Salt Lake City were week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Pitkin. Our Sunday school was reorganized on Sunday. The superintendent which consisted of Vaughan Scott, Roy Larson and Lund Peterson were released and Raymond Woodbury, Delore Gas and Lund Peterson were sustained. Three members of the Hyrum Stake Sunday school board were in attendance. Sanford M. Bloomer and John

PROVIDENCE—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pitt were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren McBride of Hyrum on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hansen have moved to Logan to make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Campbell and family of Preston, Idaho, and Mrs. B. L. Hansen and family of Sheridan, Wyo., and Mr. and Mrs. Edna Hansen and family of Sheridan, Wyo., were visiting relatives here on Sunday. The Hansen family will spend the holidays here and with other relatives in the neighborhood. Miss Ethyl Jensen of Salt Lake City spent Christmas day with her parents and other members of the family. Miss Hazel Childs of Salt Lake City spent Christmas and the weekend with her mother, returning home

Mr. Richard Gallorey moved to California because of ill health. The community wishes those who are well and happiness in their new dwellings. New families who have been welcomed into the community are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Seaman, formerly of Cornish, now occupying the Christiana Hancey home. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Seaman, now occupying the Joseph Dalnes home; Mr. and Mrs. Dale of Salt Lake City now residing in the Lorrin Bales home. We have three young men absent from our midst, fulfilling L. D. and Mrs. Vern Seaman, son of Bishop and Mrs. J. W. Seaman, is laboring in the eastern states; Grant Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lamb, is filling a mission in Germany; Sidney Hurren, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hurren, is laboring in the Central States mission. Continued Access in the message sent to them at this season.

Mister Cupid seems to have put in a few good weeks. During the past twelve months eighteen young people have been leading figures in marriages. Of this number twelve were brides and six were grooms. Twelve have left town to reside in neighboring towns. For the newbrides we will wish that the great adventure which they are embarking upon will live up to the expectations of their friends.

The birth rate is still far in advance of the death rate. During the past year seventeen new members joined the ward via the matrimony route—nine of which were boys and eight were girls. Seventeen homes now have a new ruler—The Majesty, the Baby Joy and happiness abides therein and we remember that of such is the kingdom of Heaven.

The silent call of death was heard five times in our midst. Richard Gallorey, Herbert Woodward and Kirkham Harris, three faithful men of the community have been called home. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Waite were called to part with their sweet little daughter, Jeanine. Mr. and Mrs. Heber Batts were called upon suddenly for their lovely young daughter, Owen, who was killed on Pioneer day in an automobile accident. In these homes where the loss of loved ones are felt may the spirit of the Christ child inspire and comfort the sorrowing hearts with the spirit of peace.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lumb, filling a mission in Germany; Sidney Hurren, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hurren, is laboring in the Central States mission. Continued Access in the message sent to them at this season.

Mr. Richard Gallorey moved to California because of ill health. The community wishes those who are well and happiness in their new dwellings. New families who have been welcomed into the community are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Seaman, formerly of Cornish, now occupying the Christiana Hancey home. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Seaman, now occupying the Joseph Dalnes home; Mr. and Mrs. Dale of Salt Lake City now residing in the Lorrin Bales home. We have three young men absent from our midst, fulfilling L. The Curse of Progress

The weekly nut story deals with the screwball who raced into the barber shop.

"Gimme a haircut," he ordered. "And make it snappy."

"Certainly," replied the barber. "Just all right down here."

"Never mind," said the nut. "I'll stand."

"Come, come," smiled the barber. "Why don't you sit down?"

"I'm sorry," explained the nut. "But I'm in a hurry."—Mark Hollinger in The New York American

BILLY MINK'S SURPRISE

BILLY MINK opened his eyes. At first he couldn't think where he was. Everything about him was strange. Then all at a flash it came to him where he was. He was in a dark corner of the hayrack in the big barn where the rats lived.

Billy yawned, then he stretched first one leg, then another. He yawned again, stretched a little more, then lay quiet for a few minutes trying to decide whether to take another nap or bust those rats again.

"I may as well learn all about this barn while I am here," thought Billy. "I never know when such knowledge may come to handy. Besides, I want to find out where all the rats live. How they did squeak and squeak when they discovered me!" Billy shuddered at the memory.

"It is great fun to hear them," Billy lately got to his feet and arched his back, which was one way of stretching. Then he started out to explore the big barn. Of course he didn't go far, before he smelled a rat. That is to say, he smelled the scent left by the feet of a rat. Right away Billy forgot everything but the fun of hunting the game of hide-and-seek in which death was the price of being caught. He started out along the wall of that rat. By and by, way down under some boxes he came to a nest. It was made of rags, torn paper and other bits of rubbish. Billy didn't know if that rat anyone was at home. He just poked his head in. He just poked his head in.

FOODS THAT BUILD THE BODY

WE MAY liken the growing of the body of a boy or girl to the building of a house. First we must have a good foundation, which comes from healthy ancestry, then at the same time we must have to build the body structure and the muscular system which must develop at the same time.

During the early years the bones need lime and other minerals to stiffen them and to make them strong by carrying the work of the body.

In the teen age the diet must furnish adequate amounts of building materials.

A diet which supplies daily one pint to a quart of milk taken in various ways, two eggs, one-fourth cup of butter, one-half cup of cabbage, from one-half to one pint of orange juice daily, with the juice of a lemon. Using the juice of the lemon to add to the drinking water without sugar gives the water life and adds the required vitamins needed. This gives a diet which will furnish good firm bones and build up the body.

