ECC Winter Party

The Holiday’s are upon us and we want to celebrate!! The ECC Winter party will be Friday, December 18th, 2015 at the Red Cliff Youth Center from 10:00am to 12:00 (noon). There will be activities, a wonderful lunch, and gifts from Santa! Please join us for this annual holiday fun-filled morning. The event is first-come, first-served so be prepared to wait to see Santa. Bring three non-perishable food items to be entered into a drawing!!

ECC Winter Party
Friday, December 18th
10:00-Noon

Brrr...... Its cold outside!!!

It’s cold outside……..but the kids still go out to play!!! The snow and colder temperatures don’t keep us inside! Parents please make sure that your child has all their winter gear when they come to school and that it is labeled. Also please encourage your child to get themselves dressed-practice this at home, it sure helps when they get to school. Miigwech for all your hard work at home, we will continue to support all your great efforts here at school.

Reminder…..bulky jackets and car seats are a NO-NO, please remove them when in a car seat.

ECC CLOSING:
Dec 21-Jan 1 and classes will resume on Jan. 4th.

Happy Holidays,
Teresa and Judy
Boozhoo

Our amik class enjoys our daily activities. In the month of December we will be working on our Christmas gifts for our families and parents. We please ask parents to dress children for the cold winter months and also bring hats gloves nice warm winter coats and boots along with shoes.

Miigwech

Ms. Lisa and Ms. Maggie

Birthday wishes go out to Brylee on December 13.
MERRY CHRISTMAS!

JUST LETTING EVERYONE KNOW WE BEEN DOING REALY GREAT IN SCHOOL. WE ARE GETTING ALONG IN SCHOOL. LEARNING OUR SHAPES, NUMBERS AND STARTING TO WORK ON OUR ABC'S IS ALSO KEEPING US BUSY.

WE ARE PLAYING OUTSIDE EVERYDAY SO DON'T FORGET SNOWPANTS, BOOTS, HATS AND MITTENS, WE ONLY HAVE A FEW SHORT DAYS THIS MONTH SO ATTENDANCE IS VERY IMPORTANT PLEASE LET US KNOW IF YOUR CHILD IS GOING TO BE GONE. THANKS FOR HAVING OUR LITTLE ONES HERE AND ON TIME, IT WORKS BETTER FOR EVERYONE.

MERRY CHRISTMAS EVERYONE PLEASE REMEMBER TO CALL IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS OR CONCERNS.
Esiban Abiwin

NADINE AND KAREN

What we are doing...

Melvin likes to scoop his own cereal.

Walter likes to match the popsicles.

Tate likes to build with legos.

Elizabeth likes Mr. Potato head.

Emma likes the farm book and Lamby.

Kendall likes the Magnetic blocks.

Miika likes the play dough.

Layla likes the doctor kit.

Brrrr...I think the cold weather has arrived for good. Just a reminder we go outside daily so make sure your child has all the right clothing to keep warm.

The children liked seeing the new toys we brought in for November's theme. The farm animals have been played with over and over again and a few books have become their favorite.

We also learned more about each other through the poster families have done and our questions during group time. We hope that each of you have a fantastic holiday and we will see you next year:-P

Chi Miigwech!!!

Social/Emotional Skills

This is a process for learning life skills including how to deal with oneself, others and relationships and work in an effective manner. EXAMPLES 3 months...smile at people 6 months...knows familiar people 1 year...cries when mom and dad leave 2 years...shows defiant behavior 3 years...takes turns

December...

For the month of December we will focus on the holiday season. We will work on giving, sharing, turn taking, helping each other, shapes, and letters in their names and more.

We will also work on many crafts, singing songs, and reading lots of seasonal books.

PLEASE be sure your child has hats, boots and mittens daily.

ECC Winter Party:
Dec. 18th.

ECC CLOSED:
December 21st thru January 1st.

Classes resume the 4th
Boozhoo! It is that time of year again when the weather turns bitterly cold and the kids want to be outside all the time. Please remember to send appropriate gear to school so your child can get the most out of their outdoor experience. Snow pants, hats, warm jackets, winter boots and warm gloves are all necessary for your child to be comfortable outside. Also, remember to check on their extra clothes. There are many times that pants and socks get really wet from the snow and the kids are much more comfortable when they can change.

Thank you to everyone for making the parent / teacher conferences so productive. We appreciate you and your willingness to give us time to share the wonderful things that your child does at school. Your participation and input are so beneficial to your child's success now and in the future.

As with everything we do we welcome any thoughts or ideas on how to make this season of giving a great one.

DON'T FORGET...the ECC Christmas party is on Friday December 18th at 10:00 at the Red Cliff Youth Center. School will be closed starting the 21st of December and will resume the 4th of January. We hope you enjoy the time with your child and remember that it isn’t how much money you spend or how many gifts are under the tree but how many special memories are made!!

Ms. J and Ms. Jamie
This month children will learn to make cookie ornaments, making decorations for our classroom Christmas tree, all about me poster, the ginger bread house for dramatic play, scented water for the water table, Movement, music and sing.

