WERE KILLED BY SNAKES.

Both The Husband and Wife Died Together.

RATTLESNAKES AND COPPERHEADS

Warmed to Life by a Fire, Bite Two People to Death on the Night of Their Wedding.

A special from Topeka, Kansas, to the New York Press says:

George Higgins, a Topeka traveling man, confirms the story of the death in Cherokee county of August Schrader and wife by serpents' poison. Incredible as it may seem, they were bitten by rattlesnakes and copperheads when the thermometer registered at nearly freezing point. Their death occurred on the night of their wedding.

Mr. Higgins was one of a party of hunters, in camp on Shoal Creek, not far distant from the Indian Territory line, and within gunshot of the cabin occupied by Schrader and his bride. Early in the evening festivities were given by the elder Schrader in honor of the marriage of his son. The cabin was less than 100 yards from the domicile of Schrader, senior, and had been newly built on the latter's farm for the occupancy of the young couple. It consisted of one room, and was built of rough logs. A perpendicular stone bluff formed one of the structure. Against this bluff a fireplace was built, the chimney extending up its side and rising above the edge of the bluff. A fire was built there on the wedding night for the first time.

Hardly had the camping party retired to their tent when they were aroused by calls for help from the elder Schrader. Guided by the cries, they hastened to the cabin of the young couple, where they found them writhing in the throes of death. About the floor and on the low bed were seventeen huge snakes of all species, principally copperheads and rattlesnakes, some of which had been killed and others chilled to death. The hunters ran back to their tent for whisky, which they tried to administer to the dying husband and wife, but the remedy came too late.

Upon investigation, it appeared that the fireplace had been built in close proximity to a cavern in the bluff, in which the reptiles had hibernated for the winter. The fire had warmed the serpents into life, and they were dawn out into the cabin by the heat. Young Schrader was able before he died, to explain that he and his bride had been aroused from their slumber by the moaning of a house dog sleeping at their feet, and which, too, was bitten to death. Following this Schrader heard a hissing and rattling sound, and, leaping out of the bed to ascertain the cause, his bare feet lighted upon the writhing body of a serpent. Next he felt himself stung, and, by the light of the embers in the fireplace, he saw a number of reptiles crawling about the floor or coiled in the attitude of striking. He was stung again and again. His cries arousing his wife, she too, jumped from her bed, only to meet her husband's fate. Then they ran for the door and cried for help. Schrader, senior, appeared. The open door quickly chilled the room, and the reptiles became torpid and were easily dispatched.

The bride was a half breed Indian girl, named Labadie. She had lived in the tribe of her mother until a year or two before her marriage, when she went to live with the elder Schrader as a domestic.

A FINE STORE.

The Union Mercantile Company's Store in Logan.

One of the finest stores in Utah is that of the Union Mercantile company, better known as the "U. O." located on Main street, this city. The sales room has a depth of ninty feet, with an annex for the storing of all kinds of goods not suitable to be carried amongest fine goods. The goods are all neatly arranged and most of the show cases are in the counters, thus giving them the advantage of showing their goods to advantage and at the same time leaving the counters clear. The company carries nearly all kinds of goods sold in first class stores, and are always courtious and obliging to their many costomers. This firm has built up a trade which is indeed enviable. The institution is under the efficient management of C. E. Thorstenson and to do business with him is indeed a pleasure.

A FRUIT THIEF

Steals Thirty Bottles of Fruit from Heber Carlisle's Cellar.

The lowest down theft that we have heard of for many days, occured in this city Friday night. Some contemptible thief broke into Heber Carlisle's cellar, just back of his home in the First ward and stole between twenty and thirty two-quart bottles of canned fruits. The chain which holds the lock was filed in two and the fruit was carried out and put onto a hand sled which the person brought along for his own convenience, as it was much easier than carrying same in his arms. The thief was very particular what kind of fruit he took, as only the choicest kinds were taken. Marshal Knowles got on his trail early next morning but it was impossible to trace him down and no trace has yet been found Mr. Carlisle does not expect to recover his fruit, but desires us to state that he would be much obliged to the thief if he would return the bottles, as he desires to use them next year. We would suggest to Mr. Thief that he do this, as he might have a chance to steal them again next year, full of fruit.

LATER.—Three young men, James Kelly, Frank Getchen and E. L. Jeuney who came to Logan last spring, were arrested on suspicion, and are now in jail pending their hearing. The fruit was recovered, also some merchandise which was stolen from a car some time ago.

A PANIC AT PAROWAN CHRISTMAS EVE.

Several Accidents in Wasatch County—The Sugar Factory Closed for the Season—Other Items.

The Wasatch Wave says there will not be more than three sales of property to pay delinquent taxes in Wasatch county, possibly not that many. The collectors have been very easy on the delinquents.

Iron County Record: There is quite a land boom in progress just now in the vicinity of Milford, about 4000 acres of Government land having been entered in that locality within the last three months.

Alva Green, Jr., of Wallsburg and several other young men had quite an adventure in Provo canyon Friday, so says the Wasatch Wave. They were going down to Utah county with a herd of stock and a team and wagon. The team was stopped at the Toll Gate and one of the boys, young Ingersoll, went on with the stock. The team was not tied and taking fright ran away down the canyon. The boy heard the team coming but before he could get his horse out of the road there was a collision in which his horse was instantly killed.

There was quite a serious panic and accident at Parowan on Christmas eve. The house was packed and in a blaze of glory, reflected from numerous lights on the beautiful Christmas trees. Santa Claus had entered and was in the act of introducing to the audience his beautiful snow white spouse when her clothing suddenly caught fire and in an instant she was enveloped in a sheet of flame. All was excitement and confusion in a moment. Old Santa fought the fire like a Trojan and succeded in puting it out before she was very badly burned and the excitement in the audience was soon quelled before anyone had been seriously injured, though several were badly bruised.—Springville Independent.

There was a lucky accidont at Charleston Tuesday. Arrangements had been made for a shooting match with seven men on each side. There had been about half a dozen shots fired when Wm. Wright stepped up to try his hand with an old muzzle-loading rifle. After trying to fire the gun but without success he lowered it to his side when the charge exploded, bursting the gun all to pieces. The breech was blown out, the lock broken and scattered in every direction. the stock broken off and splintered and about an inch of the barrel broken off. Luckily the only injury he received was from a fragment of the gun striking him on the left arm. It made a hole through his clothing and cut his arm but did not make a serious wound. This ended the shootin' match.—Wasatch Wave.

Richfield Advocate: Work is now progressing on the Tabernacle, and the click of the stonecutter's chisel and hammer is heard around the building. The break in the northwest corner has been fixed up with huge iron rods and the masons have finished up their work also. More men will be put on this week and the work pushed to completion. It will take a deal of means, but the comfort that will be afforded to all who will attend the conferences will repay the cost. The discomfort people have experienced in coming many miles and finding no seats will be a thing of the past when the new building will be completed, if indeed, it be stayed off too long [illegible] community has outgrown [illegible] nacle, which is [illegible]

Utah's great sugar factory at Lehi, of which every citizen of the Territory is justly proud, has ceased operations for the season, and from the books of the company it is ascertained that the total production of sugar has gone a few hundred pounds over the 4,000,000 pound mark, and the company will, consequently receive as bounty from the government $80,000. The factory has made a notable run and the stockholders are more than satisfied with the record made. The annual meeting of the board of directors will be held early in January, and at that meeting it will be learned whether or not the investment has paid handsomely. There can be little doubt regarding that point, however. Last night the management of the company gave the employees of the works a complimentary ball and supper at Garff's hall, Lehi, and a number of directors went down to Lehi yesterday afternoon for the purpose of attending the festivities.—Herald.

When it was definitely settled over a year ago that the Southern Pacific company would erect new machine shops, the citizens of Ogden, through the instrumentality of the chamber of commerce, made the company a proposition that if the shops were located in Ogden the city would pay them a bonus of $20,000 in cash and the county $6,500 worth of brick. The Southern Pacific company accepted the proposition [illegible] themselves to certain [illegible] as to the extent of the work and the time the operations should be commenced. Tuesday a committee, consisting of Mayor Lindy, Probate Judge Bishop and the city engineer, went down to inspect the shops, to see if the contract calling for the bonus had been complied with. The committee made a thorough investigation and was more than satisfied with the works. The machine shops specified in the contract were to be 80x234 feet, and they were found to be 94x254, considerably larger than agreed on. The engine house was to contain six stalles, and has been built with eighteen. The master mechanic's offices and buildings are of the size and description specified in the contract. The company agreed to occupy the shops by January 1, 1894, and they began moving in two weeks ago, so that every condition has been complied with, and the committee so reported. The bonus, $20,000, will be paid over today to the Southern Pacific company. Thursday steam was turned on and the machinery started up for the first time. Sixty-five men are now at work in the shops, and the force will be gradually increased as the new machinery ordered is put in place, and it is expected that within ten days 150 men will be working. This force will be kept employed for nine months out of the year, and at times will be much larger. About eighty men are employed about the buildings and will be kept on for some time yet. Twenty more men arrived from Terrace Thursday. It was a wise move to secure the location of these shops here and cheap at the price paid by the city and county to secure it. The $10,000 per month paid out to the men at the new shops will soon get into circulation and make its power felt in every channel of trade in the city.—Standard.

A MURDERER ESCAPES.

Chris. Evans the Notorious Bandit at Large.

A DEEP LAID PLAN CARRIED OUT.

Five Hundred Men Scouring the Country For the Fugitive—Great Excitement Prevails.

An Associated Press dispatch from Fresno, Cal., dated Dec. 29th, says:

The city is up in arms and the whole country roundabout is excited over the escape, last night from the jail, of Chris Evans, the bandit, murderer and desperate character generally.

It now appears that elaborate plans were laid for the escape. In the morning word was received from Ronaon, thirty miles south, that a young man had given information of an intended train robery and four duputies were sent to the scene, and about the time of the escape several runaways down town attracted others from the jail, so that Jailor Scott was the only man left on watch. He admitted Chris Evan's wife without question or search and admitted Walter Ed Morel, from a neighboring restaurant, with Evan's supper in the same way. When Morel came to the door to go out Scott unlocked the door and at once found himself covered by two revolvers in the hands of Morel and Evans. They took him with them an proceeded up the street. Near Advent church they came upon City Marshal Morgan and W. M. Wyatt, a capilist. Morel told them to hold up their hands. They did so. Morel then took Morgan's pistol and turned to Wyatt, when Morgan seized Morel, pinioning his arms. Evans then came up and ordered Morgan to let Morel go and fired, hitting Morgan in the shoulder. Morel and Evans then started for a spirited team waiting for them, but frightened by the firing they broke away and the fugtives then run to Mono and Q streets, where they compelled a newspaper carrier to give up his cart, in which they drove away and have not since been seen.

The alarm at once spread and citizens rushed to the hardware and gun stores, seized rifles and amunition and started in pursuit. Probably 500 men are scoring San Joaquin valley in every direction.

The Southern Pacific has also sent out a train from Sanger on the Porterville branch in the direction of the mountains. This possee seems to have gone in the right direction, as word has been received that a jaded horse, attached to a cart, was found on the road near there. The deputies who went to Ronaon after the supposed train robbers found a young boy giving the name of E. E. Deck. He said he was one of the gang, but had decided not to commit the crime. He did not, however, tell a straight story, nor turn up the confederates, so the deputies arrested him. It is believed that he is connected with the plot to free Evans.

Early this morning the police arrested two girls and a boy, brother and sisters, at whose house Morel boarded. The young girl has made damaging statements to the police, the nature of which is not made public. Mrs. Evans was left in a faint on the jail floor. She is still detained.

DALTON HELPED HIM.

It is now said Bill Dalton assisted Evans to escape, as the latter helped Dalton out of Visalia jail in 1891.

The posse who went to Sanger is calling for reinforcements. It is rumored the bandits are surrounded in King's river bottom, and will probably be captured before night.

A Bold Robbery

PRESTON, Dec. 26.—Our little berg has been much disturbed within the last few days, owing to the bold robbery of W. C. Parkinson's store, there was about $1,000, and what makes it so distressing, is, that it was done by three of our most promising young men. All the money has been recovered except a few dollors they used to give themselves away with. They were open for bail this morning, will give you further particulars later.—Malad Enterprise.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Angus Vance was a southbound passenger on yesterday morning's train. He spent New Year's day at his home in Brigham City.

William C. Parkinson, proprietor of the Oneida Mercantile Union at Franklin, came down from that place Monday.

A number of small boys have been enjoying themselves the last few days, skating along some of the frozen sidewalks of this city.

N. P. E. Nielsen was arrested Saturday for assault and battery but as New Year was at hand, was let down easy—$2 and costs, amounting in all $5.

A number of young people from this city went to Hyrum last night to attend a ball given in that city. The people of Hyrum are very sociable and make it pleasant for those who visit them.

Sheriff James Kirkbride of Cache county passed through this city yesterday, having in charge Joseph Downs, an insane man, whom he was taking to Provo.—Saturday's Tribune.

After a vacation of a few days, school again commences this morning. Most of the students have returned from home where they went to spend the holidays, and are now prepared to settle down to hard study.

E. W. Greene, ex-Supt. of County Schools, will leave in a few days for Oskaloosa, Kansas, where he has accepted a position as minister in the Presbyterian church. His wife and family will remain at their home in Wellsville this winter, but will doubtless join him in the spring.

Miss Alfreda Larsen, one of our fair young ladies, has gone to Brigham City to spend a few days with her many friends in our neighboring town. There seems to be a sort of "free trade" between many young people of Logan and Brigham City. Probably it's one way of seeking "protection."

Secretary Snyder of the chamber of commerce and Midwinter fair executive committee, yesterday received a letter from County Clerk Fullmer of Cache county, in which that gentleman states that the court will convene on Tuesday next and make a liberal appropriation to the fair fund.—Herald.

With pleasure we make the startling statement that Lehi as a city is at the present time the best, financially, of any town in Utah. Those who know say there are less number of persons in need this year than there were last. The sugar beet raising, and the making of sugar have proven to be a great blessing to this town than the most sanguine ever dreamed of. We hope there are but few who will regret to hear this statement, and will repine because they have paid a few cents bounty to support this praiseworthy industry.—Lehi Banner.

JUDGE GOODWIN CALLS PROF. PAUL'S BLUFF

Paul Juggles with Figures, But as Usual Fails to Dupe His Audience.

The joint debate held in the Salt Lake Theater Saturday evening was something grand—for the Republican party. The democratic talkers were badly done up, knocked out on every turn. Hon C. S. Varian did C. W. Hall up in most excellent taste, and showing his [Varian's] superiority at every sentence uttered. A special to the Standard, after reviewing the speeches of Messrs. Hall and Varian, concludes as follows:

Professor Paul, democrat, followed Mr. Varian with an array of statistics, which shows that Mr. Paul is the greatest statistic juggler and figure falsifier in the Territory. He closed amidst tremendous applause.

Mr. C. E. Allen, Republican, followed Mr. Paul, and the dressing down Mr. Paul received will not be forgotten by that gentleman for some years to come. Mr Allen said that Mr. Paul is a learned gentleman, but he presumes just a little too much on the ignorance of the public. He said he did not expect Mr. Paul to state the Republican side of the question, but that he did expect Mr. Paul to be honest and present the democratic side fairly. And as Mr. Allen continued to place the Logan juggler on the rack, the applause and laughter was something immense.

Judge O. W. Powers, the grand chief of the Tuscaroras, was received by his democratic friends with great applause. All his liberalism has been forgiven and he is now a dyed in the wool democrat. The judge made a humorous speech, which was followed by Judge Goodwin for the Republicans, in a similar vein. But as a parting shot Judge Goodwin placed Professor Paul on the rack again. Paul proved to the satisfaction of his democratic friends that American sugar sold in England for three cents per pound, and English sugar sold in America at seven cents per pound, and has Judge Goodwin showed the inconsistancies of this proposition, Mr. Paul's face was something pitiful to behold. The chair he sat upon must have been red hot from the way he squirmed and twisted around, and the audience appreciated immensely the discomfiture of the Logan juggler.

Judge Goodwin closed admid great applause. It was conceded by all sides that the Republicans simply wiped the earth with the democratic arguments. In fact, Mr. Hall proved that Mr. Varian was a giant compared to himself. Varian is head and shoulders above Hall as a debater and a parliamentarian as well as a speaker.

Professor Paul made this statement: "He who doubts my statements meet me here tomorrow night in joint debate."

This piece of braggadocio fell flat on the audience. But Judge Goodwin before he closed said he was ready to debate the subject now or at any time, but Professor Paul kept his seat and had no more to say. That was a great bluff to challenge a man in that manner to a debate on a Sunday night. Professor Paul is a well posted man, but he presumes that he possesses all the knowledge in Utah.

The meeting showed plainly that Salt Lake City is Republican and that Mr. Varian will be elected by over 500 majority, which would make Utah territory Republican by 1,500 majority.

THE OGDEN Evening Press has changed hands, E. A. Littlefield and B. F. Thomas having leased same. Both these gentlemen are experienced newspaper men and will surely make the Press a sticker. Major Littlefield is one of the oldest and ablest newspaper men in Utah. The Press is the best edited and best local paper in Ogden, and all that is now needed to make it the best paper in Utah excepting the Tribune and News is the Associated Press dispatches. The Republicans in Ogden and Weber county will surely make a grievous mistake if they fail to give the Press the support it merits.

ARTHUR MCEWEN, who is generally regarded as the cleverest allround newspaper man in California, has recently resigned the editorial position on one of the great San Francisco dailies which he has so long occupied, and will hereafter devote much of his time to literature of a more permanent and, perhaps, higher kind. The first fruit of this new departure is a story which he contributes to the Argonaut of January 1, 1894. It is entitled "The Damnation of Colonel Clancy"—a title suggestive of the rich humor of the story—and is one of the truest and most amusing sketches of a type of San Francisocan that have yet been drawn.

They demand a monarchy, but they are sick, he says, of Lillioukalani who is said to be treacherous and mercenary. If the Hawaiians are lookout for a king who will make every subject do the royal will and think the royal thought, we suggest that they wait until on or after March 4, 1897. There is a gentleman now in Washington who will then have closed his engagement with the American people. He is the sort of a man they need in Honolulu. He would teach the natives not to interfere with the policy of the administration and, instead of the "congress," the phrase would then run: "I have a kingdom on my own hands."—Anaconda Standard.

MONDAY'S ISSUE of the Salt Lake Tribune was one of the best and most complete newspapers ever issued in Utah. Aside from its usual complete telegraphic specials from all parts of the country, it contained an excellent review of Utah and her numerous developed and undeveloped resources. Among the many excellent articles were those on the Lehi Sugar Factory, Hog raising in Utah, Provo Woolen Mills, Copper refinery, railroads, and other subjects. And last, but not least, was an excellent write-up of Logan and our Agricultural College. The paper contained twenty-four pages, each one chock full of excellent reading matter. The same day, its would-be contemporary, the Herald, came out with four measly pages and nothing valuable at that. It plainly shows the difference in the value and enterprise of the two papers.

WE NOTICE some of our exchanges have clipped the item which appeared in the Journal a few days ago, stating that Logan was bankrupt. It is one way of advertising our city, but hardly the proper way. Logan is not bankrupt. It's true the city owes quite an amount, but at the same time she's got the improvements to show for it and not a dollar has been wasted. They are useful and permanent improvements, too. No, gentlemen, Logan is not bankrupt. Logan is the best city in Utah and one of the best in the country. Our city has stood up under the financial strain much better than has any of our neighboring cities. There has not been one single failure of any moment and we have not so much cause to complain as have any of our sister cities. We tell our friends and the country at large that Logan is all right and that no better time than now can be found for making investments in the beautiful metropolis of northern Utah.

A NEW paper is soon to be started in Brigham City. A company, consisting of the leading business men of the city, is being organized for that purpose and the paper will make its appearance before many days. It will doubtless be edited by A. B. Tomson, "Milo-Zip" and will be out and out Republican. Mr. Tomson is a thorough newspaper man, has been in the profession many years and is one of the best writers in Utah. In securing his services a wise selection has been made and in advance, THE NATION extends its compliments to the good people of Brigham City and Box Elder county, asking them to give the new venture their hearty support, and promising them that they soon will have a local paper which they can take into their home without causing a blush of shame to mantle their cheeks. Nearly all the leading business men in the city will take stock in the paper and as the great majority of the business men are Republicans and as the paper will be ably edited, success is assured. May that success be all that is desired.

THE EDITOR of the Provo Dispatch appears somewhat excited lest, after the Utah Press association is organized, the boys might desire to break away from "the horrors of the editorial den" and take a little "jaunt" every year or two. The Press association is not being organized for the purpose of having fun are going on excursions, but for legitimate purposes; for the closer union of the newspaper men of Utah and for the benefit of both the public and the publishers. It is desired that every newspaper in Utah shall join the association as many advantages will be gained by the members. The purposes of the organization were clearly set forth in the Salt Lake dailies of Monday last and should be carefully read by all newspaper men. The call for the meeting when the permanent organization will be made is set for Saturday, January the 20th, 1894, and will be in Salt Lake. Every newspaper man in Utah is urgently requested to be there and lend his voice and influence in the perfecting of the Utah Press Association. It will surely be made a "go" this time, but your presence will make it that much stronger.

A CONTEMPTIBLE PAPER.

THE NATION is not the only paper that has no use for the Salt Lake Herald. Nearly every paper in Utah, including many of its own party organs, and even papers in Idaho, condemn the miserable and contemptible means resorted to by the "Rockiest of the Rockies." We state, and without fear of contradiction from any responsible source, (which of coures does not include the Herald) that the editor of that paper does no honor to Utah journalism. The Rexburg Silver Hammer, Ben Rich's paper, pays its compliments to that paper in short but pointed words. If we were asked to offer a suggestion it would be that if the Herald editor has any love for Utah or her people, he would at once resign his position, and be supported by a special tax, or go into some business to which he is adapted, as he certainly has no credit to the journalistic profession. The Silver Hammer says:

The latest issues of the Salt Lake Herald show that its editor has stooped lower than any man in Utah ever did before. His paper is bubbling over with hatred, and almost every stroke of the pen is wielded with a desire to dig up the past and shot of hatred, that was supposed to be buried so deep that it never again could see the light of day. Mr. Penrose has lowered himself in the estimation of his friends, and the noble leaders of the church must be thoroughly disgusted with his filthy way of making a campaign fight.

ENTITLED TO IT.

It is really amusing and interesting, though at times thoroughly disgusting, to read the remarks made by many outside papers regarding the admission of Utah to statehood. We are surprised that such ignorant men should be engaged in the newspaper profession. They set truth and history at naught and make any statements which suit their fancy, and apparently the further they get from the truth the better it suits them. The following we clip from the Colfax, (Wash.) Gazette, and it will probably give our readers a fair idea of how many of the papers size up the statehood question. After reviewing the situation of the other territories asking admission, the Gazette says:

Utah has population enough, and resources enough to take up the burden of statehood, but if her people are once removed from federal control the Mormon heirarchy will be erected again, and the practice of polygamy and open prostitution can go unwhipt of justice.

Such statements as this must certainly be based upon ignorance and excessive prejudice, as no self-respecting person would knowingly make any such charges. It appears to us that when the old opposition in Utah withdraws all objections and asks for statehood, that to any fair-minded person, Utah certainly is entitled to and ready for statehood.

The Gazette is probably not aware of the fact that a clause was inserted in the admission bill, forever prohibiting polygamy. And as for "prostitution going unwhipt of justice," it is only necessary to state that Utah is probably the most moral part of the United States, or of the whole world, and the Mormon people rank second to none in morality. No, there is no danger whatever. Utah is ready in every particular to don the statehood dress. Statehood is our just due. We are entitled to it in every way, and furthermore, we'll get it, despite the unfounded opposition of a few newspapers which seem to vie with each other in saying mean things about Utah and her people.

AWAY WITH IT.

The Wilson bill is worse than a blunder. It is a crime. It is an offense against patriotism, against humanity. The Bourbon politicians who framed it and the callous egotist in the White House who stands ready to drive it through Congress by egregious abuse of Presidential authority, are directly responsible for the appalling conditions of idleness and misery with which this country is confronted, says the New York Press.

Because of Grover Cleveland's colossal selfishness and the desire of Southern Bourbons to strike down Northern industries, strong men are walking the streets in the fruitless search for work and bread, women starved in honor and comfort are facing starvation or worse, and little children in every town and city are tortured by the cold and hunger. In order that the President and his supporters may win the applause of foreign monopolists and serve the cause of foreign greed, the factory wheels are still, the factory chimnies are smokeless, the mighty volume of American industries is paralyzed—and the people starve.

This is no time to mince words or hide the truth in velvet phrases. A policy which spreads bitter privation over this land of plenty; which substitutes the pauper's dole for the honorable reward of toil; which takes away the fundamental right of freemen to labor and enjoy the results of their labor; which in this great Republic of unbounded resources and matchless wealth stamps out the fire on the workingman's hearth, sweeps the workingman's table bare of wholesome food, and clothes the workingman's children in rags, is a crime without palliation or excuse.

This crime was rebuked by the American people in the elections of November 7. It is being condemned by every mass meeting of labor. It is being denounced as it deserves by the voters who are sending to Congress their protests by tens of thousands against the free trade measure. The policy of ruin must not be carried out. Kill the Wilson bill!

"STICK TO THE PARTY."

The democatic party owes its existance to the voter of the southern states. Its principles and demands have always been "tariff for revenue only." Where has there ever been known a southern democrat who did not abhor the doctrine of protection. "Protective tariff" has been a bug-a-boo to frighten men to the polls to vote for southern interests. Mr. Cleveland was elected by the southern democracy largely on the "tariff reform" issue, assisted by the "force bill" scare.

Yet another favorite doctrine of the southern democracy was free silver. If there was any one thing aside from tariff reform that the Virginia democracy and the democracy of the south wanted more than another, it was free silver. Mr. Cleveland and his northern party with southern principles, very summarily knocked out of the southern democrats all ideas of free silver, and now Mr. Cleveland and his party are going to knock out all their ideas of tariff reform.

The bill agreed upon by the democratic members of the ways and means committee proposes free trade in southern products, and a protective tariff for the articles the southern people have to buy. Free raw material is a special fad of Mr. Cleveland's. He would give the most certain protection to the New England manufacturer by making all the raw material he needs, even our lumber and coal, free. These things are produced at the south. What does he give the people of the south in return? Free agricultural implements! And these are no longer exclusively manufactured in the favored New England states, which the new tariff is intended to benefit, but here in Virginia and in the states south and west of the Potomac.

It was predicted that if the Wilson tariff bill passes, the immence wealth of coal, iron and lumber in our mountains and forsets, will remain where it is. This vast wealth will not be available perhaps for years. The many thousand coal and iron miners, furnace men and lumber men will be thrown out of employment. Free agricultural implements will not repay for all this loss. What has the south and west to gain by the surrender of New England and the north? But, oh! "you must stick to the democratic party!"—Virginia Sun.

A ball was given in the Third ward meeting house last night, at which probably 150 young people were present. Dancing was kept up until a late hour and everything passed off pleasantly.

One day last week Thomas Davis severed his entire left thumb from his hand, with the exception of a very small fraction of the skin, by which it was hanging. Dr. Snow skillfully dressed the wound and now has some hopes of saving the thumb.

During the past half-century—since the discovery of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the average limit of human life in civilized countries, has been considerably lengthened. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is everywhere considered the standard blood-purifier, the Superior Medicine.

Some sneak thief broke into the club saloon on Third street, Sunday night. He robbed the till of $16 in cash and carried off a jug of whiskey and one of brandy. He gained entrance by unlocking the side door, probably with a skeleton key. No trace of the thief has yet been found.

The Palace Hotel dining hall was beautifully decorated New Year's day, and an elegant dinner spread. A large number of people partook of the hospitality of Mine Host Murdock, each one receiving all the good things the heart could desire or the stomach hold. The management is to be complimented on the success of their efforts. THE NATION editors are indebted to Mr. Murdock for a dinner which would doubtless satisfy President Cleveland and touch the heart of any man. Many thanks.

All is not peace in the ranks of democracy. It is freely reported on the streets today that there has been a big "split" in the party over the division of the offices and some startling events may soon transpire. There are not offices enough to go round. Hence this "whatness."

The Directors of the First National Bank of Logan at their meeting Dec. 29th, 1893, placed the entire earnings of the bank for the past six months to the surplus account which now stands above $3,000. The bank earned 9½ per cent. on its capital during 1893, five percent of which was declared as a dividend on July 1st, last, and the remaining four and a half per cent. was carried to surplus and undivided profits so as to increase the working capital.

AWFUL RUSSIAN BUTCHERY

A Hundred Catholics Massacred by Cossacks.

'TWAS MOST CRUEL AND VINDICTIVE.

The Victims Slaughtered In Their Church and the Sacred Edifice Was Drenched With Blood.

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—The Cologne Volks Zeitung has a dispatch from Krusche, Russia, confirming the fragmentary reports of the massacre of many Catholics by Cossacks soldiers in the Catholic Church at that place.

Between seventy and one hundred Catholics were slaughtered and a great many more injured. The details of the outrage show that the church had been menaced for some time by the Cossacks and that the Catholics guarded it for more than a week against attack.

Early in the morning of November 10th, Prefect Klingenberg reached Krusche from Kovno, accompanied by a detachment of Cossacks. They entered the church, where about seventy Catholics were gathered.

The Cossacks, cursing and yelling, rushed toward the worshippers, knocking them and striking them with their swords until the church echoed with the screams of the wounded. Some of the Catholics fled to the belfry, where they rang the bells in alarm, soon arousing the rest of the inhabitants, with the result that a thousand people soon collected around the church and the Cossacks were forced out of the building.

Only the Prefect and his deputy succeeded in resisting the efforts of the inhabitants, and they, it is stated, retreated to the organ loft, from which place they opened fire upon the people in the church until the Prefect escaped.

Late in the day a detachment of 600 Cossacks were sent from Kovno to Kruseche, armed with rifles, lances and knouts. Upon their arrival near Krusche, they were divided into two detachments. One body surrounded the township on all sides while the other rode at a gallop toward the Catholic church. They dashed with lances down into the crowd outside the building, spearing, shooting and lashing with knouts all who came within reach. Many persons were killed and wounded.

The Cossacks then rode their horses into the church and a massacre of the people inside began. The unfortunate Catholics threw themselves on their knees in a corner and prayed for help, but the Cossacks shot and speared right and left, until the floor and walls of the church were drenched with blood.

The Cossacks smashed the crucifixes, candlesticks and images. They rode over the people right and left, dragged the bodies of the dead and wounded to a cesspool and throw them into the hole. The people fled in all directions, but were pursued and captured or badly wounded by the Cossacks of the detachment detailed to surround the town. Some were so panic stricken that they committed suicide by jumping into the river.

The rest were surrounded by the Cossacks, who drove them to the market place. Here every man, woman and child of the town was ordered to be flogged with the knout. A doctor prescribed the number of lashes which each person could bear. The victims had their cloths torn from them and were flogged until many of them were almost dead. They were afterward compelled to clothe themselves as best they could and were then driven to prison.

It has been suggested that THE NATION pull for the appointment of Will Crockett as dog catcher. He has a horse and cart and is possessed of the ability. We'd cheerfully do so, but fear our influence with the present Mayor and City Council is somewhat limited. However, we make the suggestion.

When the Republican mayor and city council, just retired, took hold of the city government there was not a red cent in the treasury, but nearly $2,000 in warrants outstanding. They turned the affairs over to the present democratic government with money in the treasury. We hope the city council we now have will do as well.

A. B. Tomson, the well-known correspondent and newspaper writer, has received sufficient encouragement from the citizens of Brigham City to justify him in starting a paper there. Mr. Tomson is a rustler and will publish a paper for the people, which of course means a Republican paper.—Ogden Press.

The Journal says much credit for the recent capture of the gang of thieves is due to "smooth detective work by Heber Carlisle, Marshal McCullough and ex-Marshal Knowles." This is partly true and partly untrue. Ex-Marshal Knowles and Mr. Carlisle got on track of the fruit and the thieves and had both located. As Mr. Knowles was going to make the arrest he met Marshal McCullough and asked him if he would like to go along. This the Marshal consented to and that was about as far as his services went. The arrest was made before our new marshal qualified. No doubt Marshal McCullough is fully as capable as anyone for such work, but we believe in giving credit to whom credit is due.

CARNEGIE'S GRAND OFFER

Will Give $5,000 a Day to Pittsburg's Unemployed.

HIS MILLS TO BE KEPT RUNNING.

Mr. Carnegie will Contribute $300,000 to to Unemployed and Run His Mills at a Great Loss.

A special telegram from Pittsburg to the New York Press dated Dec. 27th, says: A letter was received in this city today from Mr. Andrew Carnegie addressed to Robert Pitcairn of the Pennsylvania railroad, who is associated with other prominent citizens here on the Relief Committee to provide work for the unemployed. Mr. Carnegia offers to give, if the people of Pittsburg will contribute an equal sum, $5,000 a working day for two months. This magnificent generosity means a contribution from Mr. Carnegie of nearly $300,000.

MR. CARNEGIE'S LETTER

New York, Dec. 16, 1893.

"My Dear Friend—In reply to yours of the 22nd inst., let me say that I think the rich people of Pittsburg will see that no sober, industrious workman, the head of a family, suffers during the next two winter months for work sufficient to keep him and his family in food, fuel and shelter.

"This was the purport of my talk with Messrs Bigelow and Thomson when I last saw them in Pittsburg, and since then with Chairman McConway here. I assured them of my cordial co-operation in my scheme devised for giving work. You say your committee thinks it desirable that I should state what I am prepared to do. My reply is that I shall give for this purpose an equal sum to that which the citizens of Pittsburg contribute up to $5,000 per working day during the next two months.

"Mrs. Carnegie and myself had thought of spending considerable time in Pittsburg this winter and act upon the committees, giving what is more precious than money, our individual service to the cause, but the doctors have just plainly told me that I must take—what is to me the universal cure—a long sea voyage. I have never felt better nor years than when last at Pittsburg, but, unfortunately, I contracted the grip there, and it appears I cannot shake it off. All we can do, therefore, is to contribute money, which we very much regret, because in this emergency it seemed to both of us our duty lay among the people of Pittsburg.

You know my views about almsgiving, and how often I have written and said that of every thousand dollars spent today in so-called charity, $950 of it had better been thrown into the sea. But the business condition in this country, and especially in Pittsburg, creates a temporary emergency in which money can be beneficially devoted not to giving alms, but to giving worthy men work who are idle through no fault of their own.

You say the committee thinks it desirable to raise $200,000. Fortunate, indeed, if this sum or anything like it will meet the crisis and acquit the rich people of Pittsburg of their duty. I fear it will require much more, but it so small a sum will maintain the reputation of Pittsburg so much the better. Pittsburg raised $300,000 by a bazaar during the war thirty years ago, and there should be no difficulty in raising double the sum if necessary, for the duty before us is just as sacred.

Your committee is an able one. Nevertheless, I should like to impress upon it that only those worthy of help should be helped from this fund. It is the sober, industrious man we should take by the hand—and only him. As a rule, I think strong, unmarried men can shift for themselves pretty well, although in extreme cases it may be right, no doubt, to give them work. Care should be taken to let it be understood that only men entitled to rank as "Pittsburg workmen" shall be employed. As you suggest, work may be given every alternate day if the pressure upon the funds becomes too great.

A PLEASING PREDICTION.

These are terrible times, yet I trust the people will not become discouraged. They will soon pass away, and the Republic will resume its prosperous career. Meanwhile they are fraught with precious opportunity for the rich to show that when real trouble comes, the rich and poor, employer and employed, are at heart brothers, allies essential to the prosperity of each other—not antagonists. If wealth does its duty in Pittsburg in this crisis the good feeling produced will be no small compensation even for the suffering endured. Always your devoted friend, (Signed) ANDREW CARNEGIE.

Robert Pitcairn, Esq., of the Relief Committee, Pittsburg, Pa.

Mr. Carnegie said to a Press reporter yesterday: "My idea in giving this help is to get other people to follow my example in this direction. I shall act as a sort of stool pigeon for the committee. We do not call it charity, this work, simply assistance to deserving men."