For fast foods which are the carbohydrates (sugars and starches) need not be exercised and, therefore, as the youth usually eats enough sweets, which he needs to supply energy, and starches are eaten in fairly good amounts. The fats consumed, which is taken in oils, nuts, butter and yolk of egg, should be in proportion of one to four in carbohydrates. Patterned After the Grey Goose

Here is the "Grey Goose," an airplane that has been evolved by J. E. Caldwell after years of study of the flight habits and characteristics of the "Canadian grey goose after which it has been named. However, the plane uses the rotating action of cylinders and blades in place of the flapping of birds' wings, and the motive power is generated by a 60-horsepower engine. A frame of duralumin that is about 16 feet long and 22 feet wide, with small wings on each side and with two rotating metal cylinders that have rotating horizontal blades on each side, make up the Caldwell plane.

It did get, but the squeak of a single voice did he hear. There wasn't a rat in the barn! When he had gone to sleep there had been many. It did he heard them squeaking all about him. Do you wonder why he was surprised?

MANKIN'S opinions would be a world—Not long crabbies looted hurried from some high place (though men may wonder, They seldom understand the thunder. Not lines like these, that would possess our six as much as cleverness—But those opinions that creep through lands like mighty waters seeping.

THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

THE thumb is the index of its possessor's temperament; the will, the power of logic and analysis, and love. Each of these important temperamental qualities is found indicated in varying degree in the thumb of every one.

The Thumb of Well-Balanced Temperament.

The thumb which indicates such a desirable combination is of moderate length, and is extremely well proportioned to the balance of the hand. Folded close to the forefinger, its tip should fall even with or just below the second joint of the forefinger. The nail joint and second joint of such a thumb give one an immediate impression of being correctly balanced by reason of their equal or nearly equal lengths. When bent backward and forward the thumb has a resilient, semi-resistant feel. With the entire hand extended wide, it should extend from the palm at a moderate angle.

DOES "BLACK MAGIC" REALLY WORK? IF SO, HOW?

ONCE made a several months' study of "Black Magic" among the natives of Africa, and found that it actually works. One person will put a curse on another person, and the victim's life becomes cursed just as was foretold. People even die in this way. Just because some has cursed them with death, or has put "death medicine" on them, or something of the sort. The basis of the operation of "black magic" is in the absolute belief of the natives. They never doubt it and it works. When a man is cursed to die within a year, he gives up all hope of life, plans on dying, and the result is that he gets sick and actually dies. It is an example of primitive psychology based on absolute faith.

Indian Belief About Snakes

One of the common beliefs among the Indians of Ohio was that snakes turned into raccoons in the autumn and the raccoons into snakes in the spring. The belief originated with the redskins of the islands of Lake Erie who set out traps among the rocks to catch raccoons. In the winter the Indians would find raccoons in the traps but in the spring they found that most of their traps were filled with snakes, particularly rattlesnakes that were living in the rocks. From this observation they concluded that the animal changed into a reptile and vice versa.

Making a Choice—

Independence and Loneliness or Dependence With Ties of Affection

TO MOST persons there comes sometime in their lives the opportunity for a choice between independence and loneliness or ties of affection. The wise mature person thinks long before choosing the former above the latter. There are many young people, however, who feel so sure of themselves and their ability to "get along all right" that they are laxed by the least restraint. They throw it all overboard and discover later in life that affection is worth the curbing restraint and dependence attending. Companionship, however, their portion up to the time of their decision that dependence is what they must have, at any cost. They have no idea of what loneliness means.

Separation.

The adult who is separated from his family because of distance, domestic estrangement, or who has outlived the other members, realizes to the full what it means to be alone. It is when estrangement causes the separation that there are times when the loneliness is bearable or agreeable, but these times are interrupted by hours when the feeling of loneliness creeps over him (or her), and he (or she) wishes for a moment but a small degree of affection, is craved.

Individuality.

Human nature is so constituted that people cannot live in the same atmosphere and always see eye to eye. There is wisdom in this plan. Individually would be quelled if what any person thought (how-

SOOTHING TO TIRED EYES

Modern living puts such a strain on the eyes that more and more people are finding relief necessary in the form of soothing eye drops and eye ointments. Modern society and its demands, however, make it necessary to wear eye glasses, and these are very dry and induce dry eyes. Lighter eye drops will soothe and refresh the eyes. In the form of eye ointment, they will soothe and refresh the eyes.

Newton Ward Prospers in Closing Year

Newton—Newton shows signs of being the new star that has come to town during the past year or two. Many are the better in their homes and through the advanced price of farm products and labor given through different sources are able to give their families a few more vitamins.

Harold Griffin new modern bungalow. Modern in every respect which when completed will cost in the neighborhood of $8,500. This is an asset to that part of town. Other civic improvements is the beautification project started by the parent teachers association. The grounds have been prepared, a lawn started and new play grounds around the school house, which adds greatly to the appearance of the school grounds. They have also been brought out to the play grounds on the southeast and a skating rink on the north of the school house.

The ward biographic has installed a new boiler in the heating plant at the recreation hall at a cost of $600. Also laid pipe and installed a sprinkling system and planted lawn around the recreation house. This improvement has inspired many private citizens to do likewise and a good many lawns have been planted this past year.

The town is justly proud of its business houses. The new bank has a modern up-to-date store, carrying everything that a community of this kind could wish for with kind and courteous service to all. He also maintains a service station, and has secured a most complete up-to-date shop where the choicest of cuts can be obtained. He supplies not only Newton, but many customers throughout Clatsop, Clatskanie, and surrounding ranches.

Amos Ripley also operates a grocery store, and also reports a barber shop. He also reports a good business. Myron Larson and LaVore Dowdle have a hardware store with kind and efficient clerks and handle all things as people need in the home and on the farm in that line at the same cost as any larger city, so they have come to trade.

