

The 12 Thank you notes of Christmas Letter Writing Challenge begins December 3-14, 2019.

A Pen, A Paper, A Warm Cozy Fire, the snow softly falling outside the window.

Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas playing oh so softly in the background with Judy Garland singing this classic because let's be honest there is just something spectacular about the sound of the iconic voices of Garland, Sinatra, and Crosby especially around the holidays.

Introducing!!!! The let your heart be light... 12 Thank you notes of Christmas Letter Writing Challenge December 3-14, 2019. Will you join me?

I got to thinking about this a few years ago as the piles of Christmas Cards started arriving at the door. Why do some many people send out Christmas Cards to only place inside their name. For a moment its great to glance at the card with a name tucked inside; but what would happen if you created a moment that was meant to be re-read a card that was saved because of the sentiment of words you placed in it like a freshly wrapped Christmas present and the excitement of a child as they open their first present. Meant to be saved just as the timeless memories.

What better time then the holidays to take some time to really sit down with a piece of paper and tell those most important to you why you are thankful for them.

Here are some prompts to get you started.

How did this person help make your year extra special?

What is your fondest memories you have with them?

Why do you love them?

Why are you thankful for them in your life?

Make Christmas cards and letters that last....savor the moments, enjoy the memories and Have yourself a Merry Little Christmas while letting your heart be light.

*Disclaimer if the holiday season is just to busy to complete this 12 day Challenge maybe switch it up a bit and instead write one handwritten card a month in 2020 to someone that really made a difference in that month for you. I promise you this you will smile a bit more as you write these notes and your heart will be filled with gratitude and thankfulness throughout the entire year.