Mr. Carnegie sails for Egypt on the 4th of next month. He goes on the Olympia, which occupies two weeks on the trip out. Mrs. Carnegie accompanies him.

Mr. Carnegie has decided, besides the gift of $5,000 a day in cash, to keep his large steel works at Pittsburg running all winter. This can only be done at a great loss, as orders cannot be had at this time except at a great reduction from actual cost of manufacture. For instance, a contract was accepted a short time ago to furnish the iron work of the Arnold Constable building in this city at $10,000 less than the actual cost price.

Midwinter Fair Opens.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 1.—The Midwinter Fair was formally opened this morning. There were no opening exercises, as it had been decided not to formally dedicate the fair until it was complete.

The openiug was greeted with much enthusiasm and the ticket takers had difficulty in admitting the visitors as fast as they came. Everywhere there was the bustle and confusion of the final preparation and the getting of exhibits in place, putting the finishing touches on the building, macadamizing the roads, and completing the landscape gardening effects.

BLASPHEMER PUNISHED.

Stricken Blind, Deaf and Dumb After an Outburst of Profanity.

An Associated Press dispatch from Shamokin, Pa., says: After a violent outburst of profanity, while at work several months ago, John Simpkins of this city was stricken deaf and dumb. He continued at his work, but untill Wednesday evening could not utter a word. On that night he attended a revival meeting, and while praying speech and hearing were suddenly returned to him. When he went home he explained that at the moment that the calamity befell him he saw an angel who told him that the affliction was a punishment for his blasphemy.

Friday morning he told his wife that he had had another vision, and that he had been told that he was about to become deaf and dumb again, this time forever. Sure enough he lost both senses that night, and an hour later became totally blind. His strenght is failing, and it is not believed that he will live.

Suit was commenced in the Fourth district court Tuesday by the Jarvis-Conklin Mortgage Trust company for the appointment of a receiver and for the foreclosure of a mortgage amounting to $2,070,000, with interest at 7 per cent from October 1, 1891. The defendants called are: Bear Lake and River Water Works and Irrigation Co., Salt Lake Land and Irrigation Co., William Garland, W. W. Corey, A.B. Coney, Charles R. Corey, W. H. Wattis, Samuel M. Fire broke out at the Utah Athletic club rooms at Five Points early Monday morning, and before the flames were extinguished the building was totaly destroyed. The building is a large frame structure, with a gymnasium, skating rink, club rooms and bar room connected. The damage is estimated at about $4,000.—Ogden Sun.

News has just reached Salt Lake of another honor carried off by a Salt Lake girl. Olive Jennings, a daughter of O. H. Jennings, and well known in the schools here, has just captured a diploma for the best story written on American life and published in the Chicago News-Record. The diploma is signed by Mrs. Potter Palmer and others, giving her the honorary title of "Brevet Author." Thirteen thousand eight hundred stories were in competition. The story was of Mormon life. Miss Jennings is but 14 years old.—Tribune.

The Irvine divorce case, the most sensational trial ever known in Utah court annals, was decided by Judge Zane, who found in favor of the wife, awarding her a share of the property and the custody of the child. Irvine brought the suit originally asking a divorce and care of his child, alleging that his wife had been the mistress of B. M. Montgomery, whom Irvine killed last year in Lincoln, Neb., on that account. Mrs. Irvine's defense was that she had been indiscreet, but not guilty, with Montgomery, and the decision indicates that the court took this view.

Charles or Edward Mason, better known in these parts as "Kid" Mason, died shortly before 10 o'clock Monday morning from the effects of the stiletto wound in his left breast inflicted by the desperate and dissolute "Nellie" Ogden at a resort of which the latter was an inmate. It was known from the first that Mason was a very badly injured man, though for some reason there was a strong effort on the part of certain individuals to make as little of the case as possible and to even pass it by lightly. Now that the worst has resulted they incline to greater silence than before. It has been ascertained that the deceased has parents residing at Bloomington, Illinois, and that his father is an ex-mayor of that place.—Deseret News.

The wife of Ed. Lucas, who resides at the corner of Wall avenue and Thirtieth street, had a terrible experience on Saturday night. About 6 o'clock she left home. When she was missed from the house a search for her was at once instituted, but although the search party scoured the country for miles around no trace of her could be found. On Sunday morning, about 11 o'clock, as some persons were walking along along the county road at South Weber, their attention was attracted by groans. Approaching the spot from whence the groans were heard they found Mrs. Lucas half buried in the snow and in an unconscious condition. After leaving home she had wandered aimlessly on, and at last being overcome with cold, hunger and fatigue, she had lain down to rest. When found she was benumed with cold, and both her feet were frozen. She was removed to a house near by and there she received every care and attention. When she regained consciousness it was learned where she had come from, and she was brought home. Mrs. Lucas is supposed to have been suffering from some mental trouble for some time.—Ogden Sun.

GAMBLED OFF HIS CLOTHES

A Louisville Sport Shook Dice for His Clothes.

AN UNCONTROLLABLE MANIA FOR GAMBLING.

A Young Idiot Put Up a Pair of Pants Against $2 and Lost Them.

LOUISVILLY, Ky., special to the Salt Lake Tribune: A naked man stood at the counter in George Rau's saloon at 1 o'clock Monday morning. He had gambled away his clothing. That had made his last stake. He was a young man, known as "Rowdy" Phillips, who was considerably under the influence of liquor, and who has an uncontrollable mania for gambling. On Saturday night he had been out with a number of friends drinking, and about 1 o'clock he dropped into Rau's saloon and shook dice to see which should pay for the drinks. Philips lost and tossed his last 25 cent piece across the counter.

They stood talking for a time and finally Phillips pulled a ring from his finger and said he would put it up against one Rau wore and shake for them. Rau agreed, the dice were cast and the darkeeper won.

Phillips became annoyed at having lost both throws, and he offered to bet his silver watch against $5 that he would win the next time. Again Rau took the bet and won. At this Phillips became desperate, and lost all his wearing apparel piece after piece, until only his pants were left.

Rau endeavored to persuade him to go home and throw no more. At this Phillips became angry and claimed Rau was giving him the worst of it by jumping the game when he was winner.

"What will you bet against my pants?" excitedly cried Phillips, as he took another drink on credit and endeavored to steady his shattered nerves.

"I'll put up $2 against your pants, but you must take them off and lay them on the counter."

Without a word Phillips pulled off his trousers and laid them on the counter. Then he took the box, but failed again to win. With an oath Phillips dashed the box and dice into a cuspidor and started for the door. Rau stopped him, however, and gave him back his clothing, together with a drink, and sent him to his home.

THE RAILROAD IS COMING.

Its Route is Through St. George and Kanarrah to Cedar City.

A Special to the Salt Lake Tribune says: A party that arrived here the other night from Santa Ana, Cal., reported the railroad coming from there via Good Springs, Las Vegas Ranch, down the Muddy, from the old California crossing to the junction of the Rio Virgin, thence up that stream to the beaver dams, to St. George and to Kanarrah and Cedar City, as a certainty in the near future. Settlers are taking up and making homes on every desirable available piece of land on each side of the route where water can be brought out to make orchards and homes. Real estate at St. George and Cedar City is reported coming up in value. Surveyors were here last Tuesday.

FRANCE IS FOR PEACE.

France has been very noisy of late, and has indulged in a great deal of talk about war, but the tone of the people is fast becoming more pacific, says the Oil City Derrick. There is no other country in Europe to which war would prove more disasterous. War of itself, is one of the greatest evils and the conservative element in the French nation is thoroughly convinced of the fact. In France, when war is mentioned at all, it means war with Germany. The old hate still rancors and the ignominous defeat the country suffered under Napoleon III at the hands of Germany, can never be effaced from the memory of the French people. But what has France to gain by a war with Germany? A victory could only result in the restoration of the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine, and possibly a return idemnity, such as France once was compelled to pay to Germany, but the victorious French general, who had beaten the Germans, would at once be proclaimed Emperor and a new imperial line created in France. On the contrary, if defeated, which is much the more probable outcome of the struggle, the French revolutionary party, the Socialists, would undoubtedly come in power. The Socialist leaders seem already figuring on the probabilities of war, and are always ready for a revolution of any kind. The triumph of the Socialists would be of short duration, as in the reaction that would inevitably follow, a monarchial restoration would be among the possibilities. Thus in either event, that of victory or defeat, one result would be certain, the destruction of the Republic. The Republic is certainly of more value than Alsace-Loraine. This seems to be the opinion that France is settling down to, after its exuberant reception of the respresentatives of the Czar.

While France then may be said to have no interest in fomenting war, it is Russia that is much more likely to disturb the peace of Europe. Her confined quarters are becoming more and more irksome to her, as the years go by, and she feels the need of expansion to the west and south. She is the nation who really has something to fight for. Germany pretends always to stand in fear of an outbreak with France and in every move towards strenghtening the army, has France for an excuse. The German Emporer has done much to excite the apprehensions of the French. He cannot maintain the air of quiet dignity and strength that marked the attitude of William I and Bismark. He is restless and erratic, makes too many speeches, and is a constant irritation to other countries besides France. Italy's animosity against France is dying out and little is now heard of the war talk, so freely indulged in last summer. Italy has trouble enough at home, and the probabilities are that monarchial government will come to an end, in Italy, and Spain, too, perhaps within a dozen years.

But the work of converting all Europe into an armed camp goes on. It may be the best way to prevent war, but it is terribly expensive. It is the people who have to bear the burden of it, and they will ultimately refuse the load. It is particularly heavy in Germany and Italy, and if war promises any relief, they may be the first to indulge in it.

All Europe feels the effect of French Republicanism and Germany's menaces against France are believed to be mostly on the ground that that country has maintained its Republican form of government. This is the reason Italy's royal family holds fast to the triple alliance, and this is what prevents Spain from acquiring closer and more intimate relationship with its neighbor north of the Pyrenees. Both countries are near to France and naturally friendly toward her, being united by ties of close relationship of origin, language and religion. It is not at all strange that France should regard Russia as her only possible alley. Republicanism in Russia is a remote fact at the best and the Czar has no fear of the influence of French politics among his people. In point of fact, the French might be considered in more danger of imbibing monarchism from the Russians, than of the latter people being incited to Republicanism by the example of the French. Imperialism as exemplified by the Czar and French Republicanism are the complete antithesis of each other and can come together without either being hurt very much. France might prefer an alliance with England, which, though nominally a monarchy in some respects, is as much of a republic as her near neighbor across the channel. But England's policy is to remain neutral, and in the event of a European war, her interests would be against Russia and in behalf of Germany. France's course of safety lies in preserving peace at all hazzards, and her statesmen and men of affairs are ready to tacitly admit the fact.

A TRUE GENTLEMAN.

One of the highest encomiums which can be pronounced upon any young man, worthy of it, is to say that he is a true gentleman, says the Young Men's Era. There is a world of meaning in that term. It means more than mere politeness. It is more than strict confirmity to written rules of the best fashionable etiquette. One may be faultless in his adherance to the best forms of social behavior and yet lack much of the true gentleman. The true gentleman is the soul of honor, is beautifully candid, is deeply considerate of the rights of others, quick to acknowledge his own faults rather than lay them on others, and consult the good of others rather than seek his own preferment. A clever writer says: "The true gentleman is known by his strict sense of honor; by his sympathy, his gentleness and his forbearance and his generosity. He is essentially a man of truth, speaking and doing rightly, not merely in private behavior. Hence the gentleman promises nothing he has not the means of performing. The Duke of Wellington proudly declared that "truth was the characteristic of an English officer; that when he was bound by a parole, he would not break his word, for he scorns to lie, in word or deed, and is ready to brave all consequences rather than debase himself by falsehood." No dishonest man is a true gentleman, nor is he who purposely takes advantage of another, whether the latter be a foe or a friend. The true gentleman does by others as he would have them do by him. This is indeed a high standard, but it is not a whit higher than every young man should strenuously strive to attain. Anything less is unworthy of one's ambition. And especially should every Christian young man seek to be a true gentleman in every sense of the word, so that thereby he may wield the most commanding influence over all around him.

THE NEWLY elected democratic city council is starting out their reign, by holding secret meetings. The first session was held Wednesday evening, at which all the members and some non-members, were present. A representative of THE NATION happened in, just at the time a little argument was on. Just so soon as convenient thereafter, the representative was given a polite invitation to withdraw. Not one word was said about going into executive session, although that might have been what was intended. There was at least one other gentlemen present, not a member of the council, who did not leave at the time. We don't know whether or not all their sessions are to be secret, but dare venture the assertion that the public will know something of what is going on in the executive department of our city government.

LOGAN AND Salt Lake are both squabbling to get the institution that would grow from the co-templated union of the A. C. and U. of U. Now Brigham is located midway between Salt Lake and Logan, why not, sweet sirs, "split the difference" and locate the proposed big brain mill in the City of Homes?—Bugler.

No, we're not "squabbling" over anything. If the union is made, there is only one way in which it could be effected in justice to the taxpayers, and that is to have the union take place at Logan. In short everything is in our favor. Location, social surroundings, saving to the taxpayers of the Territory, lower expense to the students, better atmosphere and other advantages too numerous to mention. Should the two schools be united Logan is willing to let justice and fair play rule and we have no fear of the results.

AN EXCHANGE says: the question with the democratic party is no longer as to "what shall be done with the surplus?" It is now "what about the deficiency?" In Cleveland's surplus days he had a Republican Congress to keep him from squandering that money; but now it is a democratic Congress and the surplus has gone. There is bound to be a large deficiency, and the question with Cleveland and his party is how shall the ship of state escape the rocks of National bankrupty. Grover and his followers are certainly sailing in shoal waters.

THE ASSOCIATED Press dispatches tell us that 50,000,000 people are on the verge of starvation in India Think of it! Nearly as many people starving to death in India as there are people in the United States. Surely such a fearful state of affairs cannot last long. Hungry people grow desperate and desperate people will fight. Great events will transpire in the world ere long.

IF THAT man Cleveland gets much more notoriety he will be able to go on the stage after his term of office, to which he was elected by the grace of God and through the blind confidence of the American voters, expires. May that day soon come.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW recently returned from Europe and while in Rome shook hands with Pope Leo. Guess "Chance" feels so big that when we meet him on the streets hereafter he won't speak to us.

THE PRESS dispatches tell us that the demand in Boston for poultry is hardly up to expectations. Of course not. Boston has not yet gone back on her baked beans.

THE NEW York World says: "Utah can never be anything more than a sister to the Republican party." That's all right. A sister is a great help, occasionally.

A LARGE number of aliens are now asking to be sent back to Europe as paupers. Even that class of people is getting tired of the workings of democracy.

CLAUS SPECKLES is no relation to Santa Claus but he's a particular friend of Grover Cleveland's which is just as bad.

BEFORE GROVER gets through with "his" congress he will doubtless say: "I didn't know it was loaded."

SOME PEOPLE pay lawyers dearly for advice while they refuse to accept same gratis from editors.

GROVER CLEVELAND very seldom differs from English manufacturer's desires or demands.

Lehi Sugar Factory.

The echoes were awakened on last Friday afternoon by the continued blowing of the beet whistle which announced that the last of this season's beets had been cut at the factory this bringing to a close the third and most successful run the factory ever had. They will run a few days longer on syrup. This year they began cutting beets on Sept. 19th and run until Dec. 22nd, making 94 days, a longer run by 44 days than last year. The out-put was 38,791 sacks of the best granulated sugar besides the syrup. Last year the product was 14,900 sacks. This is a considerable increase and makes a magnificent showing for a young industry and reflects great credit on the management for they have made this season's run amid a host of difficulties and it could not have been done in any other community.

The industry has steadily grown since its beginning and shows that the irrigated sugar beet is a success and has opened up a fine field for the Utah farmers and one which they will not be slow to take advantage of. It has worked a revolution in this section, brought money in and gave a greater impetus to the farming industry than any thing else.

When it began the management had trouble to secure enough beets but now they can get contracts for more than they can handle unless they increase the capacity of the factory or can arrange to pit the beets in the field or store them at the factory.

They handled the beets from 2,700 acres which averaged 10 tons per acre for which they paid $5 a ton thus distributing considerable money among the farmers besides paying the wages to the factory hands.

All the sugar has been sold to Utah jobbers though some may be shipped to adjoining states and now has the preference in the local markets.

The success will be duly celebrated by the grand banquet and ball to be given the employes to night.—Lehi Banner, Dec. 28.

Keep your eyes on the newspaper, and see which of the merchants want your custom and are sufficiently courageous to invite you to call. There is much more in advertising than you think. It is not to tell of his goods that a man advertises, but is to invite the people who read, the thinking, intelligent to pay him a visit, and to judge for themselves as to the quality and price of what he offers for sale. People read advertisements. Don't make any mistake about that. They are just as much interested in knowing where to buy to any advantage as the advertiser is in selling his goods.—Ex.

One on the Provo Dispatch.

The Dispatch says it "most heartily agrees with the Lehi Banner in the conclusion it reaches in regards to the present location of the Agricultural College and the proposition to move it to Logan." The Banner did not advocate that proposition nor reach any such conclusion. The Banner is edited by a young man who once went to school, and therefore knows that the College is, and always has been since its organization, at Logan. The Banner has some Republican tendencies and has some knowledge of local geography, and doon not, as the Salt Lake Herald did, claim that Beaver is in Manti county.—Eagle

TWO SINNERS.

There was a man, it was said one time,
Who went astray in his youthful prime.
Can the brain keep cool and the heart keep quiet
When the blood is a river that's running riot?
And boys will be boys, the old folks say,
And the man's the better who's had his day.
The sinner reformed, and the preacher told
Of the prodigal son who came back to the fold,
And the Christian people threw open the door
With a warmer welcome than ever before.
Wealth and honor was his to comand,
And a spotless woman gave him her hand,
And the world strewed their pathway with flowers a-bloom,
Crying, "God bless lady and God bless groom."
* * * * * * *
There was a maiden went astray,
In the golden dawn of her life's young day;
She had more passion and heart than head,
And she followed blindly where fond love led,
And love unchecked is a dang-rous guide,
To wander at will by a fair girl's side.
The woman repented and turned from sin,
But no door opened to let her in;
The preacher prayed that she might be forgiven,
But told her to look for mercy in heaven;
For this is the law of earth, we know,
That the woman is scorned, while the man may go.
A brave man wedded her after all,
But the world said, frowning, "We shall not call."

"Only the Scars Remain,"

Says HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co. Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows:

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

Mother Urged Me

The first meeting of the Ogden city council resulted in the democrats showing their teeth from the start. The mayor and four of the councilmen are Republicans, while six of the councilmen are democrats. The mayor sent in names for officers and every democrat voted against them, while the Republicans favored. The recommendations made by the mayor were laid on the table for one year. Unless the democratic members change their minds, the present officers will doubtless hold over.

He was also head contractor on the Agricultural College. Mr. Reif thoroughly understands his business and has few equals in his line.

A newspaper in Ohio recently brought suit against forty-three men who would not pay their subscriptions, and obtained judgment in each case for the amount of each claim. Of these twenty-eight made affidavit that they owned no more than the law allowed, thus preventing attachment. Then, under the decision of the supreme court, they were arrested for petit larceny and bound over in the sum of $300 each. All but six gave bond, which six went to jail. The new postal law makes it larceny to take a paper and refuse to pay for it.—Toledo Blade.

It is reported that the first meeting of the new city council passed off more peaceably than many expected. Only three appointments were made. D. A. Reavill was appointed as city attorney and George Adams and Vick Crockett appointed as regular police. There is said to be two factions and when the remainder of the appointive offices are to be filled some opposition may be encountered.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

A COMPLETE WRITE-UP OF LOGAN'S BIG SCHOOL.

The Agricultural College has this year enrolled 326 students as against 315 a year ago. At the end of the last college year, June 1, 1893, there were 366 students. A year ago the faculty numbered nineteen; this year it numbers twenty-one. There have been one or two changes in the faculty. J. W. Mayo succeeds G. A. Orrok as instructor in the shops. Professor Mayo came here from the Miller Manual Training School in Virginia. Professor W. P. Cutter, station chemist and professor of geology and physics, resigned at the beginning of the school year to take a position at Washington as special librarian to Congress. Professor Cutter came from Cornell and had been here since the organization of the station. The vacancy he left has not yet been filled. A teacher of vocal music, Professor Lewis of Logan, has been engaged, who gives instructions twice a week. Professor Linfield entered upon his duties at the beginning of the year as professor of animal husbandry and dairying. He is a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College. Professor Fortier, formerly engineer of the Bear River Canal Company, also entered upon his duties at the beginning of the year as professor of civil and irrigation engineering. The latter two gentlemen are also members of the Experiment Station staff. Dr. Brewer, who was engaged a year ago, but obtained leave of absence to take charge of the bureau of hygiene and sanitation at the World's Fair will soon enter upon his work. He will be a member of the station staff and his work will be mainly in the line of biographical research. Dr. Brewer was formerly connected with the University of Nebraska.

THE NEW BUILDING.

The contract, let in the spring of 1892, has now been completed, and the building is now occupied and nearly fully equipped. Altogether it now contains some forty-five or fifty class rooms. The building is heated by steam from two forty-horsepower boilers. The steam heating apparatus was put in by P. J. Moran of Salt Lake City, costing about $9000, and the plumbing by J. W. Farrell & Co., of the same place. The contractor for the entire building was A. Reif of Salt Lake City, the contract price being $70,000. The building is yet in an incomplete state. There has been added during the past year about $9000 worth of equipment. The total equipment is now estimated at about $30,000. A rough estimate places the total cost of the buildings and equipment, including station buildings, but not including land, at $175,000.

THE DAIRY DEPARTMENT,

as a branch of the agricultural department, has been added during the past year. A complete outfit has been purchased and is in charge of an expert. Dairy schools are coming to the front in other States, and the work of improving the dairy product is going forward rapidly. Utah has now placed herself in line with these progressive States. It should not be necessary for Utah to import one pound of butter, and that such a large quantity is imported every year is a reflection on the enterprise of our farmers and the capabilities of the Territory. On the contrary, Utah ought to be sending out large quantities of butter and cheese of the finest quality. Professor Linfield, in a recent letter to the Tribune, gave the interesting fact that little Denmark exported over $23,000,000 worth of butter to England alone in 1892, worth of butter to England alone in 1892, being four times as much as in 1882, and, he says, this large trade was built up "by a thorough system of education." The other day an old farmer of Cache valley visited the dairy rooms. The professor gave him an insight into the workings of a modern dairy. The old farmer watched with mouth wide open the separator separating the cream from the milk, and was asked to bring some of his whole milk up to be tested and also some of his whole milk up to be tested and also some of his skim milk. He did so next day. The milk was found to contain just 3.9 per cent butter fat and the skim milk 1.3 per cent; whereupon the professor said to him: "You are throwing away just one-third of your butter. His cow was giving 20 pounds of milk per day, so that on every 140 pounds of milk, or the product of a week, he was losing 2.25 pounds of butter, or enough to pay for the feed of his cow. That farmer carried away with him a new idea, and if that same idea could be impressed upon the mind of every farmer in the Territory who makes butter, in ten years from this date the butter industry would bring as much money to the Territory as the white metal industry could bring in its palmy days.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE.

In view of the discussion going the rounds of the press as to the advisability of uniting the Agricultural College to the University of Utah it may not be out of place to give a very brief history of the Agricultural College.

The College was located at Logan by the Legislature of 1888. Cache county donated the site which comprises some 108 acres of upper bench soil. In 1890 the south wing of the building was opened to students, and the present school year will complete the fourth year of its history. The attendance the first year was 139, the second year 296, the third year 366, and the present year it will probably run up to near 300. The buildings now consist of the College proper, the station building, which contains the offices and chemical laboratory of the station; a model barn which cost $6000; a farm house which cost $4000; a boarding house which cost $20,000, besides a house for the farm superintendent and three laborers' cottages.

ENDOWMENT.

Each State of the Union endowing an agricultural college receives from the public domain 30,000 acres of land for each Senator and Representative in Congress. The present bill for the admittance of Utah provides of 200,000 acres of land for the College, the increased amount presumably being given in consideration of the fact that Utah has been kept out of Statehood for special reasons, and the best land has been taken up. It has been estimated that his land if favorably situated, in connection with the Government grant, will go far toward paying the running expenses of the College. This land, however, will only be available when Statehood is secured.

By an act of Congress passed in 1890, $15,000 annually was given to each agricultural college in the country. This amount increases $1000 each year for ten years, when it remains at $25,000. The amount paid to the College for the present school year is $19,000, and for next year it will be $20,000, and so on. In 1888 when the Legislature passed an act organizing the institution and accepting the provisions of the act of Congress $25,000 was appropriated for buildings. The next General Assembly gave $48,000, and at the last Legislature $108,000 was appropriated for the present biennial period. It will be seen that the institution has already cost the Territory $181,000. This amount has gone mostly into buildings and equipment. While the College derives a magnificent revenue from the Government it is directly under Territorial control. Its board of trustees are Territorial officers, and they have full control in its business management, reports being made to the Department of Agriculture at stated periods. This arrangement with National Colleges does not seem to be altogether satisfactory to the Department, according to the late report of the Secretary of Agriculture, Hon. J. Sterling Morton, in which he intimates that there has been an improper diversion of Government money and thinks an investigation ought to be made.

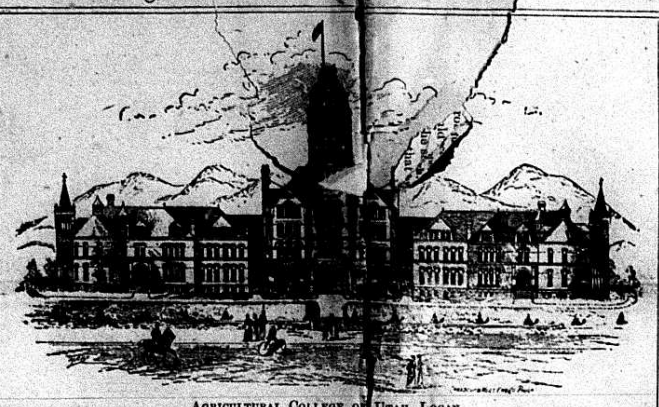

It may be interesting to note the fact reported by the Department of Agriculture in 1892 that there were then 62 schools were agriculture was taught more or less. There were 1159 instructors and 11,358 students, of whom only 3460 were studying agriculture. The revenue for conducting these colleges in 1892 was $3,432,960.

THE INDUSTRIAL IDEA.

Whether the College is to be a separate or union institution it seems clear that the industrial idea ought to be kept prominent, and it is safe to say that the State that keeps the industrial idea to the front in the education of her youth is the State that will forge to the front in the future. The classical institutions of Germany are graduating yearly thousands of men who, unable to find positions for which their special training has fitted them, are swelling the ranks of the unemployed in the great cities, an army that is a growing menace to the prosperity and peace of the Fatherland. There are treasures in the great storehouse of nature that only await the skilled hand of the artisan. Better that a State should spend her money to educate her young men to search out the treasures of her mountains, her streams and her soil than the treasures of literature, or in helping crowd the professions that are already overcrowded. The fight today between communities and nations is not on classical lines; it is on industrial and commercial lines.

When Benjamin Franklin died in 1792 he gave to the city of Boston $5,000 to be loaned out in a certain way at 5 per cent interest for 100 years. He figured that at the end of 100 years the fund would amount to $655,000. It was stipulated in his will that the amount, with the exception of some $10,000, was to be used for such public works as would make living in the town more convenient to the people and render it more agreeable to strangers resorting thither for health or a temporary residence." The $10,000 was to be used in the same way as the original $5,000 for another 100 years. The accumulation fell short of Franklin's estimate, owing to the fact that part of the loans had not been repaid, but amounted to nearly half a million. Then came the question what to do with it. It was left to the trustees of the fund to decide in what way the money could be best used for the good of the city. They united suggestions from the citizens of Boston, and after considering all the different propositions they found a trade school, which [illegible] where young men [illegible] a useful trade.

A prominent railroad man in conversation with a Tribune reporter said: "It seems that Utah is about to join hands with California as a monopoly-burdened country. If the compact just entered into by the two major lines and their connections is maintained, this Territory will be in the same condition so far as railroads are concerned as California. Henceforth tariff rates are to be in force, and not a single cut rate will be tolerated. There will be absolutely no competition, but a proportionate division among the lines."

Judge John W. Blackburn, of Provo, was found dead in his bed Friday morning. The cause of the Judge's death was heart failure. Of the deceased the Enquirer says: "Judge Blackburn came to the Territory from Colorado, but his old home was Paris, Edgar Co., Illinois, where the Blackburn's were a highly respectable family. He came to Provo from Salt Lake, when President Harrison appointed him associate justice of the supreme court of Utah. In Salt Lake, Judge Blackburn lost his wife, whom he loved very dearly. She died without children. They had raised in their family two adopted children. The death of Judge Blackburn caused a gloom among legal circles, where he ranked high as an attorney."

MORMON COLONIES IN MEXICO.

NEWS OF THE FIVE COLONIES IN THAT LAND.

The following particulars regarding the Mormon colonies of Mexico have been obtained by Two Republics [a paper published in the City of Mexico] reporter from Mr. S. C. Bentley, a very intelligent colonist of the colony of Juarez. There are five colonies altogether, four being in the state of Chihuahua and one in the state of Sonora, all being within a radius of about 100 miles.

The first colony established was the colony of Diaz in the state of Chihuahua, which has been in existence about 7 years. The lands are situated 70 miles from Casas Grandes and 4 miles from La Ascension. The colonists number about 700. Irrigation is resorted to, the water being obtained from springs and by means of windmills. The colonists manufacture brooms from broom corn, which are sold in Chihuahua, Durango and other places. Among the other products are honey, corn and cattle. One flour mill has been erected and another is being built. Lately, an artesian well company has been formed for the purpose of obtaining more water, which has already commenced operations. The colonists own one threshing machine and several mowing machines, and a new reaper has recently been introduced.

The colony of Dublan consists of about 300 people, and is located about four miles north of Las Casas Grandes, on the river of the [illegible] river, and [illegible] used to increase the supply. Wheat, corn, barley and oats are the chief cereals raised. Cattle raising is an important feature, the land being well suited for stock. Butter and cheese of very fine fine quality are produced. A new roller mill has recently been established, embodying all the latest improvements. The colonists own two threshing machines, two reapers and several mowing machines.

The colony of Juarez was established, about six years ago, some ten miles southwest of Las Casas Grandes, in the state of Chihuahua. Their land is somewhat mountainous.

Irrigation is resorted to all the year round, water for the purpose being tolerably plentiful. Fruit, including peaches, grapes, apples, plums, nectarines, strawberries and blackberries, etc., is freely raised. A cannery has been established, not only for the purpose of preserving the fruit but meat as well. The colonists have two shoe shops, a tannery, grist mill and brick manufactory. The bricks manufactured are for the purpose of building their houses. They also possess a barness shop, threshing machines, reapers and mowers.

About five years ago the colonies of Pachuco and Cave Valley (really one colony) were established on the top of the Sierra Madre mountains, where famous old caves are found. This was, some years ago, the stalking ground of the Apache Indians. Seven of said Indians visited their ancient haunts a little more than a year ago and brutally murdered a woman and her child belonging to the colonists. Her husband had left his house one evening to start work threshing next day some distance away. The woman and three children remained behind the latter consisting of two boys and a girl. The children, soon after, started out to feed some pigs. While thus engaged the Apaches fired upon them, instantly killing one of the boys and wounding another. The mother, thereupon, came out of the house, when she also was fired upon, and afterwards her head was beaten in with a big stone. The little girl all this time remained unhurt, and while the Indians were maltreating the mother the wounded boy took his sister into a chicken coop, where they hid themselves. The Indians subsequently made search, but were unable to find the children. The brutes then looted the house and took away all the horses they could lay their hands on. After the Indians had departed the little children crept out of their hiding place to get to their nearest neighbors some six miles away. On the journey the boy fainted from loss of blood and was unable to proceed further. The little girl, however, went on her way, soon met a colonist, and told him what had happened. A vigorous pursuit of the Indians was at once made, but none of them were overtaken, although all the stolen horses were recaptured. This is the only trouble the colonists have had with the Apache Indians, and since its occurrence, all the houses have been fortified with stockades, etc.

The colonists own two saw mills and shingle mills and supply lumber and shingles for 100 miles around. Pine is the principal [illegible] being of excellent quality. Oats and some barley, are raised. Irrigation is unnecessary.

A colony of from 300 to 400 people has also been established in Sonora, which is doing exceedingly well, but Mr. Bentley was not in possession of details concerning it.

The colonists spent over $7,000 last year in purchasing machinery, wagons, etc. They do all the corn-cutting and threshing for their Mexican neighbors. They have also introduced short horned Durham cattle and Holsteins as well as horses for the purpose of crossing and improving the native stock. They contemplate raising alfalfa for their cows. They raise fine marino sheep.

The colonists individually own their holdings, but they co-operate for the purpose of establishing stores, purchasing and working threshers, erecting and working factories, etc. The co-operation, however, is voluntary. Good schools have been established and among the subjects taught the Spanish language is included. Children above 8 years of age are expected to attend the schools, but they are not compelled to do so.

The colonists and the natives are on remarkably good terms, and the prospect of the colonies is so good as to encourage the Mormons to extend their colonizing efforts. Most of the colonists come from Utah.

Want of transportation is their chief drawback, the nearest railway station being Gallego on the Central railway—about 120 miles away. Had the Deming and Chihuahua railway (the concession for which has recently been declared forfeited) been proceeded with, it would have run through the lands belonging to two of the colonies and nearer the others.

UTAH IS REPUBLICAN.

SALT LAKE City began the New Year properly. She went Republican by nearly a thousand majority.

THE NATIVES of Siam eat snails, crocodile's eggs, ants, silkworms and horse beef. That country, too, must be the victim of a democratic administration.

IT IS said a snake has been discovered in Brazil, which has tusks like a boar and a two-foot horn ornament in its forehead. Wonder on what kind of liquor the man "boozed up" before he saw that snake.

A MAN was seen loafing about a building that was being painted at Belfast, Me. When asked if he wanted a job, he said that he was only waiting for the men to be paid off, as he wanted to borrow a dollar.

CHICAGO HAS passed the 2,000,000 mark in population and is now the largest city in America. At the rate that Chicago is progressing it wont be long before she will be the metropolis of the world. Truly, Chicago is city of wonderful enterprise and rapid growth.

THE OGDEN Press has already named [illegible] candidates for United [illegible] Cannon and Frank J. Cannon are suggested. There is very little doubt as to Mr. Cannon's nomination, which of course means election, but there may be some division as to the other candidate.

THE LOGAN juggler of figures and democratic theories can hardly be blamed for the defeat of the democratic party in Salt Lake City last Thursday even if he did make a speech in that city and wrote a few "editorials" for the Herald. Salt Lake City would have went Republican even if Mr Paul hadn't made a democratic "speech" there.

EDITOR W. T. STEAD of the Review of Reviews angered the women of Chicago very much a few days ago, and many of the ladies said they would never attend a meeting at which Mr. Stead was known to be present. The cause of the whole commotion was this. Mr. Stead, who had been invited to address the Joint Women's club at the Recital Hall, said he chiefly welcomed the opportunity because, sitting side by side with those active workers before him, were some of the most disreputable people of the city of Chicago. Nothing was more obnoxious to any one who paid any attention to the teaching of the gospel than the fact that the conventional judgment about reputable and disreputable people was quite foreign to the Christian ideal. Who were the most disreputable women in Chicago? They were those who had been dowered by society and Providence with all the gifts and all the opportunities, and who lived entirely self-indulgent. These women, who had great opportunities only to neglect them, were more disreputable in the eyes of God and man than the abandoned women of the streets.

BLOOD-TO-THE-BRIDLE-WAITE is proving himself to be a most undesirable nuisance. It will be a happy day for Colorado, when its present governor steps down from his seat of reign. That gentleman got a taste of notoriety when he made his "blood-to-the-bridles" speech in Chicago, and somehow has an idea that he must continue to make fool remarks and do unwise acts in order to hold his job and keep his name before the public. People soon get tired of such men as Waite and in spite of all of the efforts which they may exert to keep their names and acts fresh in the memory of the public they are forgotten.