The postmaster, Mr. Joseph R. Tudehman, reports a ten per cent increase in his business over last year. The Eckhard brothers operate an auto repair shop and are very handy blacksmiths, carpenters and garage men. La Peterson owns a garage and service station on the main highway and is kept quite busy in his shop. Nephew Benson also runs a service station, confectionary store, and a good stand, which draws many of the younger set, especially on dance nights and after shows.

We are indebted to Carl Johnson, our road supervisor for his improvements in the construction of our state highway. The road has been graded and culverts widened and signs erected at intersections at the main route and one piece of cutting done during the past summer. We have the promise of a good road for the coming season, which we feel we justly deserve. Mr. Johnson has his road crew on the job from early till late, along with his other help, Messrs. Nelson and High Tudehman. They maintain approximately 75 miles of road.

Chickens and cows form one of the main sources of income for this community as it is quite a hay district. This is one thing which furnishes steady employment the year round. Newton's Reservoirs

The reservoir at Newton seems to be the first reservoir built in the state of Utah. It was built in 1913. It stores 1,000 acre feet and has one-fourth of the water streams to augment its supply.

A government project has been authorized for the Newton Reservoir. One and one-half miles below the present site, a new reservoir is to be constructed. The old dam is to be retained. The new dam will be 75 feet high, 40 feet long at the top and 110 feet at the bottom and 29 feet at the top. It will cost $20,000 per acre foot, a total of $1,925,000. For hay or grain in this locality this amount of water would water 300 or 400 acres. For beef and other crops it will take about two times that amount. We expect this project to begin in the very near future.

In connection with the water obtained from the reservoir, a big pipe the West Cache canal which furnishes a good water system for a good portion of the South Fork of the Snake. In this canal is a pumping plant owned and operated by the land owners just south town. It is a good water

Wrestling Bouts Set For Tonight

The weekly wrestling show at the Newton arena has been announced for this evening instead of Wednesday night. Wrestling fans throughout the Newton area might as a wonderful show has been provided for local consumption.

The big bounding Eskimo who has been showing to good advantage here, has been matched tonight with Del Kunkel of Salt Lake City. This bout itself should make the evening ring show worth while as it is plenty of other features, all of which are high class.

Tonight at 8:30 at Thatcher arena. The system but very expensive to run. We are a blessed with fairly good town system for cultural purposes. So after all we feel we are living in a good district for a variety of crops.

Newton has had a very prosperous year in 1936. It has been one of the best years of the town. The wheat crop, although the yield was not up to previous years, was fair and prices good, brought in the largest income to our community.

Our hay crop was bumper again this year. It is making this crop a course of major income. Much of the hay is sold to dairymen on the east side as a cash crop. The quality product that we can produce makes a ready market for it.

Our poultry industry, although showing some decline since the boom of '28 and '29, is still making a nice weekly check. It has always been, the poultryman is properly caring for his flock, it is making a profit. We have several good poultrymen in our community, who are making their poultry a profitable business that is, is soon weeds out those that are not in business.

During the past several months the prices for dairy products has been encouraging. Consequently, more and more interest being shown in this line. At present we have three milk trucks going out in this milk industry is sure to come if prices stay at their present level. Besides the milk that is marketed some cream is also sold. Many fine dairy animals are raised every year. Our surplus can always find a ready market on the coast. Veal and beef are a side bone that bring in some revenue.

As is usual, we have participated in government aid to farmers and also aid to the recovery of the poultry of our citizens have benefited directly or indirectly in these benefit payments. There have been many so major projects on in our community in the past year. However, many of the farm work has not been paid out, dollars to local workers who take care of most of the work during the winter season.

A feeling of optimism is manifested among our farmers, much in contrast to the past year. Many are looking forward to improved conditions for 1937.

DEL KUNKEL, Del Kunkel, outstanding Utah Grappler, is billed to wrestle in Logan, tonight.

And this is exactly what did happen, and from now on the people who don't want the deer and elk to become obsolete again you better insist upon continuing closed season, again for four years while you still have some breeding stock left.

And also know just what the deer and elk are doing in the woods during closed season. Feathers who violate game laws never have enough money to buy more than one box of cartridges at a time.

A week ago a group of five boys and a scoutmaster were out for a little riding on the mountain above Millville and they caught foxes red handed with a doe and fawn. Hope we will hear of some one going to jail for this.

There are countless thousands of scouts in the United States who are not privileged to have the same refuge at their front doors such as our local scouts have so we will take it for granted that when these young folks go for a hike armed with cameras their hope is to see some of the wild animals in their native environment.

All right, a week ago ten boys and a scoutmaster were out for a little riding in the timber above Millville. They were started at hearing a bombardment of rifle shots. They came upon a doe and fawn that have just recently been dressed, the carcasses are still warm. They fell each other, this is the best chance anyone could have to collect evidence, build a strong case and have the perils convicted.

The horse has a small feet weighs about 1,000 pounds, has spots on the front feet, and are very smooth. Over here where the horse was tied is some black hair. The Sequel to "The Thin Man" An Entertainment Smash!

"After the Thin Man," with William Powell and Myrna Loy Again the Perfect "Mr. and Mrs.;" Funnier and More Mystifying than Original Hit

The mixture of comedy and drama which W. S. Van Dyke unfailingly injects into a mystery picture is evident again in his latest effort. "After the Thin Man," the Metro-Columbia-MGM film, which opened Sunday at the Capitol theatre with William Powell and Myrna Loy in the starring roles.

From this elevation the entire valley can be seen. There are three cameras in the crowd and several pictures are taken of the valley and the deer.