REMINDER:

WITH WEATHER CHANGING PLEASE SEND CHILDREN WITH WARM WINTER GEAR: hat, mitts, snow pants, and boots.

MS. Alicia and Ms. Patsy

HAPPY HOLIDAYS TO ALL!!!!
Migizi News!

Happy Holidays!

If you haven’t turned in your child’s “All About Me!” papers that were sent home please do as soon as possible.

With the temperature dropping, PLEASE send your child with the proper outdoor gear (hat, winter gloves, winter coat, snow pants, scarves, winter boots, etc.).

This month we will be working on, what we do when we are lost, always ask first rule, following directions, and asking for what you want.

Our Winter Party for our ECC Families at the Youth Center is on Friday December 18, 2015 at 10 am till 12pm.

We are closed for Winter break December 21st– January 1, 2016. We will resume classes on Monday January 4th, 2016. If you have any questions please feel free to contact us @ 715-779-5030 ext. 240.

Eligibility
The art contest is open to all American Indian and Alaska Native students in Wisconsin, grades Pre-Kindergarten – 12th.

Art Contest Rules and Guidelines
1. Student artists are asked to submit a piece of artwork that reflects the theme of this year's WIEA Conference: 21st Century Indigenous Education: A Self-Determined Pedagogy.
2. Submissions will be judged with a winner in each of three grade categories: Pre-K - grade 5, grades 6-8, and grades 9-12 (one submission per student). A finalist will be chosen in each category, in addition to one Grand Prize Winner selected from all the categories.
3. Artwork will be judged by members of the Madison College Native American Student Association, based on the following criteria:
   - Originality and creativity
4. The submitted artwork cannot be larger than 11 by 17 inches. Unfortunately, we cannot accept three-dimensional pieces.
5. Each piece of artwork must be submitted with an official Application and Release Form.

Contest Deadline
Artwork must be submitted no later than Friday, January 15. Entries that are mailed must be postmarked by that date. The winner from each grade category will receive a $50 cash prize. In addition, the Grand Prize Winner will receive $100 cash prize.

Mail Submissions to:

VAI Verb Conjugations – Who is doing the action?

</tbody>
</table>

Notes:

- The dash represents where you should put the word that you are trying to conjugate.
- If the word starts with a “b” you should use Nim- instead of Ni- to make it sound appropriate (examples: Bimose, Bimibatoo.)
- If the word starts with a “d, j, g, z, or zh” use Nin- instead of Ni- to make it sound appropriate (example: ditibishimoono.)
- If the word starts with a vowel (a, aa, e, i, ii, o, or oo) use Nind – instead of Ni- to make it sound appropriate (example: Odamino.)
- If the word starts with an “o”, the o becomes a double o (OO) when using Ni- or Gi- (example: Odamino.)
- If the word ends with a single “i” or a single “o” it gets dropped when using the I or You form only (example: Odamino.)

Practice: Look up the word “Embroider”. You will see an Ojibwe word followed by the letters “vai”. Use this word to talk about who is doing the embroiderling! (Nimazinigwaas, Gimazinigwaas, Mazinigwaaso)

Toothbrush Buying Tips

Get The Correct Brush Size

Different types of toothbrushes are available. The key to finding the right match for your little one is to get a toothbrush based on your toddler's age. A small brush can be a choking hazard while a big one may not clean his teeth properly. Here is a guide of age-appropriate toothbrushes:

Finger Toothbrushes. If your little one is still starting to grow his teeth, an infant finger brush can take excellent care of his teeth. Finger brushes are extra soft making them easy to use. Your toddler can simply use a non-fluoride toothpaste or water. Best for toddlers between 8 to 12 months old.

Toddler Toothbrushes. When your toddler reaches the age of 2, he can now switch to a toddler toothbrush. The brush's head is slightly bigger which effectively helps in getting the hard to reach baby tooth molars that erupt in the back of your toddler's mouth. When your toddler starts to spit out his toothpaste, you can now shift to using toothpaste with fluoride.

School Age Toothbrushes. Once his adult teeth start developing, a larger children's brush is recommended to ensure his adult teeth remain healthy and strong. Make the switch once he hits the age of 5.

Electric Toothbrush. Best used by 5 to 8-year old toddlers, kids love electric toothbrushes as there is a 3 minute timer fixed in them which ensures complete and longer brushing of teeth. It also helps boost your child's motor skills. Look for brushes that are rechargeable and with replaceable heads.
Encouraging Your Child’s Fine Motor Skills:

Froot Loops Jewelry

Help improve your child’s fine motor skills with the Crazy Colorful Froot Loops Jewelry Busy Bag. All you need are Froot Loops and some string to create a beautiful piece of colorful jewelry. Use different lengths of string to create bracelets, necklaces, or anklets! And if they get hungry it also doubles as a delicious snack!
Family meals are important. You create close bonds and lifelong memories around the family table. A “family meal” is when the people you live with come together to eat and talk with one another. It can include everyone, or it can be just you and your child. Family meals don’t have to be fancy and they can create an opportunity to teach your child about healthy eating. You can be a healthy demonstration for your child at family meals. When you try new foods, your child may be more willing to try new foods too.

