Red Cliff Education Newsletter

Early Education Matters—Prevent Chronic Absenteeism

The Red Cliff Early Childhood Center works hard each and every day to maintain quality early childhood education. Children being present at school is our number one goal to providing that quality education. When children are present every day possible we are able to show considerable child progress through our on-going child assessments called ‘check points’.

Chronic Absence data

Currently there are 21 of 32 children (66%) in Early Head Start center based that are chronically absent:

- 12 with 10% or more and 9% that have missed 20% or more

There are 34 of 50 children (68%) in Head Start that are chronically absent:

- 17 that are 10% or more and 17 that are 20% or more

Research shows that children who miss considerable amounts of school are less likely to read at grade level, have lower math competencies and have fewer achievements as they grow into adulthood. This is research we want to say does not apply to our children, so let’s all work together to make that happen!

Some items to assist with getting your child and family into lifelong learning:

- Set a bed time routine; this can include bathing, brushing teeth, reading books and getting to bed early enough. Sleep is so important to children and their families.

- Set a morning routine; this can include waking up at the same time each morning, setting out clothing the night before, having a snack ready and knowing what time you will be leaving.

- Ask for help. If you have a barrier to getting to school, setting a bedtime routine or anything

Home Based Services Update

Currently there are two teacher vacancies in the Home Based program. We sincerely apologize to all the families enrolled that are receiving minimal services and thank you for your patience while we are in transition. If you know anyone interested in the positions please refer them to the job posting or here to the ECC for more information. Home visiting provides vital services to 36 families with children ages 0-3 and prenatal women. Families experience companionship, learning opportunities in their home, how to use everyday experiences to enhance child development and an individualized service to their family. The Early Head Start Home Based program is a service that Red Cliff has had since 2000 and the benefits have been profound. We have many families that began in the Home Based program that are now employees of the ECC, Tribe and various other professions; their children have had experiences they may not have without the wonderful Home Based staff. Many Red Cliff community members have memories of their Home Based teachers coming into their homes and visiting with them during times of need and providing fun activities for their children. We thank our current Home Based teacher Haley Hyde and the many former Home Based staff. Please help us in finding our next great home visitors! Miigwech!

Dear Parents,

We hope you had a Very Merry Christmas and Christmas Break. We look forward to a wonderful 2018 in the Waabooz Room.

Some of your children are walking. Some are working on tummy time. Some are working on sitting up. Some are crawling. It's an honor to be part of whatever their stage of development might be.

All of your children seem to enjoy all that we do; especially reading books, singing and playing with their friends. We look forward to another great month!

Miss Maggie and Mr. Fred
Boozhoo Amik Families!

We hope everyone had a great holiday and are ready to get back into the swing of things!

For the month of January we will be learning all about Winter clothing and dinosaurs.

Focusing on self-help skills when we are getting ready to go outside. Allowing the children to work on putting their own winter gear on that they need for outdoor play. We do plan on going outside every day weather permitting, so please remember to pack appropriate clothing.

Hat, mittens, boots, jacket, and snow pants.

We will be “hatching” our own dinosaur eggs along with other fun dinosaur related activities we have planned!

Please remember to call us by 9AM if your child will be absent for the day.

Miigwech,
Miss Tiff & Miss Lacie

Boozhoo. Welcome to the new year. 2018 promises to bring with it happiness and growth. Each of the kids has grown so much since September and we are excited to see where they will be by the end of the year. We hope that you are enjoying the gifts the kids received from the ECC and that they are helping you work with math skills.

During the month of January our study will be music. It is always fun to put little spins on songs that we have learned from our youth. Studies have shown music therapy to have great mental health for us. Watch for items to do at home.

Please continue to send appropriate gear for outside. A little reminder that stretchy, finger gloves are not very warm and our supply of winter gloves at school is very small. Please help us make sure your child is safe and warm when outside. Snowpants do go home daily please remember to take them out of the backpack and dry them. It is no fun wearing wet snow pants and gloves outside. Thanks for your understanding.

Happy New Year and please feel free to call us at any time during the school day.