At the suggestion of one of the boys the group started out to follow the deer. The deer, the doe and the horse and presently a little farther up the gulch sure enough were two grown men and the pen.

The pony was a black all right and was shod on the front feet. It had carcases and had a chain and single tree hung on the harness.

One man was in his shirt sleeves and carried a .38-08 Craig. There was blood on his shirt and also on his face and clothing. The other man carried an axe and was cutting a small cedar.

When they fired the dog stopped running and stood still, seemingly to give the fawn a chance to get away. The fawn was cutting a small cedar, manna and stood by her dead body while he himself was shot. Should think it shows what choice of a deer that kind of venison?

The Daniel H. Wells Camp met Friday at the home of Mrs. Beta Leatham in a Christmas social. Mrs. Sarah A. Bailey was in charge. Children over 70 who were honored were Mrs. Harriet Seely, Martha Glenn, Julia Wyatt, Eliza Cooper and Ellen Myers and each were presented with a special gift.

"Christmas story," Mrs. Alberta Leatham trio. Mrs. Robert Stewart, Geneva Glenn, and Geneva Murray; history of Michael Hemminger party at the tabernacle on Monday evening. A color scheme of red and green was carried out in the table decorations. Miniature Christmas trees centered the one long table where places were marked for forty people. A delicious three course chicken dinner was served. The remainder of the evening was spent dancing to music by the Mendon band.

The Wellsville choir presented four musical numbers at the M. I. A. meeting on Tuesday evening. They were: "The Star of Bethlehem," Parley Hall and Mrs. Willie Leatham; solo, "O Peace Divine," by Kenneth Murray; trio, "O Night of Holy Memory," Mrs. Eliza Glenn, Mrs. Adell and Edith; solo, "The Holy City," Parley Hall, Mrs. Anona Maughan was accompanist.

the spirit of the occasion. The people of River Heights are to be congratulated for this fine production and pointing the way to finer things on Christmas day. It was suggested that as Salt Lake City has its annual Messiah production, Orderville its annual Messiah production that Logan could have its early Christmas morning pageant of the tabernacle. It is believed the tabernacle would be filled. This suggestion will receive serious consideration. This pageant will in no way take the place of the big annual Religious Spring pageant in the tabernacle in March of each year, sponsored by the Logan and Cache churches.

TEN BIRDS, THREE DEATHS 6 MARRIAGES

In Numerous Ways Citizens of North Logan Have Prospered—Many New Homes Erected

By Mrs. Sadie Nyrman
North Logan—in the beautiful county of Cache at the base of the Wasatch range, lies a little northeast of Logan city one mile from the U. S. A. C. and one mile from Logan temple is the prosperous little town of North Logan formerly called Greenville. As 1909 is nearing its close it has been quite a prosperous year, especially in many of our crops and a few incidents. Our fields and orchards have yielded bountifully and our flocks and herds have increased. We have not only prospered from our crops and herds, but also from our investments. Some improvements have been made in the building line. Several new barns, homes, fences and poultry houses have been built. A large percentage of the houses have electric lights, telephones, radios and all modern conveniences. Beautifying and improving the school grounds and surroundings with water systems, lawn, playground equipment, new dirt was hauled and ground leveled. New cement walks and general clean up of all the grounds adjacent property was purchased providing more adequate playground grounds for a ball diamond and volleyball could be provided and here ample ground for all play equipment. With P. T. A. and welfare agencies cooperating a school lunch program was launched. With a modern four room building and employing four teachers, with J. W. Semons as principal, the schools are up-to-date, with an efficient corps of teachers that money could secure.

In Addition to Silver Fox, Logan Fox Farm Raising Chinchilla and Karakul

It is a real sight to visit the Logan Fox farm at the present time. Austin Pond, manager, seems to take special delight in showing his guests about his farm which is full of interest to persons not familiar with the culture of furs, a commercial basis.

Over 800 foxes have just been culled for the market and still remains on the farm over 500 foxes for breeding purposes. There seems to be a ready market for furs grown this valley, as the leading markets of the country bid for the Cache Valley pelts.

Besides producing foxes on a large scale, Mr. Pond has added to his farm a pen of ten pairs of chinchilla, the little animals which produce a peary-gray fur which commands the highest price of any furs in the world.

Besides these little animals he has also recently added a flock of Karakul sheep to his pen. He has one buck and ten ewes which already have five lambs. Karakul sheep promise to be one of the leading moneymakers of the country. Breeding stock from the orient and being distributed pretty general throughout the inter-mountain territory and there is a big demand for their fur. Women's coats from this fur are universally worn and are in demand.

Loren Butters Services Held At Clarkston

Clarkston—Funeral services for Loren Lyle Butters were held Sunday. Bishop Seymour Thompson presided. Prayers were offered by Rev. Wm. A. Loebe and Lewis Butters.

Special musical numbers were given by Mrs. Daisy Burr and Mrs. Miller Godfrey. Mrs. Besse Griffin as organist and Vivian Clark as soloist. Duet, Wells Whittier of Brigham City and Mrs. Wilma Zollinger of Providence.

The makers were E. M. Bivens and Richmond, Frank M. Hayden and Bishop Thompson. All paid glowing tributes to the departed, noting his noble character and the splendid life he had lived. A poem composed by his aunt, Mrs. Barnet Morgan of Weston Idaho was read by Maurice Morgan of Weston.

Loren was the scout who represented the Clarkston ward at the annual convention at Washington, D. C. in 1935. His mother, Mrs. Louise Whitely Butters and the following brothers and sisters survive: Clair, Harold, Vaughan, Orland, Thora, Lela and Leon. His father, Wm. Butters died two years ago.