Try these easy ways to make family meals a pleasant part of your routine:

- Set a regular family mealtime. Regular mealtimes give your child a better chance to eat a variety of foods. This helps your child get the right amount to grow, stay well, and keep a healthy weight.

- Show that family meals are important. During mealtime, turn off the TV. Don’t answer the phone and don’t make phone calls or text during mealtime.

- Eat around a table. It’s easier to talk and listen to your family when you face each other. It’s harder to see each other when you eat side-by-side at the kitchen counter.

- Enjoy meal talk. Family meals are a great place to share your daily lives and laughter, and to pass down your values and traditions. Make easy conversation—no nagging or complaining. Talk so everyone can be a “Star” at mealtime. Don’t take over. Your child will listen and learn by feeling included.

- Be realistic about mealtime. Try to sit down together. Keep meals from lasting too long. If kids get fussy, your family meal won’t be fun. Stay together until everyone has finished eating.

- Eat easy, healthy and tasty meals. Think of meals your family likes that are quick and healthy.
Real meals from fictitious books

Cuddle up with your youngsters and a book, and then make a healthy meal together based on the story. Children of any age will enjoy the read-aloud—as well as the follow-up of cooking and eating a fanciful meal.

Encourage your child to come up with healthy menus to fit her favorite books or fairy tales. Here are two ideas to get her started.

Alice’s tea party
Read: Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking-Glass (Lewis Carroll)
- Hard-boil eggs, and let your youngster paint their shells to look like Humpty Dumpty.
- Make tea sandwiches with whole-wheat bread and a thin layer of jam.
- Serve caffeine-free hot or iced tea. Leave it unsweetened to help your youngster get used to the taste of tea without sugar (sweet tea has lots of added sugar).

Magical pasta pot
Read: Strega Nona (Tomie dePaola)
- Boil a pot of “magical” whole-grain pasta. You could combine fun shapes like shells, bowties, and rotini. About 4 minutes before it’s done, add frozen mixed vegetables—like the vegetables Big Anthony tended in Strega Nona’s garden.
- Make a simple tomato sauce from the garden, too. In a skillet, sauté 2 cloves of minced garlic in 1 tsp. hot olive oil for 1 minute. Add a 28-oz. can of diced tomatoes and 1 tsp. oregano. Bring to a boil over medium heat, lower the heat, and simmer for 30 minutes.

Create spice blends
Here’s a fun way to let your child loose in the kitchen: Encourage him to make his own custom spice blends.

Start by having him look through your spices. He could smell them and think about what would go well together. Using measuring spoons and small bowls, he can mix ¼ tsp. of this, a ¼ tsp. of that, and 1 tsp. of something else.

Suggest that he name each blend, put it into an empty jar, and label it. He might add instructions like “Delicious in salads or sprinkled on burgers.” Then, place the jars on the kitchen table so everyone can sample his creativity.
No bullying allowed

Sadly, children who are overweight are more likely than other children to be bullied. In fact, some experts say weight is the most common reason for bullying. Help keep your child from being a target or from participating in bullying with this advice.

Victims. If your youngster is teased for being “fat,” tell him that is wrong no matter what. Comfort him and say you’ll work on the bullying problem together. Then, contact his teacher or school counselor to make a plan. Note: Your child may now say he wants to lose weight. If so, this is a good time to discuss healthy eating and exercise—rather than focusing on how much he weighs or how much to lose.

Bullies. If your youngster is bullying others for any reason, including their weight, get professional help. Talk to the school nurse, counselor, or psychologist about what to do—they will recommend next steps.

Bystanders. If your child witnesses a classmate being bullied, he should get an adult to help. Also, suggest that he be kind to victims. He could invite them to join in games at recess or to sit with him at lunch or on the bus.

Learning a new (old) game

When we visited relatives recently, I wanted to get our kids away from their screens and involved—actively—with their aunts and uncles. I suggested they ask their relatives to teach them games they played “in the old days.”

Great Uncle Joe showed them how to play stickball. He cut down a broomstick, got a rubber ball, and had the kids pick out a fire hydrant and trees as the bases. Then, a pitcher lobed the ball, and the hitter tries to hit it on one bounce. With fewer people, they play “fungo style.” The batter holds the bat with one hand, tosses the ball with the other, and lets the ball bounce so he can grab the bat with both hands and hit the ball.

Our kids were excited to come home and teach their friends their “new” game. When I see them playing stickball, I have to smile at how this old game has become new again.

Take a dip

Pair these dips with lots of vegetables for dipping—the combination is a great way to get your youngster to eat her veggies!

Avocado feta. In a food processor, combine 2 diced ripe avocados, 4 oz. feta, juice from 1 lemon, 2 chopped scallions, and a small handful of parsley. Pulse until blended, but still chunky.

Cottage cheese taco. Stir together a 16-oz. container cottage cheese, a 4-oz. can green chilies (drained), 1 can pinto beans (drained, rinsed), 2 chopped tomatoes, and 1⁄2 tsp. hot sauce if desired.