R. R. IVINE has brought suit against the Provo Enquirer for $25,000 damages for libel. It is astonishing how highly some people estimate the wealth of the newspaper men. There is no doubt but what the Enquirer can prove everything which it has written about Mr. Irvine, and that is probably what hurts him so much. It hurts some men awfully, to show them the error of their ways, but when you prove your assertions it drives them to exasperation. We don't think the Enquirer has any cause to fear the results and venture to say that the party who is suing that paper will come out second best. Of course $25,000 is not much for the average newspaper man, under normal conditions, but during these times of "democratic prosperity" we think a little discount should be given for cash, or at least a few days notice given in which to raise the amount.

THE FOLLOWING from the Provo Dispatch is a truth that not one in a hundred newspaper readers think of, but it is something that contains more truth than poetry, as every newspaper man can testify:

"The newspapers give more in charity [illegible] to the churches, more [illegible] schools [illegible] to the general good in every way, than any other single enterprise in the community. Its calls come to it every day, not one single call, but they come in groups and dozens. Pick up any paper in Utah daily or weekly, and count the number of free notices it contains. If you are a typo measure them up and see how many ems they amount to. Now reflect that every time a printer touches a single type it costs the publishers money. This is all donated. Too often the poor fellow instead of receiving, as he should do, the praise of the community, receives its curses.

THAT IS GLORIOUS news which comes from Salt Lake, regarding the grand Republican victory. When Republicans carry a democratic city by 973 majority, it shows their hearts are in the right place and it's a sure sign that the spirit of progress is abroad in the land and that better times are near at hand. Utah is surely Republican, as the majority of her people are determined to work for the best interests of the Territory and themselves. The evils of democracy may triumph for a time, but the hand of progress cannot long be stayed. The Republicans of Logan City and Cache county extend their very best compliments to their brethren in Salt Lake, and desire to say to them that if this county is properly worked and the proper campaign made, Cache county, the stronghold of democracy, can be carried by the party of progress and the friend to the masses, the Republican party.

IT APPEARS that Prof. Paul belongs to that class of individuals who are remarkable for sticking their foot down their throat every time they open their mouth. A few days ago this great juggler of figures and expounder of democratic theories made a "speech" in Salt Lake City and during the time that he spoke he made many remarks which rebounded from the audience at which they were hurled and smote the hurler in the jaw in a most unmerciful manner. The following from the Ogden Standard will give our readers an absurdity of at least one of the statements which Prof. Paul made, and how the statements are refuted by men who get their information from other sources than a skull filled with magnified theories and figures:

That great Logan statesman, Professor Paul, in a speech in Salt Lake City, stated that the Singer sewing machine sold in Salt Lake for $60 was sold in Europe for $30, but he forgot to say that the Salt Lake price was the retail price, while the European price was the wholesale price. But now a workman nails both the Herald and Prof. Paul to the cross by proving that the same machine which Prof. Paul said sold in Europe for $30, was sold in Utah for $13 50, and that the Herald bought some at that price as premiums for its paper, and is trying to pan this machine on its readers for a $55 machine. Such is democracy. Consistency, thou art a jewel."

THAT MASSACHUSSETTS WIND-BAG.

Congressman Morse ran up against a snag when he tackled Delegate Rawlins on the polygamy question, at the time when the Statehood bill was before the house, and since then the press throughout the land has been noticing the Massachusetts Windbag, and has given that individual a thorough roasting, while for Utah the papers say words of kindness and encouragement. The Grand Junction, Colorado, Sentinel has this to say:

About the only opposition developed in Congress against the admission of Utah came from Representative Morse, of Massachusetts—a goldbug of the yellowest hue. His attack upon the people of that Territory was an insult to Gentile and Mormon alike. Living as he does in an intellectual atmosphere of codfish, baked beans and [illegible] emasculates, it is [illegible] that he was [illegible] polygamy had been abandoned.

The man who would oppose the admission of Utah an account of its Mormon population and religion is either an intolerant or ignorant of the situation. The sentiment of the Mormon church is pronouncedly against the doctrine of polygamy, and the younger generation, recognizing that this practice alone was the only obstacle in their progress full and equal recognition as citizens along with the Gentiles, have strongly arrayed themselves against it.

No thriftier or better class of citizens, people the earth today than the Mormons, and aside from church domination and the practice of polygamy there has never been anything pernicious in their teachings. Every lingering remnant of these evils will soon disappear, and with social contact and intermarriage it is only a question of a short time when it will be difficult to determine where the Gentile begins and the Mormon ends.

DIVIDE THE CREDIT.

There is no question about it. Penrose and Powers are entitled to great praise for the handsome majority which they worked up for the Republican candidate in Salt Lake. Some of our Republican friends do not want the Enquirer to speak flatteringly of democrats but we propose to do so when it is so plain that they are entitled to praise as are Messrs. Penrose and Powers in the present instance.—Provo Enquirer.

That's all right, Brother Graham as far as it goes. No one will dispute your word. But we, in Logan, feel somewhat slighted because you totally ignore our own townsman, Professor Paul. He did what he could and while his little talks and writings might not have helped the Republican party much, it no doubt had its influence with certain classes. Just think of the eloquence with which Mr. Paul uttered these words: "He who doubts my word meets me tomorrow night in joint debate." Think also how Judge Goodyin called his little bluff and offered to meet him any time and how the Professor and champion figure juggler wiggled and [illegible] seat, like he was sitting on a hot potato. You also remember that the Professor [illegible] ledged leading figure [illegible] theorist in Utah and [illegible] furnish his party with [illegible] or theories desired [illegible] shortest notice, [illegible] have them in stock [illegible] publican majority [illegible] not give Penrose [illegible] credit for 450 [illegible] Paul have the odd [illegible] probably be a fair [illegible] not take him [illegible] satisfaction [illegible] 73 is [illegible] Of course we [illegible] only we'd like to [illegible] thing done.

As regards Mr. Rawlins saying polygamy was only practiced by the Mormon forefathers, he knows in his own heart and soul that it still exists, and you will have the esteem of every moral and upright person in this Territory; let me further add, if you ever come out here and go thoroughly over this Territory, and see and interview the Mormon class in general, you will agree with the writer that a more illiterate, narrowminded and scurrilous set it would be hard to find, being the scum of foreign countries, made up of prosecutes and arrogant parties whose sole object now is to push the Gentiles out of Utah.

The writer is not penning these lines to you, prompted by any evil feeling against the Mormons, but through chagrin at reading Mr. Rawlin's reply to your truthful statement relative to polygamy out here. And in his (Rawlin's) own heart and soul he knows that you are right.

Continue your zealous work, and earnestly wishing you success,

I am, honorable sir, sincerely,

To Hon. Elijah A. Morse, M. C.,
Canton, Mass.

All our readers doubtless know and will agree with us that the above letter is a malicious falsehood, written by one of evil intent and only to do injury to the fair name of Utah.

We reprint the letter for various reasons. Our contemporary printed same in its last issue and in all but mentioning the name of the party who it thought had written the article, (and this it dared not do) told who, in its opinion, was responsible for it. Now, as it happens, the writer knows the every party who wrote that letter. We know that the gentleman accused, or intended to be accused, is not responsible for it in any way, and we would suggest that if our neighbor desires to do the square thing by him, it offer him an apology at once.

The letter was written, (if we can believe the gentleman himself, as he told the writer all about it a day or two after mailing the letter) by Mr. E S. Swann a party who was in Logan last month. He was here in the interest of M. J. Brandenstein & Co., wholesale tea dealers and importers of San Francisco, and he gave away hundreds of sample packages of "Tree" tea in this city. Doubtless our contemporary will remember having given him a very complimentary notice about four weeks ago. Well, as stated, he is the party who wrote the letter. As before stated, it is well known the letter is wholly false. He says he has been in Utah a number of years. As near as we can ascertain he has been here only a few months. His home is in Oakland, California. When he says "many Mormons still practice polygamy in the vilest forms," he simply lies, and we challenge him to the contrary.

The letter would not be worthy of reply were it not for the fact that it has been given prominence through the press, as the writer is only a young man and is probably not fully responsible.

It sounds very funny to hear such as he calls the Mormons "illiterate, vile, scurrilous, narrowminded," etc. If reliable reports go for anything, and we think they do, he himself is not one of the most pure and holy. He is quite a gambler, that is a green one, and a would-be tough on general principles. While in this city he did not totally abstain from the use of liquor and a gentleman now attending school here informed the writer that he picked him out from the gutter in Salt Lake City.

This is the person who wrote the above letter, and these are a few of his actions during the short time he was in Utah. We might, if we so desired, state a few more facts connected with this case, but for the sake of a few prominent parties in this city, desist. We think they will see the point and be willing that the matter should end here.

The Mid-Winter Fair!

The Mid-Winter Fair at San Francisco will soon be opened. The management have very carefully selected the best of the World's Fair exhibits so that those who were unfortunate in not seeing the Chicago Exposition will still have an opportunity to inspect the foreign exhibits at San Francisco. The Rio Grande Western railway in line with its usual progressive spirit will, in connection with the Southern Pacific company put in effect a low round trip rate during the existence of the Mid-Winter Fair. The Rio Grande Western, as you know, runs through to San Francisco without change both tourist and first-class Pullman Sleeping cars. Two Trains daily.

LOW RATES

Are still in effect to eastern points via the Rio Grande Western railway. THE TERRITORIAL Legislature convened yesterday. It is the most intellectual body of lawmakers ever assembled in Utah. The Republicans have a good working majority in each house—seven out of twelve in the Council and fifteen out of twety-four in the House. A number of obnoxious laws will be repealed and amended and new and wholesome laws passed. We look for some good work to be done by the present Legislature.

A very serious accident happened to the six-year-old son of John Stain of this city, recently from England, Friday last. The boy was riding on some logs behind a sleigh, in the Sixth ward. The log in front made a sudden turn throwing him to the ground. Three logs run over him, bruising him considerable and badly breaking his left arm. Dr. Dyer rendered the necessary medical aid and the boy is now resting comfortable as possible.

Joel Ricks returned from Bear Lake yesterday morning, at which place he was summoned last week to attend the funeral of his brother Louis, who died at Paris. The deceased was one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Bear Lake, being one of the first settlers. Mr. Ricks informs us that Sunday the wind was blowing severely, the snow drifting badly and the themometer 15 degrees below zero.

Sunday evening Hon. J. T. Hammond received a telegram from Judge Eldridge requesting Joel Ricks to come to Salt Lake on the first train, and that he would be given position of minute or engrossing clerk in the Legislature. Mr. Ricks was not in the city yesterday, having gone to Bear Lake to see relatives. Mr Ricks is well qualified to fill either position and it is probably a partial reward for the good work he has done for the Republican party.

A "wood dance" was given in the Seventh ward Friday evening, at which a very pleasent time was had by all present. Fourteen loads of wood were given to those in need, to the poor in the ward. A fine supper was also prepared by the Relief Society, at which the aged and the widows occupied first table. Vocal and instrumental music was indulged in, but dancing was the principal feature of the evening. It was pronounced a complete success, by all who attended, and much credit is due those who had the matter in charge.

A Racking Cough

Cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Mrs. P. D. HALL, 217 Genesee St., Lockport, N. Y., says:

"Over thirty years ago, I remember hearing my father describe the wonderful curative effects of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. During a recent attack of La Grippe, which assumed the form of a settled soreness of the lungs, accompanied by an aggravating cough, I used various remedies and prescriptions. While some of these medicines partially alleviated the cough, during the day, none of them afforded me any relief from that spasmodic action of the lungs which would seize me the moment I attempted to lie down at night. After ten or twelve such nights, I was and had about decided to sit up all night in my easy chair, and procure what sleep I could in that way. It then occurred to me that I had a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took a spoonful of this preparation in a little water, and was able to lie down without coughing. In a few moments I fell asleep, and awoke in the morning greatly refreshed and feeling much better. I took a tablespoonful of the Pectoral every night and day a week, then gradually decreased the dose, and in two weeks my cough was cured." *

VOL. 3. LOGAN, UTAH, FRIDAY, JANUARY 12, 1894. NO. 76.

GOV. WEST'S MESSAGE.

It was Warmly Received In Joint Session Monday.

THE LAST TERRITORIAL ASSEMBLY.

Looks Like the Governor Does Not Favor a Union—Monument to Brigham Young.

The Territorial Legislature met in joint session on Monday afternoon to hear the reading of the Governor's message, which was read by his secretary, Mr. W. West. The document, which was very brief but pointed, was listened to with the closest attention. It reads as follows:

Gentlemen: As citizens of Utah I congratulate you and myself, that it is more than probable that in welcoming you, which I heartily do, it is my pleasure to greet our last Territorial Legislative Assembly.

The early passage of the enabling act for the admission of the Territory into the Union, which now seems assured, will require the assemblage of a convention which will formulate the fundamental principles that shall control the new state, and the meeting of a new Legislature that will follow, to readjust our laws to meet the changed conditions, admonish us of the propriety of confining present legislation to matters of urgent necessity, and the taking of preliminary steps only in the inauguration of new subjects of importance which will require time for their completion.

Believing in the wisdom of such a course, I have endeavored to so confine my recommendations.

UNIVERSITY AND AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

The question of the advisability of consolidating and making one institution of the University of Utah and the Agricultural College, has been the subject of much recent interesting discussion. The present site and grounds for the University are considered unsuitable and insufficient, and a bill looking to obtaining a more suitable location of the Fort Douglas military reservation was introduced at the last Congress and re-introduced at the present Congress. It is expected that favorable action will be taken when the bill is reached. The pending Statehood bill provides for the donation of public lands to the University and to the College. Both institutions have been established by, and fostered and nurtured by liberal appropriations from the Territory, and each is in successful operation. I would respectfully suggest the wisdom at this time of making only necessary appropriations for the successful carrying on of the respective institutions under present conditions, thus affording ample time for complete investigation and thorough discussion of the question of consolidation.

COMMISION ON IRRIGATION.

In my message to the Legislative Assembly six years ago, I submitted the following:

"The great value of water to our people, and the prosperity to follow from a complete utilization of our supply, is readily recognized by all. I recommend the appointment of a commission of three persons, one of whom at least shall be required to be a competent civil engineer, skilled in his science, the commission to be charged with the duty of making a full and exhaustive investigation of the question, and required to report to the next Legislative assembly the result of its labors, with such suggestions as it may be enabled to make, for the inauguration of a comprehensive and thorough system of irrigation for the use of our reclaimed and the reclamation of other lands. Necessary appropriations for this purpose I recommend."

Time, and the agitation of, and the increased interest in, the question of irrigation has confirmed me in the fact that much good would come from the action of such a commission, and I respectfully ask your favorable consideration.

CAPITOL BUILDING.

Being advised of the request of the Capital Commission its reports will follow later for an appropriation of $125,000 to begin the construction of the capitol by building a wing, which will furnish necessary offices for the present, in my opinion should be granted. It would be judicious economy to make the saving that would result from doing so. The rents that would have to be paid to secure necessary and suitable accommodations for the different branches and officers of the government, would be much more than the interest upon the investment. The building would provide more appropriate and better quarters in which the business of the people could be transacted than could possibly be obtained elsewhere. A permanent building for the purpose must sooner or later be erected and the advantages to assure to our material men and laborers to prosecute the work now are obvious.

MONUMENT TO BRIGHAM YOUNG.

A memorial association has been inaugurated by a number of our citizens to erect a suitable monument in honor of Brigham Young They have contracted with a Utah artist who has furnished the design for, and has in part completed a great work. It would seem that no more fitting and appropriate site could be selected for the erection of such a memorial to Governor Young than the Capitol grounds of the territory of which he was the first governor and of the state of which he was the pioneer statesman and founder.

I recommend that you take such steps as you may deem advisable to obtain the desired end.

A MILITIA RECOMMENDED

A proper organized militia is almost a necessity of a well ordered free commonwealth. Our young men for several years with commendable patriotic manliness have been ready and willing to assume the duties and responsibilities of service and have only awaited the direction and authority of the law maker to give us a military establishment which will be the pride of the intermountain country. Of the appropriation of the general government in aid of the state and territorial militia, $75,057.05 had been allotted to this territory up to June 30th, 1889, and none since that time. In view of our early admission as a state into the union let us by the prompt enactment of a law enable our people to avail themselves of their desires and opportunities to establish a military force, and in this as in all other respects, show that our territory is well prepared and fitted for admission into the Union of States.

EIGHT HOURS A DAY'S WORK.

Entertaining a firm conviction that the happiness of mankind would be greatly contributed to by lessening the hours of labor, I earnestly recommend, in the interest of this great reform, an act providing that eight hours shall constitute a day's work on all public works.

AMEND AND REVISE THE LIEN LAW.

Our mechanics' lien law is imperfect and needs revising and amending. I commend to your wisdom the preparation and enactment of a wise and just measure that will fully protect the material men and laborers.

Mrs. Skinari will be appointed administratrix for the minor children before the suit is filed.

Holiday business in Nephi, says the Curier, this year was more than our merchants expected. We have a live, wide-awake set of merchants, most all of whom are hustlers and appreciate the good that comes from advertising. Collections are good, business is good and the town is good. In fact next to Salt Lake, we do more business in proportion than any other city in the Territory. Our court house is one of the nicest, our jail is the best, and is used less than any other. GREAT LOCAL INVENTION.

K. E. Stoker Invents a Washing Machines.

IT IS SAID TO BE THE FASTEST ON RECORD

And Will Clean Dirty Clothes at First Sight—It is the Working Woman's Friend.

K. E. Stoker of this city, has invented a washing machine which will likely prove one of the greatest friends woman has ever known. He claims it will do the work quicker, better and easier than any other machine in the market.

Mr. Stoker, with his family, arrived in Logan last February, coming here from California. Since last June, and part of many months previous, he has taken up most of his time experimenting in many different ways and studying the principles of washing machine. He claims to have had considerable experience in washing machines, and his new invention proves his assertions. Mr. Stoker says he has experimented at a great length on different machines which were run by means of a crank, also by lever, and in various ways. For many years he has thought that some improvements could be made upon any machines in the market.

He set to work, studied on the thing continually, and finally "dropped" onto a scheme which seems to suit the purpose exactly. The new machine is operated with two levers, worked with a pull and push at the same time. This gives the operator much greater power over his work, at the same time handling it in an upright position. All labor is thus thrown in the arms, and there is no strain upon the back. Mr. Stoker claims he can wash one hundred ordinary pieces, in an hour, and is ready at any time to prove his assertion.

A lady in this city, Mrs. J Patten, who does considerable washing, has purchased one of his machines. To say that she is delighted with its work would be putting it mildly. She says she is usually about three and one-half hours in washing and hanging out fifteen dozen pieces, but during this times stop to eat her lunch, and that she does not rush her work in the least. She says it is by far the easiest working and best washer she has ever saw. She asserts about one-third of the clothes are turned inside out when taken from the machine. She further claims she scarcely ever turns her hands to rub a collar or cuff, as it is not necessary. Mr. Stoker has applied for a patent, which his attorneys say he will not be long in getting.

One of his machines will be placed at M. H. Farnes' store on Main street, one at Thomas' store, also one at Davis Bros. at depot.

The machine is a great novelty and will undoubtedly prove a huge success, and it is a special friend and favorite of the women.

WILL BE REPEATED.

"Driven From Home" Will Again be Put on the Boards.

Those who visted the entertainment given in the Fourth ward, on the evening of Dec. 23rd, will agree with us in saying a better amateur performance was never given in our city. The program was of choice selections. R. C. Easton's songs, as usual, were encored to the echo. Easton, it is needless to say, is always appreciated at home or abroad. The seven of the twelve months was rendered with great credit to the little ones who participated therein. The songs and choruses were likewise highly appreciated. After a feast of song and music came the last, but not the least, of the program, the beautiful drama, "Driven from Home," the plot of which is not overdrawn. Each part was strong and well filled. The leading parts were in good hands and throughout the strong point of the piece. The new scenery helped to make the play a success, which by the way, was painted by one of our boys, C. V. Hanson. The piece was so well rendered it has created a desire in all who saw it, to see it again, and those whose business would not permit them to leave on Christmas evening, to request a repitition which will take place Saturday evening Jan. 13th, at the Fourth ward meeting house.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Hyrum Hulse of Millville was a pleasant caller at this office Wednesday.

R. K. Thomas has been taking stock the last few days. Manager Cates reports the institution to be in a flourishing condition.

Sleighing is excellent in Logan and big bob sleds seem to be the favorite way of riding—after dark. It just suits the girls, so the boys offer no serious objections.

Gus got a "scoop" on the local papers the other day. He had Mr. Pribyl off for Philadelphia three or four days ago. Nothing like giving the news in time.

The program for the meeting of the Philomathic society of the B. Y. College is published elsewhere in this issue. It is a good one and will doubtless draw a full house.

About 125 head of horses were yesterday offered at sheriff's sale, Fred Turner doing the selling. Those which were sold went for from $1.50 to $7.50 each. They were sold as the property of F. A. Mitchell, but it is rumored that they are owned by a Mr. Blackhurst of Salt Lake and the sale may be stopped, as the chances are litigation will follow the sale.

Attorney J. C. Walters has returned from his extended trip east, and has since been very busy attending business which accumulated during his absence. While east, Mr. Walters visited Chicago, Cincinnatti and many other eastern cities. He informs us that times are very dull in that county and that money and democrats are as scarce as they could well be. Mr. Walters says that all the time he was east, he never saw a democrat. This is indeed good news. He further states that in his opinion the Wilson bill will never become a law, and that nearly all the leading democratic papers in that country are waging a bitter war against it. He is satisfied with Utah in general and Logan in particular.

OUR REPRESENTATIVES.

Sketches of the Members from the First District.

CHARLES HART A THOROUGH WESTERN MAN.

Joseph Monson a Representative of "Young Utah," and Aquilla Nebeker Knows His Duties.

In its write up of the members of the Legislature, the Tribune has the following to say of the members from Cache and Rich counties:

CHARLES A. HART

of Logan is a thoroughly Western man, having been born in Idaho. He graduated at the University of Utah in 1887, being valedictorian of his class. Having adopted the profession of law, he entered the University of Michigan graduating in 1889. After returning home he was elected Prosecuting Attorney of Cache county, and last year elected to the Council as a democrat.

JOSEPH MONSON

of Richmond, Cache county, is a representative of "young Utah," having been born at Logan on February 2, 1862. The following year his parents moved to Richmond, where he has since resided. He was educated at the B. Y. College in Logan, and is an architect by profession, and has had much experience as a contractor and builder. He has served two years as a member of the Richmond City Council, and is democratic in politics.

AQUILLA NEBEKER

of Laketown, Rich county, who shares with Mr. Monson the honor of representing the First district, is a native of Utah, and is 35 years of age. He graduated from the Utah University in 1878, and soon afterward went to Silver Reef, where he was engaged in the assaying business for eight years. Since then he has followed stock raising and farming pursuits in Rich county, and also has range interests in Arizona. He is a democrat, and having been a member of the preceding session of the Legislature, is thoroughly familiar with his duties, and will doubtless be heard from frequently in coming debates.

HAS GONE EAST.

J. F. Pribyl of The Nation Bids Farewell to Utah.

J. F. Pribyl, who has been connected with THE NATION as "Hired Man" and associate editor during the last nine months, was around bidding some of his friends good-bye yesterday, preparatory to his departure for the east this morning. During the time he has been connected with this paper he has done excellent work and made many friends who will regret to hear of his departure, but at the same time wish him God-speed, and success in whatever he might undertake. He will remain a few days at his old home, Chicago, when he will proceed on to New York City, in and near which place he intends making his permanent home. Our readers may expect to hear of him from there occasionally. His many friends in Logan and various parts of Utah will always hold him in kind remembrance, as they will be held by him. Good-bye, Jack, we regret very much to see you leave, but you will always find us your friend. May peace, happiness and prosperity always be yours, and remember that the good people of Utah are ever ready to welcome you back, should you feel disposed to return, which we hope and believe you will. THE NATION will be conducted the same as heretofore.

SOME LITTLE women have tongues both long and wide.

VARIOUS KINDS of fish, besides suckers, sometimes go in sein.

SOME MEN would sooner be defaulting bank cashiers than presidents.

THE ONLY thing that kills American prosperity is democracy and the evils which follow in its wake.

"SUGAR GOES up" says the Salt Lake Herald. Of course it does. The Lehi sugar factory has closed for the season.

A FEW women are delightful conversationalists, but that's no reason why the entire sex should talk all the time.

A CORRESPONDENT ask, "what is a life-long democrat?" It is a man who has labored under a delusion all the years of his life.

DENMARK HAS two volcanoes that are for sale. We wont buy 'em. The United States Congress is now in session, which will answer the purpose about as well.

We'd like to see a coal war in Logan. Coal is so high here that one has to get on a step ladder to reach it, and it's so valuable, some of the dudes have talked of using it for diamond studs.

IT WAS Horace Greely Porter who said that a New York leader crossed his bees with lightening bugs so they could see to work nights. There is no law compelling you to believe this.

IF MANUFACTURERS could only be assured that the tariff would not be "monkeyed" with fires would be rekindled in the thousands of furnaces in twenty-four hours and old time prosperity would again smile upon this country.

CHINA IS making great preparations to hold a fair, which is to take place in a year or two. These fairs are held every sixty years. The pigtails from all over the world flock there. It is hoped when the next fair is held they will take their American friend and sympathizer, Grover Cleveland with them. This country is done with him.

IF THE local paper is the proper index of a town, and it nearly always is a safe criterion, the little city of Coalville is one of the best towns in Utah. The columns of the Chronicle are filled with live local and interesting editorial news, and the paper has abundant advertising. Judging from the Chronicle, Coalville is a lively little city. It's a good paper and deserves success.

THERE IS an ordinance in this city making it a penalty to drive at a higher rate of speed than four miles an hour. Wednesday afternoon and evening there were scores of cutters and sleighs on the streets, and many of them broke the ordinance right squarely in two—that is drove at the rate of eight miles an hour. If this ordinance is to be enforced now is the time. If not, it should be repealed. If one party is arrested for violating it all should be.

THERE WILL be an interesting election held in New York City, that hotbed of democracy and corruption, on the 23rd inst. Two congressmen will be elected and as the fight will be made on the tariff issue it will be both bitter and interesting. Notwithstanding the fact that the democrats have for so long run things there with a high and tyrannical hand, there are now some hopes of right triumphing, which means a Republican victory.

THE JUDGE of the Denver police court is probably more just and humane than lawabiding. He does not believe that men should be imprisoned and punished because they are poor, neither does he believe that they should be treated as criminals because they cannot get work. A few nights ago he dilivered an address to an assembly of idle but honest workingmen, and dwelt at great length upon the unconstitutionality of Denver's vagrancy ordinance. He does not propose to take any rights from the poor simply because they are poor. Neither does he propose that the rich shall exercise any undue privileges on account of their wealth. Among other interesting things he said: "We claim this is a free country, the starry land of freedom—the home of the oppressed of all nations; yet your legislatures enact laws making it a crime to walk the streets and ask for work or to beg for bread to sustain human life, and your courts enforce such infamous, unconstitutional laws! I ask you, could a monarchical form of government, administered by a tyrant, be more despotic and subversive of the inalienable rights of men and the libert, of the citizens? Will your children grow up to respect a flag which represents a government that protects land monopolies, syndicates and trusts and a moneyed aristocracy and plutocracy, and sends the poor and unemployed victims of governmental injustice to jail for walking the streets and asking for work or begging for bread?"

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

At present much is printed about the Sandwich (or Hawaiian) Islands, yet few people are acquainted with the history of these Islands. The following will interest many of our readers:

The Hawaiian islands are 12 in number, only eight being inhabited. They were discovered is 1778 by the celebrated Capt. Cook, who, on his return the following year, was murdered by the natives. Cook named the group the Sandwich islands, in honor of the Earl of Sandwich, who was at that time first lord of the British admiralty. Hawaii is the native name of the largest island, and the appellation favored by the people for the whole group. Honolulu, the capital, is situated on Hawaii, and is 2,100 miles from San Francisco, 3,440 from Yokohama and 4,484 from Sydney. The succession of the native dynasty has been, Kamehameha I., Kamehameha II., Lunalilo, Kalakaua and Liliuokalani, the deposed queen. Kamehameha II. and his queen visited England in 1824 and died there of measles. King Kalakaua, who died two years ago, made a tour of the world in 1881, from which he returned with very extravagant notions. He erected a palace costing $1,000,000, became indebted to Claus Spreckels $750 000 for money advanced for current expenses. He came under the influence of one Gibson, who visited the island as an agent for the Mormons (then contemplating removal from Utah). Instigated by Gibson the king brought forward a project for a loan of $40,000,000 and a tax levy of $4,500,000.

How heavy a burden was proposed may be seen from the fact that the population in 1884 was only 80,000, and the property on which the tax was to be laid was almost wholly in the hands of 4,000 or 5,000 whites. In 1887, the white inhabitants rose in revolution, and Kalakaua was obliged to sign a new constitution. Twice before the present troubles the islands have been briefly under foreign domination—once a British officer took possession and formed committees of government; again, French officers abrogated the laws, dictated treaties and established the Catholic faith as the state religion. This was previous to the independence of the kingdom being guaranteed by the United States, Great Britain and France in 1844. Hawaii is a most interesting spot to visit.

UNJUST CRITICISM.

Probably our contemporary, more than all other Territorial papers combined, is continually saying (and there can be but one reason for so doing) that Mr. Penrose, the person who is said to be responsible for the editorials appearing daily in the democratic organ of Salt Lake, was for many years editor of the Deseret News, the official organ of the Mormon church. What if he was? That's no reason why the Church should now be held responsible for anything he may now do or write. If Mr. Penrose was editor of the Church organ for twenty years we dare say that he received his salary regularly for doing his work. We don't believe the Church ever cheated him out of one cent. Probably the Church has made a few mistakes, and this may be one of the greatest, but that's no reason why it should be hoisted upon them continually. The Church has done all it could to set matters right in that line. Mr. Penrose was "fired" from the position of editor of their organ and we believe he is being sufficiently punished for his past sins. He is now editor of the Herald, a democratic organ which is said to be in close communion and perfect accord with old Ananias, the prince of liars.

The Deseret News today is one of the best edited papers in the country, a paper which ably represents and manfully defends its constituents and we think it is hardly fair for our contemporary to continually cast reproach upon it by saying that Mr. Penrose edited it for many years. The Ogden Standard very appropriately comments upon that subject as follows:

Some democratic papers are very anxious to let their readers know that C. W. Penrose, editor of the Herald, was formerly connected with the Deseret News, as editor. The object in doing this seems to be to work the "church influence" for all it is worth. But it is no use. Charley Penrose was a failure on the Deseret News and he is more than a failure on the Herald staff. Because a man once had a standing in the church is not a sufficient guarantee for the people to swallow all the political trash and falsehoods that may be uttered. Whenever the church influence racket is used, the people of Utah should tramp the authors into the earth. Charley Penrose considered himself a great editor and when the church authorities relieved him of his duties as editor of the News, he predicted the early downfall of the paper. Mr Penrose was replaced by the brilliant and able writer who now occupies the editorial chair.

About two months after his retirement Penrose met several good Saints of high authority from southern Utah in Salt Lake, and this dialogue is said to have taken place:

Penrose—Ah, brother. How do the people in the south like the News editorials now?

Southern Saint—Thank heaven the whole country is just delighted. Time and again have I heard it said that now are appearing the only editorials seen in the News since George Q. Cannon was its editor.

Penrose—Has it rained much in Kane county this summer?

This conclusively shows the record he made as an "able editor and an honorable gentleman." What is the matter with Editor Penrose's editorials in the Herald, that seem necessary to furnish the writer with a character? Why not let the public judge the editorials for what they are worth. [illegible] Herald editorials, if false, can be made true by the statement that a writer once was employed by the church wants to endorse Mr. Penrose's editorials is why he was replaced with [illegible] scientious and reliable [illegible]

WHAT GIRLS SHOULD KNOW.

The panic of the summer of 1893 came with a shock to many households, says the Argonaut. Not only the failures of mechanics out of work, but the families of many merchants, manufacturers, and other business men have been rudely reminded that if there are ups in life there are also downs. In some cases the crash meant only economy; in others, families were reduced from affluence to poverty almost in a day. This state of things has brought to many girls a realizing sense of the fact that they must act as bread-winners, and that they know no way to earn their bread. It is occuring to some sensible mothers that this is a world of vicissitude, and they are asking: "How should a girl be educated so as to turn her natural abilities to account?"

A girl should be taught household duties; not that she should expect to cook a dinner or to make beds, but that she should know when a dinner is well cooked and a bed is well made; she should know the uses of money in the market; she should be able to manage servants without friction. she should possess a rudimentary knowledge of business, so that she can understand why it is unprofitable to buy coal by the scuttle, yet immaterial whether she buys sugar by the pound or by the barrel; she should [illegible] to keep a [illegible] will be [illegible] mon[illegible] dra[illegible] sen[illegible]

The study which absorbs the bulk of a girl's time is music. It is generally wasted. Not one girl in five hundred ever acquires such proficiency in music that the talent can become a bread-winner. After their second child, few women ever touch the piano. Another large segment of female student's time is given to art; this also is wasted. Not one girl in a thousand learns to draw correctly, not one in ten thousand so that she can sell her pictures.

Another engrossing study at girls' colleges is languages. Most girls' colleges advertise they teach Greek, French, Italian and German. Yet it is safe betting that not one girl in a hundred ever learns even French at school so as to put it to practical use. A girl who wants to understand and talk French must either live in a French family or take a course of French novels. The time she spends over Ollendorf and the irregular verbs is wasted.

If these studies are eliminated from the course of studies at a girls' school, there will be time for a study of English literature, history, and the elementary branches of mathematics, besides the rudiments of such sciences as chemistry, botany, physics, medicine, and natural history. These studies equip a girl for English teaching. As for foreign languages, they will always be taught by foreign teachers.

It may be objected that this article refrains from pointing out any new avenues for women to enter. That is a very difficult task. But a young woman educated on the lines laid down herein will be much better fitted for almost any calling than the average alumna of a young ladies' seminary. For two callings, at least, such a training would fit her—that of the teacher and that of the emanuensis. There are many men who would be very glad to give positions as secretaries, amanuenses, etc., to intelligent young women who understand English and who know how to mind their own business, but the hordes of illiterate, careless, and flirtatious "type-writer girls" who desolate the land deters them. When a man is trying to dictate to one of these fairies, and finds that her education apparently stopped at words of two syllables, when he is made to spell out every proper noun, when he is made to pause at times while the fairy arranges her bang—he often comes to the conclusion that women in business are a failure.

THE NATION received a telephone message yesterday from Joel Ricks, stating that the members of the Legislature would be in Logan one week from today, the 19th inst. We understand the matter of entertainment and reception is in the hands of a special committee, and of course our lawmakers will be properly welcomed. THE NATION suggests that something be done in the way of giving them a public reception, that is if the committee are of the same opinion. President Sanborn deserves much credit for inducing them to come up and visit the Agricultural College.

THE DEMOCRATIC organ still insists that the councilmen, [nearly all of whom are democrats] don't know anything because they were elected from the various wards. THE NATION believes the democratic councilmen, and we have no doubts as to the Republican councilmen, will resent the insinuation. As we have stated, they are in a position to try and see if they really don't know enough to use their own minds.

AN EXCHANGE asks "do swans sing before they die?" If they sing at all they do as they would have a hard time singing after they died.

When to Stop Advertising.

An English journal once requested a number of its largest advertisers to give their opinions concerning the best time to stop advertising, and according to an exchange, the following replies were received:

When the population ceases to multiply and the generations that crowd on after you and never heard of you stop coming on.

When you have convinced everybody whose life will touch yours that you have better goods and lower prices than they can get anywhere else.

When you perceive it to be the rule that men who never advertise are outstripping their neighbors in the same line of business.

When men stop making fortunes right in your sight solely through the discreet use of the mighty agent.

When you can forget the words of the shrewdest and most successful business men concerning the main cause for their prosperity.