The grave at the cemetery was dedicated by Bishop John Hansen. The beautiful floral offerings and the exceptionally large attendance showed the respect which the entire ward wish to show Mrs. Butters and her family.

Notice
Cache Stake Genealogical Union meeting will be changed to meet Sunday, January 3, in the Stake house at 3 p.m. All officers are especially requested to be present. The Junior outline study will be explained. F. Black, chairman.

NEW CHAPEL NEEDED BY TRENTON WD.

By Marjorie Briggs
Trenton—Another year has rolled around and we are still on the map of Cache county. Our population has not grown we are extending our city limits for the purpose of installing a city water system in the near future. The cost has been estimated at $95,000. Although the cost seems excessive by many of our citizens we are sure our town will grow rapidly after its installation.

The past year our Relief Society has done wonderful work, also our scouts, M. I. A. and Primary, under the leadership of Mrs. Roy Andrews, Relief Society President, William Haslem, Boy Scout leader; Mrs. Lepray, M. I. A. President; Mrs. Mary Haslem, Scout of our Primary are the other leaders.

The Bishop and committee are gathering funds to build a much needed chapel in the spring. All our business houses report a larger business than last year. We also have one new grocery store, Lee Grocery, which was opened last May by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Monamith.

Our farmers have all raised good crops, many of them have bought new cars. The school is doing wonderful work under our able Principal Clayton Melbeck with Barzen Good, Mr. Fabrice and Pontielia Wheeler.

The P. T. A. have their monthly meetings and many things to improve the school comes before the meeting. The Ladies Farm Bureau had a successful year with Mrs. Pearl Spencer as president.

We have twenty students going to various colleges and two boys take our high school students to North Cache. For these and many more advantages we are very grateful, and wish the Cache American staff and readers a very Merry Christmas and prosperous New Year.

HYRUM MAKES GOOD USE OF SNOW PLOW

Only City in County Outside of Logan to Have This Sort of Street Equipment

Hyrum—During the past week about 19 inches of snow has fallen in Hyrum. Roads would have been completely blocked had it not been for the very efficient service of the city road department. Under the supervision of Eitan Olsen, road supervisor, every street in town has been cleaned, a road wide enough and plough, and in case of an emergency there is no street in the city that is not accessible.

Hyrum is the only town of its size in Cache county that has this service. Some towns have a driver clean the main streets, but Hyrum has their specially built snow plough, and in case of an emergency there is no street in the city that is not accessible.

PIONEER OF TWO STATES Laid at Rest

Funeral services for Caroline W. Humphreys were held in the Logan Seventh ward chapel today with Claude B. McBride of the habesite presiding. The singing was furnished by the ward choir. There was an instrumental trio by Prof. N. W. Christiansen, Frank E. Clark and Hal Frank. A vocal solo was rendered by Frank Baugh and Mrs. Elizabeth B. Thorpe. Speakers were A. E. Cranney, Hyrum Hansen, J. H. Watkins Jr. and Bishop George Raymond. All dealt on the devotedness of the deceased also of the passing of truly a pioneer. Prayers were by Bishop J. W. Linford and Prof. E. J. Passley. The grave in the Logan cemetery was dedicated by L. H. Kennard.

Many friends and relatives who otherwise would have attended the services were snogoned in Sargdine canyon and at Soda Point and did not reach Logan. There were many beautiful flowers presented in loving affection for Mrs. Humphreys.

Celebrate Their Golden Wedding

The Golden wedding reception and party for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Busby was held at the family home at 455 West Center Tuesday afternoon and evening when members of the family and fifty friends congratulated the couple and wished them many more years of happiness together. There have been born to them 9 children, all of whom are living, those present being: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Busby and family of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. George Paul of Preston, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Busby of Salt Lake City, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Wilkinson of Logan, two children not attending were Mrs. R. H. Kellerman of Seattle and Wesley Busby of Hampa, Idaho.

Dr. McCausland Final Tribute On Wednesday

Funeral services for Dr. James A. McCausland, veteran and honored dentist of Logan, who died on Sunday at his home in this city, were conducted Wednesday in the Presbyterian church. The Logan Dental Society and the pastor of the church, Rev. William F. Koenig, planned and conducted the services according to the wishes of the family.

There was an organ solo by Prof. E. E. Clark, followed by Rev. Koenig. The reading of the will was by Bert Parr; talk and opening sentences and invocation by Rev. Koenig; prayer by Dr. Isaac P. Stewart; vocal solo, I'm a Pilgrim, Fred Baugh; reading of a scripture and talk by Rev. Koenig; violin solo by Prof. N. W. Christiansen; vocal solo by Dill Williams; prayer, poem and benediction by Rev. Koenig. Burial was in the Logan city cemetery.

Some Changes Take Place in County And City Official Family

Logan city and Cache county officials who were newly elected at the November and December elections will assume their duties anew beginning Monday, January 4, 1937.

In the county organization it is understood there will be no changes. The present appointive officials seem to have given general satisfaction both to their principals and to the public at large.

Two county commissioners, a county attorney, district attorney and a city judge are among those to be sworn in. Three state legislators also will take their oaths when the state legislature opens on January 11.

Oaths will be administered by the county clerk to William Weir, Logan, county commissioner; L. E. Nelson, county attorney; Geo. D. Preston, district attorney; H. Wright, city judge. District Judge-elect Lewis C. Jones, Brigham City, probably will take oath with the 303 other officials Monday.

Commissioners Wesley and Nielsen are incumbents; Mr. Nelson succeeded Mr. Preston, who in turn succeeded William E. Davis, now judge of the 1st and 2nd judicial districts. Jones replaces District Judge M. C. Harris.