Please remember with this really cold weather we still go outside each day if the temperature is 0 and above. With this in mind the children really need to have the proper outer wear so they can have fun outside and enjoy the fresh air.

Work with your child on their self-help skills to put on their outer wear. In the classroom we use #1 snow pants, #2 boots, and #3 coat, #4 hat and #5 mittens. The children need all 5 items on to be able to go outside ☇

American Academy of Pediatrics Announces New Recommendations for Children’s Media Use 10-21-16

Today’s children grow up immersed in digital media, which has both positive and negative effects on healthy development. The nation’s largest group of pediatricians provides new set of recommendations and resources, including an interactive media use planning tool, to help families balance digital and real life from birth to adulthood.

Elk Grove Village, IL – Recognizing the ubiquitous role of media in children’s lives, the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) is releasing new policy recommendations and resources to help families maintain a healthy media diet. To support these recommendations, the AAP is publishing an interactive, online tool so families can create a personalized Family Media Use Plan.

The AAP recommends that parents and caregivers develop a family media plan that takes into account the health, education and entertainment needs of each child as well as the whole family.

“Families should proactively think about their children’s media use and talk with children about it, because too much media use can mean that children don’t have enough time during the day to play, study, talk, or sleep,” said Jenny Radesky, MD, FAAP, lead author of the policy statement, “Media and Young Minds,” which focuses on infants, toddlers and pre-school children. “What’s most important is that parents be their child’s ‘media mentor.’ That means teaching them how to use it as a tool to create, connect and learn.” A second policy statement, “Media Use in School-Aged Children and Adolescents,” offers recommendations for children ages 5 to 18, and a technical report, “Children, Adolescents and Digital Media,” provides a review of the scientific literature to support both policies. All three documents will be published in the November 2016 Pediatrics (online October 21).

The AAP recommends parents prioritize creative, unplugged playtime for infants and toddlers. Some media can have educational value for children starting at around 18 months of age, but it’s critically important that this be high-quality programming, such as the content offered by Sesame Workshop and PBS. Parents of young children should watch media with their child, to help children understand what they are seeing. For school-aged children and adolescents, the idea is to balance media use with other healthy behaviors.

"Parents play an important role in helping children and teens navigate media, which can have both positive and negative effects," said Megan Moreno, MD, MSEd, MPH, FAAP, lead author of the policy statement on media use in school-aged children and teens. "Parents can set expectations and boundaries to make sure their children's media experience is a positive one. The key is mindful use of media within a family."

Problems begin when media use displaces physical activity, hands-on exploration and face-to-face social interaction in the real world, which is critical to learning. Too much screen time can also harm the amount and quality of sleep. Organizations like Common Sense Media can help parents evaluate media content and make decisions about what is appropriate for their family.
Among the AAP recommendations:

- For children younger than 18 months, avoid use of screen media other than video-chatting. Parents of children 18 to 24 months of age who want to introduce digital media should choose high-quality programming, and watch it with their children to help them understand what they're seeing.
- For children ages 2 to 5 years, limit screen use to 1 hour per day of high-quality programs. Parents should co-view media with children to help them understand what they are seeing and apply it to the world around them.
- For children ages 6 and older, place consistent limits on the time spent using media, and the types of media, and make sure media does not take the place of adequate sleep, physical activity and other behaviors essential to health.
- Designate media-free times together, such as dinner or driving, as well as media-free locations at home, such as bedrooms.
- Have ongoing communication about online citizenship and safety, including treating others with respect online and offline.

The Family Media Use Plan tool will be launched on HealthyChildren.org on Friday, Oct. 21. A preview version is available for journalists to review at HealthyChildren.org/MediaUsePlan. This link should not be made public until 12:01 a.m. ET Friday, Oct. 21.

Today's generation of children and adolescents is growing up immersed in media. This includes platforms that allow users to both consume and create content, including broadcast and streamed television and movies, sedentary and active video games, social and interactive media that can be creative and engaging, and even highly immersive virtual reality.

"Even though the media landscape is constantly changing, some of the same parenting rules apply," said Yolanda (Linda) Reid Chassiakos, MD, FAAP, lead author of the technical report. "Parents play an important role in helping children and teens navigate the media environment, just as they help them learn how to behave off-line. The AAP wants to provide parents the evidence-based tools and recommendations to help them make their children's media experience a positive one."