When every man has become so thoroughly a creature of habit that he will certainly buy this year where he bought last year.

When younger and fresher houses in your line cease starting up and using newspapers in telling the people how much better they can do for them than you can.

When nobody else thinks it pays to advertise.

And when the world comes to an end.

The continual succession of boils, pimples, and eruptions from which many suffer, indicates an impure state of the blood. The most effective remedy is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It expels the poison harmlessly through the natural channels, and leaves the skin clean and clear.

There were upwards of $2,500,000 sent out of the Territory this last year for swine products alone! Why send out of the Territory for a single pound? Supposing the barley, corn, and other fattening feed had been fed to home raised swine, there never would have been the necessity of seuding out for a sihgle pound of hog. Why not try hog culture on a large scale this year? Every farmer, could raise for the market from six to two dozen. See?—Springville Independent.

It is the intention to leave here at 7:30 on the morning of the day referred to on a special train over the Union Pacific. Quite a crowd of young men from Logan attended a dance in Hyrum Monday night. They went it alone, that is had no ladies, and report having a very enjoyable time.

Many people cannot enjoy themselves better than to attend a regular full-fledged old time party. Such a one will be given in the Second ward hall this evening, and an invitation is extended the dancing public to be there. Many of the costumes will be odd, old and unique. Your friends will be there. Are you going to attend?

A card party was given by Miss Lizzie Farnes at the home of her parents on Main street, last Tuesday evening, at which a large number of young people were present. Cards, Parchesi, fortune-telling, music and a never-ending supply of the "inner-man" were among the many pleasures of the evening. All seemed pleased and satisfied.

F. A. Newberger delivered his first lecture on hydropathy or the water-cure to a large and appreciative audience at Hyde Park Tuesday evening. The people are also very fond of Mr. Kneipp's book, "My Water Cure," one of his many books so far translated into the English language. This water cure is said to be successful in many cases where all other remedies have failed. Mr. Newberger lectures in the large tabernacle at Smithfield tomorrow, Saturday evening, at 7 p. m., when he expects a large audience. He will also lecture in each ward in Logan, and every settlement in the valley.

The admission of Utah to statehood will enable the federal government to stamp out whatever traces of polygamy that remain in that state much more effectually than the work could ever be done under present conditions. The gentiles of Utah have been laboring long enough under their territorial disadvantages. They deserve full political recognition, which they will never get as the territorial government is at present constituted. There is a special law on the United States statute books forbidding polygamy, and the United States government has the power to enforce the law as fully as any other law.—Nauvoo Independent.

GOV. WEST'S MESSAGE.

WARRANTS OF THE TERRITORY SHOULD BE KEPT AT PAR:

For years the managers of public institutions of the territory have been compelled in order to sustain them, to borrow money at a high rate of interest, and without authority of law to do so.

The holders of territorial warrants have been compelled often to submit to heavy discounts to realize on them. Such a grievous and shameful condition should be promptly remedied, and not longer tolerated. There is no reasonable excuse why all the debtors of this rich and prosperous territory should not be promptly and fully paid, and its warrants be at all times as good as coin.

REPORTS OF PUBLIC OFFICERS AND INSTITUTIONS

The following reports made to the governor I lay before you:

The auditor of public accounts.

The treasurer.

The librarian.

The sealers of weights and measures.

The president and directors of the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing society.

In due time you will receive reports from the regents of the University of Utah; the trustees of the Agricultural College; directors of the Insane Asylum and trustees of the Reform School, informing you of the progress, condition and needs of the respective institutions.

DELAYED LEGISLATION.

I earnestly request that the Assembly may so dispose of business before it that ample time for investigation and deliberation may be given to the Governor. It is too often the case that the most important legislation is crowded into the last days of the session and must be hastily and inconsiderately disposed of.

Animated, as I do not doubt we all are, with the great purpose of serving the people well, I seek God's blessing upon our labors that they may redound to His glory and the people's good.

CALEB W. W. T.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Salt Lake, Jan. 8, 1894.

When the Governor concluded, there was another burst of applause, and after his excellency had retired, the regular order of business was resumed,

A Racking Cough

Cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Mrs. P. D. HALL, 7 Genesee St., Lockport, N. Y., says:

"Over thirty years ago, I remember hearing my father describe the wonderful curative effects of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. During a recent attack of La Grippe, which assumed the form of a catarrh, soreness of the lungs, accompanied by an aggravating cough, I used various remedies and prescriptions. While some of these medicines partially alleviated the coughing during the day, none of them afforded me any relief from that spasmodic action of the lungs which would seize me the moment I attempted to lie down at night. After ten or twelve such nights, I was and had about decided to sit up all night in my easy chair, and procure what sleep I could in that way. It then occurred to me that I had a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took a spoonful of this preparation in a little water, and was able to lie down without coughing. In a few moments I fell asleep, and awoke in the morning greatly refreshed and feeling much better. I took a teaspoonful of the Pectoral every night for a week, then gradually decreased the dose, and in two weeks my cough was cured."

Nearly in Despair,

THE LOGAN NATION.

VOL. 3. LOGAN, UTAH, TUESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1894. NO. 77.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

No Strictly Partisan Measure Will Be Passed.

EIGHT HOURS TO BE MADE A DAY'S WORK.

Varian and Allen Lead the Republicans While Grand Sachem Powers Expounds Democracy.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NATION:

The present session of the Legislature promises to be an important one, probably the most important yet held in this Territory. The peculiar political complexion of the Assembly, the Republicans having a good majority in both Houses and the democrats the Governor with an absolute veto, will make it impossible for either party to pass any partisan measures.

The political status of the Territory is such that each party will put fourth its best efforts in the matter of laws in order to strengthen itself, so that we need not look for anything to pass this session except laws intented for the general good.

The Upper House so far has persued a very conservative course leaving all of the loud talk and wrangling to be done in the Lower House. So far Allen and Varian have assumed the leadership of the Republicans in the House and the democrats unanimously acknowledge Powers as their champion. We cannot help but note what a great change of heart some of the latter party must have undergone quite recently, for less than six months ago it was the unanimous verdict of them all that the Grand Sachem was little better than his satanic majesty. Of course it is right to forgive Powers if he has repented but we can hardly reconcile the idea with that heretofore advocated by the Herald, of "Once a guerilla always a guerilla."

Powers has recently presented a bill before the House that ought to be read with interest by the Logan democrats. It provides that eight hours shall constitute a days work on all public works. Judging from their remarks made on the stump last campaign, we shall expect the members of the Jefferson Club to file a remonstrance against its passage. Mr. Varian introduced an important memorial in the House yesterday. It asks for the return to the Church of all the property now in the hands of the Government. Mr. Rawlins will likely follow up the memorial by introducing a bill into Congress covering the same ground.

The Legislature will go to Logan on Friday, Jan. 19th, to visit the Agricultural College. This date was agreed to, to accommodate several members who could not go this week.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

Given Thursday Night in Honor of J. F. Pribyl.

One of the most pleasant and enjoyable socials given in the city was the surprise given in honor of J. F. Pribyl Thursday night at the People's Hotel parlors. Though the party was gotten up on very short notice it was a complete success in every way. The following named ladies and gentlemen were present: Mr. and Mrs. Prof. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Picott, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown; the Misses Florence Snow, Edith Ellisson, Lizzie Farnes, Louie Stark, Ida Smith, Vilate Robbins, Francie Brown, Louie Stewart, Mary Griffin, Miss Garr, Jamie King and Eliza Dryadale; Messrs. Dr. L. W. Snow, Rex McAlister, Edgar Stark, Fred Bernsou, Frank Goodwin, Lon Irvine, E. M. West, J. Petersón, Joseph A. West, and A. N. Rosenbaum.

Progressive high five was the order of the evening, interspersed with a few choice songs, recitations, piano solos, etc. An abundance of good things for the "inner man" were put out o' sight. Mrs. Will J. Goodwin carried off the lady's first prize while A. N. Rosenbaum secured the gentleman's first prize, each being a nice plate mirror. Will J. Goodwin, by hard playing and continued scheming, managed to win the gentleman's "booby" prize and Miss Garr, through somewhat similar tactics carried the same lady's prize home with her—a linen A B C book. The crowd dispersed at an "early" hour, all having spent a very enjoyable evening.

ONE STYLE OF COOKING.

What a "Lovey Dovey Wifey" Knew About Tickling a Man's Palate.

She was a young wife just married from boarding school, one of the lovey dovey order, and although educated in Boston, didn't know beans from any other vegetable, says the Detroit Free Press. Hence this dialogue with the cook: "Now, Biddy, dear, what are we to have for dinner?" "There's two chickens for dinner, mum." "I'll dress them the first thing. Where are their clothes?" "Holy Moses mum, they're in their feathers yet!" "Oh, then serve them that way. The ancient Romans always cooked their peacocks with the feathers on. It will be a surprise to hubby." "It will that, mum. Sure if you want to help you could be parin' the turnips." "Oh, how sweet! I'll pair them two and two in no time. Why, I had no idea cooking was so picturesque!" "I think, mum, that washing the celery do be more in your line." "All right, Biddy. I'll take it up to the bathroom, and I have some lovely Paris soap that will take off every speck." "Thank you, mum. Would you mind telling me the name of the asylum where you were eddicated? I think I'll have to take some lessons there myself if we be goin' to work together."

In Memoriam.

The funeral of C. S. Keim, who died of heart failure, on Tuesday, January 9, 1894, at 10:30 p. m., at the residence of Mr. James Dryden, took place on Thursday afternoon. The deceased was a brother-in-law of Mr. Dryden. Mr. Kerim was a Western Union telegraph operator, lately from Little Rock, Arkansas. He was aged 22, and was a bright exemplary young man. Rev R. M. Hardman, of Trinity M. E. church, officiating.

"His toils are past, his work is done,
And he is fully blessed;
He fought the fight, the victory won,
And entered into rest."

Myron Crandall came up from Salt Lake Saturday evening, in response to a telegram sent him, bringing the sad news of a rather serious accident which happened to his father. If his father recovers rapidly, as it is expected and hoped he will, Mr. Crandall will return and resume his studies at the University, in about a week.

SUGAR BEET CONTRACTS FOR 1894.

J. H. Grant, Jr., of Bountiful Loses His Mind—He Shot, but not to Kill—Miscellaneous Matters.

There are six native born sons of Utah in the Lower House of the Legislature, and none in the Council. There are twenty-seven Americans, four Englishmen, two Scots, and two of Danish extraction.—Springville Independent.

The boring machine that drilled the experimental well in Varnal, is now going to drill a well in Graham Bend on Green River. Mr. [illegible] aks expects to cut through [illegible] e mineral veins that are supposed to be in that section, as well to find water.—Express.

Territorial Auditor Pratt's biennial report shows that the total debt of the Territory, December 31, 1893, was $1,230,523.30, partly made up of bonded indebtedness of $700,000. The total assessed valuation of the Territory is $115,214,842; some $4,000,000 less than in 1892.

Jabez W. Bethers was arrested at Mt Pleasant last week on the charge of shooting at Joseph H. Smith, with intent to kill. He admitted doing the shooting but said he was shooting at a rabbit and did not see the boy at the time. After scoring the defendant the judge dismissed the case.

We concur in saying with an exchange that on January 1, 1894, we expect to forgive our enemies. It will be a big job, but we do it although we will have just as large a crop by January 1, 1895, but it will then be in order to forgive them again. Newspaper men are full of kindness, and always willing to forgive. It's their nature and they can't help it.—Silver Hammer.

The Clipper says since there is talk of putting a tax on bachelors a number of that grade of people have left Bountiful for parts unknown. One of them is described as dressed all in black with the exception of having on a pair of blue overalls, gray shirt, white hat, yellow vest and striped coat. If any of our readers see this man they are requested to report to the estray-pound keeper at Bountiful and receive a reward.

An amusing incident occurred at the central school recently. The teacher had given out the word bazaar to a class in one of the lower departments and after it had been spelled asked for the meaning of the word. There was a pause in the proceedings and quiet reigned supreme as the urchins tumbled the word over in their minds trying to think of a definition. Finally up went a small hand and a moment later a boy was on his feet with the following definition on his lips: "I think it is a kind of a' editor.—Wasatch Wave.

One of the saddest things that we have had to record is that of a promising young man of Bountiful, J. H. Grant, Jr. losing his mind, which appeared to have happened almost at once or within a few days. Last Sunday, Bishop Grant and D. C. Lee took the unfortunate to Provo where it is hoped that medical skill will be able to do something for the recovery of the patient. The family, of which he is a member, is very affectionate among themselves and are nearly broken hearted with grief. Expressions of sympathy for the family and friends are heard on every side.—Bountiful Clipper.

The Sugar Co., have sent the new contracts for 1894 and are distributing them. There are some changes from the ones used by them last year, the principal one being the kind of beets taken. Last year they took all weighing 3½ pounds and under but this season they must not weigh over 3½ pounds and not contain less than 11 per cent sugar with a purity co-efficient of 80 per cent. for which they agree to pay Five Dollars a ton. Beets are to be dug only as the company orders until Oct. 15th after which they may be delivered as fast as the growers may desire. This contract is fairer to all concerned than the one used last year for the factory must have beets that contain sugar and can't afford to pay for worthless roots as some of the farmers sent in last year, quality as well as quantity must be considered in growing this crop and the tendency to grow a large tounage regardless of sugar contents will be stopped. It is by far the best crop farmers can raise and this requirement is not more than other factories require. The interested, beet raiser will have no fault to find with it. —Banner.

WHERE IS THAT PARTY?

G. Cleveland had a party;
Where is that party now?

The Boston Mugwump burns with shame
At mention of Van Alen's name,
And democrats in Gloucester wish
They hadn't voted for fresh fish
And Grover's party.

The loom and spindle [illegible] are frantic
From Haverhill to [illegible] tic,
And times are hard [illegible] ve shut
And work is slack and [illegible] out
By Cleveland's party.

Free lumber on the Wilson plan,
Doesn't suit Maine or Michigan;
And Texas and Ohio join
To beat free wool and save their coin
From Cleveland's party.

The Gulf States have a bitter cup
The sugar bounty to give up.
Perhaps it won't be rather cold
If they they should kneel and kiss the rod
Of Cleveland's party.

By Puget's Sound and Golden Gate
Is Grover's name anathemate.
On Colorado's silver hills
They blame unprecedented ills
On Cleveland's party.

Ten million voters rue the day
When British plotters had their way;
"Old Glory's" folds in shame were furled,
And lost in wonder was the world
And Cleveland's party.

Now Cleveland's "policy" is seen—
Free trade—and a Kanaka Queen!
After the monumental stamp,
By digging in the rubbish dump
He'll find his party!

JUDGE GOODWIN COMING

Will Speak at the Agricultural College Friday night

EVERYONE SHOULD GO AND HEAR HIM

An His Adress Will be Both Timely and Interesting—B. H. Roberts Will be Here soon.

It is with pleasure we announce that Judge C. C. Goodwin, editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, will deliver an address at the Agricultural College, Friday evening, the 19th inst., at 8 p. m. The Judge is one of the most pleasant speakers in Utah, always keeping his hearers in the best of humor, and making every word count. Mr. Goodwin has "waived his pride" and will accompany the Legislature on their visit from the Capital City to the College, where he has kindly consented to deliver an address.

The faculty of the College extend a most cordial invitation to everyone in Logan and surrounding settlements to attend, as they certainly will be repaid for the time thus spent. This we also vouch for. There are many people in this city who have never had the pleasure of listening to an address by Judge Goodwin, and we urge upon them not to miss this opportunity.

All past differences are buried. Let them be forgotten. Let us all meet on one common plane as American Citizens and brothers.

Logan should put on holiday attire Friday next, as it is a momentous day to this valley.

The room in which Judge Goodwin will speak has seating accommodations for [illegible] so no one need stay away for fear of not being thus accommodated.

Neither politics nor religion have anything to do with this coming lecture, but it is a time when we should all meet together. Remember it, and be there, promptly at 8 p. m.

THE ENTERTAINMENT

Given by the Fourth Ward Sunday School Was a Success.

Those who attended the entertainment given in the Fourth ward [illegible] house Saturday night, [illegible] very pleasant evening. The [illegible]gram was made up of miscellaneous matter and very creditably rendered throughout. All the children did nicely. The mandolin club is one of the best in Utah and received a hearty encore. The acting, all of which was done by members of the Fourt Ward Sabbath school, was such as could not be complained of. J. L. Ballif as "Harry Manvers," did fairly well. T. H. Cutler carried out the part of "Ralph Walters" in true professional style. "Toby Tepples" was put on by Sern Peterson as though he really was a "tinker." Miss Hattie Smith has an ease and grace which needs only cultivating to make her presentable to a fashionable audience and was quite at home as "Mary Manvers." Miss Mary Cronkston also did well as "Sukey Tepples." The minor parts were also fairly presented. The large hall was nicely filled and the management as well as the company should be complimented for the successful presentation of the entire program.

Mormons in the South.

We find the following bit of information in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and clip it for what it is worth: [illegible] are Mormon churches [illegible] said J. [illegible] Montgomery to the corridor man at the Laclede. "The Latter-day Saints in the aggregate, are strong in the South, although they have suffered great hardships in prosecuting their work. In a number of the mountain sections there are Mormon communities, the members of which have not emigrated to Utah, but remain at home and hold their meetings regularly in a school house or log church of their own. There are enough of these now to insure the elders a place to stay whatever part of the country they may be in. A record has been kept, showing the meals missed, the number of nights spent in the woods and the indignities suffered. One elder spent eighty out of one hundred nights without shelter, he ate an average of seven meals a week, and was whipped once and egged thrice—an experience of three months that would be exciting enough to satisfy almost any man. He kept at work, however, and now has a considerable Mormon community. In Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Alabama, there were a number of tragedies, probably a total of thirty or forty elders being either killed outright or crippled beyond recovery. They have never attempted to work in the cities or towns, but go out in the mountains among the poorer class of people, and if they once obtain a foot hold they redouble their efforts in that community, until they obtain a strong following.

The Income Tax.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Jan. 12—Advocates of the income tax and internal revenue features of the tariff bill met with an unexpected reverse today. At the meeting of the democratic members of the ways and means committee, by a vote of 6 to 5, it was decided to reconsider the former action endorcing these features, and by the same vote, to refer the whole matter to the House Democratic caucus.

THE PROVO Dispatch seems somewhat concerned because THE NATION said a kind word in favor of the Enquirer's new libel suit. Well, what are you going to do about it?

EVERY TOWN in Utah which has a newspaper wants the Agricultural College, and they seem to think the only thing they have got to do to get it is to ask for it. Gentlemen, you might as well all understand that the College is already located, and where it is it will remain. It could not possibly be removed for less than $250,000 in cash, and even then education in Utah would get a four year's set back. The Legislature would also have to decide that the College should be moved, and has we have a brainy Legislature no such decision will likely be made. If every town in Utah is determined to have some grand public institution let them turn their energies towards the Salt Lake Temple and give the Agricultural College a rest.

WHAT THE NATION said about a Mr. Swann being the author of that mean and scurrilous letter which appeared in a recent issue of the Boston Journal was told us by Mr. Swann himself. It was no second hand talk or hereasy, but came from the party direct. He endeavored to get into an argument with the writer, on polygamy, and when this was refused him, he told what we have already stated. He said he was personally acquainted with Senator Morse, and expected that his letter would be heard from, as it certainly has. This paper did not publish the substance of his conversation with the [illegible] of injuring him but because [illegible] statements were false, and a vile slander upon the Mormon people. This paper will defend the Mormon people or any other people against attacks which we know to be slanderous and false let the consequences be what they may.

R. K. Thomas of Salt Lake, who has a branch house in this city, has been in town a few days past. Mr. Thomas is well satisfied with his business in Logan, as he has much faith in the solidity and prosperity of our city.

A pop corn ball will be given in the Third ward hall Friday evening, under the auspices of the Y. L. M. I. A. of that ward. It will be a novel as well as a pleasant affair and a full house should greet the ladies. Invitations are already out. Music by Christenson's band.

One day last week, Miss Alice Jones, one of Brigham City's charming young daughters, and Mr. D. Rosenbaum, one of Logan's leading business men and proprietor of the Chicago Clothing store, were united in marriage at Salt Lake City. They are now in San Francisco, where they have gone to spend their honey-moon. Upon their return they will take up their permanent residence in this city. They commence life with the brightest of prospects and the good wishes of their many friends, in which THE NATION joins.

THAT INCOME TAX.

The democrats in congress, as was expected of them, lose no opportunity to fill the measure of possible blunders, says the Pioneer Press. A majority of the ways and means committee has approved the income tax proposition; the adoption of which would be about the best piece of fortune that Republicans could ask. Sensible democrats are aware of this. Mr. Cockran of New York, who is one of the levelheaded men on that side, protested and voted against the scheme until the last. But it went through, in the shape of a tax on all incomes in excess of $4,000 per annum. What determined the party to make that figure we cannot guess. Perhaps the average democratic income is $4,000. It is a good deal more than that in Tammany Hall. But at any rate the committee did get away from the utterly absurd proposition of the president, to tax incomes from corporate investments only, and reports at last in favor of the most offensive, discriminating, inquisitorial and un-American of all possible schemes of taxation. It did not do this of necessity, because a small tax on sugar would have been in full accord with the democratic platform and would have brought in a much larger revenue. It did it in the face of ample warning, apparently out of the "pure cussedness" which is so often the principal democratic motive power.

We will not recapitulate here the well-known objections to an individual income tax. The people are perfectly familiar with them. The New York Sun observes that the same reasons which make democrats so bitter against the federal election laws ought to unite them against an income tax. For the army of federal employes required by the latter and the offensiveness of its interference with private affairs are immensely greater. In its usual meaty style the Sun describes the effect of an income tax thus: "There would be more than 25,000 income-tax investigators, spies, itinerant collectors, and computers to pry into the affairs of the thrifty and energetic, to disclose the necessities of the improvident, to provoke the resentment of those of independent courage, and put a premium upon the frauds of the mendacious." Such an inquisition into his most private affairs as an income tax involves is one of the encroachments of the governmental authority upon individual liberty which the American citizen will hear least patiently. An offense to the American spirit, an interference with individual liberty such as nothing but the necessities of war would make this people tolerate, and a national premium upon fraudulent concealment and perjury, the income tax is a fitting close to a democratic scheme of finance that estimates a deficit of $28,000,000 in twelve months on the basis of a deficit of $34,000,000 in seven, and that proposes to help this along by the sacrifice of from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 of receipts from customs. Again the Sun hits the nail on the head when it asks, "Instead of talking about an income tax, would not Prof. Wilson's committee be better occupied if they gave their attention to some method of taxation which would permit the people to make incomes?"

ABSOLUTE MONARCHY.

During the last six months portentous facts have been thrust on the American people and they are brought to a realization that their republic is blossoming into an absolute monarchy. The king hath convened his parliament, subdued and prorogued it. He has conspired with the Shylocks of Wall street and majesty's government to suspend an important and sacred provision of the constitution; he has abetted and encouraged Chinese culprits in an open violation of the laws of the country; he has arbitrarily and without authority denied to veterans just and honorable pensions, and insulted them by establishing harassing and humiliating inquisitorials, contrary to every principle of justice; for no purpose other than to discredit a former administration and without the consent or knowledge of congress, he has instituted warlike proceedings against a friendly power, and in violation of republican and Christian sentiments sought to re-enthrone a barbarous and dissolute monarch, and maintain her absolute tyrant over the lives and fortunes of a civilized and intelligent people. All that now remains to complete the fact of royalty is the mere formality of a coronation and a hail to the king. That a structure which cost more than a century of time, billions of money and millions of lives should be thus tumbled down by a single bully in six months is a remarkable illustration of the inherent weakness of republics. Nero and Caesar and Napoleon may have known somethig of subjugation, but Cleveland has utterly outclassed them. Hail to the king!—Desert News.

OUR SALT LAKE correspondent writes us that the present Legislative assembly will probably be the most important one ever assembled in Utah. The Republicans have a good majority in each branch, while the democratic [illegible] at the next [illegible] time it is the very best thing that could have happened to Utah. There already has been far too much partisan legislation in this, as in nearly all other parts of the United States. The present political complexion will make it unlikely for the Legislature to pass any partisan measures, as any measure which was tinctured with too much democracy would not pass, and any measure greatly favoring the Republican cause would be vetoed by the democratic Governor. This being the case, we may look for legislation which is agreeable to the great majority of the people. We don't believe any unfair or partisan measures will be passed by the Legislature and we look for the Governor to approve nearly every measure passed by the Legislature.

UP TO a few days ago there were but two things we admired about the Salt Lake Herald. One was that the editor was ashamed to put his name at the head of the editorial columns and the other that the paper was ashamed to have it there. But Charlie Penrose is more conscientious than a person would think from his writings. He has cut THE NATION off from his exchange list. This shows that he admits THE NATION is a more valuable paper than is the Herald, and as he did not like to pay the difference in cash thought he would stop exchanging. From the size of some people's brains it is a pity nature did not provide them with the body of a jackass instead of that of a man. We didn't intend to hurt the Herald so much. But don't cry, Charlie. You'll feel better when you get over it.

It is a bad condition of affairs to see over $100,000,000 locked up in the bank vaults of New York and between three and four millions of willing worke a out of employment, and throning the streets of our cities, many of them only kept from starving through the charity of people who have yet something to spare.—Montpelier Post.

IT CERTAINLY is a most deplorable condition. But don't you know, Brother Wallis, that your own party is responsible for the present condition of affairs? It's the fear the manufacturers have of tariff tinkering which closes all the mills and throws the three or four millions of willing workers out of employment. If satisfactory assurance was given to manufactures that the tariff would be let alone, those men would again be put to work at the rate of 100,000 a day.

THE DEMOCRATIC policy has run the national treasury into such a difficult position, that the whole balance in the treasury is hardly able to pay the debts of the same, says an exchange. While we during the 30 years of Republican administration were able to pay off about 100 millions yearly on the war debt, the democratic administration is now going to propose an issue of bonds for a loan of at least 200 millions in gold, and that after not fully a year of their management of affairs. All the result of their tariff for revenue policy, of which the people are already tired.

THE MIDWINTER Fair and New Year's edition of the San Francisco Chronicle was one of the greatest papers ever issued in the West. It contained a full and complete write up of the Fair, with illustrations of all the buildings and grounds and told all about California and her wonderful resources. Such papers as that do more than anything else to aid in building up the city and state. The edition was ahead of any similar one issued, but we have yet got the Examiner to hear from.

THERE IS talk of the Home Dramatic company being reorganized. [illegible] number of plays [illegible] [illegible] 1895. There is certainly sufficient local talent to present a very creditable performance and THE NATION hopes the organization will be effected. There is also some excellent talent in some other towns in the valley and if this was selected from would doubtless add strength to the company. Reorganize the Home Dramatic company and we believe the people will support it.

LOGAN, THE City of Colleges, is in need of a public library and reading room, where young and old alike can go and spend a pleasant and profitable evening. Someone should take the matter in hand and carry it out successfully. If the city would pay for the rent, light and fuel of suitable rooms, the people would doubtless supply same with hundreds of good books, magazines and newspapers. It would be as good a move as could be made. Who'll take the matter in hand?

WHILE WE are not in favor of prize fighting, yet we believe it would be a good lesson to old Jack Bull to turn Pompedour Jim loose for a few minutes and let him make Charlie Mitchell understand that he doesn't know any thing about the "manly art." We can beat "Ould Hingland" on anything and if she really insists upon being again defeated by one of Uncle Sam's boys, we'll with draw our objections and let the fight proceed.

ONE BY one the democratic papers are going back on the principles, or rather the un-principles of the party which beggars American manhood. The Butte Miner, one of the leading democratic papers of the west, has declared itself in favor of protection to Montana's industries. Surely the spirit of enlightenment is abroad in the land.

TABLE [illegible] —please pass the pie.

ECONOM[illegible]TH misery means wealth to th[illegible]irs.

THE ONL[illegible]e for drunkenness is to let wh[illegible] alone.

ONE HA[illegible]he world doesn't care how th[illegible]er half lives.

THE MAN [illegible] quarrels with his wife general[illegible]et the worst of it.

GOD SAVE[illegible] from our friends —that is if [illegible] democrats claim the title.

EVERY TI[illegible] free trade speech is made a ne[illegible]ublic soup house is opened.

WE WISH[illegible]r income was sufficiently l[illegible] to be effected by the income t[illegible]

THE INCO[illegible]ax places a wet blanket on A[illegible]an industry and a premium on[illegible]erjury.

GUNS WERE[illegible]avented hundreds of years ago [illegible]d some of them haven't quit k[illegible]ing yet.

THE BLACK[illegible]r News is a good local paper, bu[illegible]it's on the wrong side of the pol[illegible]ical fence.

KATE FIEL[illegible]inks Utah is not fitted for stat[illegible]ood. Well, Kate, we don't care [illegible]at you think.

SOME MEN are so greedy they object to anyone having more conceit than they themselves have.

SOME TIME ago Cleveland said he had congress on his hands. Now he has it on his neck.—Butte Miner.

REPUBLICANS WILL fight the Wilson starvation bill until there is not a democrat in the United States.

[illegible] would be considered a God-send by America if Grover Cleveland was in the hands of his friends.

IF RAIN didn't fall upon the just and the unjust alike it would give one an idea of who the unjust were.

A LITTLE New Orleans boy recently sat on a box of dynamite to tie his shoe. "He's up with the angels now."

MEN DON'T always marry women for their wealth, beauty, or amiable disposition. Sometimes they really love them.

IT TAKES one issue of our contemporary to explain what there was in its preceding issue. Comment is unnecessary.

ABOUT ALL some people do in this world is to take up room on earth. Others take everything they can lay their hands on.

THE OGDEN Sun has not reached us for several days. Has the paper ceased publication, Bro. Duncan, or what have we done?

PROBABLY THE greatest drawback to most ambitious people is that they haven't got enough good sense to support that ambition.

ONCE THERE was a fat man,
And his name was Grover.
He got elected president,
And he tipped his party over.

PROBABLY THE word "hell" is profane but its about the only appropriate word with which to describe the fix the country is in at present.

The Banner is first last and all the time in for starting and fostering home industry.—Lehi Banner.

OF COURSE it is, [illegible] brother Webb, because its editor [illegible] a good Republican.

MANY PEOPLE offer two objections to the average spring chicken. One is that it is kept too long before being killed and the other that it is kept too long after being killed.

IT IS estimated that the extra session of Colorado's legislature called by Governor Waite, will cost more than $200,000. The great majority of the state papers have bitterly opposed it all along.

THE DIFFERENCE between the McKinley protictive tariff bill and the Willson free trade tariff bill is, that the former is to promote American industries, while the latter is to promote American idleness. Which do you prefer?

HON. SAMUEL Merritt has been appointed Chief Justice of Utah. The local democratic organ seems to think it is because he delivered a democratic "speak" in the opera house it this city. What a wonderful influence that opera house has!

A FARMER at Cromwell, Conn., has a hen which he claims laid five eggs in two days. That hen evidently wants to get in her work before the new tariff, which places eggs on the free list, goes into effect, as after that she will have to compete with the pauper chickens of Europe.

A PRIZE fight was recently stopped at Livingston, Mont., as the following telegram sent to Governor Mitchell of Florida, explains: "We stopped a prize fight last night with hose and water. Complete success. Try it the 25th." It was signed "Executive Committee Vigilantes."

PUBLIC MEETINGS and conventions are being held all over the United States wherein protests are being made against free wool and free lead and the Wilson bill in general. It is hoped some power may touch the hearts and enlighten the minds of the democratic congressmen that this country may be saved from further poverty and distress.

A FIRM southern democratic paper, that is firm as democratic papers can well be in fighting American prosperity, in speaking of the infernal Wilson starvation bill says: "If the sugar and rice men will stand together, present a bold front and make a vigorous fight they can defeat the proposed vicious legislation against these interests."

The Logan NATION wants Frank Cannon and Pat Lannan for senators. Ye Gods, what a team that would be. But they don't belong to the right party. Utah senators will be of the democratic faith.—Provo Dispatch.

The Ogden Press is the paper that suggested these names, and THE NATION endorsed them, in part. They would make a very good team. And as to them not belonging to the right party—pshaw! you're joking. Utah never will see the day when she'll elect a democratic senator.

THE NATION thinks Logan would take back their land if the Agricultural College was discontinued. We presume Logan gave the ground, because they thought the means expended in their city would recompense them. If the buildings were used for a Territorial poor house, means for the support of the indigent would flow from all parts of the Territory, and thus give them a revenue, probably as large as the College now gives. While it would leave them in the same position, it would be a good saving to the people of Utah.—Manti Sentinel.

If the Agricultural College was discontinued Logan would not only take back the land, but would take back the College and all the other buildings as well. Logan gave the ground because she wanted the College. The people of Logan are a whole souled, enterprising and energetic set and if it is desirable to have a Territorial poor house in this part of the country, we'll make a bid for that. But no changes, thank you.

The Mid-Winter Fair!

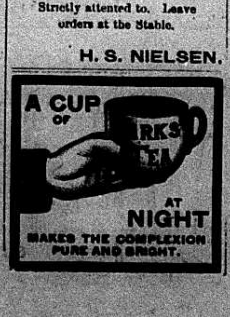

The Mid-Winter Fair at San Francisco will soon be opened. The management have very carefully selected the best of the World's Fair exhibits so that those who were unfortunate in not seeing the Chicago Exposition will still have an opportunity to inspect the foreign exhibits at San Francisco. The Rio Grande Western railway, in line with its usual progressive spirit will, in connection with the Southern Pacific company put in effect a low round trip rate during the existence of the Mid-Winter Fair. The Rio Grande Western, as you know, runs through to San Francisco without change both tourist and first-class Pullman Sleeping cars. Two trains daily.

LOW RATES

Are still in effect to eastern points via the Rio Grande Western railway. Remember the Rio Grande Western is noted for the elegance of its equipment, its new coaches, its free chair cars, its tourists and colonist sleepers and its new and artistic Pullman Double Drawing Room Palace Sleeping cars which run through to Chicago without change. "Speed Safety and Comfort" is its well earned motto. Two main line fast express trains to the East daily.

Logan is the greatest town in Utah for sleigh riding. Sleighing is a healthy and invigorating pasttime.

Invitations are now out for a select ball which will be given by the students of the B. Y. College in the Eccles-Howell hall on Friday evening, the 19th inst. Music will be furnished by the Jensen & Lechtenberg band, and as the affair is in the hands of a competent committee it will be a successful party.

An editor on being asked if he ever saw a bald-headed woman replied in the following vein: "No, we never did, Nor did we ever see a woman waltzing around town in her shirtsleeves with a cigar between her teeth and run into every saloon she saw. We have never seen a woman go fishing with a bottle in her pocket, sit on the damp ground all day and go home drunk at night. Nor have we seen a woman yank off her coat and say she could lick any man in town. No, God bless her, she isn't built that way.

Lewis Ricks, a brother of Pres. Ricks, who died at Paris, Idaho, Jan. 2, was born at Maddeson Co, Ill., in 1831. He came to Utah in 1858 and emmigrated to Bear Lake with the Pioneers. He was married to Emmerett Allen, Dec. 25, 1859. She died over twenty years ago, and he never married again. Brother Ricks was a member of the High Council of Bear Lake Stake, and held that position from the time the Stake was organized up to the day of his death. He leaves a family consisting of four daughters and one son. The funeral was largely attended. Pres. Budge and other leading brethren spoke of his good qualities.—Silver Hammer.

If they are so blinded by partisanship or so dull to their own interests as to save one dollar by not advertising and lose ten through so doing, it is their own loss. "A hint to the wise."

As suggested by THE NATION some time ago, that the young men of this city organize an athletic club, some of our enterprising young men have taken it in charge and will doubtless soon organize the club. When properly worked up, a select membership of thirty or forty could be gotten up and soon be put in good working order. Go on boys. We're with you.

The First ward Sunday School seems to be growing very interesting of late, as there are many more in attendance now as compared with a few months ago. Mark Twain's Love.

Mark Twain was once a impecunious reporter in San Francisco, often not having money enough to buy his dinner. He was standing late one day on the corner of Main street with a cigar box under his arm An acquaintance sauntered up and asked him what he was about.