Levi H. Allen, Cove, newly elected Cache county board of education member, and John J. Haug, Wellsville, reelected board member, will give oaths January 7 at the first 1937 meeting of the board. Mr. Allen succeeds H. E. Nelson, who resigned, and who did not seek reelection.

John E. Olsen, reelection member of the 1st and 2nd judicial districts, will be sworn in January 7. Mr. Olson is starting on his second term, which is for five years.

For Publishing
Cache American
Owing to New Years tomorrow and owing to the fact that the law requires that the Cache county delinquent tax list be published not later than Monday, January 4, 1937, the regular dates for publishing the Cache American have been changed for these two occasions. Friday's paper is being published today and Saturday's paper will be issued Monday. Patrons of the paper should govern themselves accordingly.

Services of City Judge Commended

Judge Jesse P. Rich, who has served as city judge for the past two years, was commended by Logan city members Tuesday evening when Judge Jesse P. Rich will retire the first of the week and his office will be filled by E. M. Wright who will be sworn in at the next meeting of the city council.

Among the attorneys who commended the services of Judge Rich were L. Tom Perry, A. B. Young, O. D. Preston, Ernest T. Bullen, W. E. Nelson, George H. Hainrich, Nevell C. Daines, Delos Daines, Leon Ponnesebeck and I. D. Naisbitt.

Riley Given Burial At Lawiston

Lawiston—William Riley Lewis, 60, former resident of Lawiston, was killed Monday in an automobile accident at Bullingame, Cal., according to word received here Tuesday.

He was born in Lewiston, October 7, 1886, a son of Nestah Lewis and Eliza Elizabeth Lewis. He had lived in Lewiston until several years ago, when he moved to California.

He is survived by his mother, of Lewiston; his widow and a daughter, Jean Lewis and Mrs. Julia Nelson of Ogden, and the following brothers and sisters: Alfred M. Lewis, Mrs. Malala; Robert M. Lewis, Mrs. Ida Sorenson, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Merlin Lewis, Preston, Idaho; Mrs. Grace Cook, Rupert, Idaho, and Mrs. Mary Stoddard, Burley, Idaho.

Funeral services were conducted today in the Lewiston First ward chapel. Burial was at the Lewiston cemetery.

BEDTIME STORY

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

BILLY MINK HUNTS IN VAIN

IN VAIN Billy Mink searched for rats in the big barn. The smell of them was everywhere, but the rats themselves had disappeared completely. Time after time, following a trail, Billy was led to the opening out of doors under the barn. It was clear that all the rats had left the big barn and that all had gone out the same way.

"They've moved off somewhere," thought Billy. "I frightened them so that they didn't dare stay here any longer. All have gone, young, old, big little, and middle-sized. There is no rat left for me here in the big barn. I think I'll follow them. Where they can go, I can go. They are a gang of robbers. They are ugly, dirty, and of no account whatever. In fact, they're worse than that. They have so many babies at a time and have more so often that there is danger that they will drive their honest neighbors off the earth. Yes, I think I'll follow them."

Billy cautiously peered his head through the opening that led out of doors. Then he blinked with surprise. Outside everything was spotlessly white. It was snowing. It had been snowing for some time. Not a footprint of a single rat was to be seen. Moreover, there was no scent for Billy to follow by means of his wonderful nose. The snow had covered the trail. Billy could only lick his lips and wonder in which direction those rats had gone. "If I knew more about this part of the country I would know better where to look for those rats," muttered Billy. "As it is, I haven't been here long enough to know about anything but this barn, the henhouse, and the big woodpile between the two. I wonder if they can have moved over to that woodpile or to the henhouse. The woodpile would give them hiding places, but they wouldn't find anything to eat there."

"If they have gone to the henhouse they can hide underneath it and for food they can steal eggs and kill a hen. I've known rats to do just those things. I've known them to kill chickens and then have the owner of the chicken blame me or Jimmy Skunk for it. I hate rats. Everybody else does. I know most everybody and don't know a single person who has a good word to say for Robber the Rat and his gang. I think I'll run over to the henhouse to see if they are there."

So Billy Mink went first to the big woodpile and from there to the henhouse, but not so much as the smell of a rat did we find in either place.

The Trail of Truth

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

Mankind moves onward day by day. But some men grow impatient. They are like the lad who runs ahead. And scorns the path his elders tread. Deserts the trail the woods to try. Though there's a road to travel by. Yet he shall presently return. Young error yet old truth shall learn.

The marks of other men remain. Their cairns erected on the plain. Here high the shafts of honor lift. Erected on the rock of truth. Impatient hands would change the earth. When it is men who must have worth.

But some men pass a thousand years. Yet, even in a righteous cause. Yet statutes will not make a state. While men still covet, men still hate.

We need not change the law, we need not. Not alic anything, indeed. Except men's hearts—and even they. Need not the dawn of some new day. Need not new trails that men may miss.

Period Influences Superb Fabrics

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

FORMAL gowns for the midwinter social season are said to be the most elegant, the most sumptuous and most extravagant that has been seen at any time since pre-war days. The "dress-up" movement is growing more and more so with each passing day. From style centers come reports that an astonishing number of formal gowns are selling this season and that the call for handsome afternoon gowns in rich metallics, velvets and laces is reaching beyond the usual.

Gorgeous, glinting, gleaming, sparkling and arrestingly colorful are the fabrics and laces that are fashioning the luxury apparel noted at fashionable gatherings. Then, too, the trend to greater elegance is expressed in the emphasis placed on luxurious accessories, on fatter, finer little dinner and elaborate evening dresses.

The one-piece step-in the essence of practicality—a great boon to the youngster's comfort. This ensemble is available in sizes 2, 3, 4 and 5 years. Size 3 requires 2 1/2 yards of 35 or 40 inch fabric and 3/4 yard contrasting.