Encourage Healthy Eating Habits

Healthy eating is essential to a child's well-being. Children who are overweight are at risk for chronic health problems. The Weight-control Information Network (WIN), a service of the National Institute of Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases (NIDDK), offers guidance to parents and caregivers on how to encourage healthy eating habits in children.

Tips for Families to Help Children Eat Healthy

- Eat breakfast every day. Skipping breakfast can leave your child hungry, tired, and looking for less healthy foods later in the day.
- Plan healthy meals and eat together as a family. Eating together at meal times helps children learn to enjoy a variety of foods.
- Buy and serve more fruits and vegetables (fresh, frozen, or canned). Let your child choose them at the store.
- Buy fewer soft drinks and high fat/high calorie snack foods like chips, cookies, and candy. These snacks are OK once in a while, but keep healthy snack foods on hand too and offer them to your child more often.
- Start with small servings and let your child ask for more if he or she is still hungry. It is up to you to provide your child with healthy meals and snacks, but your child should be allowed to choose how much food he or she will eat. One tablespoon per year of age for each component of the meal is a great place to start when considering serving sizes for young children.
- Offer your child water or low-fat milk more often than fruit juice. Fruit juice is a healthy choice but is high in calories.
- Eat fast food less often. When you visit a fast food restaurant, try the healthful options offered.
- Do not get discouraged if your child will not eat a new food the first time it is served. Some kids will need to have a new food served to them 10 times or more before they will eat it.
- Try not to use food as a reward when encouraging kids to eat. Promising dessert to a child for eating vegetables, for example, sends the message that vegetables are less valuable than dessert.
- Make healthy choices easy by putting nutritious foods where they are easy to see and keep high-calorie foods out of sight.

Healthy Snack Ideas

- Fresh or frozen fruit, or fruit canned in juice or light syrup
- Small amounts of dried fruits such as raisins, apple rings, or apricots
- Fresh vegetables such as baby carrots, cucumber, squash, zucchini, or tomatoes
- Reduced fat cheese or a small amount of peanut butter on whole-wheat crackers
- Low-fat yogurt with fruit
• Graham crackers, animal crackers, baked pretzels, or low-fat vanilla wafers

The 5-2-1-0 Message Provides Suggestions for Building Healthy, Active Lives

• Eat at least 5 fruits and vegetables a day.
• Keep screen time (like TV, video games, computer) down to 2 hours or less per day.
• Get 1 hour or more of physical activity every day.
• Drink 0 sugar-sweetened drinks. Replace soda pop, sports drinks, and even 100 percent fruit juice with milk or water.

Be Supportive

Throughout any process or program that you undertake to address your child's eating habits, be supportive. Help your child set specific goals and track his or her progress. Reward successes with praise and hugs. Be positive.

Tell your child that he or she is loved, special, and important. Children's feelings about themselves are often based on how they think their parents and other caregivers feel about them. Children need compassion, understanding, and encouragement from caring adults.

Note: Foods that are small, round, sticky, or hard to chew, such as raisins, whole grapes, hard vegetables, hard chunks of cheese, nuts, seeds, and popcorn can cause choking in children under age 4. You can still prepare some of these foods for young children, for example, by cutting grapes into small pieces and cooking and cutting up vegetables. Children should always be supervised during meals and snacks.
NURTURE THEM, NURTURE YOURSELF

Responding Positively to Your Child's Behavior

School readiness begins with health!
Parents—help your child learn positive behavior!

- All children misbehave or engage in challenging behavior sometimes.
- How you handle your child’s misbehavior can make a big difference in how your child behaves throughout her life.

Treating your child with kindness and respect will help her treat others with kindness and respect. You are modeling positive relationships.

You can take steps to teach your child positive behaviors!
Nurture your child and yourself!

