CITY OF SELMA BUSINESS AND RESIDENT RESOURCES FOR ECONOMIC IMPACT OF COVID-19

The City of Selma has posted to the Economic Development website www.developselma.com resources and information for businesses, employers, employees and residents. A one click button will allow a message to be sent to Economic Development Administrative Analyst Tracy Tosta who can track, inform, and support the flow of information regarding resources and programs from local, state, and federal agencies.

The economic impact of COVID-19 is unprecedented and recovery will require cooperation from many business, community-serving organizations, local governments and residents. Residents and businesses are encouraged to view the resources available and contact the City of Selma with any questions.

The list of information on the Develop Selma website is not exhaustive and resources may change frequently. For the most up-to-date information the site recommends completing the “Contact Us” form or utilizing the red button at the top of the Home and incentives and Resources pages to communicate directly with City Staff. Other support opportunities from agencies and businesses that serve the City of Selma and neighboring communities will be added to the list as identified along with additional communications from the City of Selma.

The City of Selma encourages businesses to follow the CDC guidelines for reducing the virus transmission including social distancing for employees and customers.

For immediate contact, emails can be sent to TracyT@cityofselma.com or Call (559) 891-2200 x2260.