Pattern 1938—This new dress "belongs" in almost any company. Its great simplicity will endear it to homemakers and business women alike. It is a combination of charm, good lines and youthful appeal. You'll want two versions of this style—one with short sleeves, the other with long. Plique, silk crepe or velveteen will serve nicely as the material. It is available in sizes 24, 30, 36, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 35 inch material, with long sleeves 4 1/2 yards.

Pattern 1928—Daytime distinction takes on a new meaning in this super-styled frock. The squared shoulders, giving it that popular fitness are the important details which give it such perfectly balanced fitness. Yet not one part of it is difficult to cut or to sew. This is a dress which is adequate for every occasion—save the strictly formal.

Shopping Ensemble

Charming, yet businesslike is this trim street ensemble seen at a Paris fashion parade recently. Three-quarter length coat and skirt are of black velvet. The coat, cut with that fashionable dip to the back, is trimmed with grey Persian lamb at the collar and cuffs. The hat is of black velvet, also trimmed with the Persian lamb. The suit is ideal for shopping.

DO THE LINES IN OUR FACES REVEAL THE EMOTIONS THAT DOMINATE US?

OUR emotions are registered on the muscles on our faces. Actors practice certain facial expressions in order to portray certain characteristics on their faces to suggest the emotions desired. The same sets of muscles are used in expressing both happiness and sorrow, hate or joy; but they are used, in a different way. People who are equally cheerful,

COLORFUL DISHES

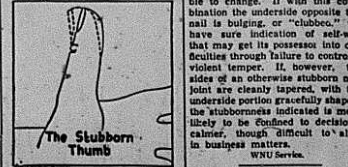

FLOWER bowls, candle sticks, compotes and sherbet glasses as well as the ordinary service dishes are full of color these days. When the snow covers the ground and the black winds blow, the cheery fireplace and the colorful glasses add much to the coziness of entertaining. Linen and flowers carry on the color scheme. Fruits are always a note of color in a dining room. A bowl of Chinese china, filled with oranges, pears, apples, or various nuts such as red, yellow and green; and the banana with its bright yellow, with the purple of grapes and the brown of chestnuts, makes a centerpiece for the table which is hard to equal.

Small cakes may be frosted with a white icing and coconut colored with any desired color, using paste or liquid fruit coloring, blending until the right shade is obtained. Sprinkle this over the cakes while moist with most charming result. Cut cakes with a small bladed cutter in cylindrical shapes, dip into moist frosting and roll up in tinted coconut, making another attractive shape.

Angel food may be mixed as usual and divided into two or three parts.

THE first, or nail joint of the thumb denotes the manner in which the will is used. It shows unmistakably whether its possessor is stubborn or easily influenced, impulsive or cautious. The formation of the first, or nail, joint, holds a wealth of information concerning the variations of the will. The Strong and stubborn will. The nail joint which indicates this temperamental trait also denotes a man or woman who cannot be budged once the nod has been made to follow a given course of action. It is most notable in the rigidity of the joint when pressure is exerted to bend it backward toward the wrist, while any unexpected attempt to close the joint palmward meets with involuntary resistance. The nail joint of the stubborn thumb is usually of moderate length and inclined to be thickset. There is a marked absence of taper at the

Adding Accessories Gives New Effects to Costumes

If you know your fashion arithmetic you will discover that one costume can be made into two by the addition of the right accessories. Take those black suits, for example, which have a modest bit of Persian lamb trim on the cuffs and pockets. It doesn't matter whether the jacket is short or long, or whether the skirt has a gathered choice of a blouse, hat and gloves determines the ensemble's perfection. For afternoon and informal evening needs there are elegant blouses of metallic fabrics and satin, while for tailored needs the shirtwaist blouse with studs is the smartest you can find. Light gloves, dark gloves or bright gloves have their advantages as do hats of felt or velvet. Pinstriped Hats. Young women have adopted with enthusiasm the fashion of light pinstriped hats trimmed with long curling feathers. These are worn well off the forehead.

Casting Precious Metals

In casting gold and silver temperatures ranging about 1,600 degrees Fahrenheit are used. These temperatures create a considerable problem in materials for the mold boxes, as most metals oxidize at such great heats. Recently an alloy of nickel and chromium has been chosen as the material for these boxes because it resists destructive oxidation until a thermometer reading of 1950 degrees is reached.

IRRIGATION VALUABLE TO MENDON FOLK

More Than Two Blades of Grass Where But One Grew Before—Other Improvements

By Mrs. Harold Bartlett

Mendon—Favorably located on the West side of beautiful Cache valley at the foot of the Wasatch mountains lies the city of Mendon. Just a few minutes drive brings us to the county seat. Once again the 450 inhabitants of Mendon find themselves in the sunset of another year. The shadows of 1936 are shortening and history will welcome the dawning of a new year. Nineteen thirty-six will have faded away into history. Many of us think it would be safe in saying that as a community there is more money in our pockets than last year. This is due to better prices and water from Hyrum dam.

With more water we raised better best and wheat crops and three crops of alfalfa in place of one. The price of butter fat is also higher than last year. The loads of milk leave the ward every day for Borden's factory at Logan and end to Morning Glades at Wellville.

As has been stated before our town ranks among the best in the children industry, which continues to grow as it has proven to be a success and works in very harmony with other towns in the valley.

Mendon city has had twelve more electric street lights installed this summer. Traffic signs have been placed on main street in the school zone for the safety of the school children. Our municipal police are also working to make it safer and better for young people. Junior, police are in progress. Stephen, Albert and Barrett Richards, Grant Bartlett, Lawrence Blasi, Howard Hellinger.