Black bean. Puree 2 cans black beans (drained, rinsed) in a blender. Add 1⁄4 cup salsa, 4 garlic cloves, 2 tsp. lime juice, 1 tsp. cumin, 1 tsp. water, and 1⁄2 tsp. salt. Blend until smooth.

Fun idea: Spoon an inch or two of dip into a Mason jar. Stick in long, skinny slices of vegetables like carrots, celery, or jicama for a ready-to-eat treat.
EXTREME COLD

A Prevention Guide to Promote Your Personal Health and Safety

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION
When winter temperatures drop significantly below normal, staying warm and safe can become a challenge. Extremely cold temperatures often accompany a winter storm, so you may have to cope with power failures and icy roads. Although staying indoors as much as possible can help reduce the risk of car crashes and falls on the ice, you may also face indoor hazards. Many homes will be too cold—either due to a power failure or because the heating system isn't adequate for the weather. When people must use space heaters and fireplaces to stay warm, the risk of household fires increases, as well as the risk of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Exposure to cold temperatures, whether indoors or outside, can cause other serious or life-threatening health problems. Infants and the elderly are particularly at risk, but anyone can be affected. To keep yourself and your family safe, you should know how to prevent cold-related health problems and what to do if a cold-weather health emergency arises.

The emergency procedures outlined here are not a substitute for training in first aid. However, these procedures will help you to know when to seek medical care and what to do until help becomes available.

What Is Extreme Cold?
What constitutes extreme cold and its effects can vary across different areas of the country. In regions relatively unaccustomed to winter weather, near freezing temperatures are considered "extreme cold." Whenever temperatures drop decidedly below normal and as wind speed increases, heat can leave your body more rapidly. These weather-related conditions may lead to serious health problems. Extreme cold is a dangerous situation that can bring on health emergencies in susceptible people, such as those without shelter or who are stranded, or who live in a home that is poorly insulated or without heat.
Plan Ahead
Prepare for extremely cold weather every winter—it’s always a possibility. There are steps you can take in advance for greater wintertime safety in your home and in your car.

Winter Survival Kit for Your Home
Keep several days’ supply of these items:
- Food that needs no cooking or refrigeration, such as bread, crackers, cereal, canned foods, and dried fruits. Remember baby food and formula if you have young children.
- Water stored in clean containers, or purchased bottled water (5 gallons per person) in case your water pipes freeze and rupture.
- Medicines that any family member may need.
If your area is prone to long periods of cold temperatures, or if your home is isolated, stock additional amounts of food, water, and medicine.

Emergency Supplies List:
- an alternate way to heat your home during a power failure:
  - dry firewood for a fireplace or wood stove, or
  - kerosene for a kerosene heater
- furnace fuel (coal, propane, or oil)
- electric space heater with automatic shut-off switch and non-glowing elements
- blankets
- matches
- multipurpose, dry-chemical fire extinguisher
- first aid kit and instruction manual
- flashlight or battery-powered lantern
- battery-powered radio
- battery-powered clock or watch
- extra batteries
- non-electric can opener
- snow shovel
- rock salt
- special needs items (diapers, hearing aid batteries, medications, etc.)
Prepare Your Home for Winter

Although periods of extreme cold cannot always be predicted far in advance, weather forecasts can sometimes provide you with several days’ notice. Listen to weather forecasts regularly, and check your emergency supplies whenever a period of extreme cold is predicted.

If you plan to use a fireplace or wood stove for emergency heating, have your chimney or flue inspected each year. Ask your local fire department to recommend an inspector, or find one in the yellow pages of your telephone directory under “chimney cleaning.”

Also, if you’ll be using a fireplace, wood stove, or kerosene heater, install a smoke detector and a battery-operated carbon monoxide detector near the area to be heated. Test them monthly, and replace batteries twice yearly.

Your ability to feel a change in temperature decreases with age, and older people are more susceptible to health problems caused by cold. If you are over 65 years old, place an easy-to-read thermometer in an indoor location where you will see it frequently, and check the temperature of your home often during the winter months.

Insulate any water lines that run along exterior walls so your water supply will be less likely to freeze. To the extent possible, weatherproof your home by adding weather-stripping, insulation, insulated doors and storm windows, or thermal-pane windows.

If you have pets, bring them indoors. If you cannot bring them inside, provide adequate shelter to keep them warm and make sure that they have access to unfrozen water.
Prepare Your Car for Winter
You can avoid many dangerous winter travel problems by planning ahead. Have maintenance service on your vehicle as often as the manufacturer recommends. In addition, every fall:

- Have the radiator system serviced, or check the antifreeze level yourself with an antifreeze tester. Add antifreeze, as needed.
- Replace windshield-wiper fluid with a wintertime mixture.
- Replace any worn tires, and check the air pressure in the tires.

During winter, keep the gas tank near full to help avoid ice in the tank and fuel lines.