"I am moving," said the humorist, "and carrying with me all my worldly goods."

He then opened the box and displayed his entire wardrobe as he styled it—an old clay pipe, a paper collar and a well worn necktie. He is now worth over a million.—Ex.

VOL. 3. LOGAN, UTAH, FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1894. NO. 78.

AMONG OUR LAW-MAKERS

A Bill to Help Build up a Home Industry.

DOUGALL WILL LIKELY BE SEATED.

Land Redemption Bill Defeated—Very Little Union Talk Heard—Coming to Logan.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NATION.

Yesterday was a busy day in both branches of the Legislature.

IN THE HOUSE.

Several new bills were introduced, the most important of which was a bill to encourage the growth of a plant called "canaigre," which grows wild in Southern Utah and which, it is claimed, has valuable properties that can be utilized in tanning leather. It is claimed that with the encouragement proposed by the bill a great industry will be established in the Territory which will give employment to a large number of people, besides placing our Territory in the front ranks as a leather manufacturing district.

JOHNSON'S MORTGAGE BILL

Is meeting with considerable opposition from members of both parties. It provides that persons holding mortgages on real estate shall pay their proportion of the taxes assessed against said realty. The bill seems a just one, but its opposers claim that if it becomes a law it will have a tendency to drive eastern money out of the Territory, and they do not think it would be wise to do that at this time.

The bill has some strong supporters and if action on it can be delayed until its provisions are thoroughly understood, we believe it will pass both Houses.

The democrats in the house were very pronounced in their condemnation of the Council ammendment to the Silver Memorial, denouncing it as despicable and unfair. The "despicable" ammendment referred to consisted of placing after the words "demonetization of silver," the additional words "and the threatened free trade legislation, etc." The democrats of the Council were responsible for the ammendment, for as soon as the memorial was read, Mr. Seaman offered two ammendments both of which were calculated to stir up party feeling. A long discussion followed which resulted in the Memorial passing ammended as stated above. The democrats expressed themselves as very sorry for the action they had taken, in bringing partisan politics into the discussion of measures in which all are interested and said if the House would return the Memorial and the Republicans would withdraw their ammendment they would make the vote on it unanimous. The House returned it and it will likely pass the Council and go to the Governor to day.

THE DOUGALL-ROBERTSON CONTEST CASE

will likely be decided today. A special commissioner has been down to Springville taking testimony and if his investigations show that Mr. Robertson received votes that ought to have been polled in the other legislative district it is quite likely that Dougall will be given his seat.

IN THE COUNCIL.

Most of the afternoon session was taken up in discussing the Land Redemption Bill. The bill provided that the time in which land could be redeemed after it had been sold under foreclosure of mortgage, should be extended from six months to two years. The opponents of the bill thought it would be unwise legislation and more hurtful than beneficial, at this particular time. In rejecting the bill, the Council put itself on record as opposing the passage of laws that might be called, "extreme measures" brought forward with a view to affording "immediate" relief to our distressed Territory. The Council proposes to move cautiously and not make things worse in an attempt to make them better. We will be surprised if a large number of the bills already introduced do not share the fate of the Land Redemption Bill.

The Sunday opening bill was tabled where it will likely remain.

Little or nothing is heard in either House about the union of the Agricultural College and University. The Professors over at the University are very active and there is hardly an issue of the Deseret News that does not contain a long letter from some of them, but their efforts are all lost on the Legislature, not one member in ten ever taking the time to read their articles. The members will be influenced more by what they see when visiting the institutions and the size of the appropriations asked for than by anything else.

The train which takes the Legislature to Logan will leave here Friday morning at 7 a. m. They will breakfast at Ogden and will not reach Logan until after 11 a. m., returning they will leave Logan about 4 p. m. An invitation has been extended to the officers and members to take their wives along so that it is quite likely there will be a large company visit your city on that day. An enjoyable time is expected.

A Terrible Accident.

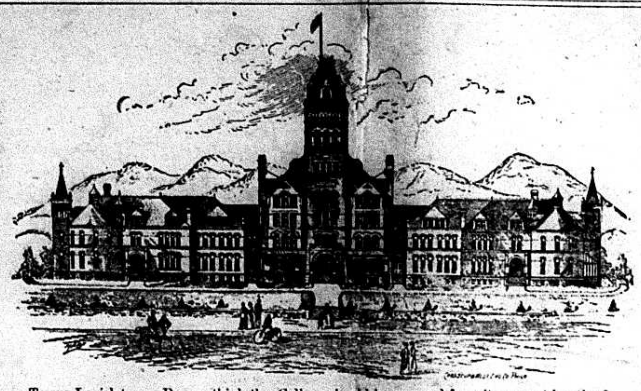

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—An accident occurred this morning at the Hackensack bridge on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road, near Jersey City. Two passenger trains collided with fatal result. The collision was between the Dover and Orange express trains and was caused by fog. Two cars were telescoped, fifteen people killed and twenty-five injured. The Dover express left Roseville at 8 a. m. followed four minutes later by the regular commutation train. Approaching the Hackensack bridge the engineer of the express slowed up, the fog preventing him from seeing the signals. The train following did not slow up and crashed into the rear of the express completely wrecking the last two cars, both full of passengers who were crushed to death or terribly mangled. The engineer of the commutation train is missing. He is supposed to be among the killed. A passenger of one of the trains who reached here says he counted fifteen dead bodies alongside the wreck and others are thought to be killed.

The following are among the killed identified: Mr. Ferguson, auditor of the Western Union Tel., Co.; W. J. Turner, bookkeeper of Field, Chandler & Seymour; J. H. Riner, cashier of F. W. Babcock & Co.; Edwin Morel, all of New Jersey; also Theodore White, Jr.; D. Cameron and J Durinton. A man named Reeling was fatally injured, A. T. Vokes, W. B. Ddams, Jr. Parrinton, Mr. Fraser, Mr. Rich.

A man named Timmons; John Fish; H. A. Rohlfs, Patrick Ryan, D. Hoffman, John Brundhill, T. J. Regan, Dr. John Doty, W. L. Gillandeau, traffic manager of the Dominion Steamship company, all of New Jersey.

The seriously injured as far as ascertained are as follows: Fred Ferguson, who will probably die; Miss Ferguson, A. M. Bareliffe, Louis Bardinie, Edward Pierson, Frank Schults.

J.Z. Stewart gives special attention to probate business.

To our Legislators: Do you think this College should be removed from its present location?

TERRITORIAL TOPICS

Geo. Drysdale, a youth of 19 years, escaped from the reform school last evening, the officers were notified and in two hours he was again in custody.—Ogden Press.

Dave Teachenor is now engaged in driving a new tunnel on the Montezuma ground, in Markham gulch, for the purpose of tapping, at a greater depth, the ore body encountered in the upper tunnel on that property. The new tunnel will cut the ore body at about 150 feet below the upper tunnel level.—Bulletin.

Arthur McEwen, the Tribune's correspondent, says that nobody should go to San Francisco for the purpose of seeing the Midwinter Fair until a month from now. There is no Midwinter Fair to speak of as yet—only some good buildings and a lot of dime museums. The formal opening of the fair, however, takes place January 27.—Press.

Edward Cavanagh, residing at 356 C street, complained at police headquarters yesterday that he had purchased and paid for 500 pounds of coal at an office located at the corner of Third West and Second South streets, but when weighed, after delivery, there was a shortage of ninety pounds discovered. He says he will have a warrant issued today for the arrest of the dealer.—Tribune.

The rabbit hunt last Tuesday between Payson and Salem, was won by the Payson boys, 213 against 95; no wager was made. Salem put 15 shooters against 13 of Payson shooters and were badly beaten. York, just south of Santaquin was the hunting grounds. The Salem boys were certain of a conquest before starting. No accident beyond a thorough wetting as the day was stormy all day. Rabbits were distributed freely to everybody.—Tribune.

The county court has decided not to take any steps at present, says the Manti Messenger, toward the erection of a court house in the county seat. The reason assigned for this action is that the building could not be erected without bonding the county and that if the question was submitted to the people they would vote against it. The least that the court could do would be to submit the question to the people, and see whether or not they would vote for bonds. No court house can be built without bonding. It is the only legitimate business method erecting public buildings. The people of Sanpete have waited long enough for a respectable county building.

Otto Olson, aged 21, and Frances M. Gordon, who gave her age as 18, took out a marriage license Tuesday morning, and were after wards married by Bishop McCollough at his residence. Some time after the license was issued, Mr. Gorden, father of the girl, made his appearance at the Court House. He said that the girl was not of age, and objected to the marriage but too late. The runaway couple live on Provo beach, and Olson has been paying the girl some attention against the wishes of the father. About a week ago Olson was informed that he was not wanted as a visitor at the Gordon homestead. He remained away for some time; but Sunday evening he returned on horse-back and Miss Gordon departed with him from the home of the hard-hearted parents.—Enquirer.

W. W. Cluff returned last Sunday from an extended business trip to the southern portion of the Territory. In connection with President Clove he stated that he was well pleased with the result of his trip. That while in Cedar City, Iron county, he negotiated for the purchase of a fine coal mine, in the interest of Salt Lake and Eastern parties, which he thought would result in the near future, in the development of the coal and iron interests of that reigon, which are very abundant. With the development of the coal and iron industries of that region, the people of southern Utah, especially, will be greatly benefited and, in fact, the whole Territory. This will add another industry to Utah's progress and advancement. Mr. Cluff seems to take a live and active interest in the general development of the many natural resources of this intermountain region.—Coalville Chronicle.

Counterfeiters are trying to pass a very good imitation of a silver dollar on the merchants of Vernal and the residents of the valley. One of the gentry stepped into a store and bought a book of cigarette paper and paid for it with a bogus dollar, receiving the change amounting to ninety-five cents, then he went over to another store to get tobacco to put into the paper and thus made another ninety cents, but Mr. Wm. Calthorp was a little too cute for him and wanted to know where he got the coin. The fellow told a plausable yarn, and after he went out, Wm. went out to investigate and found that the yarn was shoddy. The shover of the queer concluded that he did not want to be a cargarette fiend and hit the trail in the high places. The officers were put on his tracks the next day but failed to catch him. The people of the valley had better look a little out, when they get a dollar and be sure that it is genuine especially if a stranger is the one to give it to them.—Vernal Express.

JOINED IN MARRIAGE.

Miss Annie Georgeson and Mr. Fred Berntson Made Happy.

Miss Annie Georgeson and Mr. Fred Berntson both of Logan were united in marriage at the Logan Temple Wednesday last. Both parties are well and favorably known in this city, the bride having worked some two years in the Temple while the groom has been a typo on the Journal for years, but is now on THE NATION. In the evening a grand surprise and supper was tendered the happy couple at the home of Mrs. James Anderson, who was assisted by Mrs. James Jensen. Numerous and valuable presents were received. The couple has the best wishes of their numerous friends, in which the entire NATION force cheerfully joins. Success to you and yours Fred and may all good things come your way.

TEACHER'S INSTITUTE

As Held in the County Court House Saturday 13th Inst.

The C. C. E. I. conveued in the county court house, Saturday, Jan. 13, 1894. Sup't. Oldham was chosen temporary chairman, and W. G. Reese, secretary.

The following officers were then appointed: Sup't. Oldham, president, Miss I. I. Cook, vice president, Mr. D. J. Cantwell, secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. G. Raymond, librarian.

Mr. H. P. Bullen continued the subject of "penmanship." He read what Michael says in regard to position, and also made many valuable remarks on the subject.

Mr. Tibbets gave an instructive exercise on the subject of "spelling."

D J. Cantwell continued the subject of "grammar."

The methods of teaching these branches were discussed by the teachers. The discussions were spirited and instructive, and some valuable ideas were given.

Supt. Oldham, chairman of the "program committee," appointed W. G. Raymond, and Miss Annie Lloyd members of the same.

The present place of meeting is not suitable as it has neither desks nor blakboards. The Supt. authorized to find one that is suitable.

The Supt. recommended that any student, who had attended school for five days in a term be reported in the "term report." Motion to adjourn. Carried.

AN EXPLANATION MADE.

M. J. Brandenstein & Co., Should not be Held Responsible.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NATION:

I understand that you charge Mr. Swann with writing a scurrilous attack to Old Woman Morse of Massachusetts, on the people of Utah. And so that your many readers will not be mistaken, I give you and them the following information:

Mr. Wm. Calder of this city is the travelling representative for Utah, Wyoming and Southern Idaho for M. J. Brandenstein & Co., of San Francisco. The firm a short time ago sent Mr. Swann to sample and advertise Pride of Japan tea under Mr. Calder's directions. If instead of doing this he has been writing a letter to Granny Morse, maligning the people of this territory you can rest assured the firm of M. J. Brandenstein & Co., will not be able to utilize the labors of this would-be modern reformer. Of course I don't know that Mr. Swann has been foolish enough to write about something he knows nothing about. But this letter appears to me to be the concoctions of a disordered brain getting through the throes of deliriumtremens. And I have understood Mr. Swan was an exemplary young man, reliable and steady. But yourself and your readers can feel satisfied that the firm of M. J Brandenstein & Co., packers and importers of Pride of Japan tea only have the best feelings for the people of Utah. as nine-tenths of the tea trade of this Territory and adjoining states has and is being held by this firm, and they have found the people honest and reliable. And no firm on the coast or elsewhere will feel better at our getting Statehood and the continued prosperity of the people and the new State of Utah than the firm of M. J. Brandenstein & Co.

Respectfully,
JOHN CONNELLY.
SALT LAKE, Jan. 16th, 1894.

A Child Killed at Beaver.

BEAVER, Utah, Jan. 16.—Special to Tribune.—A very sad accident, causing death and bringing sorrow to the home and family of Edward Patterson, an old resident here, occured last evening. It appears that Mr. Patterson, with his wife and children, were returning home from shopping on Main street, all riding on some boards on the reming gears of a wagon, and crossing an empty ditch, making a turn at the corner of a street, the wheels doubtless striking the ditch, their clubby, rosy three-year-old girl, whose oldest sister had her arms around her waist to hold her on, fell from the wagon between the wheels, one passing over her face and ears, and killing the little thing almost instantly. On being picked up it was bleeding profusely, and in a minute or two a few gasps and she was dead. She had pleaded with her mother in the morning to be brought to town, as she hadn't been for some time, and was taken home a corpse.

A married lady was heard to remark, the other evening, that she had to go home and sew a democratic badge on her husband. On enquiring what the badge was, she replied: "A patch on the seat of his pants made necessary by sitting around looking for work."—Bingham Bulletin.

INDIGNANT DEMOCRATS.

The Administration Being Censured on All Sides.

MANY SENATORS RIGHT ON THEIR DIGNITY.

"In all History I Have Never Heard of Anything more Astounding" so says Senator Boutelle.

A Washington special to the Salt Lake Tribune says: Public men in Washington, when Hawaii is mentioned, are silent for two causes. First, the lovers of the Republic are silent because they cannot find language to express their indignation at the unpatriotic, contemptible and criminal conduct of the Administration; second, the Cleveland idolators and cuckoos do not talk, because they do not dare to publicly approve the policy of the Administration.

Few of the representative men of the Republic, however, have recovered from their amazement at the disclosures which the President has made to Congress enough to express their views. Senator Frye of Maine and Congressman Boutelle of that State, both friends of ex-Minister Stevens, are among them.

Senator Frye says: "The President showed great wisdom, from his point of view, in witholding from Congress Mr. Willis's report of November 16th. Had the people of the United States been acquainted with the fact that the only check to the President's plans was the bloodthirsty determination of the Queen to behead Americans, the feeling of indignation in the United States would have been vastly greater than it was. But I am absolutely astounded to know that the President, with this information before him, directed Secretary Gresham to instruct Mr. Willis to go on with his efforts to get that old tigress back on the throne. I can hardly realize that any civilized ruler, much less a President of this Republic, should be a party to such an enormity."

Mr. Boutelle said: "With the knowledge that Americans were to be proscribed and the English were to be the Queen's advisers, and with the statement that she intended to proclaim martial law and to arrest all those implicated in the revolution and to try them by a specially appointed court, or, in other words, a dum-head court martial, the Minister nevertheless, on the strength of a flimsy pledge given by Mrs. Dominis as a last resort, had the colossal audacity to demand, in the name of the United States, the surrender of the Provisional Government to that old woman. In all history, I have never known of anything more astounding. If the people of the United States sustain this Administration in that infamous conspiracy against the Provisional Government of Hawaii, and against Christianity, then I shall lose my faith in the people. But I do not believe that one man in 10,000 in this country will approve of the atrocious acts of the Administration in this matter."

Remember that the Legislature will be here today. Everybody with a cutter or sleigh should be out to meet them. The train will arrive between 10 and 11 a. m., and the band will be at the depot to welcome them. Everybody turn out and make their visit a pleasant one.

It is said that hosiery is cheaper than it was a year ago. But it dosn't make much difference how high ladies' hose come this cold weather.—Logan (Utah) NATION. It seems to us that if ladies ever needed high hose it would be during cold weather. But then we are not running a fashon journal and do not claim to know.—Hamilton, Ill., Register.

TRUTH—THE way some people tell it—is indeed stranger than fiction.

AN UNSEEN enemy — Grover Cleveland locked up in the White House.

FOR SALE CHEAP—a second hand throne. Apply to Grover Cleveland & Co., Washington, D. C.

WHEN SICK people feel like they are at death's door they can usually get some doctor to pull them through.

THE PEOPLE of Utah would patronize home industry more than they do if there was more of it to patronize.

A TAX of two cents a pack has been placed on playing cards and some of the newspapers say it is a dence of a tax.

SOME PEOPLE have a nose longer than their forehead. But it's no sign the more nose a man has the more he knows.

THERE MAY be some good points about most people, but when it comes to a "show down" the points are usually broken off.

IT IS said Grover Cleveland wants barb wire fences put on the free list. That's something that Grover can't get through.

HONESTY IS the best policy, but if the income tax measure becomes a law there will be much less of it practiced than heretofore.

YOU CAN'T always judge by appearances, especially women. Many of the richest women don't even own their complexion.

THE FIX the country is in at present suits Wall street and G.Cleveland. The rest of the country fights it, but so far that fight has been in vain.

VIEWED in a certain light there is one good thing about the anarchist—he does not brag much on himself but is always willing to blow someone else up.

MRS. LEASE says she is sawing wood and saying nothing. Probably she could saw wood all right, but as to saying nothing—well, Mrs. Lease is a woman.

THE DEMOCRATIC party has neither the brains nor the principle to properly manage the affairs of this country. And the people, to their sorrow, are finding it out.

THE FOLLOWING is said to be a western coroner's verdict: "The deceased come to his death by excessive drinking, producing apoplexy in the minds of the jury."

IF BEAUTY was always skin deep old Grover Cleveland would be an extremely handsome cuss— His hide's as thick as is the comprehension of the dullest Cannibal.

IT BEGINS to look as though Grover Cleveland was a "man of destiny," and it also begins to look like his destiny was to bankrupt and disgrace the United States.

IN LARGE and rapidly increasing numbers the democratic papers are yelling "the income tax is not democratic." Well, if it is not democratic, what is it? It's bad enough to be democratic, anyhow.

STATISTICS SHOW that eighty per cent. of the male lunatics are single men. This shows that though the married men's wives get most of their dollars they usually manage to keep their sense.

AN OLD maid in Boston recently died and left an estate valued at $8,000, to her pet cat. She also left instructions that the cat was to be taken on a foreign pleasure trip. It pays in certain instances to be an old maid, or at least in this instance it paid the cat.

GROVER CLEVELAND and his party have already caused enough railroads and manufactories to go into the hands of receivers Now let Grover and the democratic party go into the hands of a receiver and we'll forgive them for all their sins and try and forget the past.

THE POPULIST party is not quite dead, but it might as well be. It is a neck and neck race which will first make its final exit, Populism or democracy. If we were a betting man we'd lay our wager in favor of democracy because that party is now split up the back and down the outside.

WHO WEEPS with you when you are sad, and swears with you when you are mad? The editor. Who has to be both kind and wise, and never (hardly ever) lies, when he does creates surprise? The editor. Who owns a heart as well as cheek, is possessed of a spirit, proud but meek, and lives on forty cents a week? The editor.—Ex.

AFTER BEING dumb for twenty-three years an Indiana woman recently regained her speech During all these years her husband was comparatively happy. Since her speech returned she has been relieving herself of her pent up knowledge and he has been obliged to sit by and humbly submit. Only another illustration of one extreme always following another.

The average price of a bushel of wheat for the entire country is only fifty-two cents, being twelve cents lower than at any time for the past thirty years.—Utonian.

AND THIS is the year when our farmers, in case of "democratic success" were to receive $1 per bushel for ther wheat and we were to have flush times in general. In lieu of American prosperity we are having "democratic prosperity." My! what a difference there is in a name.

THE LOGAN (Utah) NATION advises all newspaper men to form an organization for the purpose of visiting the San Francisco, Cal., Midwinter Fair. We heartily endorse the scheme, Bro. Rosenbaum; however, our editorial labors are too confining to admit of us taking active part. —Stillwater, (Minn.) Prison Mirror.

To fully appreciate the humor in the above, it is only necessary to state the Prison Mirror is published in the Minnesota State Prison, where all the writing and other work on the paper is done by the convicts.

THE PROSPECT of free lumber is getting in its work in great shape up in Minnesota. Men are now working in the pineries of that great state for eight dollars a month, one half to be paid in the spring and one-half next fall. They do not receive more than enough to pay their board and clothes where formerly they made from $30 to $40 a month above expenses. This is one of the blessings (?) of democracy which is already showing its hideous form. God save us from democracy!

THE DEMOCRATS at Louisville are in deep mourning and refuse to be comforted. The cause is that they have not had a democratic postmaster for many a long year, since Buchanan's time. From all appearances it will be a long time before a democrat will grace the Louisville postoffice. The present incumbent, named Barrett, is a good Republican, was appointed under Harrison, and Postmaster Bissell and President Cleveland declare he shall not be removed. They sometimes know a good man when they see one.

THE PRIDE of some editors knows no bounds. As one kind of an illustration an exchange tells the following: "A Kansas editor and a rich widow were engaged to be married, when the neighbors began talking about it charging that he was marrying for her riches. The young editor was vexed at this, of course, and in order to show up its unthruthfulness persuaded his affianced to turn all her wordly pelf over to her grown up and beautiful daughter, that he could prove to the world the sincerity of his affections. The trusting widow did so, and the first night after, the editor and the girl eloped, and the widow pied the forms in the office and would have pied the editor could she have found him."

ONE BY one the leading democrats in various parts of the United States are withdrawing from their party. One of the latest to receive the enlightment of American prosperity is John A. Gale, one of the foremost democrats of Massachusetts. In an open letter to the democratic committee he declares his withdrawal from that party, stating his reasons are the Hawaiian policy of the present government, the Wilson bill, to which he declares the present industrial stagnation is due, and the financial policy of Congress, which he has always claimed was wrong. The democratic party is rapidly but none the less surely going to pieces. And well it might, as its misson on earth is ended. The only regret is that it did not do so prior to the last election of G. Cleveland.

THE ANNUAL meeting of the Iron & Steel Sheet Manufacturers' association was held in Pittsburg the other day. Business in all its branches was discussed and special attention was paid the Wilson bill and what effect it would have on business. The reduction, as proposed, amounts to 78 per cent. on lighter goods, which are those mostly imported, with proportionate reductions on heavier sizes. The president of the company, J. G. Batelle stated that about 25 per cent. of the country's capacity was now idle and that if the Wilson bill became a law the result would be most disastrous. During the last two years, which has been under the McKinley law, the capacity of the mills has been increased 50 per cent. There is now nearly $15,000,000 invested in this business and some 16,000 men find employment in and about the mills. If the Wilson bill should become a law these men will have to submit to 50 per cent. reduction in wages or the mills will be obliged to close. That's the cry that comes from all over the United States. Is democracy the friend of the working man? Let the thousands of closed mills, and the millions of idle workingmen answer.

WELCOME TO OUR HONORED LEGISLATORS.

Logan extends a hearty welcome to the honored legislators of the Territory to the Queen Valley of Utah. Your predecessors who located the institution which you visit selected this mountain valley as the fittest home to educate youths in those rugged virtues and generous habits that make strong men and women. America cannot boast of a college location that commands such an outlook, an outlook that tends at once to develop a love of the beautiful, the generous and the strong in character as that of the location of the Agricultural College. This fertile rural valley is the home of virtue and of thrift, and from the aspect of health and moral and physical development it forms the native home of a college. You will perceive on visiting the institution that its whole purpose has been misapprehended by the public It is the offspring of national laws and accepted by the Territory which pleged its honor by legislative enactment to maintain the purpose of the national act. It is dedicated to the great wealth producing classes, whose intelligence and thrift become the measure of national advance and national greatness.

The College is a cluster of departments interdependent like States and one like the union, each having its separate aim, its instructors and individuality being merged under the same head the classes of the several departments where the studies touch each other being taught by the same professors. The national law defines its purpose to be the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes, yet it says that the purpose shall be to teach agriculture, mechanic arts, etc. The founders of this institution have drawn the philosophy of its organization from the law, making the leading department agriculture. This department will illustrate well the philosophy of the system of education which is liberal and practical education of the head together. It has a strong corps of teachers whose class room work in the way of liberal education is supplemented on its practical side by apparatus for illustration and by a farm of 85 acres. On this farm the boys observe the methods of crop rotations and become accustomed by practice to all departments of farm work.

Its horticultural grounds give opportunity for pruning, root-grafting, propagating and the handling of all varieties of small and large fruits and vegetables that enter into market gardening. For the use of the public at large hundreds of varieties of fruits are under test. In this connection it may be well to point out to your honorable body that in a locality often criticized as unfavorable to agriculture there is growing upon its grounds the various kinds of fruits, and as you will observe a thrifty peach orchard, the canyon breezes minimizing the effect of frosts that possibly might affect lower areas.

You will probably be shown the areas given over to investigation and the pasture ground laid out to varities of grass. In connection with the institution is a model barn that will be found well worth the study of those members of the Legislature who are the sons of the soil. This department is understood to be one of the strongest on the continent.

It is understood that no department is more a source of pride to the President of the Faculty than the woman's department, and in this feeling we believe Utah can well join, as it is asserted that no national college has so broadly founded and well organized a woman's department as the one associated with the Agricultural College of Utah. You will doubtless have opportunity to acquire some knowledge of the skill of the fair daughters of Utah in the culinary art at the proper time. This department begins with the sewing room, passing through the laundry, cooking and dairy rooms up to the fine arts associated with home keeping.

Hardly a less prominent place does the mechanical engineering department occupy in the purposes of the college system. While we understand it is not as yet fully equipped yet its shops for work in iron and wood and the beginning of the plant for higher mechanism, molding, casting, etc., proclaim the fact that out of the halls of this department is to pass a class of young men who are yet to stand as exponents of the mechanical and manufacturing enterprises that will ultimately find their home in the valleys of Utah, and draw the resources from the bosom of our mountains.

Still another strong department is allied with the other three, that of civil engineering. It is evident to all observers that the era of scientific engineering is about to dawn upon the irrigation interests of Utah, and that Utah will have plenty to do, for the young men who will pass out of this department.

Embraced in the favored industries is that of mercantile classes for whom a department has been erected, not the catch-penny work characteristic of many business colleges where for a heavy tuition in the brief space of a few months men are turned out to enter upon business careers. A full course of two years is given, accompanied by unusual severity of its grades. This is based not alone upon common book-keeping, but upon transaction of business and recording of the same, after the style of the merchants. Associated with it, however, are such studies as political economy, civil government, commercial law, a course of grammar and dictation, the purpose being to equip men all round for entering upon practical work where experience will soon teach them to make available the fruits of this practical department.

The question "what is in a name?" has become a bandied-about phrase, but in the life of this College it signified much, as the name has obscured the real purpose of the institution classes. Agriculture, the acknowledged foundation industry properly gives name to an institution intended for the industrial classes.

Logan is proud of the institution placed in its midst by the wisdom of the Territory, and supported to date by its generosity supplemented to that of the Nation. It should be Logan's endeavor to remember that the institution is Territorial in its purposes and belongs to Utah, and we feel secure in the behalf that whatever vested interests may have grown up around it, and what right Logan may justly claim for the perpetuity of the instution here, will receive impartial and fair recognition at the hands of the Legislature.

THE NATION bespeaks for our visitors a pleasant day at the College and trusts it will be found convenient for some or all of you to remain in Logan and become acquainted with it.

NOTES OF THE NATION.

Sawed wood for sale at Z. C. M. I.

The last fall of snow has made excellent sleighing in Logan.

Minutes of the meeting of the Teacher's Institute will be found in this issue.

Prof. Paul gave an instructive lecture upon "Child Psychology" at the Religion Class institute held in the B. Y. College.

M. Stephen, a commercial man from Salt Lake, has been in Logan the last few days, a guest of the People's Hotel.

Dances are of frequent occurrence of late, in Logan. Dancing is a very pleasant past time and the young people of Logan enjoy it greatly.

In case of marriages where no cards are issued, it is not customary to make the announcement before the affair takes place. Therefore the Journal is welcome to being the "first to make the announcement".

James Smith of Preston, a brother of Supt. Isaac Smith of the Z. C. M. I., was in the city Wednesday on business. Jim reports times as being comparatively good in Preston, and that there is much less snow there than in Logan.

THE NATION is indebted to Mr. Edmund Bruke for a large and handsome lithograph of the Salt Lake Temple. The work was all done in Salt Lake City and is such as cannot be excelled anywhere in the United States. It is indeed a work of art.

Tuesday last the Young Men's Co-op of Smithfield shipped five cars of hogs to eastern markets. The raising of hogs, if properly conducted, would be the means of bringing many thousands of dollars in this valley. They always command a big price and ready cash.

Remember the ball to be given in the Eccles-Howell hall to night. It will be given by the students of the B. Y. College and should have a large attendance. If you desire to attend the lecture to be given in the Agricultural College by Editor C. C. Goodwin of the Tribune, go to the lecture first and attend the ball afterwards. Thus you will get the benefit of both.

A dance will be given in the Eccles-Howell hall Monday afternoon, for the children of the Fourth Ward Sabbath school. An invitation is also extended the children of the other Sabbath schools of the city. Price of admission is five cents each for the little girls and ten cents each for the boys. An invitation is extended the parents to be present and see their children enjoy the sport.

A select ball be given in the Eccles-Howell hall Monday evening, the 22 inst, by the Fourth Ward Sunday school. A number of invitations were issued, but as they were not sufficient to go round a general invitation is hereby extended the general dancing public. The affair is in the hands of a competent committee and those who attend will certainly have a pleasant time. Jensen & Lechtenberg's band will furnish the music and the ball will be in excellent shape. We acknowledge, with thanks, receipt of a complimentary invitation.

Quarterly Conference.

The Quarterly Conference of Cache Stake will be held Sunday and Monday, the 28th, and 29th inst., commencing at 10 a. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all who desire to attend.

At present it looks as though George W. Thatcher was by no means sure of the appointment of the democratic member of the Utah Commission. It appears that the president looks with favor upon Judge Henderson and the indications are he will get the plum. The whole Commission should be abolished as it is a worse than useless expense.

THE NATION owes one of its humblest apologies to Mr. Lou Ballif. We gave him credit for being the father of a bouncing baby boy, when he is not even married. It was his elder brother, Serge, who is the happy father. Our birth reporter, Father McAlister, is responsible for the error but we take the blame. We'll try and not let it happen again. Lou, what'll you have?

Just as people were congratulating themselves that the dangerous pastime of coasting down the big hill at the head of East Temple street below the McCronick residence had been abolished, at least for the present, another accident occured. This time the victim is Miss N. S. Mann. The lady on Saturday evening was walking leisurely down the sidewalk when like a flash she was struck by a schooner on which a number of boys were seated. She was thrown violently to the ground and rendered unconscious. On being removed to her home it was ascertained that she was so badly hurt that it will be necessary for her to remain within doors for a month or more. The young ruffians who run the lady down immediately beat a hasty retreat and have taken good care to keep their identity hidden.—News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Carlisle has written a letter to Voorhees in which he makes a statement of the treasury and of the necessity of measures for its relief. VOL. 3. LOGAN, UTAH, TUESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1894. NO. 79.

THE LEGISLATURE AND COLLEGE.

OUR SOLONS VISIT AND INSPECT THE SCHOOL.

Kind Providence could not well have smiled more beingnly on our beautiful city than did it Friday last, the day designated by the Legislature on which to visit and inspect the Agricultural College, that grand eductional institution of which all Utah feels justly proud.

In the early morning the sky was somewhat cloudy and some fears were entertained that the day would not be so pleasant as was desired, thus detracting from the pleasure of the many and distinguished visitors by whose visit Logan was that day to be honored. However everything came on way and by ten o'clock "the mist had cleared away" and Old Sol smiled warmly and beautifully upon fair Cache valley, the day being unusually warm and pleasant for this time of the year.

Only from seventy-five to eighty people were expected on the train, and not until 9 a. m. was it known here that there would be 145. As soon as word was received to that effect a number of our leading citizens concluded they would have to get a "move on themselves" to secure transportation to the College for the crowd. No time was lost in attending to this as evidenced by the fact of the great number of sleighs which were out in due time.

WHO VISITED US.

On the train, besides members of the Legislature and some of the officers, were the following ladies and gentlemen: President Kingsbury and Professor J. F. Toronto of the University of Utah; Governor West, W. S. McCornick, J. T. Grant, Judge W. N. Dusenberry, of Provo, M. M. Kaighn, Selectmen Ramberger, Morris and Cahoon, Charles Crane, Judge Loofbourow, C. R. Barratt, Judge C. C. Goodwin, Angus M. Cannon, Wm. Glasmann, of Ogden, and the following ladies: Mesdames C. S. Varian, N. Y. Snell, Ira D. Whines, H. E. Booth, James E. Clinton, C. E. Allen, E. W. Taylor, M. A. Breeden, A. J. Warner, F. J. Hendershot, H. C. Lambert, S. G. Pigman, H. C. Snyder, Dan Spencer, J. S. Richards, Parley L. Williams, Maria Cannon, M. K. Parsons, David Stoker, S. W. Sears, Arthur Pratt, Agnes Pratt, Misses Ella Adams, Mamie Adams, Carrie M. Sowers, Miss Blair, Pearl Pigman, Miss Sears, Lucile Sears, Elva Snyder, Ada Patterson, and Masters Don Shields and Roscoe M. Breeden.

THE ARRIVAL AND WELCOME.

At 10.50 a. m., the special train in charge of Conductor Johnny Shields and Engineer Morris Twinham came steaming into the depot. Here a great surprise awaited the guests. On their way up some of them had been talking about the large size of the crowd and many remarks were made that it was impossible to get the entire party to the College in one trip. Just as soon as they arrived in Logan and got off the train they changed their minds. The Logan Cornet Band and scores of people were there to meet and greet them. Some of the passengers had almost made up their minds to walk to the College, but when they looked around and saw the great number of sleighs, fancy cutters and regular "bobs" surrounding the depot, and numbering fully 150, the idea of walking at once fled and the assurance of a pleasant sleigh ride, over excellent roads and behind fiery chargers, at once took possession of them. In an incredible short space of time the entire party was seated and off for the College. The ride through the city was a pleasant one and occupied but a few minutes. As the jolly procession, which was more than a mile long, neared the Agricultural College the booming of cannons, from which a solute was given by the artillery students, reminded some of the older members of the party of olden days, when cannons were loaded and fired to kill. Arriving at the main entrance to the west not much time was lost in unloading. The Agricultural College band was there to meet the visitors, and we must say the boys are improving very rapidly and discourse sweet music. President Sanborn and some of his assistants also heartily greeted the company and at once conducted them to the chapel.

PRESIDENT MCCORNICK

called the assemblage to order and introduced Mayor George W. Thatcher, who in a few words greeted our visitors and in behalf of the college and the city tendered them a warm welcome.