How to nurture your child
- listen to your child
- respond to your child’s needs
- remain calm
- don’t expect your child to be perfect
- model appropriate behavior—including saying sorry if you need to

How to nurture yourself
- take care of yourself
- take a break when you need it—if your child is safe
- don’t expect yourself to be perfect

Your teeth and what they do

Each of your teeth is different because they perform different functions to help you eat.

- Incisors (front teeth): have sharp, thin edges for cutting food.
- Canines/Cuspid (corner teeth): designed for cutting and tearing food.
- Premolars/Bicuspid (back teeth): have cusps for grasping and tearing food.
- Molars (back teeth): have short, blunt cusps for grinding solid food.
Why is it important to eat vegetables?

Eating vegetables provides health benefits – people who eat more vegetables and fruits as part of an overall healthy diet are likely to have a reduced risk of some chronic diseases. Vegetables provide nutrients vital for health and maintenance of your body.

Nutrients

- Most vegetables are naturally low in fat and calories. None have cholesterol. (Sauces or seasonings may add fat, calories, and/or cholesterol.)
- Vegetables are important sources of many nutrients, including potassium, dietary fiber, folate (folic acid), vitamin A, and vitamin C.
- Diets rich in potassium may help to maintain healthy blood pressure. Vegetable sources of potassium include sweet potatoes, white potatoes, white beans, tomato products (paste, sauce, and juice), beet greens, soybeans, lima beans, spinach, lentils, and kidney beans.
- Dietary fiber from vegetables, as part of an overall healthy diet, helps reduce blood cholesterol levels and may lower risk of heart disease. Fiber is important for proper bowel function. It helps reduce constipation and diverticulosis. Fiber-containing foods such as vegetables help provide a feeling of fullness with fewer calories.
- Folate (folic acid) helps the body form red blood cells. Women of childbearing age who may become pregnant should consume adequate folate from foods, and in addition 400 mcg of synthetic folic acid from fortified foods or supplements. This reduces the risk of neural tube defects, spina bifida, and anencephaly during fetal development.
- Vitamin A keeps eyes and skin healthy and helps to protect against infections.
- Vitamin C helps heal cuts and wounds and keeps teeth and gums healthy. Vitamin C aids in iron absorption.

Health benefits

- Eating a diet rich in vegetables and fruits as part of an overall healthy diet may reduce risk for heart disease, including heart attack and stroke.
- Eating a diet rich in some vegetables and fruits as part of an overall healthy diet may protect against certain types of cancers.
- Diets rich in foods containing fiber, such as some vegetables and fruits, may reduce the risk of heart disease, obesity, and type 2 diabetes.
- Eating vegetables and fruits rich in potassium as part of an overall healthy diet may lower blood pressure, and may also reduce the risk of developing kidney stones and help to decrease bone loss.
- Eating foods such as vegetables that are lower in calories per cup instead of some other higher-calorie food may be useful in helping to lower calorie intake.
Got your dairy today?

The Dairy Group includes milk, yogurt, cheese, and fortified soymilk. They provide calcium, vitamin D, potassium, protein, and other nutrients needed for good health throughout life. Choices should be low-fat or fat-free—to cut calories and saturated fat. How much is needed? Older children, teens, and adults need 3 cups* a day, while children 4 to 8 years old need 2½ cups, and children 2 to 3 years old need 2 cups.

1. "Skim" the fat
   Drink fat-free (skim) or low-fat (1%) milk. If you currently drink whole milk, gradually switch to lower fat versions. This change cuts saturated fat and calories but doesn't reduce calcium or other essential nutrients.

2. Boost potassium and vitamin D, and cut sodium
   Choose fat-free or low-fat milk or yogurt more often than cheese. Milk and yogurt have more potassium and less sodium than most cheeses. Also, almost all milk and many yogurts are fortified with vitamin D.

3. Top off your meals
   Use fat-free or low-fat milk on cereal and oatmeal. Top fruit salads and baked potatoes with low-fat yogurt instead of higher fat toppings such as sour cream.

4. Choose cheeses with less fat
   Many cheeses are high in saturated fat. Look for "reduced-fat" or "low-fat" on the label. Try different brands or types to find the one that you like.

5. What about cream cheese?
   Cream cheese, cream, and butter are not part of the dairy food group. They are high in saturated fat and have little or no calcium.