People of Mendon are very proud of their new modern school house. Mendon ward, under the direction of Bishop H. C. Peterson and Counselors Oliver Taylor and Elmer J. Hancock, have sponsored two winter carnivals and banners this year.

All organizations have helped out those over by selling aprons, dresses, fancy work, candy, pins, pop corn balls, sausage sales where they had the luxury, and where they had the grain were sold and danced. The one given this spring was to raise money to buy new shingles for our ward chapel. The bank and credit walks around the building, planting lawns, flowers in front and a sprinkling system.

Enough money was raised from the carnival to buy all material, then all men in the ward turned out and did all the work and the project was put over when the work was finished it proved to be a job well done.

The lawn and flowers were beautiful. I thank all people of the ward who worked so hard to put the carnival over.

The men who spent days working could not help but think when looking over the work it was well spent. Money was again raised by a carnival that banks this fall to take care of other expenses.

Never in the history of Mendon has there been a more active public spirit than there has during the year just drawing to a close.

Beautiful modern homes have been built this year by Owen Herdman and Miss Jennie Richards. Some remodeling, painting, planting of flowers, shrubs, lawns and some new chicken coops have been built.

Mendon is supprting a day goods store owned and operated by John Anderson, which carries a complete line of dry goods, groceries and meats. The well known and old. The other store is operated by Henry Stauffer. He has a well stocked, general store, and a Menckes Car and auto and Verel Shelton, who does all kind of repair work and handles a complete line of gas and oil. Emerson

Hancock does the plumbing work for the city. W. K. Sorenson works in the coal. Prof. W. H. Terry of South Cache high school instructs a music class in band and orchestra in summer months. Surely is a wonderful help to our young musicians. Most of the class are attending school at South Cache and play in the band.

Mrs. Owen Sorenson conducts a class of students playing the piano at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Barrett.

Miss Virginia Wade of Smithfield, makes tap dances. When people get the dancing fever they call up the Mendon Jazz Orchestra, which is the leading orchestra from number one in the valley. This Jazz has a very good name for itself playing an average of four nights a week since it was organized 16 years ago.

Anyone wanting a game of baseball just call up the Mendon Eagles. They are always ready to show you how it goes.

There are ten marriages, five births and five deaths recorded here.

Two of our oldest pioneers, Mrs. M. Hughes and Mrs. Susan Sorenson passed away.

The general health and condition of our community is fairly good. We take this opportunity to wish a merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous new year to all our friends and neighboring friends, along with the Cache American staff.

registered at South Cache and 28 at U. S. A. C. and our town schools in other districts.

One of the most important items on the agenda for the year are justly proud over, was the installation of our water system from the Cache National Forest. The cost of about $60,000. In securing this water supply the improvement most needed in the valley. The water is best in the state. The water is pure, according to tests made by the State Health Department.

Bets are raised as well as all kinds of vegetables, esier roots, asparagus, potatoes, sugar corn, peas and beans are raised quite extensively as several of the farmers have two to five acres.

Fruits of different kinds are raised such as apples, peaches, pears, plums, cherries and apricots. Some of the most delicious strawberries, dewberries raspberries, raspberries and blueberries are raised in Cache valley.

Poultry industry is increasing rapidly. The local poultry association is working industriously for a higher egg production and for the supplying of feed at the minimum cost to the poultry raisers. There are at the present time about 15,000 hens. The average flock is composed of about 500 hens. Bishop J. H. Kemp is an enthusiastic poultry man and is helping the industry by his assistance. It is estimated about $30,000 baby chicks were imported here last spring.

Dairy industry is one of the safest, largest and most remunerative industries in North Logan. Better cows are now being kept by the dairymen due to the efforts of the improved bull association and better feeding methods. Most of the farmers have a herd composed of five to fifteen cows.

The Four H club excels many of the articles made by the girls are exhibited at the county and state fairs and they received prizes and honorable mention from many judges.

DIET

In the past several years there have been offered to the public a great number different diets. Some of them are for reducing, some for building up and a few for just maintaining health.

These diets have had their good points and most of them could be used by anyone for a short time without harm. But for all of the people who have adhered to them strictly would have resulted in a great many serious consequences.

Recently there appeared in one of our leading weekly magazines an article that led me to believe that the type of person you are is largely a result of your eating habits. While in an equally prominent magazine told us that no matter what you ate so long as it was good, wholesome food you would turn out to be what you are.

This complete disagreement between two authorities is typical of our diet situation today. One tells us one thing and cites inflexible instances to prove his point and another tells us the opposite with equally irrefutable evidence of his correctness.

Which one is right? I cannot attempt to say which is right without realizing that they are the same ones with one or the other.

There has come to some definite conclusions about diet myself and I follow: The well person cannot be classed with the sick person in planning diets. There must be a definite cleavage of dieting in the two classes of people. If one is in good health, then he can use most any kind of food and proper. But if he is in poor health, then his diet must be arranged so that he can return to health. Only the physician is equipped to tell the ailing person what he or she must eat to get well.

Physicians know that what is food for one person may be poison to another.

So when you are well, do not let your diet please you. Eat good wholesome food. Do not forget you have a stomach except to keep it supplied with food to keep you in fuel.

When you are ill, consult your physician as to what you should eat. Do not follow blindly the sayings of a friend or even an authority without his personal opinion in your own case.

QUESTION AND ANSWER CLINIC

Q. Should children be allowed to drink coffee?

A. In the first place, there is no good reason why children should drink coffee. In the second place, we know that coffee is not good for children and therefore should not be allowed. If a child wants a hot drink, let him drink hot milk.