Winter Survival Kit for Your Car
Equip your car with these items:

- blankets
- first aid kit
- a can and waterproof matches (to melt snow for water)
- windshield scraper
- booster cables
- road maps
- mobile phone
- compass
- tool kit
- paper towels
- bag of sand or cat litter (to pour on ice or snow for added traction)
- tow rope
- tire chains (in areas with heavy snow)
- collapsible shovel
- container of water and high-calorie canned or dried foods and a can opener
- flashlight and extra batteries
- canned compressed air with sealant (for emergency tire repair)
- brightly colored cloth
Indoor Safety

Heat Your Home Safely
If you plan to use a wood stove, fireplace, or space heater, be extremely careful. Follow the manufacturer’s instructions as well as the home safety measures on page 3, and remember these safety tips:

- Use fireplace, wood stoves, or other combustion heaters only if they are properly vented to the outside and do not leak flue gas into the indoor air space.
- Do not burn paper in a fireplace.
- Ensure adequate ventilation if you must use a kerosene heater.
- Use only the type of fuel your heater is designed to use—don’t substitute.
- Do not place a space heater within 3 feet of anything that may catch on fire, such as drapes, furniture, or bedding, and never cover your space heater.
- Never place a space heater on top of furniture or near water.
- Never leave children unattended near a space heater.
- Make sure that the cord of an electric space heater is not a tripping hazard but do not run the cord under carpets or rugs.
- Avoid using extension cords to plug in your space heater.

- If your space heater has a damaged electrical cord or produces sparks, do not use it.
- Store a multipurpose, dry-chemical fire extinguisher near the area to be heated.
- Protect yourself from carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning by installing a battery-operated CO detector and never using generators, grills, camp stoves, or similar devices indoors.

Light and Cook Safely
If there is a power failure:

- Use battery-powered flashlights or lanterns rather than candles, if possible.
- Never leave lit candles unattended.
- Never use a charcoal or gas grill indoors—the fumes are deadly.

Never use an electric generator indoors, inside the garage, or near the air intake of your house because of the risk of carbon monoxide poisoning:

- Plug in appliances to the generator using individual heavy-duty, outdoor-rated cords.
- Do not use the generator or appliances if they are wet because of the risk of electrocution.
- Do not store gasoline indoors where the fumes could ignite.
Conserve Heat
You may need fresh air coming in for your heater or for emergency cooking arrangements. However, if you don’t need extra ventilation, keep as much heat as possible inside your home. Avoid unnecessary opening of doors or windows. Close off unneeded rooms, stuff towels or rags in cracks under doors, and close draperies or cover windows with blankets at night.

Monitor Body Temperature
Infants less than one year old should never sleep in a cold room because (1) infants lose body heat more easily than adults; and (2) unlike adults, infants can’t make enough body heat by shivering. Provide warm clothing for infants and try to maintain a warm indoor temperature. If the temperature cannot be maintained, make temporary arrangements to stay elsewhere. In an emergency, you can keep an infant warm using your own body heat. If you must sleep, take precautions to prevent rolling on the baby. Pillows and other soft bedding can also present a risk of smothering; remove them from the area near the baby.

Older adults often make less body heat because of a slower metabolism and less physical activity. If you are over 65 years of age, check the temperature in your home often during severely cold weather. Also, check on elderly friends and neighbors frequently to ensure that their homes are adequately heated.

Keep a Water Supply
Extreme cold can cause water pipes in your home to freeze and sometimes rupture. When very cold temperatures are expected:
- Leave all water taps slightly open so they drip continuously.
- Keep the indoor temperature warm.
- Improve the circulation of heated air near pipes. For example, open kitchen cabinet doors beneath the kitchen sink.

If your pipes do freeze, do not thaw them with a torch. Instead, thaw them slowly by directing the warm air from an electric hair dryer onto the pipes.

If you cannot thaw your pipes, or the pipes are ruptured, use bottled water or get water from a neighbor’s home. As an emergency measure—if no other water is available—snow can be melted for water. Bringing water to a rolling boil for one minute will kill most microorganisms or parasites that may be present, but won’t remove chemical pollutants sometimes found in snow.

Eat and Drink Wisely
Eating well-balanced meals will help you stay warmer. Do not drink alcoholic or caffeinated beverages—they cause your body to lose heat more rapidly. Instead, drink warm, sweet beverages or broth to help maintain your body temperature. If you have any dietary restrictions, ask your doctor.

Outdoor Safety
When the weather is extremely cold, and especially if there are high winds, try to stay indoors. Make any trips outside as brief as possible, and remember these tips to protect your health and safety:

---

Dress Warmly and Stay Dry
Adults and children should wear:
- a hat
- a scarf or knit mask to cover face and mouth
- sleeves that are snug at the wrist
- mittens (they are warmer than gloves)
- water-resistant coat and boots
- several layers of loose-fitting clothing

Be sure the outer layer of your clothing is tightly woven, preferably wind resistant, to reduce body-heat loss caused by wind. Wool, silk, or polypropylene inner layers of clothing will hold more body heat than cotton. Stay dry—wet clothing chills the body rapidly. Excess perspiration will increase heat loss, so remove extra layers of clothing whenever you feel too warm. Also, avoid getting gasoline or alcohol on your skin while de-icing and fueling your car or using a snow blower. These materials in contact with the skin greatly increase heat loss from the body. Do not ignore shivering. It’s an important first sign that the body is losing heat. Persistent shivering is a signal to return indoors.
Avoid Exertion
Cold weather puts an extra strain on the heart. If you have heart disease or high blood pressure, follow your doctor’s advice about shoveling snow or performing other hard work in the cold. Otherwise, if you have to do heavy outdoor chores, dress warmly and work slowly. Remember, your body is already working hard just to stay warm, so don’t overdo it.