6. Switch ingredients
   When recipes such as dips call for sour cream, substitute plain yogurt. Use fat-free evaporated milk instead of cream, and try low-fat or fat-free ricotta cheese as a substitute for cream cheese.

7. Limit added sugars
   Flavored milks and yogurts, frozen yogurt, and puddings can contain a lot of added sugars. Get your nutrients from dairy foods with fewer or no added sugars.

8. Caffeinating?
   If so, get your calcium along with your morning caffeine boost. Make or order coffee, a latte, or cappuccino with fat-free or low-fat milk.

9. Can't drink milk?
   If you are lactose intolerant, try yogurt, lactose-free milk, or soymilk (soy beverage) to get your calcium. Calcium in some leafy greens is well absorbed, but eating several cups each day to meet calcium needs may be unrealistic.

10. Take care of yourself and your family
    Parents who drink milk and eat dairy foods show their kids that it is important for their health. Dairy foods are important to build the growing bones of kids and teens and to maintain bone health in adulthood.

* What counts as a cup in the Dairy Group? 1 cup of milk, yogurt, or soy beverage; ½ ounces of natural cheese; or 2 ounces of processed cheese.

Ishpaagoonikaa seeks to increase knowledge and utilization of treaty rights in harvesting and protecting natural resources, encouraging environmental stewardship, and promoting natural resource careers.

Additionally, the program strives to increase leadership skills in tribal youth, foster intergenerational learning opportunities between tribal elders and tribal youth, and focus on passing traditional Anishinaabe winter activity knowledge from generation to generation.

This year’s Ishpaagoonikaa program will be held in Hayward, Wisconsin, on January 26-28, 2018, where GLIFWC’s Law Enforcement Division will partner with the Lac Courte Oreilles Band of Lake Superior Chippewa Indians.

Tribal youth will interact with elders, cultural knowledge sharers and GLIFWC Law Enforcement officers in activities such as traditional tip-ups and ice spearing, storytelling, small game trapping/snaring, animal processing, outdoor cooking, brain tanning, animal and track identification, winter shelter building, ishkode (fire) making, outdoor survival tactics, snow snake play, snowshoes, cultural crafting, and moccasin games. This year will also feature an optional Sweat Lodge. The program seeks youth in grades 4-10. Older youth may apply to serve as mentors.

Participants must spend both nights in the LCO school gym. Saturday meal will include a feast and family members are welcome to bring a dish and stay for storytelling.

The program will start on Friday at 6:00 pm CST and conclude Sunday at 1:00 pm. For information, please contact:

Get healthier together!

Make eating better and getting fit a family affair this year. Being “in it together” can keep everyone motivated. Use these simple tips to get started.

Be a role model
Your youngsters will copy your good and not-so-good behaviors. Filling him to eat an orange while you munch on potato chips sends a mixed message, as does using your tablet while encouraging him to go shoot baskets. A better approach? Ask him to help you cut apples for a snack, or suggest that you play basketball together.

Focus on variety
Instead of dieting or emphasizing foods to avoid, identify healthy foods to add to meals. Think: fresh fruits, crisp vegetables, beans and lentils, nuts, seeds, whole grains, and lean protein. This ensures you're not limiting nutrients your growing child needs. It also pushes less-nutritious foods off your plates.

Increase physical activity
Brainstorm regular family fitness ideas with your youngster, then put them on the calendar. You might try nightly after-dinner walks or Saturday morning bike rides. Move more during everyday activities, too. Park farther from your destination, take the stairs rather than the elevator, or shovel snow together. Before you know it, being more active will become a household habit.

DIY supersized fun
Looking for some life-size entertainment for your child? Let her create a giant tic-tac-toe board!