President Sanborn was then introduced and briefly explained the workings of the College and pointed out the numerous points which would be visited and the route to be followed. He also explained that only about eighty guests were expected, while twice that number had come, but that all were heartily welcome. As luncheon had only been prepared for who was expected he feared some of them might not be so bounteously supplied as it was desired they should be, but that they had done the best they could under the circumstances and that none of them should go away hungry. All the food, he explained, had been prepared by the young ladies of the College. After his remarks an inspection of the college was at once began.

As several descriptions of this building have already been given to our readers we shall not now enter into detail.

GOING THROUGH COLLEGE.

There are probably some of our Legislators who, in the days of their youth, had not the privilege of "going through college." They all did it last Friday and judging from the many remarks made nearly all of them were struck by the vastness of the institution. One of the Legislators was heard to remark: "Is there only one end to this thing?" another was heard to say, "and is this what they want to move to Salt Lake?" Well I guess not. If any union is made my vote and influence will go towards moving the University here." A prominent Salt Lake gentleman said, "I have always been in favor of having this College moved to Salt Lake but after seeing the building I certainly want it to remain right where it is." One other of the Salt Lake Legislators said he almost made up his mind not to visit the College, as he had read considerable about it and did not think it amounted to much, but now he was very glad he made the visit, as what he had seen impressed him very favorably and his sympathies had been reversed. He now favored

THE UNION AND THAT AT LOGAN.

These and many similar remarks were made, each being highly favorable to the College, as they in justice could only be.

Everyone of the numerous departments was visited and exclamations surprise and pleasure were heard on every hand. The sewing department in charge of Miss Ada Little proved very interesting to many of the visitors, particularly the gentlemen. The manner in which much of this work is done impresses one very favorably with the gentler sex and indicates the progress our fair college maidens are making in this as in other lines.

THE FORGING ROOMS.

were inspected and a large number of muscular young men were found "striking the iron while hot" and making it in any desired shape. The manchinist's department was closely inspected and the numerous young men at work proved they were mastering their part of the work in fine shape. The dairy department proved interesting to many. Everything here was neat and tidy. Work is done here on the scientific plan and the entire process of butter making was gone through with in the presence of visitors.

THE GYMNASIUM DEPARTMENT

closely held the attention of many for some time. Here the boys were boxing, club swinging, performing on rings and horizontal bars and doing various other exercises connected with this department. Some of the Legislators took hold of the rings but as they feared a fall did not swing very far. Governor West was observed looking longingly at the cross beam to the horizontal bar, but as he could not reach same, thought best not to take chances jumping to catch it. Judge Dusenberry offered to put on the gloves with any lady in the room, but presumably none of them were within his hearing, as the offer was not accepted.

THE COLLEGE MUSEUM

was next visited and many curiosities caused the eyes of the visitors to open wide. Just about this time the dinner hour was approaching and many stomachs reminded their owners their attention was desired. Obeying the impulse not much time was lost in getting to the kitchen, over which Miss Abbie L. Marlott presides. It is useless to state that a longer time was spent here than elsewhere, and Miss Marlott and her assistants certainly have cause to feel flattered.

HERE ALL WERE EQUAL

and in fact some where more than equal. We could not help but notice the handy manner in which Billy Glasmann of the Standard put victuals "out o' sight." Almost before he reached the table he made a grab for the celery, just as a Dutchman would for sauer-kraut. Being an editor he was not at all backward in asking for anything he wanted and one of the ladies who was not acquainted with him wanted to know if he held a higher office than did Governor West. She judged from the able manner in which he spoiled food. Every Legislator and each other guest had only the highest words of praise for the bounteous spread which had been prepared and especially for the manner in which it had been cooked. It should be borne in mind that Miss Marlott had previously prepared for but eighty while one hundred and fifty prepared for her. In saying that everyone was full of praise and choice food is not stretching the thing in the least and it was a question which predominated.

THE MASTER OF CEREMONIES

was President McCornick, who sat at the head of one of the large tables, while Governor West was near by. Members of the Council and House and the invited guests were in regular order. The tables were waited on by fair young ladies [illegible] the cooking department, and [illegible] way many of the married men [illegible] on them was a caution. At [illegible] one was fully satisfied. Mr. [illegible] k called on Governor West, [illegible] odwin, C. S. Varian, O. [illegible] ers and Major Breeden, each of whom delivered short but [illegible] speeches highly favoring the College. They all expressed their surprise at the vastness of the institution and wished it abundant prosperity and success, also complimented the faculty on the [illegible] manner in which the institution was conducted. Just as McCornick mentioned Parley L. Williams' name someone on the outside yelled "train time" and Mr. Williams' speech was remains unspoken.

During the banquet the Logan Orchestra played several selections and the Logan Glee Club also sang, both of which were highly appreciated. It was not the Ogden Orchestra and the Glee Club as the Tribune erroneously stated.

We regret very much that space will not permit us to give a synopsis of the speeches which were made. Suffice it to say that each was highly favorable to the College and while the Governor and Legislators did not, in so many words say it, the people desired a union of the two schools they would vote for the union at Logan, strong hints were thrown out to that effect.

The Legislature has seen the Agricultural College as it is, and not as it has been painted by some. Now we are willing to let the result rest with their good judgment as to the union and how [illegible] shall take place.

On behalf [illegible] Agricultural College and [illegible] County, THE [illegible] thanks the Governor, [illegible] the [illegible] Legislature and also [illegible] friends who accompanied them, for favoring us with their visit, and ask them one and all to come again soon.

MARRIED AGAINST HIS WILL.

How a Jilted Sweetheart Drugged and Abduced her Recreant Lover.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 20.—Special to Tribune.—Frank Williamson, an eldery and well-to-do farmer living near Pittston, decided not long ago to marry. Annie Walden was a dashing brunette, and Emma Richards was a quiet little blonde. For a time Williamson paid attention to Miss Walden, and it was generally understood that they were engaged, but he finally transferred his attentions to Miss Richards, saying to his friends that the Walden girl was too giddy for him. Soon thereafter it was announced that he and Miss Richards were engaged and the wedding day set. When Miss Walden and her friends heard this they were indignant, claiming that Williamson had promised to marry her before he began paying attention to Miss Richards, and she swore she would become his bride in one way or another.

The day before the wedding Williamson says he went to Pittston and there met some of Miss Walden's friends, who took him around to several saloons and got him intoxicated, and then took him some place where somebody married him. He says when he got sober he found Miss Walden installed in his house as his wife, and was possessed of a marriage certificate in proper legal form. Williamson has begun a suit for divorce.

An entertainment will be given by the "Woodmen of the [illegible] Friday evening. Program [illegible] next issue.

EVANS A PUZZLE.

He is Still at Large and Will Likely Remain So.

A press dispatch from Hanford, Sunday night last, related that Marion Childers, a Deputy Constable of Fresno, was shot at by two men as he was driving toward Goshen. His account of the affair was to the effect that he had been employed by Sheriff Scott of Fresno to ingratiate himself with Evans and Morel, in order to bring about their capture.

In this he said he had made good progress, having managed to get on good terms with both men through the aid of a third person. But in some way the pair became suspicious of him and lay in ambush for him, shooting at him when he drove toward a place where he was to meet them.

Such was the story told by Childers. As a matter of fact one of his horses was shot, and died from the wound, and he exhibited two bullet holes in his overcoat in confirmation of his tale; also bullet holes in the buggy.

Detective Hume was asked in his office here, what he thought of the story.

"I take no stock in it," he said. "The whole yarn looks to me very untrustworthy. It is very unlikely that Evans would let any such man as Childers get into his confidence. The fact is that Childers was formerly in the same jail with Evans for some offense or other, and Evans took such a dislike to him that he told one of the officers to take Childers out of his way or he would choke the fellow to death. Nobody who knows Childers would be inclined to take his word for anything."

"Do you think Evans is in reality left the mountains for the valley?"

"No, I do not. It is hard to say where he is. The unexpected is always what he is likely to do. Usually it is not difficult to detect a criminal's movements by following the natural probabilities.

"You can put yourself in his place and think what you would be most likely to do under the same circumstances. But Evans is an unexceptional man. Whatever the average man would be least likely to do is just what Evans is likely to attempt."

Mr. Hume gave many illustrations from Evans' career of crime, showing how the outlaw had continually surprised the officers who were in search of him after his last train robbery.—S. F. Bulletin.

"AFTER THE BALL" IN CHICAGO.

THOUSANDS NOW HOMELESS AND FRIENDLESS.

A Chicago special to the New York Press says: The world at large seems to be getting even with Chicago. At least it seems, after having spent all its surplus cash here last summer and autumn, to have sent all its surplus poor here to recover the surplus cash. Nobody, apparently, with money to spend now visits the city. Those who paid from $3 to $50 per day for rooms on the European plan, during the continuance of the Fair may be pleased to know the proprietors of same hotels are offering the same rooms to residents at prices ranging from nothing to $25 per month, with the proviso that guests thus inexpensively lodged shall in some sort reciprocate by eating in the hotel cafes

In the leading American plan hotel of the town an Eastern drummer found himself alone in the dining room the other day with fifty waiters. It is said that these huge establishments, in which Chicago has always taken such pride, are losing from $1,500 to $3,000 a week, a drain which has not to be continued indefinitely in order to wipe out whatever margin of profits was left after the tremendous discounting that went on for months and years before the Fair was liquidated.

What has become of the people who were went to visit Chicago in the winter no one knows. The entire Center and Northwest seems to be hibernating in the bear and buffalo skin coats whose huge bulks used to crowd each other even in the vast dimensions of Chicago hotel lobbies.

"BRAG'S A GOOD DOG, BUT—"

On the other hand, visitors who are a tax to the town have multiplied in a way that has set Chicagoans seriously thinking for the first time about the drawbacks as well as the advantages of being one of the "world's great cities." It is the first time that a condition of any sort has existed that Chicagoans have not bragged about. Pendennis, according to Warington, "said that he was getting bald the other day, and even bragged about that." So Chicagoans have been known to brag because the thermometer ranged 45 degrees in a single hour, and when last month the Chicago courts were trying two murderers of national celebrity, and another Chicago murderer of national celebrity was put on trial in New York on the evidence of Chicago witnesses, it seemed as if Providence has especially interposed in order to establish beyond the peradventure of a doubt the location of the "true criminal center." Chicago bragged when its water supply was cut off, and bragged when its cellars were flooded. It bragged over a computation which showed that more street car horses were sunstruck in one day than in any other place within the purview of the Passenger Railways Association.

But now the papers are actually supressing the facts which go to make the city pre-eminent in the annals of poverty and the crimes of disolated violence that follow in poverty's train. There is, for instance, no comparison instituted with New York in the matter of the number of unemployed. That comparison, if made, would show that the 89,000 unemployed in Chicago are equal to 160,000 unemployed in New York. As there are only 100,000 unemployed in New York it is very plain that in the old familiar strain Chicago is the true "unemployed center." Here is an argument in support of the statement that "New York is the Liverpool of America," that seems strangely to have been overlooked. Again, New York has devoted only one church to the use of a lodging house. Chicago has turned over three. Still again, no one sleeps in the corridors of the New York City Hall at night. In the halls of Chicago's sooty municipal pile 2,000 uneasy bodies may nightly be counted. A great chance for comparison has here been missed and a still greater one in the case of the Illinois Steel Company. New York has nowhere in its environs an industrial plant that unemploys and has unemployed 3,000 hands since October. The Illinois Steel Company is the steel works that is only second in size and output to that at Homestead and allthough the Homestead strike and rioting long trains of coke cars were running through the streets of the stricken borough invoiced to the Western corporation, whose works were as Chicagoans were fond of pointing out the paradise of which capital was the Adam and union labor the Eve.

THE AFTERM[illegible]

Seriously, Chicago [illegible] founded by this condition. It is not, in fact, difficult of analysis. Before the Fair Chicago's reputation was all for dash, audacity, "hustle." The dashing, audacious, "hustling" came to her from all the world over. The weaklings stayed away. The Fair and the enormous amount of money spent to see it gave it a reputation for wealth. That bred the parasitical poor which thrive in all rich civilizations.

Another condition which Chicago does not brag about is a certain inertia which has overtaken the town since the Fair gates closed. It is temporary. It is the same as was observed in Philadelphia after the Centennial. It is the spent condition of a municipal system that has overstrained itself. Paris thrives on recurrent exhibitions because they are a natural product of her life. To a town which is not really a capital on exhibition is like a seven-foot whistle and five foot boiler of Lincoln's hoosknayed story. It stops the boat.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the stockholders meeting of the United Order Manufacturing and Building Company of Logan, Utah, will be held at their office in Logan City, Monday, February 5th, 1894, at 7 p. m. The business of the meeting will be the election of Directors for the ensuing year and the consideration of such other matter as may properly come before it.

GEORGE COLE,
Secretary.

A special from Brigham City, informs us that the B. C. M. & M. A. of that city came nearly going up in smoke Saturday night. The fire was discovered in its commencement and damage to the amount of about $1,000 was done, principally through smoke and water. The prompt action of the firemen saved the building and contents.

FROM ANARCHISM TO ATHEISM.

Vaillant, the anarchist who was last week condemned in Paris to the guillotine for having thrown the bomb in the French Chamber of Deputies, glories in shame, says the New York Press. The testimony which he has boastfully given about himself, while it must wipe out any sympathy that might have been felt for the unclean miscreant, may at the same time serve to show what manner of men they are who, in these latter days, are seeking to involve men, women and children, property, government, religion, morality and civilization in one common ruin.

Vaillant proudly claims the title, "An Anarchist:" What is an anarchist? It is derived from the Greek "archos" meaning ruler and "an" meaning not. An anarchist, then, is one who wants to have no government. He wants a state of society in which every man shall do as he pleases. He is the enemy of law and order. He would have no restraint upon crime. The only law known to the anarchist's ideal community is lex talionis, the law of the strongest. In such a system mankind would lose all manly attributes and become like unto brute beasts, which would consist of two classes, beasts of murder and beasts of prey.

It was characteristic and consistant, therefore, that Vaillant threw [illegible] in the French Chamber of [illegible]ties; that is to say, into the midst of a body of men engaged in making laws. There was a kind of fiendish philosophy in this. His object being to strike a blow at government—not so much at any particular government as at government in general, at the whole governmental idea—he chose a legislative chamber as the fittest place. It was laying the ax at the root of the tree. It was poisoning water at its fountain. It was an attempt to spike the guns of civilization. It was if one should cut the jugular vein of human society.

Vaillant endeavored to commit murder. Let us analyze his act. It was unlike ordinary murderous action. He had no "malice aforethought" against any single human being in that multitudinous throng. His crime was all the greater on that account. He lacked even the miserable excuse of personal passion. His malice was studied, collected, fixed and satanic. He thirsted for blood for the sake of blood. He cared not whose—the blood of youth or age, innocence or guilt, friend or foe, men or women—it was all the same to him. To kill was his intent. He gloated over the thought of slaughter. His eyes were strained to catch glad glimpses of mangled corpses, his ears listened as for sweet music to hear the shrieks of wounded and the groans of the dying. It would seem as though this anarchist chose to murder because that crime almost more than any other is fundamental. It is the earliest crime recorded in human history. It is one that, if unrestrained, unpunished, would tend toward the extermination of the human race. Hence, the first of all laws against crime is that which says "Thou shall not kill." It existed in substance before the Ten Commandments. It was written on tables of the heart before it was written on tables of stone. It dates back beyond Mount Sinai to the Garden of Eden.

In the course of his first examination he told, jauntily and vauntingly, the shameful story of his life. A part of the story proved him to have been false to his marriage vows. He professed to regard marriage with the same contemptuous hatred felt toward government and laws. The family institution is menaced by anarchism for the same reasons, essentially, as are those which explain the bomb thrower's malice against courts and legislatures. In the final analysis they are all one. Marriage is fundamental, too. It dates back to the begining. It belongs to human order, to civilized society; it is included in human and divine law. So lawlessness rebels against marriage, by instinct as by deliberate choice of evil, rather than good.

Moreover, he who is false to the marriage bond breaks a solemn promise, a promise the most sacred and obligatory that ever can be spoken in this world. All libertines are liars. There is something particularly congenial to anarchism in falsehood. For, again, the law of truthtelling is fundamental. Without truthtelling mankind could not live together. The first recorded lie, like the first recorded murder, belongs to the time of man's first appearance on this planet. Think of the impossibility of proving anything by testimony in courts of justice without reliance on truth-telling. Without reliable testimony laws could not be enforced and might as well not be enacted.

Vaillant proclaims himself an atheist. This makes the character complete. If we trace back the idea of law to its source we shall come to the idea of God. So if we trace back the idea of lawlessness, which means anarchy, to its source, we shall come the idea that there is no God. "Of law," said the far famed Hooker, "there can be no less acknowledged than that her seat is the bosom of God, her voice the harmony of the world."

THE SWANN PLUCKED.

SWANN, THE tea peddler, is out in a card which he says the article appearing in THE NATION of Jan. 9th, "is an infamous lie from beginning to end." If he refers to the letter sent from Logan to Congressman Morse we heartily agree with him, as that is just what we stated at the time we commented on it. If, however, he refers to the other part we beg to differ from him and repeat every word we stated was true and we can prove it, and when he dares stand up and deny it one is almost tempted to question the honor of the human race. But, thank God, they are not all of one kind. The fellow says something about advertising. We never asked him for an ad. and he knows it. One is a matter of principle, the other of business. Again he states he is a Republican. We were in hopes the party would be spared that infliction, but it could not be expected every man who claims to be a Republican would be honest. As to him making an affidavit, after what he has stated we would not believe him on a stack of Bibles. There is another gentleman who overheard him make the remarks and if Mr. Swann wants any proofs we can and will produce them. His little remarks about his "good treatment" etc., and to his going to Mormons for recommendation, were made only for a purpose and will fall short of their mark. He says he did not write the letter in question and made no remarks about the Mormon people to the writer of this article. He might as well deny his own existence. He had been drinking at the time but was not so drunk but he knew what he was talking about. As to his private character we don't care a straw, but we don't propose to hear the Mormon people or any one else villanously slandered, even by such as he, without raising our voice against it. Even then we might not have mentioned his name had not our local contemporary given out the impression that a certain gentleman in this city (whom we knew to be innocent) had written the letter. We have already given this individual more space than we intended. In conclusion, and as a matter of justice to the firm of M. J. Brandenstein & Co., which he represented, we desire to inform the public at large that the firm should in no way be held responsible for his private actions and we trust their business will not be injured in the least through what he has done. The firm is a good one and worthy of patronage.

We wish to repeat that every word we have written was told us by Mr. Swann himself and that we can prove it. His statements to the contrary only tend to disgrace him more in the eyes of the people.

THE EXPLANATION MADE.

The Deseret News has a grievance against THE NATION, as they feel we have wronged them, but whether intentionally or not we cannot say. It is this: In our issue of the 16th inst. appeared an editorial headed "Absolute Monarchy," which by the way, scored President Cleveland somewhat severely, but we think every statement was true and they only showed up some of his actions, none of which, so far as we are aware, can be truthfully denied. After commenting upon the article the News says: "We have taken the pains to get the copy that was furnished for the particular article above alluded to. It is a clipping from an obscure Idaho paper—it was not even written for the News at all, even as an advertisement. But that is neither here nor there. Our grievance is against THE NATION; and if that paper shall see fit to make a full and manly explanation and apology, thus setting the News right as far as in its power lies, we will try to believe that was neither malice nor intent to misrepresent as in ascribing the quotation to our authorship. In all sincerity we hope THE NATION will choose this, the only honorable part."

The News asks for "a full and manly explanation and apology." We'll make a full explanation and then let the News and our readers judge if an apology is needed. If any intentional wrong was done, an apology is needed and will certainly be given. The article referred to was clipped from one of our exchanges, the Glenwood Springs, (Colorado) Avalanche-Echo. That paper had it credited to the Desert News. The Desert News, we supposed was a paper published in Colorado, and had no idea that the article had ever appeared in the Deseret News even as an advertisement, as we had never seen it there. The Deseret News is one of our most valuable exchanges and we certainly would intentionally do them so wrong in any way.

As the article was credited to the Desert News and not to the Deseret News and after this explanation has been made we presume it will be satisfactory as the public will have the proper understanding.

MCKINLEY THE MAN.

WASHINGTON SPECIAL to the Boston Herald (Dem.): There is a great revival of interest in Gov. McKinley among the politicians in congress. It is almost a universal opinion among the democrats that McKinley is going to be the nominee with whom they will have to contend in the next national campaign.

A member of McKinley's official household was in Washington yesterday. He says McKinley's mail, since his last election for governor, has been most astonishing. He receives hundreds of letters every day from all parts of [illegible]ry from Democrats and [illegible]ns, full of enthusiasm for [illegible] President.

Southern d[illegible]me of them of consid[illegible]mmence, who are di[illegible] with the democratic ta[illegible]ey, declare to him that he w[illegible]re a strong support from de[illegible]tic protectionists of that [illegible]n should be secure the nomi[illegible]n for President at the [illegible] Cleveland's term, and t[illegible] will have a strong sout[illegible]owing in the Republican [illegible]n.

There is [illegible]n that Gov. McKinley is [illegible]ed with the situation in which [illegible] finds himself with relation [illegible]n his party, and believes that [illegible] next presidental election w[illegible] be a battle over the tariff, wit[illegible] great protection champion at [illegible] head of the Republican ticket.

When after Gov. McKinley had lost everything he had, and his wife's property was about to be sacrificed, a popular subscription was started to relieve him from his disastrous position. As is known, he declined this money and returned all that had been sent to him. The fact that since then every penny of his obligations has been relieved is not generally known.

A LETTER received from Denver from our "ex-Hired Man" J. F. Pribyl, states that he has got as far as that place on his road to New York, and that everything was smiling along gayly. In speaking of the present condition of the country as compared with the past, he says: "The only complaint I hear along the line is the cry of hard times." While eating dinner at Leadville, I heard two men speaking of the past and present condition of the working men in Colorado. 'Why' said one of the gentlemen, 'in the year of '79 I walked along a string of men one block long and could not get one man to work for [illegible]body demanded to be p[illegible] price for work, and [illegible] particular [illegible] kind of work they did. N[illegible]y 'aint so particular. Now there is a string of men many a block long looking for work. Cleveland altered the conditions of the working classes considerable." The above is too true, not only in Colorado, but throughout the whole United States Continuing, Mr. Pribyl says: "I shall stop off in Washington and call on Grover, and watch the Senate and Congress fight. I'll give them a few pointers on how to manage the affairs of the nation. I have helped to manage a NATION once and consequently know the thing should be done." He also desires to be remembered to his many friends in Logan.

PROFESSOR PAUL has an able and interesting letter in Saturdays Deseret News in which he strongly favors a union of the University and Agricultural College, on the grounds of economy and other reasons. The Professor also shows in plain and indisputable facts and figures why the union should take place at Logan. The more the public is enlightened as to the true condition of the situation, the more strongly is public sentiment in favor of that union taking place at Logan. In fact this city is the only place where the union could be effected, in justice to the tax payers of this Territory. Let the University come to Logan.

The democrats promised to release us from a "terrible burden" of custom "taxes," which we never have felt, says an exchange, but instead of this they have already diminished the income of our national treasury to the amount of $10,000,000 every month, have created already a deficiency of $60,000,000, and propose now to reduce the custom taxes, formerly paid by foreign nations into our treasury, to deprive millions of laborers of work and wages, and to load us all down with $200,000,000 of interest and bearing new loans and direct taxes, which will be a real burden.

THE WILSON bill is hated by both parties. It is sometimes called "a cross between tariff and free trade." Democrats hate it because of its tariff tendencies and Republicans despise it because of its free trade proclivities. Hated by one party and despised by the other it stands little show of becoming a law of the land.

THE MONTPELIER Post has taken a "change of venue" and is now published in Paris, Idaho, instead of Montpelier as heretofore. Paris is the county seat and Elinor Wallis considered had many advantages over its former place of publicatioa and a country paper needs every advantage it can get.

WE NOTICE by the Tribune that THE NATION editor has been honored by receiving the appointment of Treasurer of the Utah Press Association. Thanks, boys, for the honor and confidence thus shown. Is it necessary to give a bond? We're the treasurer, now where's the treasure?

CARLISLE FEELS very anxious about the condition of the treasury. If this "democratic prosperity" keeps up much longer he need have no cause to feel anxious as there will not be money enough in the treasury to worry anyone.

THE PROVO Dispatch suggests that THE NATION is in need of medicine. As usual that paper is mistaken. However if we were and wanted to dio we'd get the editor of the Dispatch to administer the dose.

IN ITS last issue the St Louis Humorist clipped an item from THE NATION and credited it to the Kaw's Mouth. As the Kaw's Mouth is one of the leading humorous papers of the country we let it pass.

IF SOME woman would invent a collar button which wouldn't fall under the bureau every time a man tried to put on his collar, she'd get 10,000 proposals the first week. Girls, it's worth trying.

We will give a subscription to one of the best papers published to any one who will bring in two cash yearly subscribers to the Eagle.—Kaysville Eagle.

Who authorized you to give away subscriptions to THE NATION?

AN EXCHANGE says there never was a democratic president who wore a beard. It may not be out of place to add there never will be another with or without a beard.

IT IS now said that protests against the Wilson bill are more numerous than were petitions for office during the first part of the administration. Good Lord!

EVIDENTLY QUEEN Lil is contemplating a damage suit against King Grover. Probably a breach of promise suit would be more in order.

THE REPUBLICAN party of Utah will give Hon. Jos. L. Rawlins full credit for all the good work he does in Congress for Utah.

GOVERNOR ALTGELD is taking lessons in dancing. Grover Cleveland should follow his example.

POSTMASTERS OUGHT to be good fighters. They lick a whole lot of postage stamps.

ANOTHER DAMPHOOL has been after our scalp. We still enjoy good health.

THE WILSON tariff bill is a tariff for a deficiency. It's democratic.

COUNTRY EDITORS have no fear of the income tax.

The Mid-Winter Fair!

The Mid-Winter Fair at San Francisco will soon be opened. The management have very carefully selected the best of the World's Fair exhibits so that those who were unfortunate in not seeing the Chicago Exposition will still have an opportunity to inspect the foreign exhibits at San Francisco. The Rio Grande Western railway in line with its usual progressive spirit will, in connection with the Southern Pacific company put in effect a low round trip rate during the existence of the Mid-Winter Fair. The Rio Grande Western, as you know, runs through to San Francisco without change both tourist and first-class Pullman Sleeping cars. Two Trains daily.

LOW RATES

Are still in effect to eastern points via the Rio Grande Western railway. Remember the Rio Grande Western is looted for the elegance of its equipment, its new coaches, its free chair cars, its tourists or colonist sleepers and its new and artistic Pullman Double Drawing Room Palace Sleeping cars which run through to Chicago without change. "Speed Safety and Comfort" is its well earned motto. Two main line fast express trains to the East daily.

NOTES OF THE NATION.

Henry Wight of Brigham City has been in Logan a few days.

Jacob Peterson, a young print of THE LOGAN NATION, was in town the fore part of this week.—Bugler.

Hon. A. E. Snow, superintend of the Brigham City Mercantile Institution, was in the county seat Thursday.—Paris Post.

Miss Vinnie Fishburn came down from Smithfield, Saturday morning, where she has been visiting during the past two weeks.—Bugler.

When the scalp is atrophied, or shiny-bald, no preparation will restore the hair; in all other cases, Hall's Hair renewer will start a growth.

Watt Lund, one of Salt Lake's best known "knights of the grip" is in Logan talking to our business men. Watt says business is quiet, but he gets his share of it.

The new paper to be started in Brigham City is expected to make its appearance in about ten days. It will be a lively paper and out and out Republican. Get a move on you, Tomson.

Mrs. W. S Lamoreaux is spending three or four weeks at her old home in Pocatello and during her absence Watt is a widow. He looks forlorn and forsaken and goes around town chewing gum and riding his bicycle, doing anything to kill time.

It is probably not the coldest weather you ever knew in your life; but that is how you feel just now, because past sufferings are soon forgotten, and because your blood needs the enriching, invigorating influence of Ayers Sarsaparilla—the Superior Medicine.

C. Capehart, representing the Plymouth Rock Pants company, has been in Logan several days longer than he expected and has taken many orders for clothing. His house is well known and he advertises in THE NATION. Is it any wonder then that he does a good business?

We acknowledge receipt of an invitation to a "Jolly Toe Party" given by the Y. L. M. I. A. of the First ward in the Brigham City Opera House last evening. Sorry we couldn't make connections, girls, but hope you all toed the mark, and got there with both feet.

The B. Y. College ball given in the Eccles-Howell hall Friday night was a social and financial success. Fully seventy-five couples were present and everything passed off pleasantly. The only draw-back was that the hall was too crowded, but this could not well have been avoided.

Thursday last two "bums" were arrested by Marshal McCollough and Policeman Crockett on suspicion of stealing some clothing from the Chicago Clothing store. They had their hearing in Police Justice Smith's court, where they waved examination and were bound over (in jail) to await the action of the grand jury. The goods were found in their possession and there appears to be no question but what they stole them. They have all appearances of being genuine straight "crooks" and will doubtless go to jail. Marshal McCollough and Policeman Crockett deserve much credit for the capture as it was a quick and shrewd one.

Miss Mamie Sweeten, Miss Ellie Willie, Messrs. Robert and George Sweeten of Mendon, Wm. Davis of Logan, and Lawyer O. W. Hansaker of this city, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Hansaker at Honeyville, Saturday and Sunday.—Brigham Bugler.

Ayer's Pills are constantly advancing in the estimation of those who use them. They improve the appetite, promote digestion, restore healthy action, and regulate every function. They are pleasant to take, gentle in their operation, and powerful in subduing disease.

John F. Pribyl has severed his connection with the LOGAN NATION and gone East, his late paper says to stay. We remember he went back once before from Utah, but ere long the borders of the Queen of the Mountains again contained the form of the humorous Jack. We'll bet a hickory nut to a bushel of carrots he'll show up here again.—Mt. Pleasant Pyramid. We won't take your bet. Jack is like all other sensible people who once lived in the East—after spending some time in Utah they are not satisfied with any other country. He went East to stay but we wouldn't be surprised to see him back again in a few months.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

A New Meeting House and a Post Office for College.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NATION.

A pleasant surprise was given Bishop C. O. Dunn of this place last Friday evening. Picnic of which all partook, singing and dancing were as usual enjoyed by those present of which there was a great number. This was one with others of the kind that have been had here of late.

We are expecting to build a new brick meeting house, the size of which is to be 25x45 feet. This in order that we may have room for our growing ward. The foundation rocks have already been hauled, and it is expected to commence work on the same in the spring.

During last summer a petition was forwarded by our people to the post office department at Washington, asking for the post office, and which through the assistence of Attorney W. W. Maughan and Utah's delegate Hon. J. L. Rawlins, has been favorably considered and such office named College has been established with James A. Anderson as postmaster.

VOL. 3. LOGAN, UTAH, FRIDAY, JANUARY 26, 1894. NO. 80.

JUDGE GOODWIN'S SPEECH

Was Listened to by 1200 People at the College.

THE LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF LIFE.

"So Conduct Yourself That the World Will Be Better Because you Have Lived in It."

The lecture of Judge Goodwin last Friday night was a fitting climax to the exercises of the day. The seating capacity of the large hall was filled long before the hour of commencing, there being fully 1,200 people in attendance.

Prof. Sanborn called Dr. Ormsby to the chair, who gave a neat speech of welcome; was pleased to announce the first on the program would be a song entitled: "Merry is the Greenwood" by Miss Little. The piece was rendered very creditably and seemed to be fully appreciated by the audience. The chairman then introduced "The distinguished Editor and Writer" Judge Goodwin of Salt Lake. The Gentleman received a generous reception; he spoke rather low but those who could hear were charmed by his eloquent address.

He said briefly: Ladies and gentlemen, I beg your indulgence in not being better prepared this evening; I have much to absorb my time and then as you know I am not a public lecturer by profession. Said, he did'nt mind talking to old people or to middle aged people, because they understand why things are not what they seem; but I am afraid of young men and young women, in a literary way, they are flush and have not much patience with old fossils who make mistakes. I am proud to be the first speaker in this new hall. I am glad to be here because this school is a revelation to me; and if anything that I can do or say, or if my presence in any way can help it, I will be grateful to do and to say it. My lecture tonight is a great deal like the earth was on the morning of the creation-without form and void.

A half a dozen persons may look upon the same scenery and each one will gain different impressions; one may only gain impressions sufficient to recognize the place if he should again see it; a second one may be fully occupied with the elevation of the mountains, the third, with the shrubs and plants; a fourth will study the rocks and the scenes which agas have chiseled there; the fifth, will observe the pictures, the lights and shades, strung about by the great artist; the sixth may behold some of the many things that may be seen; but if the scene is photographed all is taken; it will make clear the things which one saw, and the things which one failed to see; it will be the impressions made by the sun light; in this way we have a picture of the human mind in each man's character which is a photograph of the soul. As the days and nights advance and recede the soul shining out from that light results in a picture which is grand and beautiful which sometimes outshines the stars; this picture which shines out, for in many cases negatives are not prepared, makes that impression upon mankind that is called "character."

A comparision of two great men of a century ago, reveals one hailed as an intellectual giant; who could magnetize men by his eloquence, charm them by his presence; as a judge his influence over men was to that extent that he could persuade them against their wills to do as he directed; he was then admired by all who came in contact with him. The other man was slow of speech, unassuming, seldom smiled; nothing seemed to stamp him as great; nothing indicated that he had any more than medium attributes; few admired him; now after a century has past away—the one has dwindled into nothing, the other has grown into collossal proportions; all the nations of the earth bow down in praise and adoration before him. The reason for this is, the light, which occupied his attention, was unselfish, he sought higher things, his country absorbed his thoughts; his love of justice and sense of duty won for him his true place which he will continue to hold to the end of time; so strong was his fortitude that for his country he could give his life.

Two men may be nominated for office. They have equal attainments as far as a cursory glance would reveal; both have respectable standing in the business world. As time passes what a difference between them we sometimes observe. Why we have these reflections is, one begins to shine out clear before our soul's eye, while the other is dull. These pictures are forming around every man; they appear before the face of the business man as we watch him day by day; they arise from the countenance of the judge and take their station beside the aged. Men can learn lessons from the pictures of each other. They flash out of the face of the clergyman while he appeals unto men to live nobler lives, a nobleness is upon his face, a reflection of his character. We see upon the streets pictures that startle us; liquor is painted upon the face and upon the home of the drunkard; a picture is recorded in the face of the man who deceives his fellow man. The picture of the brave is painted, we see nations building monuments in honor and praise of them in all generations; men who have been burned at the stake; it may be years before the monument is raised; for new generations see pictures that the old nations could not see.

In Lincoln, the instincts of the people, saw a picture of his character, and chose him for their leader. Many of the great men of the nation were against him; but when the great struggle was upon the people, when there was mourning in every home and the critical hour was at hand, this man, care-worn as he was, was still at the helm. From his oratory, his diligence and patience, men began to understand from the flashes of his intellect, his character; when the second lenaugural address was made and they found that his duty could not be shaken; when they saw the tenderness of his soul, still they did not know the man but his greatness revealed itself unto them; a collossal figure rose before their eyes. Then the people realized why he was president and that the nation had made no mistake in its choice; and from his time to the present as men better and better understand his nature, more is his memory cherished.

Victor Hugo, Napoleon, Wellington and Socrates were eulogised by the speaker, showing the influence each made upon his country and upon the world.

Nations have characters like men. On the flag of Great Britian is painted a picture of a thousand years, it reflects a thousand victories.

The Judge then gave a brief history of the different nations of the earth in reference to character.

Character does not depend upon learning, nevertheless it is a splendid thing; let every young man and young lady drink deeply as possible; see to it that educational influences are placed around you; keep watch of yourself, your life is a trust, your duties are to your country and to the world. So conduct yourself that the world will be better because you have lived.

In the life of the Great Master what is it calls forth the greatest admiration? Was it the magic which touched the cheek and caused it to grow rosy? Was it because the blind were made to see and the lame to walk? Was it because His command rebuked the angry waves? Or, that silent dust came forth when the sepulcher was broken? Rather was it not the burdens that were placed upon Him, that immortilize His name? So bitter being His anguish that He would say, "Father if possible let the cup fall from me, but Thy will be done, not mine." This was His triumphal hour, His triumph among mankind. Despite the fear, the awful suffering, He performed his duty even unto death. Strong enough to bear the cross as the hour of trial drew high, has painted a picture for him that will ever be known; this picture teaches each one to work his daily trust.