Understand Wind Chill
The Wind Chill index is the temperature your body feels when the air temperature is combined with the wind speed. It is based on the rate of heat loss from exposed skin caused by the effects of wind and cold. As the speed of the wind increases, it can carry heat away from your body much more quickly, causing skin temperature to drop. When there are high winds, serious weather-related health problems are more likely, even when temperatures are only cool.

The Wind Chill Chart to the right shows the difference between actual air temperature and perceived temperature, and amount of time until frostbite occurs.

Avoid Ice
Walking on ice is extremely dangerous. Many cold-weather injuries result from falls on ice-covered sidewalks, steps, driveways, and porches. Keep your steps and walkways as free of ice as possible by using rock salt or another chemical de-icing compound. Sand may also be used on walkways to reduce the risk of slipping.

Be Safe During Recreation
Notify friends and family where you will be before you go hiking, camping, or skiing. Do not leave areas of the skin exposed to the cold. Avoid perspiring or becoming over-tired. Be prepared to take emergency shelter. Pack dry clothing, a two-wave radio, waterproof matches and paraffin fire starters with you. Do not use alcohol and other mood altering substances, and avoid cafffeinated beverages. Avoid walking on ice or getting wet. Carefully watch for signs of cold-weather health problems.

Be Cautious About Travel
- Listen for radio or television reports of travel advisories issued by the National Weather Service.
- Do not travel in low visibility conditions.
- Avoid traveling on ice-covered roads, overpasses, and bridges if at all possible.
- If you must travel by car, use tire chains and take a mobile phone with you.
- If you must travel, let someone know your destination and when you expect to arrive. Ask them to notify authorities if you are late.
- Check and restock the winter emergency supplies in your car before you leave.
- Never pour water on your windshield to remove ice or snow; shattering may occur.
- Don't rely on a car to provide sufficient heat; the car may break down.
- Always carry additional warm clothing appropriate for the winter conditions.
What to Do if You Get Stranded

Staying in your vehicle when stranded is often the safest choice if winter storms create poor visibility or if roadways are ice covered. These steps will increase your safety when stranded:

- Tie a brightly colored cloth to the antenna as a signal to rescuers and raise the hood of the car (if it is not snowing).
- Move anything you need from the trunk into the passenger area.
- Wrap your entire body, including your head, in extra clothing, blankets, or newspapers.
- Stay awake. You will be less vulnerable to cold-related health problems.
- Run the motor (and heater) for about 10 minutes per hour, opening one window slightly to let in air. Make sure that snow is not blocking the exhaust pipe—this will reduce the risk of carbon monoxide poisoning.
- As you sit, keep moving your arms and legs to improve your circulation and stay warmer.
- Do not eat unmelted snow because it will lower your body temperature.
- Huddle with other people for warmth.

Cold-Weather Health Emergencies

Serious health problems can result from prolonged exposure to the cold. The most common cold-related problems are hypothermia and frostbite.

Hypothermia

When exposed to cold temperatures, your body begins to lose heat faster than it can be produced. Prolonged exposure to cold will eventually use up your body’s stored energy. The result is hypothermia, or abnormally low body temperature. Body temperature that is too low affects the brain, making the victim unable to think clearly or move well. This makes hypothermia particularly dangerous because a person may not know it is happening and won’t be able to do anything about it.

Hypothermia is most likely at very cold temperatures, but it can occur even at cool temperatures (above 40°F) if a person becomes chilled from rain, sweat, or submersion in cold water.
Victims of hypothermia are often (1) elderly people with inadequate food, clothing, or heating; (2) babies sleeping in cold bedrooms; (3) people who remain outdoors for long periods—the homeless, hikers, hunters, etc.; and (4) people who drink alcohol or use illicit drugs.

Recognizing Hypothermia

Warnings signs of hypothermia:

- Adults:
  - shivering, exhaustion
  - confusion, fumbling hands
  - memory loss, slurred speech
  - drowsiness

- Infants:
  - bright red, cold skin
  - very low energy

What to Do

If you notice any of these signs, take the person’s temperature. If it is below 95°, the situation is an emergency—get medical attention immediately.

If medical care is not available, begin warming the person, as follows:

- Get the victim into a warm room or shelter.
- If the victim has on any wet clothing, remove it.
- Warm the center of the body first—chest, neck, head, and groin—using an electric blanket, if available. Or use skin-to-skin contact under loose, dry layers of blankets, clothing, towels, or sheets.
- Warm beverages can help increase the body temperature, but do not give alcoholic beverages. Do not try to give beverages to an unconscious person.
- After body temperature has increased, keep the person dry and wrapped in a warm blanket, including the head and neck.
- Get medical attention as soon as possible.