Materials: old sheet, marker, duct tape, 10 old socks (5 of one color and 5 of another), dry beans, rubber bands

Help your youngster measure and draw a giant square on the sheet. Draw lines dividing the square into 9 equal boxes, and tape the sheet to the floor, or set it outside. Make beanbags by filling socks with beans and sewing them shut with rubber bands. Each player gets 5 same-color beanbags. Now take turns hopping into a square, dropping a beanbag, and hopping out. The first to get three in a row across, down, or diagonally wins.
A well-stocked kitchen

With the right ingredients on hand, you can quickly whip up nutritious dinners on busy weeknights. Plus, you'll avoid last-minute impulse purchases or costly takeout. Try these steps for shopping and planning:

1. Take inventory. Help your child list ingredients you use frequently, such as rice, pasta, shredded cheese, green beans, bread, and ground beef. Let her go through the refrigerator and pantry and cross out items you already have. Bonus: She'll practice reading and writing.

2. Stock up. Shop together for ingredients that remain on your list. Look for healthy swaps, such as whole-wheat bread rather than white, frozen vegetables instead of canned, and extra lean ground beef in place of regular.

3. Figure out meals. Ask your youngster to help you create nutritious menus based on what's on hand. For instance, if you've got whole-grain spaghetti and a jar of marinara sauce, there's an easy meal.

To make it healthier, grate zucchini and stir into the sauce. Have a can of black beans and some brown rice? Just add cooked broccoli for a healthy rice bowl.

What's in your smoothie?

My son Liam loves our local smoothie place, and I'm happy he's getting more fruit into his diet. But recently, I noticed a sign listing nutrition information, and I realized his favorites have a lot of sugar and fat. So I decided to start making smoothies at home in the blender.

We experiment with fruit combinations like strawberry and banana or peach and mango. Instead of flavored yogurt, which has a lot of sugar, I use plain yogurt and a little honey. Sometimes I include peanut butter or flaxseed for protein. I've even added kale and spinach so my son gets greens.

Liam enjoys our homemade smoothies, and now he's eating more fruits and vegetables—and less sugar and fat.

 سريع التغطية

ما هو في سмуك؟

عمومًا، يمكن أن تكون الفواكه والخضروات الممكناً لتناولها في صورة سмуك. فكل كوب من الفواكه أو الخضروات يحتوي على مسافات من الفواكه والخضروات. ولذا، فإن استخدام الفواكه والخضروات في عمل سмуك يساهم في تحسين صحتك. بالإضافة إلى ذلك، فإن إعداد سмуك يمكن أن يساعدك على تناول وجبات صحية وتقليل كمية السكر والدهون في وجباتك.

Activity Corner

Boosting balance skills

Set your youngster up for success in sports and games by helping her improve her balance. Consider these fun ideas.

- Flamingo contest: See who can stand on one foot the longest. Switch legs, and do it again. To increase the challenge, close your eyes while balancing.

- Cereal box challenge: Have each person place an empty cereal box on her head. Keeping your back straight and chin up, race across the room. If you drop your box, return to the start. The first player to cross the room wins.

- Hula hop: Scatter a few hula-hoops on the ground a few feet from each other (or make circles with pieces of yarn). Family members can jump into each hula-hoop—without losing their balance and falling outside the hoop. Try it again, this time jumping backward.

Slow-cooked meals

Tap into the power of your slow cooker with these recipes to enjoy on cold winter days.

Chicken-quinua risotto

Place ½ lbs. boneless chicken breasts into a slow cooker. Add 1 cup uncooked quinoa, 2 cups low-sodium chicken broth, and 2 cloves minced garlic. Cook on high 4 hours. Shred chicken, and return to slow cooker. Add 2 cups frozen peas, stir, and cook 30 minutes more.

Vegetarian "pot roast"

Chop 1 lb. mushrooms white or portobello, 1 lb. sweet potatoes, and 2 carrots. Put in slow cooker with 2 cups vegetable stock, 1 tbsp. tomato paste, 1 tsp. dried thyme, ½ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. pepper, and ½ tsp. garlic powder. Cook on low 6–8 hours.

Beef stroganoff

Fill slow cooker with 1½ lbs. lean stew meat, 1 medium onion (diced), 1 cup low-sodium beef broth, 2 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce, 2 tbsp. Dijon mustard, and ½ tsp. each salt and pepper. Cook on low 6–8 hours. Stir in 1 cup Greek yogurt just before serving. Enjoy over whole-grain egg noodles.