The necessities of this life are upon us, the pictures of each will be different; they will have their lights and shades. The life of each one should be a picture by which the world may be blest. Years come and go, generations pass away, myriads rise and die, pictures are painted, lighted by lines of pleasure and shaded with streaks and clouds; the characters of some have become oblivious, their lights have gone out, silence reigns o'er the lives they led; while the pictures of others are ever brightening; their memory is glowing in every heart, time has garnished their tombs and movements everlasting are reared to the pictures they have made, to the deeds they have performed, to the character they have moulded.

A hearty round of applause was given Judge Goodwin for his able address.

On motion of A. G. Barber a vote of thanks was tendered to the Judge and the meeting adjourned.

NEWSPAPER FOR BRIGHAM

The Eastern Branch of the Great Canal to Build.

BOX ELDER CO. WANTS A SUGAR FACTORY

The Fire Department Called to 1 Things not Like They Use —Other Items.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NATION:

There appears to be little or no doubt that we will have another newspaper in Brigham City soon; the first number to be published in a few weeks.

We have had a number of deaths in Brigham City lately among which was that of Patriarch D. M. Burbanks who was buried last Monday. Apostle Lorenzo Snow attended and spoke at the funeral services. There is still considerable sickness.

Several births have been recorded lately, and we have had a few weddings. Mr. Brigham Boden is the last to venture on the matrimonial sea by taking to himself a comforter and helpmeet. We understand Mr. Boden has bought a residence in the capital and will move there shortly. Our best wishes go with the newly married couple.

The Third warders are having a theatrical performance [illegible] house to night for the benefit of the Young Men's library. Some of our old time performers are in it." "Dot", the Miser's daughter" is the attraction. The [illegible] has been thoroughly rehearsed and the performers are all up.

We are having our [illegible] suits too. There was a time when we could settle our differences without going to law, without money and without price. Perhaps when the bill passes prevailing for a lawyers' lien, we may be induced to return to our old practice, which is preeminently the best plan, and a saving of time, temper and talent.

When in 1891, it was predicted that Utah would yet be Republican it was a source of merriment to many an office-seeker and wise Eleck of an opposite political faith, but the election of a legislature consisting of 23 Republicans to 13 democrats has now transfered the wreathes of smiles from the countenances of the democrats to those of their political opponents.

Our citizens are much elated with the prospects of a branch of the Bear River canal being brought out on this side of the river; and then with all the thousands of acres of land lying on each side of the Bear under proper cultivation, with a sugar factory located about five miles northwest of Brigham, with our woolen factory running at nearly or its full capacity, with our already extensive fruit growing interests increased, and with Brigham City as the center of trade and attraction for the county, Box Elder will be one of the most prosperous and desirable counties in the Territory.

A fire broke out about 9:30 tonight in the basement of the Co-op store. The alarm was given, and the fire brigade was promptly on the ground, and after some little delay in coupling the hose, soon had the water playing on the fiery fiend, and once more the boys won for themselves the admiration of the very large crowd that had gathered. At one time the scene was almost appalling. To watch the unavoidable dashing and witness the fire eating its way under that magnificent building awakened a feeling of suspense and anxiety that beggars description. But the boys worked with a will and [illegible] will be charged.

[illegible] nination which did them credit, and they have had a little more drilling and have learned who shall do the talking at such times, and to whom to listen, they will be equal if not superior to any similar organization in Utah.

Our democratic friends have nothing to say in favor of Uncle Grover. His action in hauling down the Stars and Stripes at Honolulu, his way of making appointments, his overriding the law in the Chinese and other questions, his witholding from congress certain instructions to Willis, and the apparant desire of each democratic congressman to get nearly everything on the free list excepting articles raised or manufactured in his own section, is producing a marked change in the minds of thinking men, who have for years seen the necessity of protection, home industries, a market for the farmer, and employment for the thousands of young boys just budding into manhood, as well as the hundreds of heads of families in a still worse condition. They are also beginning to remember that in school, they used to learn that this is land of liberty, that America is for Americans, and that our doctrine to Europeans has been "hands off" the interests of anything belonging to the western continent.

A rose would smell just as fragrant if called by any other name, therefore we care not for the name Republican or democrat, but we do care for the principles taught by the Revolutionary fathers, the framers of our Constitution, and builders of our government, including Thos. Jefferson and many others of his political faith, who in those days were called Republicans; principles taught by inspired men of our own acquaintance, principles that have been tried, proven to be, without exception, a general benefit to the large majority of the poor and laboring classes of this great and glorious, and God favored land. Change the name of parties if you please, but don't change the principles. Change the name of the ship and of the compas if you like. Change your captain and mates if necessary, but don't let go your reckonings.

Yours truly,
JAUNTER.
BRIGHAM CITY, Jan. 20, 1894.

Attorney J. T. Hammond went to Salt Lake this morning. He is looking after Logan's end of the business in the union affair.

A surprise was given ex-Chief Knowles by the firemen at their hall Tuesday evening. Mr. Knowles was presented with a beautiful plush rocking chair, as a token of esteem. That chair will come in handy. Joe can sit in it and rock while weighing out meat.

Arrangements have been completed for a "reunion" of the Providence and Meudon Brass Bands, Tuesday the 30. Both bands will serenade Logan, Providence and perhaps Millville, during the afternoon. About six o'clock members of both bands, their wives and sweethearts will partake of a sumptuous feast, at Providence meeting house, consisting of the best the season affords. A conjoint concert will then follow, and an excellent program, consisting of songs, recitations, solos, sketches, band selections, etc., will be carried out. After the concert a dance will be given, in which two good string bands will furnish the music. A general invitation to the concert and ball is extended the public, and an admission fee of 25 cents will be charged.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

J. A. Farley one of our coal men, went to Ogden Wednesday morning on business.

Corbett knocked out Mitchell yesterday in the third round. Time, nine minutes.

The U. O. was closed Wednesday for stock taking. Their business is in a flourishing condition.

Ex-Sheriff Joe Jones of Bear Lake county is still in Logan. Must be some reason for this extended visit. We'll have to look into it.

C. Bailey of Schuyler, one of Nebraska's good citizens and a staunch Republican, is in the city buying up cattle and hogs for the eastern market.

Joseph A. West, the leading real estate dealer and all round trader of Cache county, is in Salt Lake for a few days showing the people of that village how to do business.

"Driven from Home," the play which was repeated at request of many citizens, by the Fourth Ward Dramatic association, will be presented at Hyde Park tomorrow, Saturday night. It is hoped a good house will greet them.

Tonight a grand bow party will be given in Millville to which a general invitation is extended the people of Logan and surrounding settlements. We understand the ladies will furnish the gentlemen with all the supper they have any use for and doubtless all present will have a nice time.

As two young fellows from Logan were going to Hyrum Wednesday night the shafts pulled out of their cutter and for a time it looked as though they would not make connections. But they were determined to go to the masquerade so tied on the shafts with the harness and though somewhat delayed "got there just the same."

Mr. and Mrs. John Burns entertained about twenty of their friends at their beautiful home in the Sixth ward Wednesday evening. Card playing, singing, recitations, etc, formed the program and an excellent lunch served to make the time pass pleasantly. The guests dispersed at a very late hour, voting Mr. and Mrs. Burns as the best of entertainers.

On the first page of this issue we give a synopsis of the lecture delivered at the Agricultural College Friday evening on "Character" by Judge Goodwin. Our intention was to print the lecture in full, but our reporter found it impossible to catch every word because the Judge occasionally spoke somewhat low. However the report is well worth reading. The lecture was a beautiful one.

There is a young fellow in Logan who is too fond of a certain way of making "mashes." It's all right unless carried to excess, as it was in Hyrum Wednesday night. Quite a number of the girls thought he was "stuck" on them in particular and were telling their lady friends how he squeezed their hands, and come to find out he had treated them all alike, thus causing jealousy all round. By request of the ladies we withhold all names.

Nearly forty young people from Logan, also many from other places, attended the masquerade ball given in Hyrum Wednesday evening. All were warmly received by the good people of Hyrum and the dance was conducted in a most orderly manner, everything passing off satisfactory. There where probably seventy-five couples in attendance. Many characters were represented, some of them very good. One thing which should not have been done was allowing those not in mask, (of which there was quite a number) to dance before the hour of unmasking.

STEAM LAUNDRY SURE!

A Gentleman From Illinois to Start One Soon.

ALL HE ASKS IS THE PEOPLE'S PATRONAGE.

Cache Valley Can Surely Suport a Laundry—The Gentleman Will be Here in a Few Days.

THE NATION is under many obligations to Postmaster Jed Blair and Assistant Lou Ballif for information and letters relative to a new steam laundry which is soon to be started in Logan.

Some time ago we gave our readers information as to a steam laundry which an Illinois gentleman was thinking of starting here, and it all came direct from letters written by him. For some cause, however, the scheme failed to materalize and the plant was located at another point.

This time it will doubtless be made a go, as every indication is that the party means business. For some time our local postmaster has been in correspondence with the prospective laundry man and has answered his many questions, which have been varied, evidently satisfactory. We quote from his letters direct and our readers can judge for themselves: "Now, I mean business in locating in Logan, I need no help financially. I have plenty of means to put in my own plant and start it running. All I can ask the people of Logan to do is to give me their patronage providing my work is good enough. I shall put in a complete plant of the latest improved, new machinery. Good water, I understand you have, but no gas, which I regret as gas is a very convenient fuel for laundry purposes."

Then follows a number of questions as to cost of different materials, help, rent, etc.

In his last letter, received just the other day, the gentleman writes: "Your esteemed favor received. I just returned from Chicago where I went to make final arrangements about machinery. I shall be in Logan as I stated in a previous letter about Feb. 1st. I find upon investigation of railroad rates that my expenses in getting the plant to Logan are going to be very great; in fact on account of competition, could ship to the Pacific Coast for about one-half of what freight will be to Logan, all of which you see tends to detract settlers from Utah further west. I have been figuring on a pretty good sized plant for a town the size of Logan and shall put in a complete plant, so that I will be able to do all kinds of work. I am doing this on the belief that what I have heard about Logan being a good, wide awake town and furnishing enough work to start a laundry going, is correct."

The gentleman has a favorite and valuable mare he would like very much to bring with him, provided horses were worth very much at Logan.

Well, there is no use of him bringing any horses here, as we have many of the finest in the country and they can be purchasd cheap, too.

The people of Logan and the entire valley will be glad to see a good steam laundry located here and they will also support it properly. Aside from Logan there is the entire valley to draw from and we believe will prove a paying investment from the start.

The gentleman's name is E. S. Nowotny and he writes from Odell, Ill.

I will keep at my office a complete file of all Bills introduced in the present Legislature Assembly and invite any one feeling interested in any measure to call and look it over.
J. T. HAMMOND.

IT'S TIME TO MOVE.

THE FIGHT is on. It is now time for every citizen of Cache county and Northern Utah, and all others who have the interest of the taxpayers of this Territory at heart, to "pull off their coats, roll up their sleeves and jump in." There is not much doubt but what a union of the Agricultural College and the University will be made. At last reports the principal question to be decided is that of location. Our Legislators feel more free in expressing themselves upon this subject than heretofore, although most of them do not care to go on record at present.

As the fight is understood to be made principally or solely in the interest of education and economy, Logan is far in the lead, as both are greatly in her favor. However, we cannot afford to rest on our oars, as the question confronting us is one of the utmost importance, and it must be squarely met and fairly fought. There are many good and able men in Logan and Cache county and our outside friends and sympathizers are many, but we must work and watch continually.

The Legislature has been here and inspected the Agricultural College and knows now what it is. They were not only favorably impressed, but were surprised and delighted with what they saw and a most favorable impression was made.

Once again we warn our people to be on their guard, to whet their steel and put on their armor, for they have a big and powerful enemy to fight. Victory will be our reward if the fight is properly made, as it doubtless will be. Some of our best men should be sent to Salt Lake at once and kept there for a while. In speaking of the matter of union and location the Deseret News has this to say:

Today a News representative interviewed a number of members of both houses on the question of uniting the University and Agricultural College. There is less reticence upon the subject than there has heretofore been, and it has been so much discussed among members that their views upon it are becoming crystalized, and many of them no longer hesitate to state their attitudes. It is conceded by nearly all of them that union is a foregone conclusion. Only one member is known to be opposed to uniting the two institutions, while many are emphatically in favor of it, and others who have not yet definitely taken that position lean towards it.

The public may dismiss any doubt about the union taking place, but there is a contest on for the location. Only three sites so far have been prominently mentioned, viz., some point between Ogden and Salt Lake, perhaps in Bountiful, a strip off the west side of the Fort Douglas reservation, and the present Agricultural College at Logan. The first site would be desirable because of its being central, easily accessible from all parts of the Territory, and on the line of transcontinental travel, and for the further reason that plenty of land could be obtained for the purposes of the agricultural department, which would be rich, well watered, and in an average climate for this inter-mountain region. Is it urged that an experiment station should by all means have an average climate of the region which it is designed to benefit.

The Fort Douglas reservation site has every argument in its favor as a location for a great university, except possible scarcity of land and water for irrigation. Even these two requisites, and both may be obtained if Congress will be sufficiently generous, and it will receive more support from all the first named sites, among members of the assembly.

But it is not to be denied that a strong sentiment exists among members of the assembly at the present time in favor of having the union take place at Logan. The principal argument in favor of this proposition is economy. It is argued that the present Agricultural College plant can accommodate all the students of the University, with only slight expenditures for any needed increase in the capacity of buildings, and in the faculty. The contest on this question is one for location from now on.

THE WILSON TARIFF BILL.

The Wilson tariff bill is a "cowardly make shift," if there ever was one, says the Alamosa Independent-Journal.

If protection is unconstitutional and a fraud then it should be discarded as a controlling principle or as any part of the rule used in laying a tariff. The Wilson bill merely transfers the benefits of protection to another class of beneficiaries and these not the wage workers. To the extent that raw materials will be imported our own producers of raw materials, whether employers or employees will be injured. Canadians and Nova Scotians will get the benefit instead of people of Michigan, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

The wool growers of the United States will suffer and the sheep business will become more profitable in Australia. It is not certain that clothes will be any cheaper, but it is certain that many people will have a great deal less money to buy clothes with.

It is not probable that the reduction in wool will less the price of clothing as much as ten per cent. and it is sure that wages will be reduced twenty-five per cent. or more. If there is any gain in that kind of a transaction, we fail to see it.

The reduction in the tariff on cheap wines is making California wine growers roar.

The cross-roads committee has the power, but what they don't know about national industries, would be a great possession for a statesman. At least one very clear proposition seems to be incomprehensible to them, namely, that if the British manufacturers of all sorts are anticipating a rich harvest from the greatly increased sale of goods in the United States, and the Canadian lumber interests are beginning to boom and the coal of Novis Scotia is to take the New England market and the New York and coast market generally, and potatoes from the same region are to flood the same market, and the wool of Australia supplant that heretofore produced by our own farmers, that some of our own people will be out of a job.

If these foreigners can beat us in our own market how are we to take foreign markets from them? And what are these people, who are thrown out by the introduction of foreign wares and raw materials to do for a living?

The reason so many are out of employment at the present time is that the market will not take the products they would turn out if at work. A market is the result of the desire and ability of a community to buy. When wages are cut down the desire may remain but the ability to buy is lessened and the market is just by as much diminished, and if that market is taken even in part only by foreign products, the part left for native producers is still further diminished.

Just how American labor is to be benefitted by the Wilson tariff it is hard to see, although, it is plain that foreign labor will reap a harvest.

Statesmanship is usually concerned with improving the condition of home people, but this administration seems to be working in the interest of anybody except Americans.

THE PROVO Enquirer thinks the Agricultural College professors receive too high a salary for their services. We beg to remind the Enquirer that it is mistaken. Each teacher at the College is a professor in his or her line, having graduated specially as such and thoroughly understanding their work. While we do not believe in extravagance yet we contend that school teachers above all others should be well paid for their work and especially college professors as this way of securing cheap teachers is the worst kind of false economy. As to the Brigham Young Academy getting just as good talent as the Agricultural College, and for one-third the money, both statements are misleading. We do not desire to shatter Provo's dream of delight, but certainly will see that our professors are not misrepresented. Taken all in all there is no better class of professors in the west than those found at the Agricultural College, and they do not receive three times the salary that the B. Y. Academy professors do, either. The Enquirer again is mistaken as to the attendance at the College. Instead of having an attendance of but 200 students the enrollment exceeds 300, and there are no primary students either. Again, it should be remembered that the Government pays a big part of the expenses for the carrying on of the Agricultural College, making the burden that much lighter for the taxpayers of the Territory.

EDITORS ARE not always the slowest people in the world to learn and at always the last to acknowledge the errors of their ways and promise to reform. The editor of an eastern exchange says: "The editor of this paper pleads guilty to having committed the folly of voting the democratic ticket [illegible] years, but has never sought office at the hands of that or any other political party. Nearly everybody at some time or other commits some blunder, and ours was the voting of the democratic ticket on a few occasions; and if God and our friends will pardon us for it we shall never—no, never—do so again. In fact we are doing all we can to atone for the mistake."

AN EXCHANGE SAYS: "To run a newspaper without occasionally having an item that is untrue, or give offense, is like running a railroad without having accidents. It can't be done. No man in this world is so likely to be imposed upon as is the editor of a newspaper. If, therefore, you find yourself aggrieved by a statement in your home paper, bear this in mind. "Don't fly off the handle," but go to the editor for correction, and take our word for it nine times out of ten, if your statement is correct, you will be received like a gentleman and the correction will be made with pleasure."

ALTHOUGH THERE is some difference of opinon as to the propriety of introducing the bill for the College and University at present, also the manner in which it was introduced, there is no difference of opinion as to the fight which we should make. Both economy and the interest of education loudly proclaim that the interests of Utah would be better served by the union taking place in Logan and such being the case we will gladly welcome the University to Logan.

THE OGDEN Sun thinks the arguments which have been used between President Sanborn of the Agricultural College and the University professors has not been quite so mild as it should have been. In part this is true. It is true of some of the University professors, but is not true of President Sanborn, as every one of his letters has been [illegible] gentlemanly and each of his opponents has been treated with the outmost consideration.

AT LAST a scheme has been discovered whereby hard times may be compelled to vanish into thin air. It is this: If the people throughout the United States would pay what they owe the newspapers it would place in additional circulation the sum of $35,287,748.83, as the editors would immediately use the money to pay up their own debts. It certainly is a good plan and worth trying. [illegible] with THE NATION.

WE [illegible] there was a limit to all things except perhaps a poker game, and an editors patience, but evidently there is not, for it is said that woman's sleeves are to be made larger than they now are. If this thing goes on much longer Congress will be obliged to take hold of the matter, for some of the sleeves already are larger than the dresses.

LOGAN NEEDS a thoroughly organized and active Chamber of Commerce about as badly as she needs anything. Business men, the future of this city rests with you. It can be made one of the greatest manufacturing cities in the country if you will have it so. What are you going to do about it?

Nebeker is very proud of his union bill in which the University and Agricultural College are interested, and says that it is the most important bill yet presented. [illegible]

It is a very important bill. Cache and [illegible] counties will also duly appreciate Nebeker's work if things come our way, as they doubtless will.

THE [illegible] of the earth is 5,757,000,000,000,000,000,000, or five sextillions, seven hundred and fifty seven quintillions of [illegible] you don't want to take this word for it go and lift it yourself.

A MAN was arrested in Arizona the other day for making a balloon ascension without a license. Evidently the Arizonians are a very wicked set, as they object to a man going heavenward even in a balloon.

AN EASTERN doctor has decided that hay fever is caused by kissing grass widows. As hay fever is not a very dangerous disease we don't presume grass widows will be at a discount on that account.

THE Kaw's Mouth wants to know why it is that so many persons fail to realize when they are making sprightly idiots of themselves. We presume it is because they are such big fools already.

FREE COINAGE of silver and protection to American industries would bring as much prosperity as anyone could ask. It's the banner for the Republican party.

THERE IS one source of revenge left for the editor who fails to satisfy his delinquent subscribers and the unappreciative public. He can write a book.

MARY HAD a little lamb
Which was her joy and pride.
But when it heard wool was coming in free,
It laid right down and died.

IF THE five minute speech was made a permanent rule in Congress Grandma Lease would never want to run for the office of congressman.

LITTLE DROPS of water,
Little grains of sand,
Enable our milk and grocery men,
To live off the fat of the land.

IT TAKES more than words of encouragement and hard work to run a newspaper. Our delinquent subscribers please take notice.

WHEN IN sleighriding the lady takes the reins from the gentleman, it is indeed a stupid man who can not take the hint.

AN EXCHANGE says more money is needed. We should say it was. Every newspaper man will testify to that.

THE MAN who doesn't know much is always the most anxious to bore you with what little he does know.

IF RAW material was admitted free a great many more fools would be imported into this country.

A COLD day—when the thermometer's down below zero.

THE PRINCE IS DEAD.

A room in the palace is shut: The king
And the queen are sitting in black.
All day weeping servants will run and bring,
At the door of the queen will lack
All things, and the eyes of the king will swim
With tears which must not be shed,
But will make all the air float dark and dim,
As he looks at each gold and silver toy,
And thinks how it gladdened the royal boy,
And dumbly writhes while the courtiers read
How all the nations his sorrow heed.
The prince is dead.

The hut has a door, but the hinge is weak,
And today the wind blows in back;
There are two sitting there who do not speak;
They have begged a few rags of black;
They are hard at work, though their eyes are wet
With tears that must not be shed;
They dare not look where the cradle is set;
They hate the sunbeam which plays on the floor,
But will make the baby laugh out no more;
They feel as if they were turning to stone;
They wish the neighbors would leave them alone.

—Helen Hunt Jackson.

JUDGE CEPHAS.

Happening soon after the close of the war to ride along the road past "Old Pop Castle," I observed a large and excited concourse of colored people standing under the famous oak at that place. Upon approaching and making inquiry I learned that Uncle Cephas—now Squire Bolden—who, along with some others of his race, had recently been appointed magistrate, was about to hold his first court.

Elbowing my way through the dense crowd till I reached and mounted one of the gnarled roots of the oak, I was enabled to overlook the sea of heads and survey the court. On the west corner of a very unsteady chuck frame was perched the presiding magistrate, his ebony forehead, which bowed back without limit over his ball pate, covered with an appropriate frown. The rest of the frame held the six jurymen, who leaned against or sat upon it according to each one's confidence in its stability. The prisoner, a vagabondish but harmless looking man, on whose crow black face fright was imprinted in an ashy cast, was wrapped up in ropes and placed in the middle of the chuck frame for safe keeping.

All had scarcely gained position and taken in the surroundings when the court opened.

"De court am now adjurned on will perceed to bizness," cried Uncle Cephas in a loud voice as he removed his hat and dropped it on the ground. "Let whosomedever gyit pussecute dis pusson hyere in de shuck frame now speak up or frever bole his peace!" he continued with solemnity.

A young mulatto, the smartness of whose dress culminated in a highly glazed paper collar, slowly arose from one of the oak roots, cleared his throat in the most approved legal fashion and announced that he had been engaged to conduct the prosecution.

"Well den, shoot, Luke, er give up de gun," exclaimed the court after the counsel had wasted a good while fumblinr through his pockets in a perfunctory manner.

"Mister Magistrate en genermen ob de jury," began the prosecutor after this warning, "you am dissembled tergedder hyere dis pulity day under dis blue sky and tree green leaves to deform one ob de highes' juties er freemuns en feller citizens."

"De genermuns better not take quite sich er big chip, en chop er I'l' closeter to de line," put in the court.

"You am dissembled tergedder," continued the counsel, in no wise abashed, "hyere to see dat ez pussun dat needs justice wen's anybody in de smoke er my whole intelligence gits hit, en gits er plenny ob it, heaped up, sheken down, squached in en runnin ober. En ef—ef de jury didn' 'nquire dat some confusion must perceed outn de moot ob de pusscuter, ev'y word dat would be necessary would be, 'Hyere's Nickydemus en dat's de lim'er grapevine,'" pointing to a stout grapevine which lay on the frame near the magistrate. "Ev'body knows he's done broke ev'y law dat been made since day fust started to makin laws, sides all sights en stacks un um dat nebber al been made. He's broke um clean'ds way, en clean 'cross ways, en broke um slopercider, en broke um puppendicker, uppendicker, downadicker, en rum'endicker twel he's nately wo' 'um out to er frazzle.

"But es de law do inquire some confusions to perceed fum de mout' er de pusscuttin lyyer, I will perceed. Fustly, who is dat in de shukk frame? Nickydemus Waycatch! What is he accused ob? Ev'thing in God Ermighty's worl 'cep'n one thang, en dat is doin right. Eben de bigris' lier 'twixt Roanoke en Tar river never excused him er doin dat.

"Who'll come to yer house en holler tull he'll make yer walk two miles from yer work en nebbe wade de crick, en den des want to borry 5 cents? Who e'n gin er thoush. reasons why yer mus' len him er dollar, en den turn roun en gin ten thousan, w'y he ca' pay it? Who e'n make de bigris' promus en de littles' kerformence in de United States? Who e'n outargyfy Daniel Webster hisself when he wants to git holt er yer thengs, en den outargyfy him ergin when yer tries to bre'k dat holt?

"Who is de lexis', lyinist, eatinis', outlandishis', worryinis' nigger awn dis side ob de river? Who aggyrates en 'starbs de neighborhood till dey don' know dar heels from dar head? Ergin I axes yer who owes ev'body in twelb miles er dis place er furder ef he ranges furder? Who e'n looks into yer min en tell ter minute how lawng it takes yer furgit dat lies 25 cents he borrid, en den step right up en borry er nudder one? Nickydemus! En now who ken bes'par'd de bes en missed de less? Nickydemus!"

The magistrate, who for some time had been extremely busy trimming the knots from the grapevine with his pocketknife and twisting it into suppleness, now paused and delivered the following charge:

"Gentlemuns ob de jury, you's hyeard enough to hang er whole cuppen (cowpen) full er niggers. En all I'm got to say is dat pullin Fodder Time putnigh nyere en dis is er mighty good chance to git ridder Nickydemus."

"Gentlemuns ob de jury, is yer egreed?" demanded Squire Bolden.

"We am, sah," came in dignified tones from the frame.

"What is de wordick?" solemnly demanded Uncle Cephas.

"De wordick, sah, am it nebber won' do to let slip dis chance er gittin ridder Nickydemus," was the reply.

"Stan up, pris'ner," was the superfluous order of the magistrate to the convict, who arose and shuffling up from the first. "You's done pleamy harm in dis worl' for one nigger; en 'sides you's had er fa' trial. Yo' yer feller citizens. Now, it's de judgment er dis court dat yer be hung to de biggis' lim' awn Pop Castle oak widder grapevine, case t'ud be bad luck to use er rope after it been 'bout dead folks, en dat de jury is debbytised to do de hangin."

"Hold on!" I shouted, thoroughly aroused by the groans of the prisoner and the screams of his wife and children.

"Do you know that you are about to deprive a human being of life against law and justice? Why, not even a witness has appeared against him. Mind what you do!"

"De genterman in sto' close," replied the magistrate sternly, "will please don't bodder de exscusionments er dis hyere court. De chac'ter or Nickydemus Waggstaff is knowed fer as de train goes, ef not ef 11' furder. De whole yearth en ev'thing in it b'ars witness ergin him. Gentermuns, do yer jury."

While I was struggling desperately to force my way through the throng and reach the spot, the ropes were stripped from the prisoner, a slip noose in the grapevine thrown around his neck, and he was dragged away to the designated spot. One end of the vine weighted with a small stone was thrown over a huge limb. The jury seized it as it fell and pulled with might and main. The doomed man rose, wildly kicking and struggling against the background of blue sky. He was already several feet in the air when a hitch occurred. The jury gave a jerk. With a snap the grapevine broke, piling them in a heap on the ground. In an instant Nicodemus was making for the woods, descending the hill 20 feet at a bound, with half the grapevine standing out straight behind him, and the whole crowd, Uncle Cephas in the van, in headlong pursuit.

Before 100 yards were covered it was clear that Pop Castle would witness no hanging that day, and in half an hour the breathless, baffled crowd was back again seeking what consolation the cool spring water could afford.

Whether it was an accidental break in the grapevine or whether the shrewd old man while trimming and "soopin" gave it a nick it was impossible to say, although there was plainly a twinkle in Uncle Ceph's eye when his gaze met mine on his return from the chase.—David Dodge in Kate Field's Washington.

NOTES OF THE NATION.

Diptheria has again broken out at Blacksmith Fork. It is hoped it will be checked in its incipiency so as not to gain any foothold in the valley.

When the scalp is atrophied, or shiny-bald, no preparation will restore the hair; in all other cases, Hall's Hair renewer will start a growth.

The floor of the Eccles Howell hall should be scraped and put in better shape than it was the other night. This done it will be one of the finest hall rooms in the country.

Some time ago some Salt Lake parties opened up a store in Logan. They did not advertise in THE NATION. Result; They did not do a good business and have now left town. Do you business men see the moral to this story?

The "grip" has evidently struck several young people in this city. It grabs hold of 'em, keeps them in bed for a day or two, until it about wears them out, and then goes off seeking pastures anew. It is by no means a pleasant companion.

It is probably not the coldest weather you ever knew in your life; but that is how you feel just now, because past sufferings are soon forgotten, and because your blood needs the enriching, invigorating influence of Ayers Sarsaparilla—the Superior Medicine.

The regular monthly social to be given at the Agricultural College takes place one week from tomorrow, Saturday the 3rd proximo. As these socials are always very enjoyable it is needless to say all who attend will have a very pleasant time. Invitations will be issued soon.

Mon. Moses Thatcher and wife of Logan expect to leave this city tonight for California where they intend to remain two months. The trip is taken with a view mainly for the benefit of Mr. Thatcher's health which is now improving, but a complete restoration of which is hoped will follow a change of climate.—Tuesday's News.

Nearly eighty couples attended the social given in the Eccles-Howell hall by the officers of the Fourth Ward Sunday school, Friday evening, crowding the hall until dancing was somewhat inconvenient. With that exception everything passed off to the satisfaction of all present. Miss Smith makes a better floor manager than does Joe Knowles.

Col. M. M. Staigh one of Salt Lake's leading attorneys, is among those sensible men who think the Agricultural College should remain exactly where it is. He came up with the Legislature and remained one day, the guest of Attorney V. Rapp. The gentlemen favored us with a call and we regret very much we were not in to receive them.

Alf Budge of Paris, one of the leading attorneys of Southern Idaho, a staunch Republican is spending a few days in Logan on legal business, and it is whispered spends part of his spare time with the ladies. Mr. Budge informs us that the Republicans in Bear Lake county are thoroughly organized and in perfect working order and will sweep everything before them at the next election. That's good news. The Republicans of Cache county can do the same thing if they properly organize and carry on the fight as they should.

JAPANESE brides are compelled to howl lustily before their wedding to prove they are happy. It's altogether different in this country. Here the groom is compelled to howl most lustily after his marriage to prove that he is unhappy.

Ayer's Pills are constantly advancing in the estimation of those who use them. They improve the appetite, promote digestion, restore healthy action, and regulate every function. They are pleasant to take, gentle in their operation, and powerful in subduing disease.

Edward West came nearly getting caught by the grip this week. He kept rather low for a day or two, but finally concluded the weather was too pleasant and that there was too much amusement going on to make a success of getting sick. He is now around as usual.

Some time ago THE NATION suggested that the city council purchase a span of horses to be used on the chemical. This suggestion has been acted upon by the present council. The last day or two they have been trying horses with a view to purchasing. It is all foolishness to expect a few men to drag a chemical weighing more than 3000 pounds. With a good team the firemen can get to a fire in a very short time and every minute counts.

LOGAN AND CACHE.

My Logan home, my peaceful home!
The dearest spot and best,
My valley home, Cache Valley home!
In native's grandeur dressed;
Thy mount-in streams in beauty rare,
Thy canyon scenes and landscapes fair,
Broad acres rich and buoyant air,
Make thee a spot most blest.

For a lively, thrifty, homelike town,
Logan, there's none leads thee;
Earth's cities grand of great renown,
Have no such charms for me.
Thy sons and maids—thy pride and joy
By industry their time employ,
And homes of peace without alloy,
They have reared in thee.

Farms, homes and towns cover our land,
Our lovely hill-bound Cache;
The Temple walls here meekly stand,
Sentry grand in Cache!
Our colleges and schools the best,
Train students from all o'er the west;
With clearer minds they learn with zest
Here in the vale of Cache.

Our pleasant home has been a home
For less than two score years;
I honor them that here to come
As sturdy pioneers,
Canals to make, Indians to fight,
The soil to tame, while frost did blight.
They builded well, behold the sight—
A score of towns appear.

Of mountain vales in art or song,
Or nature's fond caress,
Beautiful Cache should head the throng,
And all her peace confess,
Some twenty villes her circling crown,
Adore, neath lofty peaks of stone;
Those stones hold wealth untold, unknown,
Which yet her sons will bless.

My busy, happy town so dear!
My own my Logan home!
Thy children's hearts though far or near
Turn fondly to their home.
A life and joy and spirit sweet,
E'en strangers feel when here they meet—
'Tis God has blessed thy mountain seat,
CACHE VALLEY—LOGAN—HOME!

ROYAL PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY.

Jacob Spori Has the Agency For This Vicinity.

We take pleasure in giving notice unto our many readers that recently a work has been published which justly deserves the attention of every one who is interested in the study of history and geography, and the various pictures that attract the eyes of the traveler. With immense expenses the publishers of the Royal Photograph Gallery have sent artists all over the globe to get photographs of the curious, the beautiful and the wonderful; and now they present in about 1000 splendid photographs to the American people these interesting sceneries. Perusing this magnificent volume a person can right at home see in picture what the moneyed tourist spends thousands of dollars to behold. The introduction and explanations in the "Gallery" are from Dr. John Clark Ridpath's unsurpassed pen.

Mr. Jacob Spori was so happy as to secure the agency for this splendid book, and will some day call at your home to show this excellent work which is indeed a rare gift for our youth into whose hands we want to lay only the best products in pictures and print.

The construction of this work cost several hundred thousand dollars, and still the price is remarkably low, since the book will sell by the millions of copies. A special feature in this Gallery are the large photographs of the Temple Block in Salt Lake City, and the recently discovered Monarch's cave in Utah. †

VOL. 3. LOGAN, UTAH, TUESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1894. NO. 81.

IN AMERICA'S GREAT CITY.

Wonders, Amusements and Misery There Abound.

PEOPLE STARVING TO DEATH DAILY.

Buildings Covered With Silver—Unjust Discrimination Against Hogs—What Democracy Has Done.

Chicago, since the World's Fair is over, may be less populated, but she is just as wonderful a city as she was during the big Columbian exposition.

This city contains the amount of wonders, couriosities, amusements and misery that are alloted to cities of her size, and perhaps more.

No city in the world can excel, no, not even equal Chicago for enterprise. She started out in life as a small country town and now she has over 2,000,000 people At least the census reports say the city has 2,000,000 people. I can't say if this is true—I didn't take the trouble to count all the people.

The limits of Chicago are very extensive. In fact there are no known limits. The city spreads pretty much over the entire state of Illinois and laps over into Wisconsin and Indiana a little.

The pride of Chicago are her sky, scraping buildings. The roofs of many of those buildings are covered with silver, the buildings being so high they scrape the silver lining off from skies At least I suppose the roofs of the building are covered with silver. I heard some one say that every cloud had a silver lining, and as the buildings are called "sky scrapers" they must have stripped the clouds of their lining.