A person with severe hypothermia may be unconscious and may not seem to have a pulse or to be breathing. In this case, handle the victim gently, and get emergency assistance immediately. Even if the victim appears dead, CPR should be provided. CPR should continue while the victim is being warmed, until the victim responds or medical aid becomes available. In some cases, hypothermia victims who appear to be dead can be successfully resuscitated.
Frostbite

Frostbite is an injury to the body that is caused by freezing. Frostbite causes a loss of feeling and color in affected areas. It most often affects the nose, ears, cheeks, chin, fingers, or toes. Frostbite can permanently damage the body, and severe cases can lead to amputation. The risk of frostbite is increased in people with reduced blood circulation and among people who are not dressed properly for extremely cold temperatures.

Recognizing Frostbite

At the first signs of redness or pain in any skin area, get out of the cold or protect any exposed skin—frostbite may be beginning. Any of the following signs may indicate frostbite:

- a white or grayish-yellow skin area
- skin that feels unusually firm or waxy
- numbness

A victim is often unaware of frostbite until someone else points it out because the frozen tissues are numb.

What to Do

If you detect symptoms of frostbite, seek medical care. Because frostbite and hypothermia both result from exposure, first determine whether the victim also shows signs of hypothermia, as described previously. Hypothermia is a more serious medical condition and requires emergency medical assistance.

If (1) there is frostbite but no sign of hypothermia and (2) immediate medical care is not available, proceed as follows:

- Get into a warm room as soon as possible.
- Unless absolutely necessary, do not walk on frostbitten feet or toes—this increases the damage.
- Immerse the affected area in warm—not hot—water (the temperature should be comfortable to the touch for unaffected parts of the body).
- Or, warm the affected area using body heat. For example, the heat of an armpit can be used to warm frostbitten fingers.
- Do not rub the frostbitten area with snow or massage it at all. This can cause more damage.
- Don’t use a heating pad, heat lamp, or the heat of a stove, fireplace, or radiator for warming. Affected areas are numb and can be easily burned.
These procedures are not substitutes for proper medical care. Hypothermia is a medical emergency and frostbite should be evaluated by a health care provider. It is a good idea to take a first aid and emergency resuscitation (CPR) course to prepare for cold-weather health problems. Knowing what to do is an important part of protecting your health and the health of others.

One Last Cool Tip . . .
Taking preventive action is your best defense against having to deal with extreme cold-weather conditions. By preparing your home and car in advance for winter emergencies, and by observing safety precautions during times of extremely cold weather, you can reduce the risk of weather-related health problems.
7 Tips for Keeping Kids in a Healthy Holiday Routine

by Blank Children's Hospital - December 9, 2014

Winter break is just around the corner for all of the kiddos in your life, and that means it’s almost time for the holidays! While your kids are probably super excited to sleep in and not have any homework, keeping them on a regular schedule is important.

Routines are an important part of keeping your children on the right learning path. Children learn how to keep themselves organized, accomplish things they don’t want to do and properly care for themselves if parents start routines at a young age. These skills will come in handy as your child grows into a young adult and starts to take on the world.

Children learn how to safely control themselves and their surroundings when they live in a structured environment. This feeling of security fosters creativity and self-expression.
1. Get to Sleep at Night

It has been proven that regular schedules help children fall asleep more easily at night. Children who have and know their schedules whine less and don't fight when it comes time to go to bed. When kids know what to expect as they are going to bed, it reduces unexpected stress and promotes relaxation. Even naptimes can come with a routine.

Don’t let your kids sleep in too much during winter break. Waking up around the same time every day and going to bed at the same time is a healthy habit for all family members. Sleep can become a regular habit, like hunger, if you go to bed and wake up at the same time every day.

People tend to sleep better in a clean and neat environment. Part of the bedtime routine can include tidying up your child’s room to create a sense of calm and organization.

2. Good Eating Habits

Eating at the same time every day not only reduces hunger-induced crabiness but also eliminates snacking between meals. Mealtime is a good way to introduce good eating habits. Make sure that your children are eating a healthy breakfast every day. Breakfast is important for every member of your family as it improves your concentration, strength, endurance and performance. It can even lower your cholesterol and round out a healthy diet by adding in vitamins and minerals you might not get during the rest of the day.

Turning off the TV during mealtime is also an excellent eating habit for kids to develop. Families that watch TV while they eat tend to overeat. Good routines limit fast-foods, start with small portions, don’t use food as a reward and let you stop eating when you are full even if there is still food on your plate.

The holidays come with their fair share of over-eating and sugary sweets. Use this time as a good example of why it’s important to eat healthy, even when there is an abundance of options.

3. Travel with Kids

Traveling in and of itself can be stressful. Traveling with children can be a nightmare if your child is unrelaxed and uncomfortable. Bring an item that makes your child feel safe like a stuffed animal or blanket to ease that car, plane or train ride. Remember that young children do better in the morning. Plan to do the majority of your travel in the morning and use the evenings to relax.

While it may be impossible to stick to YOUR established routine while traveling to see family, creating a new routine while you go will help your kids feel more relaxed. Sleep times and mealtimes should happen at the same time every day, even if it’s different from when you are at home.

