MANUFACTURING

Manufacturing Company

Westminster Tool Inc.

Westminster Tool Inc. specializes in complex, Class 101 plastic injection molds with particularly challenging manufacturing dimensions and tolerances. In addition to serving the aerospace, packaging and defense industries, Westminster Tool excels in the medical device industry where quality is top priority. The company places a high emphasis on strict dimensional requirements with long-term, repeatable results for medical device manufacturing. Westminster Tool replaces the conventional one-sided mold manufacturing conversation with a collaborative process that identifies the customer's design challenges upfront before they become detrimental after mold sampling.

With an average workforce age of 35, Westminster Tool is a young and dynamic team that is passionate about giving back and advocating for careers in manufacturing. You can usually find us in one of our local schools volunteering at events and raising funds to support the manufacturing industry. We are known nationwide for our internal training programs that have enabled us to address the skills gap and continue to grow. If you are looking to begin your career in manufacturing check out our careers page.

Plumbing Supplies Store

The Granite Group

Founded in 1971 and headquartered in Concord, NH, The Granite Group distributes plumbing, heating, cooling, piping, water systems and energy products to contractors and fuel dealers across New England through 46 wholesale branches. We also operate 15 retail showrooms under The Ultimate Bath Store name, offering an expertly-trained staff and an extensive array of decorative plumbing fixtures and accessories.

Understanding our customers' needs and building strong, long-lasting relationships with them are fundamental to what we're all about. We start by teaming up with the best manufacturers in the business, and then we hustle to do all we can to service our customers. Our determination to make their jobs easier and their work lives better has helped to get us where we are today, and that's something we never take for granted.

We also know that our people are what drive our success. The Granite Group is a place where people feel valued – a place that rewards entrepreneurship and promotes from within. And while we are obsessed with getting our work done right, we also try not to take ourselves too seriously.

Out of all the recognition we have been fortunate enough to receive as a business, the awards that recognize our culture and our people are the ones of which we are most proud. We unapologetically put people first – our customers, our vendors and, of course, all the incredible people on our team. We think this is the right approach and helps explain why The Granite Group has been recognized as both a great company to work for and a top family-owned business in the Northeast.

Great people. Great products. That pretty much sums us up.