They have a very peculiar way of counting the stories of the buildings here. They count from the top story down. The hotel at which I am staying is a terrible amount of stories high. I haven't ever counted how high it is. I am afraid to make the attempt. If I attempted to count the stories I might get dizzy and fall down and break my neck. When the diamond mounted hotel clerk assigned me to my room I glanced at the number on my key and it was two hundred and something. This, I thought, put me on the second floor, within comfortable jumping distance from the ground in case of fire or the cook going mad and wanting to eat the guests. But when I entered the elevator and told the boy to take me to the second floor I was much surprised that he kept the cage crawling heaven-wards for several minutes and finally dumped me out on an addition to the moon. This was the second floor. The first floor, in Utah language, means the top floor. Here in Chicago a person must climb on top of the roof in order to go down into the basement.

I wonder if religion in Chicago is built on this same system? If it is the people here must have some lofty ideas of hell.

Another thing which Chicago is proud of is her police force. The police of this city are said to have performed many great feat. I don't see why this city should boast of her police on this score. Her police have had big advantages to begin with. They always have had great feet. So what is there remarkable about them, except it be that the police possesses sufficient strength to move their great feet This may be the great feat of which they pride themselves.

And yet another thing of which this city prides herself are the stock yards. Here is where our imported pork sausages are made. Here is where many thousands of hogs are slaughtered every year, there are not half enough hogs slaughtered. The capacity of the slaughtering department should be increased that the hogs might be killed off more rapidly. I would like to see the stockyard people lay aside their prejudice against some classes of hogs. They ought not discriminate against the hog that never subscribes for his home paper, but borrows the paper from his neighbor and after he has read the paper returns it with the remark that the sheet never cantains anything worth reading. Of course the slaughter house people can't be blamed for discriminating against this class of hogs, as they don't even make good sausages, yet they could mince them up with corn and fatten decent hogs with them.

One thing which Chicago does not blow about is the misery and suffering of many thousands of her people. There is no end of poverty and destitution in this city.

Men, strong, healthy men, can not find work; not even can they work for their board. Factories are closed down, and fathers who have heretofore made good livings for their families are now out of employment. Their small savings of these families are used up and now starvation stares them in the face. The city and the many charitable institutions are taxing themselves to their utmost capacity to furnish food and clothing for the needy, but their greatest exertions fail to bring relief to all and every day many deaths from starvation are reported to the health department. To the men without families the city furnishes employment, such as sweeping of the streets. The men work three hours a day and in payment receive an order on the public soup house for three meals (consisting of a bowl of soup and a couple of pieces of bread) and a bed. These meals, unsubstantial as they may be, are preferable to starvation, and thousands of young men and many old men are taking advantage of the city's offer.

The bakers and hotels are, too, doing a grand and generous act by distributing among the needy families all of the waste breads, pastry and meats. Every evening long rows of children, men and women with baskets are to be seen waiting their turn at the kitchen doors of the hotels and restaurants. Everybody in Chicago is praying for better termes. May their supplications be heard, and their requests granted.

I go to Washington, D. C. tonight. Will stay there a couple of days and help Secretary Carlisle issue bonds. Then I will tend Grover's babies for a few days while he goes rabbit hunting. From Washington I go to Philadephia and from there to New York City.

J. F. PRIBYL.

DEMOCRATIC TYRANTS!

They Want to Keep Utah Out of the Union.

THEY FEAR UTAH IS REPUBLICAN

And Their Fears are Well Founded—They Break Every Pledge and Make Many Excuses.

A late special to the Salt Lake Tribune, from Washington, D. C., says: There is evidently a hitch in the Utah admission matter. The bill has been in the hands of the democratic committee on Territories of the Senate since before the holidays. There are as yet no indications that it will be soon reported. Inquiry today among the democrats makes it very clear that the democrtic steering comittee of the Senate has dictated the delay, and that Senator Gorman is at the bottom of the move.

Delegate Rawlins was asked by the Tribune correspondent what, in his judgment, was the cause of the delay.

"It looks to me," said Mr. Rawlins, "that a concerted move had sprung up for annexation. The Committee on Territories shows no inclination to act. The bill ought to have been reported long ago. Of course the democrats have a majority of the committee, and are in that sense responsible."

"Is it true that letters have been received from prominent Salt Lake democrats, protesting against admission?"

"There have been a good many letters of that character, some protesting for fear of increased taxation, some on the ground of apprehended renewal of old conditions, and others expressing fear that the Territory, if admitted, would be Republican. The churches also seem to have taken a hand.

"I think the annexation business begins to look formidable. It is principally based on the jealousy of more silver Senators. A number of democrats, as well as Republicans, favor it. For my part, I do not believe that Congress can annex Utah to Nevada without a constitutional amendment by that State. The constitution of Nevada defines its boundaries, and mere premissive action of the legislature is not, in my judgment, sufficient to practically change the constitution."

STEWART OPPOSES ANNEXATION.

Senator Stewart of Nevada said that he believed Utah ought to be addmitted by itself and would be.

"The people of Nevada," said the Senator, "do not wish annexation, annexation could be accomplished by an act of Congress alone. Years ago, when I was in the Senate, I secured the attachment of the point to Nevada by Congressional enactment. I see nothing in Mr. Rawlins's legal objection, but I believe in and hope for admission."

Senator Stewart said that the democrats, after all their pretensions of anxeity for Utah's admission, were plainly endeavoring, for some reason, to block the game.

Senator Shoup, who is a member of the committee on Territories, was not inclined to talk. "The Republican members of the committee," he said, "are in no sense responsible for the delay. Personally, as is well known, I am strongly in favor of immediate admission and opposed to the annexation scheme. It looks as if the democrats desire to sidetrack the bill untill after the tariff bill gets before the Senate with the right of way."

UTAH'S OPPORTUNITY.

The New York Sun has an editorial leader today commenting on Delegate Rawlins' speech, and headed "Utah's Opportunity." "Let her," it says, "seek admission by means of annexation to Nevada. Thus she will do our whole political system an estimable service, by reforming a rotten borough State. With a population four and a half times as great as Nevada, she can rely on having her share of influence in the resulting community. As for Nevada, why should she not welcome the chance to end a reproach which she has endured for thirty years? Her entire population in 1890 was less than that of the town of Saginaw, or Oakland, or Bridgeport, or Evansville or St. Joseph, or Camden, yet she has not only a representative in Congress, but she has as many Senators as Pennsylvania or Ohio. She should be glad to reannex her neighbor, of whose domains she originally formed a part, and on a new career as a genuine and worthy State. Should the plan actually succeed, through the co-operation of Nevada, Utah would signalize her entrance into the Union by a piece of sacrifice for the public good that would offset, politically, much of the trouble she has given and the evil she has caused during the reign of polygamy, and make her an honored State at once and always."

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

The present weather is too beautiful to last.

David Eccles of Ogden was in the city yesterday.

Most of the stores were closed yesterday, during services.

Unless more snow comes soon, sleighing in Logan will soon be a thing of the past.

Reub Wright was over from Brigham Sunday. He came on business, (in your mind,)

Walter J. Willis, justice of the peace of Paradise, was in the city yesterday and made THE NATION a business call.

In our next issue we will make the greatest subscription offer ever given by any newspaper in Utah. Watch for it.

Miss Loll Farrell, returned Sunday evening from Brigham City where she has been spending a few days with her friend Miss Tennie Snow.

Scores of people from surrounding settlements were in the city Sunday and yesterday, to attend conference. The streets were quite lively and our merchants did a good business.

THE NATION is indebted to Hon Cushman K. Davis of Minnesota for copies of his speech on "Relations with Hawaii" delivered in the U. S. Senate, January 10th and 11th, 1894.

C. W. Nibley, of the Oregon Lumber company was in the city yesterday, having just returned from Omaha. He leaves for his temporary home in Baker City, Oregon tomorrow evening.

Our desire is to double the circulation of THE NATION within the next sixty days, and we have struck a plan which will do it if anything can. Look out for our proposition in the next issue. It will be great.

Henry Kotter came over from Brigham to attend the A. C. Military ball Saturday night, but as the ball does not come off until Saturday next he has concluded to remain until then. Nothing like being on time.

We have just completed arrangements whereby we are enabled to offer our subscribers, old and new, the finest and best premium ever offered by any paper in the country. We are determined to come right to the front and will make you a proposition you cannot well refuse.

DEMOCRACY THE RIDER!

As One Could Tell From the Condition of the Country.

DIFFERENCE IN NOW AND A YEAR AGO.

Then Was Prosperity, Now Is Poverty—Then Was Work, Now Is Idleness—Four Million Idle Men.

The following article we clip from a late issue of the Ogden Press. It was written by "Republican" and pictures the plain facts in the case. It is worth reading:

EDITOR THE PRESS: The San Francisco Examiner of January 17 came to us with the following flaming head lines: "Factory wheels are turning—The hum of industry again heard throughout the land—A new era of prosperity dawning—Many workshops in the manufacturing centers of the East resume active operations, and thousands of employees are again busy in rolling mills, in glass works and at looms." And then follows a list, collated by the New York Herald of about twenty manufacturing establishment in the East, which have partially resumed work, all of them with reduced force; most of them working from two to five days in the week, and with a reduction in wages of employees of from 7 to 30 per cent.

Twelve months ago, the supply of and demand for labor were about equal, and organized labor would unhesitatingly have refused to accept a reduction of wages, be the reduction ever so small. But what a change in conditions has taken place during that twelve months.

The advent of the democratic party to power, on the Chicago free-trade platform, which denounced protection as a "crime and a robbery," forced manufacturers to limit their output to absolute sales and in thousands of cases to close their establishments entirely, thus throwing over four millions of people out of employment; and this enormous number of idle men is being added to daily.

This change in conditions has neutralized the power of the most effective weapon of organized labor—the strike—destroyed the balance of the great law of supply and demand, and the result is that want and threatened starvation are forcing the wage-workers to gladly accept work at any price, so as to keep body and soul together, and to give food, of any kind to their wives and children.

Bad as conditions are, this is only the beginning. Wilson, the chairman of the committee which has introduced the infamous tariff bill which bears his name, stated in the house of representatives two days ago, that "jobbers are now hesitating where to place their orders, at home or abroad."

The passage of his iniquitous bill, or even a strong probability of its passage, will settle the question; their orders will be placed in Europe and thus the American mechanic and laborer will be deprived of the privilege of producing or manufacturing the goods or articles required to supply the people of our country.

The passage of this, the Wilson bill, can have but one of two results; the complete closing down of our mills and factories, or their remaining open but working at reduced wages. If the democratic party remains in power, this reduction of wages will continue until the wage-workers of the United States will be as poorly paid as those of Europe.

Here are facts, indisputable facts: Fifteen months ago our country was prosperous; the land was teeming with plenty; manufactories were in full blast; railroads were doing the largest business ever known and everywhere there was well paid "work for honest labor."

Now, mills and factories all over the land are closed, the fires in the furnaces and rolling mills have been extinguished, tens of thousands of railroad employees have been discharged and the wages of those remaining at work have been reduced; three of the largest railroad systems in the country—the Northern Pacific the Union Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe—with innumerable smaller roads, have gone into the hands of the receivers. In about twelve months, over four millions of our busy workers have been thrown out of employment and are today dependent on charity for the scanty food they receive.

Our government, instead of using the surplus revenue to reduce the national debt, as has been done, almost without a break or check for over a quarter of a century, is now without a surplus and shows a deficit of ten millions of dollars a month, and the secretary of the treasury declares his intention of increasing the debt by the issuance of a new series of bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, while a few years back the Republican administration refunded a large portion of the public debt at 3 per cent.

With these stubborn facts staring us in the face, these object lessons standing forth in strong relief, there are still men ready to vote for and support Cleveland and his bastard administration; but of such is the democratic party.

Carl J. Danielson was arrested yesterday for being drunk. He plead guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed on him, which he paid.

After a confinement to his room for a few days, Garry Van is again found behind the counters of Brusby & Martineau's Drug Store.

Apostles Joseph F. Smith, M. W. Merrill and F. H. Lyman, were in attendance at the Quarterly Conference Sunday and Monday and delivered excellent sermons.

Will Hill came over from Wellsville yesterday, presumably to attend church, but as there were many who could not get seats good excuses were offered for those who did not attend.

The transactions of the city council must be made public for the taxpayers and voters have a right to know what the men who they voted for and whose official salary they pay are doing. Particulars later.

"A Reader" sent us a letter containing minutes of the Quarterly Conference of Oneida Stake of Zion, held in Franklin, Idaho, Saturday and Sunday last. The letter was delayed but will appear in next issue.

"What are you waiting for?" said a Cherokee lawyer to an Indian who had paid him money. "Receipt," said the Indian. "A receipt!" What do you know about a receipt? Can you understand the nature of one and I will give it to you," replied the lawyer. "S'pose mabe me die; me go to heben; me find the gates locked; me see 'Postle Peter; he say: 'Jim, what you want?' Me say: "Want to get in.' 'You pay A that money?" What me do? I hab no receipt; hab to hunt all ober hell to find you."—Ex.

Will be Given in the Agricultural College Saturday Evening.

One hundred and fifty invitations have been sent out for a grand military ball to take place at the Agricultural College Saturday evening, Feb 3rd. The ball will doubtless be one of the grandest affairs ever given in Logan as the committees in charge are determined to make the occasion one to be long remembered. The following gentlemen compose the different committees: Arrangement; Adjutant Culmer, Captain Osborn, Lieutenant Goodwin, First Sergeant Berryman. Invitation; Lieutenant Boyden, Lieutenant McLaughlin, First Sergeant Pyper. Reception, Lieutenant Miller, Lieutenant Boyden, Major Lewis. Floor; Captain Erwin, Adjutant Culmer.

Quite a number of invitations have been sent to outside cities and a crowd of young people is expected up from Salt Lake, Ogden and Brigham. Those who come may depend upon having an enjoyable time, as the A. C. boys never do anything by halves.

The floor will be put in excellent shape and Harris' full orchestra of eight pieces will furnish the music. It has been the intention of the invitation committee to invite all the gentlemen in town who attend dances and if any have been overlooked who desire to attend they should speak to the committee, as the oversight has been unintentional. The grand march will take place promptly at 8 o'clock. Probably a manual of arms and bayonet exercise will be given during intermission of a few minutes. All lovers of the terpsichorean art are looking forward to a gay time. Invitations must be presented at the door.

Elders Seymour B. Young and John Morgan addressed the congregation at the Tabernacle yesterday.

A Washington special to the Tribune brings the good and reliable information that the Republicans have demanded Utah's admission into the Union at once. The democrats are, many of them, doing all in their power to keep this Territory out of the Union on the ground that she would elect Republican members to Congress. Such democrats are the enemies to Utah. They have made the most solemn pledges only to break them. Democracy's doom is sealed in Utah, as it should be.

THE CAUSE OF THE DEFICIT.

Which is the better: To obtain income from usual, proper and sufficient sources, or to borrow money with which to pay expenses? asks the New York Press. This is the whole question as presented to the nation by Mr. Carlisle's demand that authority shall be given him to make a new loan.

Mr. Cleveland came into office with the gold reserve much above the one hundred million line; it has fallen to seventy-two millions. When he entered the White House the revenues of the government were great enough to pay the expenses and to produce a surplus; now there is a present deficiency of forty-three and a half millions, and a prospective deficiency for the fiscal year of seventy-eight millions. Republicans in Congress are urged by the democratic press, upon grounds of "patriotism," to sustain Mr. Cleveland's policy of borrowing. But do considerations of patriotism require that the government shall be involved in additional debt at a time when sufficient revenue may be secured without recourse to such an expedient? If the existing laws in the year 1892 gave revenue enough with a surplus of more than two million dollars, is it not certain that the same laws, in unobstructed operation, will produce the same result this year, with a larger population? A regard for self interest must impel an individual to refrain from running into debt if he can avoid doing so. A regard for the interest of the country must induce a representative of the people to avoid imposing interest charges upon the government if money in sufficient supply may be obtain by taxation.

But the emergency now existing is, we are told, of a character so alarming that immediate action is required to preserve the credit of the government; and when the credit of the government is in jeopardy, partisanship must be laid aside. The credit of the government of the United States is just as good today as it ever was. Distrust does exist, but it is distrust only of Mr. Cleveland, Mr. Carlisle and the democratic party. That distrust was born of the fiscal and economical policies for which they stand. It may be removed by immediate repudiation of those policies. The revenues have declined, not because the revenue laws are defective, but because Mr. Cleveland and his friends have checked imports by promising lower duties, and depressed business by threatening revolution of the conditions under which business may be done. But the Administration is so stubbornly determined to make good these promises and threats that it will not even present to the House of Representatives its request for a bond issue, because this would interfere with the quick movement of the wrecker's tariff bill toward adoption. Mr. Carlisle has gone to the Senate, which has no authority to originate revenue measures, solely because he knows that to interrupt in the House the progress of the destructive Wilson bill might defeat it.

Every Republican in Congress believes that the adoption of this measure will inflict frightful injury upon the nation. Every Republican knows that it will not produce enough revenue for the government. Why, then, should Republicans manifest eagerness to promote its passage by authorizing a loan which is necessary only if the bill should become law? Do not the requirements of genuine patriotism lie in the other direction? Mr. Cleveland is using all the power of his great office to force reluctant democratic Representatives to vote for the bill. Evidently he cannot compel a majority of them to support a bond issue. Because he cannot, he turns now to Republicans and appeals to them to help him give effect to this part of his plan. But upon what ground of reason or equity can they be urged to lend a hand to the promotion of one portion of a policy which, as a whole, is believed by them to be directly against the best interests of the nation? The entire responsibility for the Treasury troubles remains with the democratic party, and it has a majority with which to do anything that it is agreed in desiring to have done. If the democrats cannot agree, why should Republicans consent to help one faction, with the inevitable result that both factions will then join in knifing the tariff?

There is a short, direct and absolutely effective method of supplying the Treasury deficit. It is to withdraw the Wilson bill and to promise to let the McKinley tariff alone. The Republicans in Congress will cheerfully help Mr. Cleveland to put that method into operation. Mr. Cleveland's method deserves repudiation so long as the Wilson bill remains an Administration measure.

THEIR PRINCIPLES AFTER ALL.

It is a notorious fact, as palpable as the sunlight, that there was not a time between 1880 and 1890 when had the Republicans admitted Utah, they could not have been sure at once of three electoral votes for the Republican ticket, two Republican Senators and one Republican Congressman. Considering the state of affairs at the time, the Republican party did not believe it would be right to admit Utah. All the time through those years there were democratic sneaks who were telling of the gross injustice done to the people of Utah by Republican rule. There were the hired lawyers, Gibson, Jerry Black, Jeff Thompson, George Ticknor Curtis, and the Lora knows how many more; there were sneaks in the House like Springer, Mills and Scott and a dozen others; there were always mourners in the Senate, like Call, ready to plead the cause of Utah, and when the pronunciamento of the Mormon Church was issued, this number swelled into a host, and on every hand we heard that it was the wish and the will of the great democratic party to see Utah robed in the white garments of Statehood, and to see her assume her place, a very lovely star, in the constellation of the Union, and we were treated by the democratic press here, and in the East, with the assurance that the only objection Republicans had or could have to the admission of Utah, was that it would be a democratic state. The thing was reiterated up to last month. When the measure passed the House of Representatives, the fact was pointed out to the people of Utah, as an evidence of the earnest desire of the democracy, not for any party purpose, but solely on principle, to see Utah in its proper sphere. And yet, alas, the thing hangs in the Senate! Senator Faulkner suddenly seemed to lose interest in the people of Utah. He has ceased weeping over Utah's wrongs. There are hints that the bill is to be side tracked. How can we account for all this? There cannot be any falling off in principle, can there, among our democratic friends? Their desire to see the oppression under which Utah has so long groaned, brushed aside, must be just as strong as ever. What can the matter be? A dispatch yesterday tells us that there are democrats from Utah who are beseeching Congress not to pass the bill now, because the State will certainly be Republican. Who are all those democrats, and is it possible that, after all, the only desire on the part of Mr. Faulkner and Mr. Call and Mr. Springer and Breckenridge of Kentucky, and the multitudes more of that party which claims to be par excellence the champion of the oppressed, can it be that only a partisan desire warmed their peculiar souls after all? Thinking it over, one can hardly help comparing it with Mr. Cleveland's fiasco in Hawaii. He went out last March, armed like Sancho Panza, to champion the oppressed of all the earth. He fought windmills all summer. He never seemed to lose his interest in that dusky wench out in the middle of the sea until she allowed a little photograph of her soul to be sent on to Grover, which showed that she was extremely murderous in her instincts, and that the two things she wanted most in all the world were, first, blood, and, second, money. Now it seems to have the look that after all the democracy, which has been crying its eyes out for some years over the awful oppression heaped upon Utah, in fact only wanted to work for a party advantage and to give a few pets some offices. A rather pitiful story, is it not? And all the more pitiful because it is all covered with shame. We trust the people will keep the whole business in mind, and will be able, after a while, to realize who the best friends, after all, have been in Utah.—Salt Lake Tribune.

It is becoming painfully apparent of the utter lack of the chief principles of statesmanship as shown by the present administration, says the Argyle, (Minn.) Banner. Not only has Cleveland shown a want of the great principles of political foresight but he has displayed that spirit of dogged determination and force that has made tyranny in all ages the enemy of progressive civilization. In his efforts to destroy silver, he struck a well directed blow at the corner stone of American existence. No greater degree of heardless rapacity was ever shown by the huns and vandals of old then was displayed by him in his ceaseless efforts to destroy silver and chain the mighty arm of industrial labor to the Juggernaut of want and hunger. Thus, in this land of plenty we find the hungry crowd of enforced idlers; constantly increasing charity has exhausted its resources to appease the appetites of this vast army of unemployed. And under the policy as laid down by this great octopus of nothingness no hope is sent to those who see all that constitutes a home to live and worship witheld, that the vampires may fatten from the blighting effects of crippled financial policy. We may extoll our past glories and may rejoice in a seeming enjoyment of sacred rights and equal privileges; yet they are but the returning visions of a buried past called back to teach the people the true lesson of popular government, and to rebuke the imperialism of Grover Cleveland and his gang of mendacious vandals. Time is fulfilling the prophecy of the great democratic apostle, Henry Watterson, made many months ago, when he said, "Nominate Grover Cleveland and we march through a slaughter house into an open grave."

The Ogden Daily Press is a good paper and is generally on the right side of public questions. Major Littlefield, the editor, is not always the last to express his opinion upon matters of public discussion. He usually weighs his words well and his opinion is worth something. After reviewing the question of the union and location of the Agricultural College and the University, he concludes with these words:

> We agree with the sentiment recently expressed by Dr. Utter, the eminent Unitarian preacher, in his open letter to the legislature, that it does not make much difference where the University of Utah shall be located, provided, of course, that it be not in some out-of-the-way and not easily reached place. Hence we can see no objection to Logan, which is on a main line of railroad, or practically so, and easy of access. The location of the Agricultural college in the beautiful, fertile and well-watered Cache valley was wisely made, and since it has been definitely settled that the university and the college are to be united we are in favor of locating the University of Utah in Logan and utilizing the site and buildings of the Agricultural college for university purposes and an agricultural station.

The Mormons have always stated that when they came to Utah it was Mexican Territory; that they at once hoisted the American flag. Suppose President Polk at that time had sent a private Commissioner to investigate whether or not that was true, and then had sent a quiet request to the chiefs of the Mormon Church that they stand aside while the Commissioner should pull down the American flag and put the country back in the hands of the Mexicans. It would have been a parallel case with what has been done by Mr. Cleveland and his Secretary of State in Hawaii, except that the Saints were but a little community then, without recognition, while the Provisional Government of Hawaii was firmly established and recognized by every nation of the earth when Mr. Cleveland went into power. —Tribune.

Colored folks have never believed in the democratic party, and white folks are becoming to be of their way of thinking.

Thus speaks the Richmond, (Va.,) Planet, a very good newspaper edited and published by Negroes in the "solid south." The way the south is kept "solid" is at the point of the shot gun and bayonet. However, even now, they are tiring of democracy and will soon turn on their enemy and vote as their conscience dictates, not as their masters command. As to the white folks "coming their way of thinking," it is the colored folks coming our way of acting. It's high time the Southern Negroes were breaking the galling political chains of democracy with which they have so long been bound.

The Utah Press Association, recently organized, will do much good for the newspapers which join the organization, and the public at large. The Southern Pacific railroad has very generously offered the boys a pass to the Midwinter Fair, to be paid for in advertising. The proposition will be duly appreciated and thankfully accepted. It is hoped all can go in a body, as some date could doubtless be agreed upon. If this was done a more enjoyable trip would be had and more favors shown the press all round. Probably an excursion could be worked up from Utah to go the same time. What do you think of it, boys?

There is a fellow in Logan who thinks he is a better man than is Mitchell. He takes the ground that Corbett has whipped Mitchell but never has him. That's the way some democrats reason. They say free trade has not yet been tried so it cannot be that which is hurting the country. No, it hasn't been tried, but we've had a taste of what it will be and know it's a bitter medicine, one which will kill, not cure.

There came to the home of Ben. E. Rich of The Silver Hammer, on Wednesday morning, a little angel to the guise of a lusty baby girl, thus adding one more bright flower to the happy family circle. "All is well."—Silver Hammer.

That's hardly the square thing, Ben. Down here in Utah most of we editors are not even married, many of us with no good prospects. Can't you suggest something to be done?

The Nation is not the only paper which has been honored by being cut off the exchange list of the "Rockiest of the Rockies." The Rexburg Silver Hammer has been shown the same favor. The Ogden Standard and Provo Enquirer will next be given that honor if not distinction. Our congratulations, Ben. We'll rejoice together.

In the year 1824 Andrew Jackson wrote: "It is time that we should become a little more Americanized, and, instead of feeding the paupers and laborers of England, feed our own." That short but mighty sermon, should be shoved down the throat of every free trader in the United States.

The Nation suggests that a meeting of the representative citizens of Logan and Cache county be called at once so that some united plan can be agreed upon as to the position to be taken regarding the College and University fight.

The Inter Ocean says if Congress had only adjourned until 1896 business would have boomed at once. It is the open and at present armed enemy of prosperity.

Many students of the Agricultural College make great strides for education. Those who live down town have to. But its only a decent walk, after all.

WINTER NIGHTFALL.

The rose has faded from the western sky
Behind the lazy mill,
The moon, a wind carven drift in beauty lie
Where all is gray and still.

Now dim and faint the distant steeple grows,
While night's drear shadows creep
Across the land and dull the weird repose
Of stolen wood and steep.

Above the fields a great enameled star
Is sparkling cold and pale;
The deep dark curtains of the east afar
Shine with a sudden light.

And in a moment, with a silver flood
The full moon rises chill
Behind the tangles of the somber wood
That crown the distant hill.

HOW THEY MANAGED.

"Pack your things as soon as you please, my dear," said Mr. Chesney. "We're going to move Saturday."

Mr. and Mrs. Chesney were a matrimonial firm—there was no question about that. Mrs. Chesney had always been a silent partner in the same.

"If ever I get married" said Elma, a bright eyed girl of 17, "I won't be put upon as mamma is!"

"Where, my dear?" asked Mrs. Chesney with a little start.

"Into the country," said the family autocrat. "I'm tired of this city business. It costs a great deal more than it comes to. I'm told you can live at half the expense in the country."

"But," gasped the wife, "what is to become of the children's education?"

"There's a very good district school in the neighborhood, not more than a mile distant," explained her husband, "and exercise will do them good."

"And what are we to do for society?"

"Pshaw!" said Chesney, "I would not give a rap for people who can't be society for themselves. There'll be the house work to do, you know—nobody keeps a girl in the country—and plenty of chores about the place for Will and Spencer. I shall keep a horse if I can get one cheap, for the station is half a mile from the place, and I've bargained for a couple of cows and some pigs."

Meanwhile Mr. Chesney explained to his wife the various advantages which were to accrue from the promised move.

"It's unfortunate," said he, "that Elma and Rosie aren't boys. Such a lot of women folks are enough to swamp any family. Men now can always earn their bread. But we must try to make everybody useful in some way or other. It's so healthy, you know," added he. "And the rent won't be half of what we pay here."

"Are there any modern conveniences about the place?" timidly inquired Mrs. Chesney.

"There's a spring of excellent water about a hundred yards from the house," said her husband.

Mrs. Chesney grew pale.

"Have I got to walk a hundred yards for every drop of water I want?" said she.

"And a large rainwater hogshead under the eaves of the house," added Mr. Chesney. "And I've already got a bargain in kerosene lamps. As for candles, I am given to understand that good housekeepers make 'em themselves in tin molds. There's nothing like economy. Now I do beg to know, Abigail," he added irritably, "what you are looking so lackadaisical about? Do you expect to sit still and fold your hands while I do all the work? Give me a woman for sheer natural laziness!"

The first sight of Mulleinstalk farm was dispiriting in the extreme. Between rock and swamp there was scarcely pasture for the two lean cows that Mr. Chesney had bought at a bargain, and the hollow necked horse which stalked about the premises like some phantom Bucephalus.

The apple trees in the orchard were three-quarters dead, and leaned sorrowfully away from the east winds, until their boughs touched the very ground, fences had all gone to ruin and the one front gate was tied up with a hemp string.

"Is this home?" said Elma, with an indescribable intonation in her voice.

"We'll get things all straightened up after awhile," said Mr. Chesney, hasting to drive away the pigs, which had broken out of their pen and were squealing dismally under the window.

Mrs. Chesney cried herself to sleep that night and awakened the next morning with every bone instinct with shooting pains.

"And no wonder," said Spencer, "there's no foot of water in the cellar."

"We must have it drained" said Mr. Chesney with an uneasy look; "but there's plenty of things to do first."

And now began a reign of the strictest economy. Mr. Chesney himself paid for everything with checks, and not an article came into the house or went out of it without his cognizance. New dresses were frowned upon; spring bonnets were strictly interdicted; orders were issued that old carpets should be reversed, and broken dishes repaired with cement and quicklime.

"Save, save, save! that is the chief thing," he kept repeating briskly. "Women folks can't earn; they should try their best to save."

"Boys," fluttered Rosie, "I've an idea. Mary Penn, who lives on the next farm, you know, came over to see Elma and me yesterday. Papa is earning his living, we'll earn something too."

"I should like to know how," muttered Spencer. "I might hire out somewhere if it wasn't for that wretched old horse, and the pigs, and the wood chopping, and"—

"Oh, but there is something that won't interfere with the chores, nor with school," said cheerful little Rosie. "Just listen—all I ask of you is to listen."

And the weeks grew into months, and the red leaves eddied down into little swirls from the maple trees, and "pig killing time" came, and with the aid of a lame, one eyed man Mr. Chesney laid down his own stock of pork and sausages, with the sense of being triumphantly economical.

The family had left off complaining now. Apparently they were resigned to their doom. But there were some things that Mr. Chesney could not explain at all.

A new rug brightened up the dismal ines of the parlor carpet; Rosie had a crimson merino dress, trimmed with black velvet bars; Elma's fall jacket was edged with substantial black fur, and—grand climax of extravagance—Mrs. Chesney had a new shawl in place of the old garment which had been her mother's before her.

He looked at the housekeeping books with renewed vigilance. He consulted the stubs of his checkbook with a notice that nothing could escape.

"I—don't—know—how—they—manage it," said he, scratching his nose with a lead pencil that he always carried. "I hate mysteries, and I mean to be at the bottom of this before I am an hour older.

"Abigail," said he, "how is this? I've given you no money; you're long left off asking for money. How have you managed to smarten yourself and the children up so? I won't be cheated by my own wife."

Elma sat down the pitcher which she was wiping and came and stood before her father with glittering eyes and cheeks stained with crimson, like a flag of battle.

"Papa," she said, "you must not speak to mamma so. Mamma would not cheat you nor nobody else. It's money we've earned ourselves."

Mr. Chesney stared at the girl with incredulous eyes.

"And if you don't believe it come and see how," said Elma, flinging down her towel. "Mary Penn showed us. She told us everything and gave us the first swarm of bees. There are 14 swarms down there under the south wall. Spencer sold the honey for us. And we planted all the nice flowers that grow down in the meadow that you said was too stony and barren for the sheep to pasture upon, and Will dug and hoed around them after all the chores were done, and we sent boxes and bouquets of lilies and verbenas to the city every day by Mr. Penn's wagon. And we gathered wild strawberries before the sun was up and got cherries out of the old lane. And the money is ours—every cent of it."

"Honey, eh!" said Mr. Chesney, staring at the row of hives; for Elma had dragged him out into the November moonlight to the scene of action. "Well, I've seen these many a time, but I always s'posed they belonged to Squire Penn's folks. And flowers and wild berries! Didn't think there was so much money in 'em. Guess I'll try the business myself next year. Queer that the women folks should have got the start of me."

After that he regarded his family with more respect. The mere fact that they could earn money elevated them immensely in his sight.

But when spring came he lost his able coadjutor. Miss Elma incidentally announced to him one day that she was going to be married to Walter Penn the next week.

"And mamma is coming to live with us," added Elma. "She can't stand the damp house and this hard work any longer."

But Mrs. Chesney did not go to the Penn farm. Mr. Chesney hired a stout serving maid and laid drain pipes under the kitchen stoop. If his wife really understood her business so well, it was worth while to keep her well and active, he considered.

"I couldn't leave papa, you know," said Mrs. Chesney to Elma. "He means well, and now that Rebecca Becket is coming here and the kitchen is dry we shall get along nicely. I wouldn't go back to the city for anything now."

"Nor I either," said Elma. "And, oh, mamma, I shall always love those beehives under the hollyhocks, for it was there that Walter asked me to be his wife."

Mrs. Chesney tearfully kissed her daughter. She, too, had been happy once and had her dreams. It was to be hoped that Walter Penn was made of different metal from George Chesney.—Woman's Magazine

The Mid-Winter Fair!

The Mid-Winter Fair at San Francisco will soon be opened. The management have very carefully selected the best of the World's Fair exhibits so that those who were unfortunate in not seeing the Chicago Exposition will still have an opportunity to inspect the foreign exhibits at San Francisco. The Rio Grande Western railway in line with its usual progressive spirit will, in connection with the Southern Pacific company put in effect a low round trip rate during the existence of the Mid-Winter Fair. The Rio Grande Western, as you know, runs through to San Francisco without change both tourist and first-class Pullman Sleeping cars. Two Trains daily.

LOW RATES

Are still in effect to eastern points via the Rio Grande Western railway. Remember the Rio Grande Western is noted for the elegance of its equipment, its new coaches, its free chair cars, its tourists or colonist sleepers and its new and artistic Pullman Double Drawing Room Palace Sleeping cars which run through to Chicago without change. "Speed Safety and Comfort" is its well earned motto. Two main line fast express trains to the East daily.

The sociable given by the Woodmen of the World Friday evening was attended by about sixty people. The program was a good one and the Lodge is under many obligations to those who so kindly assisted in making the entertainment a success.

To grow old gracefully, one must live temperately, calmly, methodically; be interested in all that is going on in the world; be cheerfull, happy, and contented, and above all, keep the blood pure and vigorous by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's.

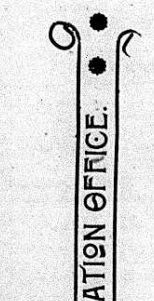

Frank J. Cannon left for Germany yesterday where he has gone in the interest of the Ogden Power company. Mr. Cannon is doing a good work in attracting capital to Utah and we believe some of it will reach Logan. He intends remaining away about two months.

Dr. Ormsby was over from Logan Tuesday. He reports Patriarch Samuel Smith doing splendidly and the prospects are very encouraging that this sturdy old pioneer will safely weather another storm which seems to have been directed against him by the angel of death. This will be good news to hundreds.—Brigham Bugler.

Last evening a grand complimentary ball and supper was given to the members of the Brigham City Fire Department, at the Opera House, to show the appreciation of the Co-op for the noble work the firemen did in saving their building and contents from total destruction at their recent fire. Supt. A. E. Snow appreciates a good turn and is not backward in showing it. We acknowledge receipt of an invitation.

THE PEOPLE of Idaho are rapidly falling into the line of progress. They are also generally supporting their friends and letting their enemies severely alone. Take the matter of newspapers, for instance. According to a democratic exchange there are four times as many Republican papers in the state as there are democratic papers. This speaks well for our friends in the north and shows that their love for home and family is greater than is their love for the democratic party and starvation. Let them keep on in their good work.