Changing time zones can cause jet lag for every member of your family. It’s still important to create a new routine based on your new time zone. If you travel from Iowa to Hawaii and your kids have a bedtime of 8 p.m., put them to bed at 8 p.m. Hawaii-time even though it’s only 4 p.m. in Iowa.

4. Winter Activities

Your kids might get a little restless being cooped up all day instead of being at school. Plan activities ahead of time to keep your little ones’ minds and bodies engaged while they’re stuck at home during winter vacation. Have a snowball fight, go sledding or build a snowman to keep them physically active and out in the fresh air. Try ice skating, building a fort or walking around the mall to keep them busy inside. To keep their minds engaged, try out math games, crafts, puzzles, science experiments and board games. Planning out a specific time each day during winter break to do an activity will become part of their routine while they are home.

5. Eliminate Anxiety in Children

The holidays sometimes create stress. When there is tension in the household, it can lead to a neglect of healthy activities for kids. Families who are on a regular schedule have reduced anxiety in general, and when problems do arise, it’s much easier to stick to a healthy routine. Your child already knows what is expected of them if the routine is consistent.

6. Screen Time Routines

Some kids can get in the habit of watching TV and movies all day during winter break. Limit screen time to 2 hours a day, even when your kids complain of being bored.

Studies have shown that children spend over 10 and a half hours a day on electronics, including watching TV on any device, listening to music, playing on a computer, playing video games and watching movies in a theater. Removing electronic devices, like TVs and video game consoles, from your child’s room can help squash some of that time spent in front of the TV. Setting up parental controls through TVs, smartphones and other devices can also cut down on the amount of time your child spends staring at a screen during winter break.

7. Back to School Routines

As it gets closer to back-to-school time, you can start preparing your kids for another change in their routine. If sleep schedules changed for your family, slowly adjust them back into the times they usually go to bed during school. If mealtime schedules changed, it’s important to adapt to those back-to-school times as well.

It’s time to get yourself and your family ready for winter break! Schedule an appointment with a doctor today for a well-child check-up and talk to your doctor about the importance of a family routine.

JOB DESCRIPTION

POSITION: Farm Manager / Food System Coordinator
See page 2 for special instructions when submitting an application

LOCATION: Red Cliff Natural Resources Office

SALARY: $13 – 15/ hour DOE

THIS IS A FULL TIME PERMANENT NON-EXEMPT POSITION

SUPERVISOR(S): Treaty Natural Resources Division Administrator

JOB SUMMARY: This position will support the management, planning and daily activities of Minobimaadiziwin Gitigaanin (Red Cliff community farm) and assist the Tribe overall with integrated food system planning. The incumbent will explore the marketability, profitability, and community impact of developing tribal food products at the local level. The position will also seek to improve tribal access to locally produced, nutritional foods by involving existing programs and services and by seeking additional support and funding where the need is identified. Creation of a Farm Management Plan through a thoughtful, community-engaged process will be an important starting point for this newly created position.

JOB DUTIES:
1. Explore funding opportunities to further the farm and Tribe’s mission of better utilizing and promoting locally and tribally produced foods
2. Investigate marketable production opportunities to increase the revenue potential of tribal food production
3. Oversee daily farm operational needs and perform chores (weeding, pruning, feeding)
4. Function as a conduit between the Garden Committee, TNR Division and Planning Administrator in food sovereignty planning efforts
5. Recommend farm expansion initiatives through the development phase of a Farm Management Plan
6. Supervise interns and seasonal staff
7. Maintain records of farm inputs, harvest volume, cost of production, and success of pilot projects
8. Develop programs to engage tribal youth and encourage small-scale agricultural research projects
9. Increase access to local food staples for the overall benefit of the tribal community
10. Other duties as assigned.

SUPERVISORY AUTHORITY: Some supervision of seasonal staff and interns at the farm is expected.

KNOWLEDGE: Applicant should have previous involvement in farm operations. Previous program management experience will be highly regarded. Knowledge of, and the ability to network with, the local food movement that currently exists around the Chequamegon Bay will be of benefit.

QUALIFICATIONS: A Bachelor’s Degree is required. Demonstrated proficiency with data collection, inventory and record keeping techniques as well as good overall computer skills. Good communication skills, both oral and written, and the ability to collaborate and engage with the tribal community and multiple partners. Must have a valid driver license, with appropriate vehicle insurance; must be eligible to be put on the tribe’s policy.
PHYSICAL REQUIREMENTS: Be able to walk through uneven terrain in various weather conditions, bend and lift up to 50 lbs.

WORK ENVIRONMENT: Office and outdoor setting with a willingness to work on occasion outside the normal 8 to 5 hours. All tribal offices are smoke-free.

TRAVEL REQUIREMENTS: Occasional travel outside of Red Cliff for meetings, trainings and conferences.

Native American preference will be applied in the case of equally qualified applicants but all qualified applicants will be considered.

TO APPLY: The following items MUST be in your application package to be considered for this position:
1. Fully completed Red Cliff Job Application (available on webpage)
2. Background Information Form (also available on webpage)
3. Resume and cover letter

POSTING: November 24, 2015
