

Monday, August 3, 2020 – 10:10 pm

The NHC 8pm update showed maximum sustained winds at 75mph which would bump Isaias back up to hurricane strength. Hurricane Hunters are finding an even stronger storm as Isaias nears landfall – there is some indication that it could be making landfall with winds in excess of 85mph. The last NHC update (5pm) was factoring in a 70 mph storm at landfall, not an intensifying hurricane. This is a very dynamic system, continue to monitor local TV/Radio for the most current forecasts.